Musically the Pastor orchestra presents an assortment of arrangements that do not follow a set pattern. Ballads receive a special treatment as do novelties, standards and instrumentals. Yet the basic quality and Tony's own saxophone choruses. make each song a recognizable Pastor trademark. His years of experience have made Tony one of the most respected advisers in the music business. Those best qualified to comment say that his style of singing and playing is among the most popular in the nation today. Belleville dance and music fans are due for a treat.

A dainty cup and saucer shower was held at the prettily decorated Summer cottage of Miss Betty Holland, Rednersville, on Wednesday last, in honor of Miss Eileen Braddon, bride-elect of the near future.

The evening was spent in playing bingo, and a joyous get-together time.

After the presentations were made, and each lovely cup and saucer viewed by all, and the donors thanked for their great kindnesses and good wishes for her future happiness by the smiling bride-to-be, refreshments were served.

WEDDINGS

SMITH—FOOTE

On Saturday, June 25, a pretty wedding was solemnized at 2 p.m., at Christ Church, Belleville, when Margaret Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foote, Roslin, Ontario, became the bride of Harry Arnold Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Belleville, Ont. The Rev. J. Grant Sparling officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed before an altar banked with pink and white peonies, Canterbury bells, Sweet Williams, and ferns.

Mr. Dana Cooke, organist of the church, provided the wedding music, and Mrs. Earl Gray, Roslin, as soloist, sang before the ceremony "O Promise Me", and during the signing of the register, "Because".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her gown of white slipper satin with net yoke, featuring long tight fitting sleeves, ending in lily points at the wrists, a Chantilly lace trimmed peplum with full skirt ending in a long train. Her full length veil of embroidered tulle illusion was held in place by a headdress of tulle with satin trim. She carried a shower bouquet of red and white roses and fern with streamers of white satin ribbon, knotted with rosebuds and fern.

She was attended by her four sisters, Mrs. Walter Bradshaw, of Raslin, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, of Belleville, and Miss Mary Foote, of Roslin, as matron of honor, and were gowned alike in matching gowns of soft green taffeta with bustle backs, net yokes, wore matching hats of tulle, and carried bouquet of yellow roses.

Little Marlene Foote was flower girl, and wore a mauve taffeta dress with a halo of mauve flowers in her hair, and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and rosebuds.

Mr. Ralph Thompson, brother-in-law of the bride, was groomsman, and the ushers, Mr. Alan Foote and Mr. Eric Bristol.

The reception was held at the Club Cedars with Mr. Charles Barnett as master of ceremonies.

The bride's mother received the guests, wearing a gown of navy crepe with pink accessories and pink corsage. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a gown of grey crepe with white accessories, and red corsage.

For the wedding trip to Toronto and Detroit, the bride wore a pink gabardine suit with navy accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was a matching set of travelling bags, and to the ushers and groomsman, leather billfolds.

The bride's gift to her matron of honor was a strand of pearls to her bridesmaids and soloist, rhinestone bracelets, and to her flower girl, a gold locket.

Upon their return, the happy couple will reside on Boswell St., Belleville.

THOMPSON—HAWLEY

On Saturday, July 9th., 2 p.m., a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, on Donald Street, Belleville, when Mary Dorothy daughter of Mrs. F. R Hawley, and the late Mr. Hawley, was united in marriage to William Ralph, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson, Demorestville. Rev. G. R. Gray, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was becomingly attired in a street length dress of powder blue crepe fashioned with a fitted lace bodice, high neckline and matching bolero.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside on the groom's farm, Big Island.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman

WHO STARTS THE LETTER-WRITING?

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

1. Who is supposed to start a correspondence, the woman or the man?

2. In friendly correspondence is it correct to type letters, or should only business letters be typed?

3. When one writes a letter is it proper for someone else to add a note to the letter? (By a "note" I mean a few words added to the letter.) This question is to settle a discussion we are having.

Adele M.

1. Today there is not much formality about this . . . nor should there be. The one who goes away is generally the one who writes first . . . with or without having asked for the "privilege" of writing. However of course, it's gallant and mannerly of the man to ask the girl if he may write to her . . . and the girls like this courtesy. But nowadays sending a greeting card by either one is very often the informal and pleasant gesture of beginning a correspondence.

2. Notes and letters that are a definite formality . . . invitations, acceptances or regrets, for example . . . should be written by hand. Also such notes-of-courtesy as letters of thanks should be written by hand. And, of course, notes of sympathy or condolence. But except for these formalities, today's letter-writing procedure is a matter of convenience and common sense, and it is considered correct to write typewritten letters to members of the family and friends.

3. Yes . . . IF the one who wrote the letter invites the 'someone else' to add a note.

Mail Wedding Invitations early . . . This Is Practical

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

1. I am being married sometime this summer. How soon before the wedding should the invitation be mailed?

2. Is it customary to invite the minister and his wife to the reception, or is this purely optional?

N.

1. Formal invitations should be mailed at least three weeks before the wedding date . . . today the very practical custom is to mail them four weeks before the date, particularly for weddings in popular wedding months, so to assure as much as possible having the guests reserve the day and hour.

Informal invitations, notes, should be mailed at least two weeks before the wedding date.

2. If the reception is to be a large one, the minister and his wife should be invited, and would, quite naturally, expect to be invited. But if the reception is to be small, with say, only the members of the families, the attendants, and perhaps a few intimate friends, the minister and his wife would not be invited, would not expect to be invited, unless of course they were particularly close friends of the family.

Uncle or Brother-in-Law to Give Her in Marriage?

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

Would it be proper for me to have my brother-in-law give me in marriage at my church wedding next month? My father is dead, and the only other male relative I have is an uncle, my mother's brother, who lives in another state but will be here for the wedding.

M. L.

This depends, principally, on your own preference, perhaps somewhat, too, on circumstances you don't explain. Which would you prefer? Under usual circumstances the uncle would be chosen, since he is nearer in direct relationship. But if you have perhaps been living with your sister and brother-in-law, you might be closer and more devoted to them, and so wish to give your brother-in-law the honor of giving you in marriage. Or perhaps, instead of having either one give you in marriage, you might have either one escort you up the aisle, and then have your mother give you in marriage.

RAWDON

West Hastings District W. I. Members Make Tour to Ottawa

Rawdon—Mrs. Don Donohoe was hostess to the River Valley W. I. with 24 members and 11 visitors and several children in attendance.

Among the visitors was Mrs. A. Freyvogel, Aliquippa, Penn. U. S. A. who is camping at Trent River. The president, Mrs. Harold Morgan, presided and roll call was answered with "Child Discipline," which brought out much good advice for mothers.

The illness of Mrs. H. Philp was regreted.

Picnic Plans

Plans were made for a picnic dinner at Oak Lake on August 4th., with the whole famly invited to enjoy the day together. A good program of sports is planned for the afternoon.

It was decided to assist the district one day at Belleville Fair with their W. I. tent.

The parcels to England will be continued monthly as the need is still great with several items of food scarce and the point system still in effect.

To Purchase Bond

The members decided to purchase a $100.00 bond in the name of River Valley, W. I.

A special collection was taken to buy a plant for Mrs. B. Hoard, who is ill in Toronto.

Several cards of thanks were read and the president hoped some of the visitors would become members.

Bus Trip Report

Mrs. Jack Sager gave a splendid report of the bus trip to Ottawa on Tuesday last. This was sponsored by West Hastings District W. I. under the leadership of the past president. Mrs. Sam Nicholson, of Wallbridge, and her assistants. Three bus loads left at 6.20 A. M. from the seven branches.

Visit the Mint

The group arrived in Ottawa at 10.45 A.M. and visited the mint, where the coin of the realm is manufactured. They held a gold block in their hands worth $14,000 and were shown the various stages in the production of pennies and silver money.

Following this they visited the war memorial, after which they all enjoyed an hour-and-a-half to shop downtown.

Parliament Buildings and Farm Visited

The afternoon was spent in viewing the parliament building with its green and red chambers, peace tower, the large array of framed pictures of notable people. The group purchased several souvenirs to bring home.

The last visit was to the experimental farm with its beautiful array of flowers and shrubs.

The group arrived back to Stirling at 12.30 P.M. feeling the trip had been worthwhile.

The ten from River Valley were:— Mrs Fred McDonnell; Mrs Hugh Jones; Mrs. Jack Sager; Misses Adeline Bush; Marjorie Bush; Eleanor Bush; Enid Coombes; Mavis Coombes Catharine Heasman and Susanne McLachlon.

New District President

Mrs. Roy Bush, the newly appointed president of West Hasting district W. I. spoke briefly and it is understood that this is the first time that River Valley W. I. has had the honor of one of their members being district president. She spoke of the value of life members and paid tribute to the charter members and asked for co-operation to put across the W. I. program.

Social Welfare

The program for the afternoon was based on "Social Welfare" and the convener, Mrs. Alex Bush presided and read an interesting article on the theme "Work to Live All Your Life, Don't Work All Your Life to Earn a Living"

Mrs. Clarence Chard conducted community singing which included "Some Folks Do."

Child Training

Mrs. Percy Utman gave a paper on "Obedience" which contained a wealth of information re "Child Training," she said, "make as few demands as possible, don't be lax one day and strict another, above all keep your temper, give the child suitable duties and use common sense, slapping and spanking are rarely effective. Very often an older child can be isolated to another room for disobedience and this is a greater punishment

Later, Mrs. Utman conducted a discussion on 'Hints gleaned from the Roll Call" and among them was "It is cruel to send a child supperless to bed without food in his stomach and without a kindly good-night kiss.

Parents should be cautious about their child's companions," and many other thoughts of value to help mother.

Praise versus Fear

Mrs. J. Sager read a leaflet on "Fear" which explained how to help your child with his problems. 'Always praise your child for his efforts. Remember your child can only feel secure if he thinks you still love him despite his mistakes"

Fine Readings

Miss Adeline Bush read a humorous selection, "Grandpa and his experience as a baby sitter," Mrs. D. Donohoe read a poem "A mother's life is worthwhile," Mrs. Ross Bush read a timely article on food poisoning, which explained the need of extra care with food especially in hot weather.

Miss Eleanor Bush read a story of a little D. P. girl who was adopted and found that "Home is a lovely word."

Miss Marjorie Bush prepared a contest which had to be omitted owing to the lack of time.

The lunch committee served sandwiches and tarts and the ladies enjoyed a social half-hour over the tea-cups.

Mrs. Ed. Kent voiced appreciation for hospitality, program and refreshments.

Fashion Flashes

JUST ABOUT the best choice for a cross- country travel-light wardrobe is the fox-collared wool coat. Tweed in a beige and green muted mixture makes a free-swing rippled black coat with a high-rising double-skin collar of lynx-dyed white fox. Slit pockets, easy sleeves.

STILL IN DEMAND is the well-detailed suit of silk surah. Navy and pink silk surah is used for a handsome suit, the jacket top bound at collar, revers, down the front and at the pocket flaps with navy blue silk braid. Skirt is moderately full.

THE FIRST FALL hats include a great many calots and head-hugging cloche hats of velvet with much veiling. Tubular velvet, used in diadem form, fronts a breif black velvet calot — a nice evening choice.

SOMETHING NEW for fall knit frocks is the cardigan, made to go with the popular two-piece number to create a very smart ensemble, especially in the better hand-loomed groups. The plunging neckline appears in many models, rather than the usual high, rounded neckline, and there are smart stitch-patterned skirts.

Women's Activities

FOXBORO W.M.S.

Foxboro—The July meeting of the W. M. S. was held on Thursday afternoon in the S. S. rooms with 16 in attendance.

Mrs. W. Simmon was in charge and gave a most helpful program. The Theme was "More Missionaries." All must work together with God with one accord and with loving zeal and fervent prayer that others may know of Him.

"Tis the Blessed Hour of Prayer" was rendered by Mrs. Eggleton and Mrs. W. Simmons and readings were given by Mrs. Hodgen, Mrs B. Hollinger and Mrs. S. C. Gay Mrs. E. Tummon contributed an appropriate solo "The Savour Will Guide Me Through".

Mrs. W. Scott conducted the business and the treasurer reported over $145.00 raised up to the present.

Mrs. Tummon read a letter of appreciation for clothing etc. sent to Maynooth and Miss Gowsell was appointed secretary of hospitalization, Mrs. Tummon and Mrs. Kilpatrick will be the leaders for the August meeting.

Mrs. Simmons conducted a quiz and Mrs. J. G. Grills and Mrs Scott closed the meeting.

ST. JOHN'S W.M.S.

Tweed—The July meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. John's United Church was held at Bethel Church on Thursday afternoon. About 30 ladies from Tweed attended. A very fine program was arranged by the country group.

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott president was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Micheal Rannie. Theme, "Keeping the Lord's Day Call to Worship." "I Was Glad When They Said Unto Me, Let us Go into the House of the Lord." hymn, "O Day of Rest and Gladness" was sung. Part of the meditation "Remember the Sabbath Day to Keep it Holy"

The Sabbath was observed by Hebrew people long before the ten commandments were recorded in scripture. It is one of the most ancient of all customs, its origin hidden in the far distant past before the days of written history. One of the ancient hymns of the Hebrew people in praise of this day of worship and rest which was so precious to them is found in Psalm 84. which was read in unison. Mrs. Harry Foster sang "O, Sabbath Rest by Galilee" Mrs. Geo. Gordon, Mrs. McCrea and Mrs. Barnett gave readings from a special program leaflet "Keeping the Lord's Day."

Observance of the Sabbath

Mrs. Barnett brought several questions before the ladies as to the observance of the Sabbath which were followed by discussion. "Many of the social evils that alarm us find their root cause in the failure to use this Day according to God's purpose. Mrs. Wallace Provost sang "The Heavenly Vision."

All were delighted to have present Mrs. Albert Empey of Eldorado W. M. S. president of Bay of Quinte Branch. Mrs. Empey in her remarks stressed the word "Advance" as the key note of the society. She said "The urgent need of missions today, more workers and more money." Mrs. Empey also mentioned the fact that there has been a regretable decline in Missionary Monthly subscriptions.

Mrs. Elliott thanked Mrs. Empey and all those who had contributed toward the program and Miss Margaret Kerr thanked the ladies of Bethel for their kind invitation. Sandwiches, cake and tea were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Kitchen Most Important Room In House Says Noted Architect

New York, July 11 — (CP)— Big spacious kitchens, where all the family can congregate for food and talk, are making a comeback.

For a long time it looked as though the roomy kitchen, excluding appetizing odors and comfortable warmth, was slated for extinction. Architects with space-saving on their minds, were squeezing stove, sink and ice box into wall closets, cabinets and similar cubicles.

Now along come Architect Harvey Wiley Corbett, who says the kitchen is the most important room in the house—and should be one of the most spacious. Even if you have to cut down the living room to achieve it, make a big kitchen, he urges.

'Watch the way things go at any informal party," Corbett says. "Where do the people tend to gather and talk for hours? In the kitchen. It's a natural gathering place."

The New York architect also believes that the prize view from the house should be reserved for big kitchen windows.

'After all," he reasons, "the housewife spends more of the day in her kitchen than in any other room. Why shouldn't she have something attractive to look out on? Or, if there are young children, she's probably happier to have a view of the play yard, so she can keep an eye on the kids."

If Corbett has his way, kitchen will be furnished w comfortable chairs, a divan and fireplace.

"A fireplace makes a room more attractive," he said. "But that isn't all. We are so completely dependent on public utilities that in event of an electricity or gas shut-off, we are pretty helpless. With a fireplace in the kitchen and a supply of wood in the cellar, a family can cook and keep warm in the same place."

He favors such accessories as magazine racks, pictures and flowers in the modern kitchen, but he's not sold on radio and television sets in the room.

"This is a personal opinion," he says, "but I think people should be interested in what they're doing and not take their minds off the job at hand with radio or television.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

He Had To Marry Her—Now He Hates Her

There are so many things besides the moral aspect which any girl would do well to consider before engaging in pre-marital affairs.

One of the most important of these is that, while most girls become involved in such situations because they are really in love, or at least fancy themselvs to be, this is not nearly so likely to be true of the man. Then when the break-up comes, as it does sooner or later, it is the girl, not the man, who is bitterly disillusioned and heartbroken.

Even more unfortunate still, is the girl who becomes pregnant under such conditions, and succeeds in getting the father of her child to marry her. While she may have the satisfaction of giving her child a name in this way, that satisfaction is small beside what she will almost certainly have to endure because of her husband's resentment over his forced marriage.

Consider, for example, what the writer of the following letter is going through:

"My child was born before I was married, "she writes. "The man I married was the father of the child.

"In those days he told me that he loved me and wanted to marry me, but I soon found out that he wasn't true to me and that he was seeing another woman. He has just told me that if it were not for his mother, he would never have married me, but she knew that I had had his baby. Now he acts as if he hated me for spoiling his life with that other woman.

"How could I have spoiled his life when I didn't even know about her? I only knew after I was married to him, and I know that he still sees her.

"I have been a good wife to my husband, keep my house always shining and do only what he wants me to do. I have even gone without new clothes for over four years just to please him, so that he could get new things for himself.

"I don't know what to do any more, as in spite of trying to please him, he is never satisfied. It hurts me very much as I love him a great deal.

"I don't want to leave my child behind if I ever go away."

What this woman says about her husband's change of feeling towards her is probably correc Undoubtedly, he had never planned to marry her, and so was angry and resentful when he had to do so. I am afraid that it is hardly likely that anything she does now can make this man feel any differently toward her.

To my way of thinking, it is time she showed a little spirit in her attitude toward her husband instead of meekly trying to put him in good humor by sacrificing herself. I think she should tell him quite plainly that if he wishes to leave her for this other woman, she is quite willing to have him do so but that if he chooses to stay with her, he will have to treat her differently. If such a ultimatum fails to have any effect, as may well happen, then, since she can prove that he has been unfaithful to her, she would have legal grounds fo action against him which wou leave her free to take her chil and strike out on an independent life of her own.

I advise her to think all this over carefully and then decide what she wants to do, instead of letting the situation drag on as it is now.

Pitching Staffs Win Pennants But Brooklyn Hopes to Counter Weak Hurling With Infield

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Pennants are won by great pitching staffs but Brooklyn Dodgers haven't got one so they're basing their hopes on a crackerjack infield — Gil Hodges, Jackie Robinson, Pee Wee Reese and Billy Cox.

Robinson especially is singled out as the man that is doing the most to keep the citizens of Flatbush happy.

Jackie, first Negro to play in the majors, is the Dodgers' chief offensive threat. The All - star second baseman leads the majors in hitting with a lofty .362 mark and is tops in other departments. Robinson came thru in the clutch twice in the rain and mud at Ebbets Field Sunday to help beat New York Giants 7-3 and keep the Dodgers in first place.

Robbie singled with the bases loaded in the third to give the Dodgers a 2-1 lead. Sid Gordon poled his 16th homer with a mate aboard in the fourth to put the Giants ahead again. Gene Hermanski snarled the count with a homer in the fifth. Then Duke Snider opened the seventh with a triple and Robinson sent him home with a single for the winning run.

A defeat would have dropped the Dodgers into second place as the runner - up St. Louis Cardinals scored a double triumph over the Reds.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen pitched the Red Birds to a 4-2 triumph in the opener and Lefty Al Brazle downed the Reds 7-4 in the finale.

The last - place Chicago Cubs smashed Pittsburgh's eight-game winning streak, blasting the Pirates 8-6 and 9-6.

Cavarretta Stars

Phil Cavarretta was the batting star in the opener, driving home five runs on a pair of triples, a double and single. Ralph Kiner socked two four - baggers for the Pirates to increase his total to 28, best in the majors.

Bobby Feller received credit for a 7-4 triumph over St. Louis Browns in a game called at the end of six frames because of rain. Jackie Graham caused Feller the most grief, driving home all the St. Louis runs with a pair of homers.

Boston Red Sox took both ends of a twin bill from Philadelphia Athletics 8-5 and 11-10 to stretch their winning streak to seven games.

Dom DiMaggio decided the opener when he highlighted a 5-run fourth inning uprising with a three-run circuit belt. Sam Chapman clouted two homers and Hank Majeski one off Ellis Kinder to account for all of Philadelphia's markers. In the second game, Ted Williams poled his 20th homer during a game-winning three-run rally in the 4th.

Detroit and Chicago split a pair of games, the White Sox taking the opener 4-2 and the Tigers the nightcap 1-0.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Reading, Pa., July 11 (AP) — Maybe it's the golf influence, but Gene Venske, the retired mile runner, proposes sectional qualifying tests for the United States track championships . . . Gene, who operates a fancy driving and putting layout near here, followed the pros around the Reading Open last week and complained that he can't play golf because he doesn't have time for intensive practice . . . "I've rather lost interest in track since I retired." explained the big guy who ran those great miles against Bill Bonthron, Jack Lovelock, etc. "I never did like outdoor track much; indoor running was my dish . . . I think all sports should be run for the benefit of the spectators and outdoor meets are too big and too dull for them . . . . Maybe if they had something like sectional qualifying meets, they could do away with all those heats."

Monday Matinee

Cary Middlecoff, who isn't a member of the P. G. A., can have the last laugh on the guys who make the Ryder Cup team. While they're overseas Cary has an exhibition lined up every day. Andy Seminick, the Phillies' "All-star" catcher who has been out of action, is in good enough condition to take a crack at the American Leaguers in Brooklyn tomorrow . . . The cook at Kid Gavilan's training camp insisted on calling him 'Kid Gasoline' but that doesn't mean he'll explode against Ray Robinson tonight.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Arthur Daley, erudite sports editor of the New York Times, digs deeply into his rich store of baseball knowledge and comes up with some interesting anecdotes of happenings of a game that has more oddities to the square foot than any other sport.

"Brooklyn won the pennant in 1916 mainly because a ball which was hit by Geo. Cutshaw defied law of gravity," says Daley. Cutshaw rifled a shot to right field and the ball rolled to the base of the Ebbets Field fence. As soon as it reached there, however, it inexplicably began to climb up the surface as though pulled upward by a string. Lazily it crawled up the barrier, teetered on the top and rolled over for a gome-winning home run.

The Yankees lost a pennant in 1933 when Lou Gehrig held up at second to see if Tony Lazzeri's long drive would be caught while Dixie Walker, just behind him on the base paths, didn't hesitate. They slid home with the throw almost simultaneously. However Catcher Luke Sewell acrobatically tagged Gehrig on one side of the plate and Walker on the other side for one of baseball's most remarkable double plays.

Triple plays don't come with extraordinary frequency but there never was one that can match the three-ply killing into which Joe Cronin once hit. The bases were full and none out when Cronin teed off on a juicy pitch. The ball handcuffed Sammy Hale at third base, whisking between his outstretched hands and cracking him on the forehead. Then it caromed into the waiting glove of Shortstop Billy Knickerbocker, who discovered all base-runners in motion for a simple triple play. Oh, yes—the official scorer generously gave Hale an assist on the play.

Ed. Linke, the Washington pitcher, also received an assist he didn't particularly want. With Ben Chapman of the Yankees on second and Jesse Hill at the plate, Linke served one up to Catcher Jack Redmond. Hill blasted it on a line at Linke, the ball rebounding from his profile all the way back into the mitt of Redmond. It was a cinch then to double up Chapman at second.

Dizzy Lean was once skulled by a drive off the bat of Burgess Whitehead, the ball rolling all the way to the distant right-field bull pen. When the great man regained consciousness, he tenderly felt his head. "Is they a knob on mah haid?" he asked his brother, Daffy Dean. "No, Diz," said Daffy, "it wux jes' a glancin' blow."

Just before the 1948 season ended, Bill Goodman of the Red Sox lashed a grounder at Shortstop Eddie Joost of the Athletics and Joost couldn't find the ball—it had rolled up his sleeve and dropped inside his shirt. A couple of years ago Irvin Hall hit one back to Pitcher Dutch Leonard. He lost it and later found it, no foolin', inside his pants.

Larry McLean, the ponderous catcher of yesteryear, once hit a home run. No, it didn't clear the fence, it went through the only knothole in the entire right-field barrier. And Johnny Sullivan, one-time Washington shortstop, attests to the fact that he ricocheted a drive off the left-field wall which bounced back toward the playing field, struck the left fielder on his sconce and bounced back over the fence for a homer.

The best-pitched game in baseball history? Surely it has to be the historic duel between Jumbo Jim Vaughn of the Cubs and Fred Toney of the Reds, each twirling a no-hitter for nine innings. Vaughn gave up two hits in the tenth and Toney none as the Reds triumphed, 1 to 0.

There are at least a bushel basketful of oddities concerning the unforgettable Babe Herman of the Dodgers, the quaint character who once doubled into a play (it's a lie that he tripled into a triple play). Strangely enough, though, he never was hit on the head by a fly ball despite general belief to the contrary. "I never was conked on the head," insisted the Babe. "On the shoulders, yes, but they don't count."

The most publicized freak play of them all undoubtedly was Babe Ruth's claim that he once hit a pitch between the legs of Hod Lisenbee and that the ball had then sailed over the centrefielder's head. It's true, and then again it isn't. Lisenbee was pitching for Cleveland against the Yankees in 1926. Tris Speaker sneaked in from sentre in an attempt to trap a runner off second. Just then Lisenbee threw the ball to the plate.

Ruth swung and the ball crackled between Lisenbee's legs. It bounced over the head of Speaker, a centrefielder who out of position, and rolled a hundred yards to the fence for an inside-the-park homer. The authority for that? Lisenbee himself.

Tonight at Exhibition Grounds the high-flying second-place Northern Electrics take on the Kiwanis Juniors in a Belleville District Baseball League fixture. Electrics edged the Trenton Flyers 11-10 on Friday night to climb into second place and they're rarin' to increase their percentage especially at the expense of the Kiwanis Juniors. This has all the earmarks of a grudge battle and there should be some interesting diamond calisthenics when the squads clash tonight at 8.30. Flyers trek to Napanee and Picton will be the guests of Point Anne in the other two league games.

Montreal Royals Toronto Leafs Split Twin Bill

(By The Associated Press)

Husky Steve Bilko is living up to his reputation as a "right handed Johnny Mize."

The 19-year-old rookie first baseman of Rochester Red Wings is belting some of the longest home runs in the memory of International League scribes and fans.

Bilko slammed his 17th and 18th home runs of the season Sunday. The blows featured Rochester's 12-0 victory over the league-leading Buffalo Bisons in the second game of a doubleheader. The Bisons won the opener, 11-5.

The Wings slammed five homers in their 15-hit drive against three Buffalo pitchers. Bilko, Russ Derry and Ralph LaPointe homered in the third. Derry's blast was his 20th of the season. Bilko and Ed Miercowicz connected for the distance in the fourth.

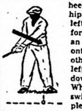
Montreal Royals and Toronto Maple Leafs also divided a doubleheader. The Leafs took the opener 3-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of Al Porto and the Royals the nightcap, 7-1.

Bill Glynn drove home two runs with his 17th homer and single while George Schmees accounted for Montreal's marker with his ninth homer of the season.

Clyde King stopped the Leafs on five safeties in gaining his 12th win against only one loss in the windup. The Royals decided matters with a five - run blast against Lefty Oscar Judd in the second.

Better Golf

By Sam Snead



Before the hands reach the the position pictured, the hip pivot starts with a pressure from the inside of the left foot and an automatic lifting of the left heel. As the right hip goes back the left hip rotates forward but in an almost horizontal plane. In other words, the left hip dips down very little. When the backswing is completed, the hips have rotated about forty-five degrees, that is, one-eighth of a circle. During the same time, the shoulders are pivoting twice the distance—they make a quarter —or ninety degree — turn. The shoulder pivot is made in a somewhat more verticle plane than the hip pivot. That is to say the left shoulder rotates down and under the chin while the right shoulders will have occured when the back of the player's shoulders 'faces" the green. If you use too much pivot it is difficult to avoid too much shoulder pivot. But, this a fault only of youth and suppleness. It won't worry golfers over twenty-five very much. The pivot of the older players is apt to be rather too little, both in the hips and shoulders, than too much.

Central Ontario Maybe Permanent Scene of Trials

(By The Canadian Press)

A broad hint that Central Ontario may become the permanent location for National Track and Field championships and trials was given Saturday at Montreal by George Machum, president of the British Empire Games Association of Canada. The hint was coupled with a sharp reply to Western circles who charge that selection of Toronto as this year's venue for the B.E. games trials is another example of the east hogging the show.

Machum termed it "an approach to commonsense" and "thinking on a national basis" to put championships and trial "within the easiest reach of the majority" of athletes rather than force the majority "to travel the longest distance". For that reason "it is obvious that the best place for all tournaments in Canada is Central Ontario, and this may be the case in the future."

Machum stressed that venue selection does not rest with his association or games committee it is the responsibility of the AAU of C.'s National Committee governing each sport concerned.

A last-quarter scoring splurge Saturday gave Owen Sound Crescents an 18-5 victory over the Peterborough Lumberjacks in an Ontario Lacrosse Association game. The win left the Crescents in sole possession of first place n the League. Don Ashbee paced the Crescents with four goals. Peterborough scorers were Jack Howes, Jack Foote, Ron Morton, Rowan Chute and Em Creighton.

Pete Collins, a slight, bespectacled music teacher from Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., Saturday took top honors in the British Empire games marathon trial over the 26-mile route at Hamilton. He did the distance in 2:48.47.2. Collins made his successful bid for victory at the 24-mile mark when he pulled away from Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., with a terrific burst of speed. Cote, who finished third, was beaten out in the last mile by George Norman of Toronto.

Cairine Wilson of Ottawa, shot a record 87-83—170 in the 14th annual 36-hole New Brunswick Ladies' Golf tournament at St. Andrews, N.B., Saturday to win the championship for the fourth time.

Despite heavy rain, the Ontario Women's track and field championships went ahead on schedule Saturday. About 200 competitors from Toronto, Hamilton and Walkerton took part. The Hamilton and Walkerton took part. The Hamilton Olympic Club, led by Jo Brennan, won top team laurels with a total of 43 points. Miss Brennan captured the shotput and the discus and baseball throws in the Senior Division.

Dan Ekner, sharp shooting inside left, sparked the Kamraterna team of Goteborg, Sweden, to a 7-2 victory Saturday over New York allstars in the final contest of their North American Soccer tour. It was the Swedes' sixth victory against two losses and one tie.

Dan Thornton, wealthy Colorado cattleman, said Sunday night he'd like to buy the world champion Cleveland Indians baseball club "if the price is right". But, he added, "any deal is just in the negotiation stage." At Chicago, President Bill Veeck of the Indian said he has never heard of Thornton or any deal involving him.

Will Harridge, American League president, has suspended Geo. Vico, Detroit first - baseman, for 10 days and fined him $100 for throwing his bat into a box seat during an argument with an umpire at Chicago Friday hight.

Welterweight champion Ray Robinson, still struggling to make the weight after three weeks of training, risks his crown tonight against hustling, young Kid Gavilan of Cuba in a 15-rounder in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium. The 23-year-old Gavilan is rated as at least 25-per-cent better than last September when Robinson beat him in a non-title bout.

France Sunday took the lead in the semi-finals of the European zone Davis Cup tennis play at Budapest, two matches to one, against Hungary.

In a tournament decided on the last green, Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Sunday won the $15,000 Reading, (Pa.) Open golf tournament with a 72-hole score of 266. Middlecoff, the National Open champion, finished one strike ahead of the P. G. A. titleholder, Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

James D. Norris, young Detroit millionaire, has been named president of the International Boxing Club, it was announced Saturday.

Fortune Cordien of the San Frnacisco Olympic Club shattered the listed world record for the discuss at Lisbon, Portugal Saturday with a toss of 185 feet 4½ inches. Cordien made the heave in a duel meet between Portuguese and Unieted States athletics. The listed mark for the discuss in 181 feet, 6 3-8 inches by Adolfo Consolini ot Italy.

Calumet Farm's Duchess Peg, two-year-old daughter of Whirlaway, three-year-old champion of 1941, Saturday snatched the six-furlong $56,375 Arlington Lassie Stakes at Arlington Park in a photo finish over P. A. Markey's fast closing Baby Comet.

Just call him Maynard the Mighty. Playing a Boulder, Colo., Boys' Summer Softball League last week, Maynard Strangham smacked six home runs, a triple, a double and two singles and drew one base on balls. His Lincoln School team walloped Highland School 72-3.

The National Boxing Association said today it will recognize the winner of the forthcoming British heavyweight championship bout between Lee Savold and Bruce Woodcock as the leading contender for Ezzard Charles' N.B.A. heavyweight crown. Fred J. Saddy, chairman of the N.B.A. rating committee, announcing the N.B.A. quarterly ratings, noted that Savold and Woodcock were rated just below Charles in view of the impending British clash.

T. P. (Tommy) Gorman, Ottawa promoter, said Saturday that Barbara Ann Scott should earn "$100,000 or more" as star in a 10,000-mile cross-country skating show. Gorman heads National Sports Enterprises, a company formed to sponsor the tour, starting in Winnipeg next October.

He said in an interview that advance bookings indicated that the show would sell out in the 44 cities to be played, thus indicating at least $100,000.

Gerry Kesserling Ontario Amateur Golf Champion

His victory in the final, played over the par-71 Westmount course here Sunday, also earned him a place on Ontario's 1949 Willingdon Cup team.

The 21-year-old Kesselring was tied with George Eluck of Windsor after the regulation 36-hole final and he went to the 38th before winning out. His deciding shot was a 15-foot putt which he sunk for a birdie two.

It was sweet victory for the former Canadian and Ontario junior champion. He started his drive on the 35th tee — when he was one hole down — and followed up with four consecutive birdies for the title.

Both the veteran Eluck and Kesselring holed out with birdie threes on the first extra hole but Kesselring came through on the next one.

On the 38th, Eluck blasted into a dangerous bunker while Kesselring rolled off to one side of the green, and sank the chip shot. Eluck had to settle for a par three.

Eluck who entered the finals by virtue of a protest against Tony Matlock who defeated him 5 and 4 Saturday, earlier made a sensational comeback in the last nine to deadlock the match and send it into extra holes.

Matlock was disqualified by O. G. A. officials because he used an "illegal dynamiter club." Eluck issued the protest on the 14th hole of their semi-final match.

Officials said the club "had been tampered with to the extent that the scorings on the face had been roughed." But they added they didn't believe Matlock would "deliberately contravene the rules."

Kesselring's performance made him a choice on the province's Willingdon Cup team. The other three announced by the O. G. A. were Eluck, Don Varey of Brantford and Phil Farley of Toronto.

A drive by James, Northern Electric catcher that took a high hop over Red Greenough's head in centre field allowed Mulverhill to score from first base with the winning run in the top of the 8th as Northern Electric of Belleville edged Trenton RCAF Flyers 11-10 in a Belleville District League game played at the Trenton RCAF Sports field last night. The win moved Northern Electric into 2nd place in the loop standing and knocked the Flyers down into fifth spot in the race.

Cuffer Noakes started on the hill for the winners but gave way to Bobbie Bunton in the 6th frame after the Flyers had staged a 5-run rally highlighted by Ray Coursal's 3-run homer. Burton hurled shutout ball the rest of the way, allowing but two safeties while whiffing four batters. Noakes claimed three on strikes. Red Martyn started on the hill for the Airmen but was relieved by Freddy Titus in the second after the Electricmen had taken a 7-3 lead. Titus went the rest of the way and gave up single tallies in the 5th and 7th and a pair of runs in the 8th.

Jackie Wardhaugh with a double and two singles, Red Carson with two doubles and a single and Vern Goyer with three singles paced the winners at the plate. Red Greenough of the Flyers was the game's hitting star connecting for a double and three singles in five attempts. Ray Coursal belted a homer and a single.

Noakes, Bunton (6) and James; Martyn, Titus (2) and Coursal.

Mike Guerra Fastest Catcher In the Majors

Boston, July 11 — (AP) Every time Connie Mack thinks of how close he came to getting rid of catcher Mike Guerra last spring he shudders.

Mack, like most major league managers, frowns on late comers to his spring camp. And Guerra had been a tardy customer.

Last spring when his problem child reported to West Palm Beach, Fla., three weeks after training started, the 86-year-old Mack fumed.

"This is the end. I'm getting rid of that fellah!"

Buddy Rosar, first-string catcher, came up with a sore arm and rookie Joe Astroth from Memphis couldn't fill the bill. Mack called on the little fellow with the big mitt.

"Si, boss," said catcher Guerro. It may be only a coincidence but the A's then became the hottest team in the league. They rose from the second division to second place.

Never a great hitter, Guerra has a knack of getting hits at crucial spots. He throws well and is considered by most baseball men the fastest catcher in the majors today.

TEACH THE CHILDREN TO SWIM

Swimming days are here again! It's a wonderful sport : : : but it can be a dangerous one, particularly for the kiddies. You can help remove this danger. For example, never let the youngsters go into the water except under the supervision of an adult swimmer—and as soon as they are ready, teach them to swim! Next time the kiddies want to go for a dip, round up the gang and go with them: You can guide them—guard them . . : and surely that is "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Celebrate 259th Anniversary of Battle on Tuesday

(By The Canadian Press)

Canadian Orangemen Tuesday celebrate the 259th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne and members of the Protestant Lodge will march with fife and drum and bright banners.

In towns and hamlets, each parade will be led by a white horse and a rider representing "King Billy."

King Billy was King William of Orange, a Protestant who defeated the Roman Catholic King James II at the Boyne River in Ireland in 1690 and repulsed Catholic claims to the English throne.

Orangemen are most numerous in Ontario, where some of the biggest "glorious twelfth" celebrations are staged. Guelph and Oshawa moved their observances ahead to Saturday. At Guelph the 10,000 marchers included lodge members from Peel, Middlesex, Dufferin, Oxford, Halton, Waterloo, North and South Perth and Wellington counties. Orangemen 5,000 strong from Belleville, Peterborough, Trenton, Toronto and other communities in East - Central Ontario paraded at Oshawa.

Most other Ontario lodges hold their parade Tuesday. In several centres, they will be joined by lodges from neighboring sections of the United States.

I am a Movie Fan

"I have travelled everywhere. Samarkand and the Barbary Coast. On the camel trails of the Sahara and through the Khyber Pass. I have followed the seaways and the airways to the familiar places and to the strange parts of call all around the world. I am a 20th century Marco Polo.

"I am a movie fan.

"I saw the Battle of Hastings, and I was there when King John agreed to the Magna Charta. I was present when the rebouts were stormed at Yorktown and 'the world turned upside down'. I saw the Constitutional Convention, and I have walked with Lincoln in the shadowed White House grounds. All the past is known to me through my own ears and my own eyes. I have lived forever.

"I am a movie fan.

"Ivanhoe, Micawber and Yancy Cravatt are friends of mine. I heard the knight proclaim his challenge in the Lists of Templestowe; I walked the streets of Osaga with the Oklahoma pioneers. All the great characters of literature have come alive for me, transmuted from the printed page to men of flesh and blood.

"I am a movie fan."

"I am a movie fan.

Deputy Police Commissioner Killing Retires

Toronto, July 9 (CP). — William Stringer, Ontario Provincial Police Commissioner, Friday announced the retirement of his deputy, William C. Killing, and the promotion of two staff inspectors to deputy status.

The new deputies are Edward T. Doyle, known for his work as head of the force's anti-gambling squad, and Arthur Moss, who has been active in the weapons permit branch and has lectured at various police training schools in the province. Both joined the force in 1925.

The Commissioner also announced that Staff Inspector F. B. Creasy has been promoted to Senior Staff Inspector in charge of administrative staff responsible for inspection of police personnel in the field. He was formerly in charge of the Sudbury detachment.

Inspector Killing joined the Provincial Police in 1921. He served with the Metropolitan Police in London, England, from 1901 to 1907 and was former chief of police at Woodstock.

Commissioner Stringer said appointment of two deputies was made necessary by administrative problems resulting from rapid growth of the force.

The actor busted his gam above the knee when George Tobias bumped him at first base in a charity baseball game. That event bumped him out of a fast $100,000, which he was to earn in a picture now starting without him.

Reagan reported he will be in a traction cast for four weeks, a plaster cast for a couple more and then in a leg brace until about October. That means his yearly income will be half what it would have been.

And Now This

"It's a strange thing how that little accident put me out," he said. "The week before I was taking a four-foot jump on one of my horses. We took a fall and rolled over and over, like something in the newsreels of the Grand National steeplechase. And I walked away with just a swollen ankle.

A Good Yacker

Even when flat on his back, he is still a good yacker. An alert press agent remarked that his "Girl from Jones Beach", will open soon. That started him off.

"I'd like to be there opening day. Like to go to the theatre with the public and hear what they think . . . .

"In theatres you hear the truth and it always gripes me to have the actor take the rap for something that isn't his fault. . ."

AT THE McCARTHY — James Stewart, who is co-starred with Joan Fontaine in "You Gotta Stay Happy," the new Universal-International comedy hit, at Odeon's McCarthy Theatre today and Wednes-

AT THE BELLE — June Allyson, cast as Jo in MGM's Technicolor filmization of "Little Women," now showing at the Belle Theatre, came to pictures from Broadway for the film version of "Best Foot Forward." She subsequently scored in "Two Girls and a Sailor," "Music for Millions" and "Two Sisters From Boston."

AT THE CAPITOL — Dana Andrews and Maureen O'Hara are the starring duo in "The Forbidden Street," the new 20th. Century-Fox drama at the Capitol Theatre. Based on "Britannia Mews," best-seller by Margery Sharp, the film is set in London and shows Andrews in an unusual dual role opposite Miss O'Hara in the eventful story of an English girl who gives up her poistion in society for him. On the same program, the romantic comedy, "Day-Time Wife," starring Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Wendy Barrie and Joan Davis. Matinee daily at 2.00 p.m.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Band leader Joe Blow is a Syncopating bridge bidder. It is music to his ears to break the tempo or pull a downbeat. Where others bid a suit he may swing into no-trump or upsy downsy.

Not that he lacks knowledge of the accepted rules. It is just that he likes to improvise in a jam session. The result is often as startling to his partners as to his opponents.

He was in a recent duplicate match where came this deal:

NORTH
♠J 6 2
♥A K 4
♦A J 2
♣A 7 4 3

WEST	EAST
♠9 7 3	♠10 8
♥10 9	♥7 6 5 2
♦Q 9 7 5	♦K 10 4
♣J 10 6 5	♣K Q 9 8

SOUTH
♥Q J 8 3

His was the only south hand to reach and play six no-trump. And to make the cheese more binding he made it. But only because one of his opponents stopped to think.

Opening lead from west happened to be a heart. Declarer ran his four heart tricks at once and sluffed a dummy club. The spade ace was cashed for a trick and a small spade to the jack entered dummy.

From there was led the diamond queen to make such a lead. So he upped with the king to start the clubs going.

This went to dummy club ace and a spade entered south. Two more south spades were cashed, dummy sluffing two more clubs. Then was led from south a small diamond for a finesse.

West played small and dummy diamond jack won it. Then the ace of diamonds made the 12th needed trick for declarer. Opponents should have defeated six no-trump with two diamond tricks.

A pair must stretch beyond rule to reach small slam in spades, which will make with a club lead and perfect play: Ruff three clubs; pull the third trump with dummy jack; sluff a dummy diamond on the fourth south heart; and all you lose is a diamond.

Nobody told me how he got to six no-trump. Maybe he was starting a new kind of bridge rhythm.

Crews off Yachts Help to Fight Icehouse Fire

Picton—Crews of yachts anchored in the harbor helped get under control a fire which broke out in an ice house at Point Traverse, Thursday night around six o'clock. Large fire extinguishers were used with good effect, while residents for miles around flocked to the scene.

The ice house, owned by Mrs. L. B. Metcalfe, is located on the edge of the water and it was easy to form a bucket brigade.

Cause of the fire is not known. The rafters and some of the shingles were burned. Sawdust also ignited and took some time to extinguish.

Cause of the outbreak is not known but may have been due to combustion in the sawdust.

Fortunately the fire did not spread to the dry undergrowth and brush in the vicinity or cottages and other buildings would have been endangered.

ASKED TO SHOOT BALLOON DOWN

Port Colborne, July 11 (CP)—An empty balloon Sunday night drifted southeastward toward New York State, and both Canadian and United States authorities asked that it be shot down as an air-navigation hazard.

The blimp broke loose from a mooring, where it was being used to advertise a Bible lecture. It

Little Benny's Note Book

I saw pop getting off the buss and I started to walk with him for company, and after a while pop said. Are you limping, or is it only a figment of my disordered imagination due to an unusually trying day at the office.

No sir, it's real, pop, I said.

Meening I was actually limping with one foot, and pop said, How did you hert yourself.

No way, I meen I didn't hert myself, I said, and Pop said, Then what the Sam Hill is all the limping for.

One of my shoes feels as if it's got a little stone in it, I said, and pop said, For Peet sake, how old are you?

Nine, I said, and pop said, Do you meet to say you've lived all those years and still haven't got sense enough to take off your shoe and remove a pebble when it's causing you pane?

Well jimminies pop, I didn't say it really was a pebble. I just said it felt like a pebble, I said. For all I know it may only be a rinkle in my sock, I said, and pop said How old did you say you are?

Nine, I said, and pop said Yee gods, is it possible that it's only taken you nine years to get so lazy that you'd rather limp than take the trubble to find out what's herting your foot and do something about it? By gollies if I were a docter I'd send in a report on the case to the Journal of Syko Boobic Medecine. A second cousin of mine is a docter, so maybe I'll send it in anyway. I think I'll entitle it "A Baffling Case of Precocious Laziness in a boy of nine, he said.

Aw heck, I'll look and see, I said.

Which I did, and it was a pebble after all

Police Seeking Perpetators of Two Burglaries

Montreal, July 11 — (CP) — Provincial police today sought persons who stole a total of $16,060 in two separate weekend burglaries in suburban St. Lambert and St. Hubert, across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal.

Burglars early Saturday entered a St. Lambert firm, smashed open a safe by turning it upside down and hammering through the bottom with sledge hammers, and left with $14,000 worth of diamond chips used in making drills.

Police also are searching for two men, who Saturday struck Raymond Ste. Marie of St. Hubert with a revolver and robbed him of $2,060 in cash behind his general store as he was on his way to milk his cows.

POINT TRAVERSE

Point Traverse—Fire of unknown origin did considerable damage to the Point Traverse ice house, Thursday evening.

Only through the prompt action of fishermen and neighbors, who formed a bucket brigade, was the fire extinguished before more serious damage was done to the interior of the roof.

Mired in the edge of Black Creek for several hours, a horse owned by Keith Magee, Upper Black Creek, was rescued from its plight early this morning by neighbors and with the assistance of a towing truck from Milford.

Several acres of land at the end of Morrison's Point, Black Creek, which borders along the shore of Smith's Bay, has been sold and fine cottages are being built upon them.

Mr. Richard Miller, Toronto, has puchased land from Mr. Desmond Shannon, having erected a large cottage upon it. Mr. John Tatham, Belleville contractor, has also constructed one of the finest cottages on the Point. Other owners are contemplating building at this picturesque place in the near future.

FRANKFORD

Frankford—The Frankford Boy Scouts held their weekly meeting Thursday evening, along the bank of Cold Creek, at the location known to the boys as "Indian Village." At this place, may be seen one of the most novel collection of huts and shacks in North America, all constructed by the boys.

The opening exercises were completed, followed by a period of games. Following the games, a half hour's swimming was enjoyed at the "Dark Hole."

The Scouts then re-formed, for a period of training in Morse Code and Semiphore. They returned to Frankford a short time later

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wrightman of Trenton, spent Wednesday evening visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lohnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sharpe attended the Free Methodist Camp Meeting at Orland, on Friday.

Mr. Harold Foster of Brantford, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Hattie Foster for a few days.

Miss Faye Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. Lohnes on Friday.

Mr. Edward Turley of Ottawa is spending a few holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Turley.

6 R.D. Defeats Bata Shoemen At Soccer 2-1

The 6 R. D. entry in the Bay of Quinte Soccer League booted in two first - half goals Saturday afternoon and then withstood a determined second half drive by the Batawa Shoemen to down the league leaders 2-1 and move into a first place tie with the shoe crew.

Both teams played rugged soccer from the opening kickoff. Referee Henry Drury cautioned both sides at half time against rough play.

The airmen opened strongly, taking a slight edge in the play during the first half. Wall scored the first goal for the Repairmen after 20 minutes of play. Gibbs kicked in the second goal at the 35-minute mark.

Batawa came back strongly in the second half to shade the airmen. Planovski counted the only Batawa goal after 15 minutes of play had elapsed in the second half.

Quinte Golfers Tie With Port Hope Club

Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club linksmen trekked to Port Hope on Sunday where they engaged the "Hopers" of the local golf club in an inter - club match. The score was tied at the end of the afternoon's play with some excellent golf being shot by members of both clubs.

Jimmy Kemlo, club champion of the hometown organization for the past two years won the 1st low gross with a card of 74. Mike Aquafredda, of the Bay of Quinte was second with a neat 76.

Fifteen players of the Bay of Quinte Club made the trip and were afforded a fine reception, both during as well as after play.

Quinte Tennis Club Holds Tournament

The Quinte Tennis Club's intra-club tennis tournament yesterday attracted 39 members, who battled through a lengthy round of eliminations, declaring the club champions shortly before midnight. The tournament got away to a slow start owing to the rain of the previous evening as a morning's work had to be done on the courts to put them in condition.

Men's Doubles: Toomy Black and Bob Varley beat Dan Cowley and Bruce Hefkey, 5-6, 6-5, 6-2.

Mixed Doubles: Gladys Sheffield and Anne Littlejohn downed May Smith and Alf Wilkes 6-5.

Ladies Doubles. Reba Wilkes and Gladys Traer beat Jean Greene and Mary Lo Wishart 6-4, 6-1.

Joe Dimaggio May be in Starting Lineup

Brooklyn, July 11 (AP) — Joe DiMaggio may be in the starting line-up tomorrow when the American League's star - studded array faces the National League's best in the 16th annual All - star game at Ebbets Field.

The way was paved for DiMaggio's appearance as a starter when Tommy Henrich, his New York Yankee outfield teammate and No. 1 choice for the starting right field berth, said he did not think he would be fit to play. Henrich suffered a knee injury a week ago and has been out of the line-up since.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Americans has given no indication as to who will take Henrich's place, but it would come as no surprise to see Joltin' Joe patrol the right-field sector.

Although Boudreau is compelled to start the fans' top selections in a poll which ended recently, he can substitute any player he sees fit in case of injury to a "regular." Thus the elder DiMaggio, although having played only 12 games this season, appears a good bet to form the opening picket line along with Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio, both of Boston Red Sox.

With or without Joe in the starting line-up, the proud American Leaguers rule a 5 to 7 favorite to defeat the Nationals. The Americans, who haven't lost an All-star contest to their rivals since 1944, will carry a three - game winning streak into the game, and a record of 11 triumphs in 15 meetings. There was no game in 1945.

14 Canadian Records Broken In Track Meet

Toronto, July 11 (CP) — Fourteen Canadian records were established and several others threatened at the Canadian junior track and field championships which ended Saturday at Toronto's Varsity stadium.

The two-day meet, termed by officials "the most successful ever held in Canada," saw athletes from North Toronto Track Club pile up a commanding team total of 250 points.

Nine records were written into the books Friday in perfect track and field weather and an additional five were established Saturday despite a steady drizzle.

Sparkplug of the North Toronto Club was Rich Ferguson, a 17-year-old who added another record in the juvenile mile Saturday to the two he set the day before in the junior three-mile and juvenile half-mile. His mark in the three-mile grind was a Canadian native senior record and probably a world's junior mark.

Hustles to Record

Stealing some of the glory from the vaunted North Toronto Club, Oakville, Ont., high school's Pete Sutton hustled to a record in the juvenile 220-yard-dash in the time of 22.9, beating the old mark by 2/10ths seconds. A short time before he equalled the existing record of 10.3 for the 100-yard dash.

London, Ont., University Track Club bowled over another record, winning the one-mile relay in 3:33.6. Previous time was 3:34.4.

But the remainder of the record-breaking performances Saturday belonged to the North Toronto athletes.

Ferguson, who had two United States coaches bidding for his services during the meet, clipped six seconds off the old record for the juvenile mile in 4:29.2. And Jim Kimbark, withstood a determined challenge from Montreal Olympic Trumps' Ivan Livingstone to set a new standard of 26.1 for the junior 220-yard low hurdles. Old mark was 26.7.

Final standings of teams with 10 points and above: 1. No Toronto Track Clubs, 250; 2. Toronto West End Y, 42; 3. University Track Club, London, Ont., 39; 4. Hamilton Olympic Club, 38; 5. Toronto East York, T.C., 37; 6. Montreal, Olympic Trumps, 35; 7. Montreal Track Club 25; 8. Sudbury High School, 23; 9. St. Catharines, Ont., 19; Oakville, and Toronto Finnish A.C. (tie) 16; 11. Oshawa Shamrock A.C. 15; 12. Buffalo, N.Y., Downtown Y and Toronto Lake shore T.C. (tied), 15; 13. Belleville, Ont., 10.

BUILDING PERMITS THURLOW TOWNSHIP

Anyone erecting or remodelling a building in the Township of Thurlow must comply with the Township By-Law and secure a permit before the work is begun. It will also be necessary to comply with all requirements of the By-Law with regards to size of rooms, foundation, spacing of rafters and joists, etc.

Any building moved to a new location is considered to be a new erection and requires a permit. Permits may be obtained at the Township Office, Cannifton, upon presentation of plans and specifications of proposed buildings.

This By-Law does not affect farmers who have an area of 5 acres or more with the exception that it is necessary for all buildings in the Township to have the proper setback from the roadway.

There is a penalty provided for those who disregard this warning.

Manhattan Love Song

By Kathleen Norris

"But if you can live on it Chris?"

"Yes, I suppose you're right. If I can live on it, it's all right. And I can just about make it."

"It's a stepping stone."

"Madge has made good because her mother sends her a hundred a month," Chris went on, after thought. "And you--but I don't see you do it on ten a week."

"I could do it on ten a week, plenty of girls have learned how, now. But of course I don't. Rooming with Madge saves me rent, and the meals we cook in the kitchenette don't cost ten cents apiece, really--well, they do because we calculate on thirty cents a day each for two meals. But even that's only nine dollars a month! And with you and Mack taking us to spaghetti dinners--and Casino breakfast---"

She left it there, her lips automatically smiling, but her heart sick again. He was not listening, he was not interested.

"You're not jealous of Madge when she walks off with Mack?" Chri. asked suddenly, awkwardly.

"Jealous!" Fanny shrugged; looked away. "Chris--" she began "does it occur to you that they like each other more than they did--Mack and Madge?"

He glanced at her quickly, frowningly glanced away.

"No, it doesn't," he answered briefly. Presently he went back to the original question; "But you're sure you're not worried about it, Fan?"

"Mack and Madge?" No--I couldn't feel that way for Mack if he and I were alone on a desert island," Fanny said, after thought.

"Then it's someone else, isn't it Fanny?" Chris seemed pleased with the sudden inspiration; he repeated it smilingly; "That's it, is it? It's someone else?"

"Oh, you fool--you fool--you fool!" Fanny said. in her heart, She shook her head.

"Tell me about it," he suggested with an unsmiling glance.

"About what, Chris?"

"About whatever man it is that keeps from falling in love with Mack!"

"Oh--that! There doesn't have to be another man. It's just a question of chemistry, isn't it, Chris? We don't fuse, somehow, Mack and I."

Chris looked up; shrugged.

"You don't want to talk about it?"

She summoned all her courage.

"Do you?"

"Not--much to say." The dark color had crept up into Chris's face; he laughed a little at his own confusion. "Only that--some day I may be able to ask her," he said, not looking at Fanny, "and then--I shall ask her. That's all."

That was all. It seemed like a doom in her heart and for a moment Fanny hated the warm June noontime and the green park, and Madge, and life.

"You mean that you haven't asked her. Chris?"

There was a long pause before he said:

"I think she knows."

"I wonder how long we are going to sit here boring each other," Fanny thought bitterly. "I didn't want to come out here for breakfast this morning; I'd infinitely rather have stayed at home and washed my hair and read the papers and worked out the puzzles. He never sees me at all: why should I come out here and humiliate myself---"

"It takes all your energy just to live in this city," Chris said dreamily, in the silence, "your whole life is spent eating, sleeping getting from one place to another, down into subways, up in elevators. What have you left?"

"The fact that you've done it, maybe that you've met the hardest conditions that ever were in the most crowded city, and made good."

"I don't know," he said, "But I do know," he added, in sudden half rueful, half amused surprise, "that I don't want to live anywhere else."

"Nor I," Fanny added.

"This is September, Fan. What'll you do if Madge goes home at Christmas?"

"Think she'll go?" They were back at Madge again.

"It'll be getting cooler any day now."

"It must."

Fanny felt that she had never in her life been so uncomfortable and so bored. There seemed to be no way of ending this. She couldn't very well plead that she wanted to go back to the large houskeeping room she and Madge shared in Greenwich Village lodging house; it was hardly thinkable that she wanted to spend the hours between two o'clock on a Sunday afternoon and a quarter to nine on a Monday morning in this retreat. And yet it was equally unthinkable that she and Chris should drag about together during this insufferably hot day.

Chris had gotten to his feet.

"Hello!" Chris said in a perfectly quiet voice. But she heard the notes of it. Madge and Mack had come up, somewhat wilted and very warm, both beaming, delighted to find their own people again. Chris drew up chairs; there were to be lemonade all round.

"Bill had a touch of ptomaine, and of course they couldn't risk a picnic this weather. Gosh, I'm glad you stayed here!" Mack said, wiping his forehead. Chris, Fanny noted, was quietly radiant. Suddenly his life had taken on form and purpose again. It didn't matter what they did now. It was all right because Madge was here. Chris was suggesting bus-top rides, movies in a certain cool theatre, dinner downtown or Chinese chop suey.

Mack leaned back in his chair, after the first long draught of his drink, and closed his eyes, and Chris talked to Madge in low tones. Madge looked down at her own slim fingers, locked about her glass.

She was lovely this morning. The heat of the day had added a new delicacy a new transparent clearness to her beauty; her hazel eyes were full of light, and the curve of hair that went up against the blue hat had rich red tones in it. Madge's skin had the pearly quality that sometimes goes with dark red hair; usually she was pale but today her cheeks were stained with faint rose-color. And the new blue hat was infinitely becoming, and the soft-fawn colored gloves she had laid beside her plate were just the right gloves; Fanny felt gawky and shabby and fussy, watching exquisite little Madge sitting there sipping her lemonade, and lowering her long lashes under Chris's ardent look.

The whole day had turned into a complete failure for Fanny, but it was new-born for Chris; he could not be happy enough, plan with enough enthusiasm. Fanny heard the tremble in his voice, and she knew.

Mack seemed happy to, in his spoiled, dissatisfied fashion. He was in one of his amusing, scathing moods, commenting upon everything and everybody; he and Fanny kept a spirited conversation going for a while; she had only a vaguet idea what it was all about.

Then they walked over to the concert stand and listened to the last two numbers of the music: somebody's "Swan" and "Debussy's "Fawn."

"It delights these morons to recognize those!" Mack said.

"But that's good music, Mack. You'll notice that when it's a request program, like today, it's all good. Wagner, Schumann, and Rimski-Korsakov."

"Oh, I don't care what they like!" Mack insisted disgustedly

"You ought to, in your business." But this was all so dull--so frightfully dull. Chris and Madge were sauntering ahead together; Madge certainly had a beautiful body. The September sun shone with unabated fervor, but it was nearer the west in midafternoon than it had been a few weeks ago. According to what everyone said there would presently be cool, sweet, stinging days, and red leaves, and need for coats.

Coats! It was part of the complete strangeness of the whole experience, Fanny thought, that one hadn't had a coat on since June. Why, in California every other night would have been dew-soaked and chilly, and some of the midsummer days shrouded with fog, too. But this was not California.

And sometimes her three companions did not seem to be the same three who had started with her, either Chris had only grown a little graver and older; his laugh was a delightful when it did come and his fineness and cleverness and charm were just the same.

But Mack had become critical, hating--scorning it all, despising the very appreciation his own firm had shown for his extraordinary and easy talents.

And Madge had changed most of all. To begin with, the big city had frightened her; frightened her into a mood of continual uneasiness. And of the uneasiness had come a certain parsimony: Madge's monthly one hundred dollars were all-important to her now; she was anxious, fearful about not only her finances but those of other persons.

She was working with one Mrs. Brunton in a little stable-theatre in Greenwich Village; there was no salary in it, but it was not far from the room the girls shared, and Madge could walk through the autumn streets every morning feeling personally secure and comfortable in the city of insecurity and discomfort, and chatter with Mrs Brunton and Mary Brunton and Miss Merton and Phyllis Maitland behind the scenes, and plan great things, if ever the "Peter Pepper Playhouse" got a real start.

And with all this, and the difference between her position and Fanny's, and the added fact that Madge was more in love with Mack than ever, and Mack, in his negligent way, beginning to return her feeling. Fanny somehow felt that she had lost Madge. They roomed together--Madge paying other little bills as well--a laundry or cleaner's bill, and always saying prettily "Oh, please, Fan!" if Fanny protested. But there was not the old feeling between them.

Madge was complacent in the possession of an income, in the assurance that she was young and rich and popular and pretty and beloved by the man she loved. She could overlook what she did not like in the big city because she could go back to California whenever she liked; New York was only an adventure for her. Will FNanny it was all different.

Finny had had, from that first dreadful night in the Capathian, a sense of destiny. Good or bad, hart or easy, she belonged here. The swarming thousands on Broadway, the packed subways, the sticky merciless heat that settled down over hot great buildings, and breathless streets, the smallness and the bigness, the ugliness the strange wild beauty of it were all hers; in conquering it she would somehow conquer Fanny Furness, too, and conquer the world

Only Chris--and he unconsciously--shared with her this attitude He and she marveled, explored, admired. When the first cool days of autumn came they rejoiced as at a personal victory. Chris never talked of going "home"; his talk was all of a future here, and when Madge said gaily that the only way to live in New York was to keep getting out of it, he argued with her conscientiously, carefully.

In October Mack went with a certain radio star on a round of Southern cities: Washington, Richmond, Louisville. The itinerary alone dazzled Fanny, but Mack took it casually enough. After he went with the two girls began to see more of Chris.

Fanny tried to ignore the significance of this, tried not to think that Chris could not quite bear to be with them when Mack and Madge were so obviously friendly so obviously warming toward an affair, but she knew it was true. Chris, soberly plodding along in his law firm, and sending his first fee entire to his mother and sister, was no match for brilliant Mack in this cruel city of material value. "Chris'll be mayor some day," Mack conceded. But by that time I'll have my place at Palm Beach, and my penthouse on Park Avenue."

TWO AIRLINERS WITH 93 PERSONS CRASH, 56 REPORTED KILLED AND OVER 30 INJURED

14 American Newspaper Men On Dutch Plane

Writers Had Concluded Visit To Indian Prime Minister

Bombay, July 12 — (CP) — A Royal Dutch Airlines (K.L.M.) plane carrying 45 persons crashed today on a rocky hilltop 20 miles north of Bombay. All aboard the Constellation were reported killed.

(At The Hague, the Royal Dutch Airlines office said that only 44 persons were aboard the Constellation.)

The plane was carrying 14 American newspaper men and women.

The plane crashed in a driving rainstorm while approaching the Santa Cruz airfield, 15 miles north of Bombay. It hit a hill near Ghatkopar, on the opposite side of the 30-mile-long island from Santa Cruz.

Search parties reported the wreckage was strewn over a two-mile area some two miles above sea level and that the wreckage was partly charred.

The newspaper reporters aboard the plane were returning from a tour of Indonesia sponsored by The Netherlands government.

The accident was said to be the worst in India's aviation history. The rain had been coming down incessantly since Monday.

The Constellation was said to have circled the vicinity of Santa Cruz airdrome for about two hours. But because of poor visibility it could not locate the airport.

It seemed to have come down to about 400 feet searching for a landing place when it crashed.

Wing Brushed Hillside

The plane left Batavia, Java, July 10 and was scheduled to arrive in The Netherlands tomorrow.

At a reception Monday night, some newspaper men said they had made the request that the plane be allowed to land in India in order to avoid the long over-water hop to the Island of Mauritius.

While in New Delhi, the correspondents had the opportunity of interviewing Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

Dutch planes had not been allowed to land in India since the conflict between The Netherlands government and the Indonesian Republic, but a special request from the correspondents that the restriction be relaxed was approved by Nehru.

Aviation authorities in Bombay said evidence showed that the left wing-tip of the plane brushed against the hillside tilting the machine which then swung violently and crashed, breaking in two.

A reporter on the spot said the plane had been located on the opposite side of the hill which made it appear that the plane crashed almost at the peak and had then broken in two.

About 200 tall forest trees in a rough circle around the wreckage were charred by the blazing plane.

A stretcher bearer who returned to Ghatkobar said one woman passenger was alive and groaning when the first rescue party reached the spot. But almost immediately she collapsed and died.

A revised list of the newspaper correspondents aboard the plane was issued in New Delhi. They were: Charles Gratke, Christian Science Monitor; William Newton, Scripps, Howard newspaper alliance; Bertram Hulen, New York Times; Vincent Mahoney, San Francisco Chronicle; James Branyon, Houston Post; Nat Barrows, Chicago Daily News; H. R. Knickerbocker, Radio Station WOR; John Werkley, Time magazine; Elsie Dick, Mutual Broadcasting System; Tom Falco, Business Week; S. Burton Heath, Newspaper Enterprise Association; Fred Colvig, Denver Post; George Moorad, Portland Oregonian; L. Y. Mahan, of the Swanson Public Relations Company representing The Netherlands government.

K.L.M. officials said Mrs. Dorothy Brandon of New York Herald-Tribune and William Mathews of the Arizona Star, were not aboard the plane.

Mrs. Brandon and Mathews belonged to the group that had visited Batavia. No reason was given why they were not aboard the plane.

(In Manila, William R. Mathews, Tucson, Ariz., publisher, said Mrs. Brandon had refused to return aboard the plane for fear it would be sabotaged.

(So far no evidence that the plan was sabotaged has been uncovered.)

The plane circled over Santa Cruz Airport—one of the biggest in Asia—but could not land because of squally weather. Bombay had heavy monsoon rains today.

C.I.O. PRESIDENT READY TO FLASH WALKOUT ORDER

500,000 Steelworkers in the United States Would be Affected

Pittsburgh, July 12 (AP). — President Philip Murray of the C.I.O. stood ready today to flash a strike order to 500,000 C.I.O. affiliated United Steelworkers in the United States.

Murray said Monday night he will recommend the strike start this weekend.

His recommendations are expected to be approved speedily by the steelworkers' 170-man wage-policy committee. It scheduled a meeting here today.

POLICE RAID PRINTING PLANT IN AUSTRALIA

Firm Prints Communist Material, Newspaper

Sydney, Australia, July 12 (CP) —Police today made simultaneous raids on the offices and printing plant of a firm which prints communist material, including the communist newspaper, the Tribune.

Hundreds of persons watched the raids but there were no demonstrations. The police seized account books, pamphlets and galley proofs of newspaper articles.

But police apparently did not find money which they allege the communist party has withdrawn from its bank account to help prolong the country - wide strike of coal miners.

Spokesmen for the police indicated the documents they seized may be the basis for further charges against communist party members of violating the federal government's emergency legislation "freezing" union funds. The legislation makes it illegal to use union funds to support the strike of coal miners which began June 27 over demands for higher wages and shorter hours.

Twenty - three prominent Australian communists are due to appear in court Wednesday to answer charges that they are helping financially to prolong the coal strike.

The strike of 23,000 coal miners has thrown more than 500,000 persons out of work. The miners seek a wage increase of 30 shillings (4.80) a week and a reduction of the work week from 40 to 35 hours.

Meanwhile seamen throughout Australia began a 24-hour strike as a protest against the jailing of leaders of the Miners' Federation and the Ironworkers' Federation. The union leaders were jailed for refusing to disclose the whereabouts of union funds the government alleged were withdrawn from banks a few hours before the federal legislation to freeze union funds was enacted.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, July 12 (CP).—Synopsis: Scattered showers occurred in Central Ontario this morning, associated with a weak disturbance which is moving eastward into Quebec.

Another weak disturbance over the eastern United States is causing an area of showers which will remain south of the lower lakes. It will however, result in considerable cloudiness over southern sections of the province on Wednesday.

U.S. Unemployment Figures Reflect Return to Buyers' Market

New York, July 12 (AP).—Unemployment figures, like everything else, are reflecting the return to a normal buyers' market in the United States.

But unemployment, while on the increase recently, still is only slightly above average when viewed in the perspective of the last 100 years.

However, that's small comfort to the 3,778,000 persons in the United States pounding the pavements today looking for work. And it is little help to a community paralyzed when its biggest industry shuts down.

But the figures show that, even if the United States maintains a fairly prosperous economy with "full employment" in coming years, it can expect at least an average minimum unemployment of between 3,000,000 and 3,500,000.

That conclusion is based on a study by the Twentieth Century Fund, which found that five per cent of the labor force under normal conditions are looking for work at any given time. The fund is a non-profit foundation conducting research on current economic problems.

Labor organizations and various Federal government economists have predicted a possible rise in unemployment to around 5,000,000 this winter.

President Truman, in his economic report to Congress Monday, said "unemployment has not risen to the dangerous levels which would call for all-out emergency measures."

What is the danger line for unemployment?

It is generally agreed that looking at the total figure for the entire country is misleading in giving a true measure of the personal suffering caused by men and women being out of work.

If you are out of work and your kids are hungry, you don't care how rosy the statistical picture is. You want work.

A survey sponsored by the Twentieth Century Fund says:

"Reliable unemployment records for earlier periods are almost non-existent, but such estimates as have been made confirm the opinion that unemployment never disappears and rarely falls much below five per cent of the labor force."

But during the depression of the 30s it reached the highest point in history. In 1933 there was an average of nearly 25 per cent of the people out of work—one out of four jobless.

City Welcomes Orangemen For the '12th' Celebration; Extensive Program Scheduled

An estimated 3,000 Orangemen from all parts of Hastings and Prince Edward counties, as well as delegations from district cities of Kingston, Peterborough and Oshawa, converged on the city today for the annual 12th of July celebration observing the 259th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

Lodge members early today estimated that approximately 3,000 Orangemen, and members of L.O.B.A. lodges in the district would appear in the parade which was scheduled to leave the fairgrounds at one o'clock this afternoon.

The route of parade was down Bridge Street to Front and back to the fairgrounds after a turn in the business section of the city. The local L.O.B.A. served lunch at the fairgrounds from 11 to one o'clock.

Back at the fairgrounds after the parade a program of speech-making was scheduled with W. E. Tummon, Past Grand Master; Mayor D. L. Storey and county masters from Hastings and Prince Edward to be heard. County masters heard were John Anderson, North Hastings; Russell McFarlane, South Hastings, and Clifford McFaul, County Master for Prince Edward County.

L. Weese, Shannonville, county marshal, acted as parade marshal for the day.

Also scheduled at the fairgrounds was a program of sports including games and races for the kiddies, and a softball game featuring two teams in the local commercial softball league.

Series of Widely-Scattered Crashes Take Twenty-one Lives

(By The Canadian Press)

Two airliners crashed on opposite sides of the world today with 45 persons dead near Bombay, India, and at least 11 persons dead in the crash of a plane near Los Angeles.

Fourteen American newspaper, magazine and radio reporters were among those killed in the crash of a Dutch airliner in a drenching rainstorm near Bombay.

In Los Angeles the sheriff's office reported that a Standard Airlines plane was burned atop Santa Susana Pass in the north-west end of the San Fernando Valley. It was believed there were 48 passengers aboard.

The tragedies followed three crashes at widely - scattered places Monday in which 21 persons apparently were killed.

Yesterday a French military plane plunged into the sea just off French Morocco. Eighteen persons were killed.

A United States air - lift transport crashed Monday night in the Russian zone near Berlin. Two of the three - man crew have been found dead.

A Coast Guard seaplane cracked up in the Pacific about 480 miles northwest of San Francisco Monday night, on a rescue mission, but all 11 persons aboard were saved. The plane was trying to remove an ailing passenger from a ship.

Life Saved Because Bear Had One Paw

The Pas, Man., July 12 (CP)—Bernard Glover, 22-year-old forestry worker, believes he is alive only because the bear which attacked him Sunday had lost one of its paws in a trap some time ago.

Glover stabbed the bear to death with his hunting knife as it mauled him near his tent. It was the bear's second raid on his camp and Glover had prepared himself by placing a rifle nearby.

He said he heard a noise in front of the tent and saw a cub dash by. Then the angry female bear rushed him. He fired and wounded the animal before it closed in.

There was a rush of air past his head as the bear struck at him. But it was only the stump of a paw, instead of the claws, which hit him. Glover then managed to stab the bear.

Fire Destroys Dunkleman Home On Lake Simcoe

Roche's Point, Ont., July 12 — (CP) — Mildred Holt, 49, a Toronto nurse, was credited today with saving 13 persons Monday night when fire destroyed the $100,000 summer home of David Dunkelman of Toronto.

Miss Holt, awakened by smoke when the fire broke out, rescued Lawrence Wilner, Mr. Dunkelman's two-year-old grandson, and aroused the rest of the household by her screams. She was taken to Toronto hospital suffering a twisted ankle and facial burns.

Neighbors and volunteer firemen recruited by telephone could do little more than keep the fire from spreading. The flames, roaring 75 feet into the air when they arrived, were visible more than five miles away. The house was aflame minutes after the alarm was given.

Cause of the fire is not known.

Little Blockade Piles up Trucks At Helmstedt

Berlin, July 12 — (AP)—Russia's "little blockade" of Berlin piled up trucks at Helmstedt again today.

Truck traffic to this four-power city, 100 miles inside the Soviet zone, was banned for the third day except for four trucks an hour allowed to pass over the autobahn (super highway) from Helmstedt in the British zone.

About 500 Berlin - bound German trucks were tied up this afternoon at the Helmstedt checkpoint on the Soviet zone frontier. Six British army trucks, however, were cleared quickly by the Russian outpost.

There has as yet been no Russian explanation, although the Soviets had told British authorities they would send a letter today setting forth the reasons for the new restrictions.

Truck Drivers' Week Limited to 60 Hours

Toronto, July 12 (CP) — Eric Billington, chairman of Ontario's Industry and Labor Board, has issued an order directing that transport truck drivers cannot be worked more than 60 hours a week including 12 hours overtime. Some 3,000 drivers will be affected by the order. Mr. Billington added that allowance would be made for emergencies.

TROOPS, SAILORS UNLOAD SHIPS, GOVT. TAKES OVER

More Dockers Cease Work, 10,000 Idle

London, July 12— (CP) —Meat porters at London's great Smithfield Market unanimously decided at a meeting today not to deal with any meat handled by troops working in the docks under the "state of emergency."

Defiant dockers by the hundreds ceased work earlier in the day as troops and navy men moved in to unload food ships.

The Cabinet assumed virtual wartime powers to break up the stoppage officially blamed on Communist agitation.

The army and navy sent 2,380 soldiers and sailors to the wharves to unload food.

But the strikers, who numbered 10,222 Monday, were joined by another 2,728 men today. Fewer than 13,000 of the 25,000 who make up the London dock labor force reported for work.

127 Ships Idle

The National Dock Labor Board said 127 ships were idle and eight under-manned.

Mounted policemen were ordered into the Thames waterfront area to enforce a state of near martial law.

Strikers showed resentment as the government took over dockland under the Emergency Act of 1920. Many who had stayed on the job ever since the unofficial strike began June 27 walked off after a series of meetings at the various dock gates this morning.

Meanwhile the Cabinet picked an emergency committee to run the docks for the government while the state of emergency, proclaimed yesterday, continues.

Several hundred men at one group of docks, where there was a partial resumption Monday, decided after a dock-gate meeting this morning to stop work again.

While troops continued unloading of 15 food ships, started Monday, another 12 were being worked by Port of London authority dockers.

No call for labor was made this morning at the Royal Group of Docks, where thousands of men gathered in the sunshine, discussing the government's steps to maintain vital services under the emergency regulations.

Now in its 16th day, the stoppage involved more than 10,000 men, with 112 ships idle.

Canadian seamen again paraded with placards saying "On Strike to Defend Trade Unionism" and "The Argomont is Black."

Greying Skipper Home, Schooner Gone, Future Narrowed by Engine Age

Halifax, July 12 (CP).—Greying Capt. Archie Croft came home from the sea the other day, his schooner gone and his future narrowed by an age of engines.

His venerable ship, the three-master Frederick P. Elkin, gathers barnacles in Bridgetown, Barbados. She'll be moved only for buyer or scrap heap.

The Elkin's 2,000 yards of canvas were lashed to her masts for the last time in June. Because her Bridgetown owners found she wasn't paying her way, Capt. Croft and his five-man crew were paid off.

His voyages took him around the Caribbean with cargoes ranging from coal to rice. The 435-ton Elkin once was swept by a shipboard fire and her five-inch Nova Scotia spruce planks have shivered in a grounding.

During the Second World War, Capt. Croft often turned her bowsprit into sub-infested waters. One of the last three-masters, she never got a scratch.

The Elkin was bought as a wreck in 1922 and reconditioned at Saint John, N.B. When her radio batteries wore out nine years ago, they weren't replaced—instead, the skipper scrapped the radio.

"I saw Nova Scotia's biggest industry—shipbuilding—go to the wall," he reminisced. "When the wooden ships went out, the real sailor wilted away too." Days of "wooden ships and iron men" had changed to "iron ships and wooden men".

This wind-tanned veteran of 50 years at sea and 61 crossings of the Gulf Stream lost only one ship in his life. A screaming gale pounded the 80-ton Gladys and Lillian beneath the waves years ago but Capt. Croft and his six crew members were rescued by a passing freighter and landed at Gibraltar.

"There were hundreds of stern schooners all over the Atlantic," he said. "Then the hard times came and they tied up and died."

Pilot of American Plane Reported Violent Fight

Craft Bursts Into Flames Immediately After Crash

Los Angeles, July 12 — (AP) — A Los Angeles police radio car broadcast today that 11 persons were killed and 30 injured in the flaming crash of a Standard Airlines plane near the summit of Santa Susana Pass.

The crash occurred shortly after the pilot reported that a fight had broken out among passengers on the New York-to-Long Beach, Calif., unscheduled flight. There were 48 passengers aboard.

The Air Traffic Control Bureau at Burbank received a radio message from the pilot, Roy White, 25 minutes before the report of the crash, saying that a violent fight had broken out aboard the ship.

"Two of the passengers started fighting over Riverside," said the message. "I want police at the airport at Burbank and I want one of the men arrested. One man is badly beaten."

The pilot requested permission to set down at Burbank. The plane was scheduled to land at Long Beach.

Stanley Weiss, President of Standard Airlines, flew over the wrecked plane in a cabin monoplane and said the pilot's cabin appeared to be burned out "but the rest of the plane doesn't look so bad."

The Los Angeles air route traffic control bureau received the report from the pilot for police aid at the airport.

One of the passengers, the Control Bureau was informed, had been badly beaten. The pilot said he wished one of the men arrested.

Crashes Near Reservoir

It was only a short time later that the sheriff received a call that a big airliner had crashed one mile north of the Chatsworth Reservoir. Reports said the craft burst into flames immediately. A call then was received in North Hollywood for three ambulances.

The civil aeronautics authority verified that the pilot had been cleared for a landing at Lockheed Air terminal, Burbank after making a report of the fight aboard.

Santa Susanna Pass is a steep rocky defile leading through the Santa Susanna mountains from San Fernando Valley to coastal area between Chatsworth and the Ventura-Santa Paula area. It is about 25 miles west of Los Angeles.

There was no immediate indication as to the fate of the passengers. The crash scene is in remote rugged territory, not easily accessible.

A Standard Airlines representative said the plane left New York about 8.30 p.m., EDT, Monday night and made stops at Chicago, Kansas City and Albuquerque.

He said the company engages in unscheduled flights cross country.

"We have dispatched a plane to fly over the scene and determine just what has happened and whether there is any sign of life nearby," he said. "Our information about the accident is very meagre.

"The passenger list is being compiled through the co-operation of our New York, Chicago and Kansas City offices. We should have it complete shortly."

Baby Assaulted, Police Patrols Strengthened

Ottawa, July 12—(CP)—Police today said they hoped to get a clue from 28-month-old Giselle Lachance to the person who ravished and beat her and suspended her nude body from a rafter in a shed behind her home.

The child was the victim of what Inspector Ubald Sauve of the morality squad said was "one of the most brutal sex attacks in the history of the city.

The attack occurred Monday a few blocks from the heart of the city. The girl, still unable to utter more than a few words, was reported recovering in hospital today.

The only child of Mr. and Mrs. Telesphore LaChance, the baby was put out to play by her mother who was busy with the Monday wash. Mrs. LaChance said she noticed later the child was missing and went to look for her.

The youngster was found some three hours later by a seven-year-old neighborhood boy who was led to the shed by his barking dog. Meanwhile Mrs. LaChance asked neighbors if they had seen her daughter.

Suffering badly from shock, the infant was taken to hospital by ambulance, and placed at once in an oxygen tent. She later regained consciousness and hospital attendants said she was improving.

Her clothes were found in the shed and scattered behind it.

Residents of the Bryere Street community continued to keep vigil from their verandahs late Monday night despite police assurances the area would be well patrolled until the attacker is apprehended.

GIRL ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

East Nassau, N.Y., July 12 — (AP) — A girl was shot and killed Monday night while walking with her fiance in the vicinity of wreckage of a United States Air Force jet plane which crashed near here Saturday night. State Troopers said the girl, Marion Ann Noreem, 25, was hit by a bullet from the revolver of a military policeman guarding the wreckage. Police said the gun was discharged accidentally.

Police Court

Given 3 Months For Receiving Stolen Property

Pleading guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property, Jack Cole, formerly of Picton, was sentenced to three months in the county jail when he appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in city police court this morning.

Inspector J. C. Hayes told the court that Cole had been given a lift by two men in a stolen car. The car had been taken to a farm north of Foxboro and had been destroyed by fire the same night. Cole had sold the wreck to a garageman at Foxboro for the sum of five dollars.

He said the car had been owned by a Point Anne resident who had only recently purchased the vehicle for $1,000. There was no insurance on the car. The two men who stole the auto have not been apprehended.

"This is a very serious matter and this man has got to pay the penalty for his part," stated the Magistrate as he passed sentence on the accused.

Making Restitution

William Taylor, Toronto, charged with being drunk in charge of a car was remanded for sentence on his plea of guilty. Taylor was apprehended on Saturday after he had bumped several cars while driving on Front Street. Sentence was deferred by the magistrate to enable the accused to make restitution for the damage caused.

Herbert Potter, employee for a local construction firm, accused of absconding without paying his board bill, had his case enlarged until Friday. Mrs. Royle, 212 Coleman Street, stated Potter had left her boarding house without paying a board bill of $36.

Possessed Wine

Wesley Brant, Deseronto Indian, was fined $25 and $5.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to having been in possession of five bottles of wine.

Kinsmen Hold Special Meeting On Pool Project

Members of the special committee for the Kinsmen Community Swimming Pool project held a special meeting Monday evening when they were addressed by Arthur White, supervising engineer for A. S. Leitch and Company, Toronto, manufacturers of pumps and filters for swimming pools.

Before meeting with the members of the committee, Mr. White had surveyed the tentative property and reported the site was one of the best locations for a swimming pool which he had inspected. He reported that he would have working drawings for the proposed swimming pool in the hands of the club members within the next ten days.

Originally the proposed swimming pool was a Kinsmen club project but was later turned over to the Inter-Service-Club Council as a combined venture for all service clubs in the city. Within the past few weeks the project has been returned to Kinsmen as a club venture.

JOSEPH WILLIAM FOX

Former resident of Madoc Township, Joseph William Fox, of Niagara Falls, died in that city on Monday at the home of his son, Frank Fox. He was in his 80th year.

Born in Madoc Township, the deceased was the son of the late Sidney and Margaret Fox and was a member of the United Church. Before going to Niagara Falls he had lived at Eldorado. His wife, the former Eliza Parnell, died 14 years ago.

He is survived by one son, Frank Fox, of Niagara Falls, and two daughters, Mrs. Allan Diamond, (Marjorie), of Niagara Falls, and Mrs. Ronald Tryhorne, (Lillian) of Toronto.

Also there are three sisters, Mrs. Annie Roushorn, Madoc; Mrs. William Goodchild (Eliza), of Glenora and Mrs. Robert Drury. There are six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

LATE MRS. EMILY (LAVIS) MASSON

The funeral of Mrs. Emily (Lavis) Masson, late residence St. Agnes Manor, and widow of Stewart Masson, K.C., was held Monday morning from the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Home, Everett Street. The service in the chapel and at the family plot in Belleville Cemetery was conducted by Archdeacon the Ven. Arthur Smith, Rector of St. Thomas' Church.

The bearers were Lieut. Col. E. A. Geen, Jamieson Bone, A. F. Y. Leslie, M. Stork, O. H. Scott and F. Kayser.

LATE MRS. FLORENCE M. FRIZZONE

On Monday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Florence May (Gardiner) Frizzone, wife of Mr. Louis Frizzone, 42 Frank Street, was held from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street. The service in the chapel and at Belleville Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. C. A. Perkins, minister of Holloway Street United Church.

LATE MRS. GRACE ELIZABETH MOORE

Service for the late Mrs. Grace Elizabeth (Snyder) Moore, wife of Mr. William J. Moore, 153 George Street, was conducted in the chapel at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, on Monday evening by the Rev. F. R. Harback of the Tabernacle United Church.

Later the body was forwarded to Montreal where interment will take place at Mount Royal Cemetery.

LATE JOSEPH McFARLANE

Marmora—The funeral of the late Joseph McFarlane took place on Monday morning from the residence of his sister, Mrs. E. Reid. Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. H. J. Farrell at the Sacred Heart Church at 9 a.m. Members of the Canadian Legion acted as pall bearers namely: J. O'Neill, J. Darrah, J. Laird, H. Nayler, W. Bedore and H. Osborne. Major Percy Gray who served overseas with the deceased in the 21st Batt. in World War 1 was also present. Burial took place in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

JOHN GURNEY
(Fort William)

John Gurney, Fort William, formerly an engineer with the C.N.R. in Belleville, died recently in the Lakehead city.

Mr. Gurney was a life member of Moira Lodge No. 11, A. F. and A. M. He was retired.

MICHAEL JAMES O'NEILL
(Watertown, N.Y.-Westport)
(Contributed)

Michael James O'Neill, a prominent business man of Watertown, N.Y., died in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, on July 5th, where he had been a patient since June 18th.

The deceased was born in Westport, Ontario, son of the late Michael Joseph O'Neill and Catharine O'Brien. He was 54 years old and had resided for many years in Watertown, N.Y., where he was co-owner and co-operator of the State Street Automotive Body Works, 428 State Street.

The funeral was held at Holy Family Church, Watertown, N.Y., on Friday morning, July 8th, when Solemn High Mass was celebrated, his pastor, Rev. Fr. Farrell, with deacon and subdeacon officiating. Interment was made in Brookside cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, the former Anna L. Romang, one son Joseph James, 14 years, Watertown, N.Y., three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Doyle (Elizabeth), Lonsdale, Ontario; Mrs. Patrick Doyle (Jane), Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. James Keogh (Anna), of East Orange, New Jersey; two brothers, Thomas Martin O'Neill of Sexsmith, Alberta and John Francis O'Neill of Detroit, Mich.

The funeral was largely attended, all the members of his immediate family and relatives from St. Catharines and Elgin being present, as well as a large number of friends and business acquaintances of Watertown.

The many spiritual and floral tributes showed the high esteem in which deceased was held by all who knew him.

THOMAS HENERY POWELL CROZIER

After an illness of four months, Thomas Henry Powell Crozier, retired C.N.R. engineer, died at his home, 37 Forin Street, shortly before noon today.

He was born in Middlesboro, England and came to this country with his parents, when he was two years old and resided in Brockville, for a time. He joined the Grand Trunk Railway as a fireman and was shortly classed as an engineer. About 60 years ago he came to Belleville and has been a resident of the city since that time. He was well known and highly respected among the railway fraternity. He was a member of Christ Church and active in the work of the parish. Fraternally he was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers No. 189, Moira Lodge No. 11 A.F. A.M., and Moira Chapter No. 7 R.A.M.

Surviving are his widow the former Margaret Morrison; three daughters, Mrs. Frank W. (Athol) Ball of Ottawa; Mrs. Jean Abbott, of this city; Mrs. Walter (Gladys) Stewart, Montreal; and one sister, Sister Clair, (S.S.J.D.), Convalescent Hospital, Toronto. An only son, John Crozier, died in 1946.

Resting at the Pinkston Funeral Home, Church Street at Victoria Ave.; the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

Bring Home Bacon Program Feature Rotary Luncheon

Rotary Club members were a dollar poorer in cash following the weekly luncheon on Monday; the club was richer by several dollars and some Rotarians were better off with handsome prizes and all got something or other, including fines.

It was "Bring Home the Bacon" day at the club luncheon, a periodical innovation programmed to bolster the exchequer of the club. Rotarian Russ Hachborn was chairman of the meeting due to the absence of President Fred Deacon and Secretary Al. Davis who were attending a district meeting out of town.

There was no speaker. Chairman Hachborn after the usual introduction of the guests and announcements got down to the job at hand. Assisted by Rotarian Art Francis, chairman of the "Get-More-Money" Committee, he dipped deeply and well into the magic box which held the lucky numbers.

Winner of the 100 - pound bag of sugar was Rotarian Irv. Hefkey. Taking home bags of groceries were Rotarians, Jack Howe, Bob Dewar, Claire Hayes (who suddenly discovered the idea was O. K.), Russ White, Jack Ireland, Dr. Arthur Locke, Court Miller, Stan. Hagerman(who won one by auction), Freeman Burrows and Ken Griffiths.

Other prizes were annexed by Rotarians Art Francis (a dozen roses), Fred Chamberlain, Dr. Van Blakslee, Fred Wilson and a guest. Rotarian Dave Cane won the "bacon".

Later the bag of sugar was turned back to the club by Rotarian Hefkey for auction and was bought by Rotarian Dave Martin.

A number of the clubmen and their wives and families were guests of the Moira Lake Boys' Camp this afternoon at the annual picnic.

Stage All Set For Kiwanis Club Regatta off Massassaga Park; Boats on Market Square Tonight

Many Canadian holders of speedboat championships will be here for the Kiwanis Club First Annual Regatta off Massassaga Point tomorrow afternoon, regatta officials announced today.

They also announced that a number of the visiting speed demons will be on public display on the Market Square tonight from 7 to 8.30 to give the general public a close-up view of these speedway water-sprites.

Several American and Canadian 225 cubic inch Division 1 boats will be here for the main racing event. Included are Si Street's "Z-Z-Zip" and two other Street craft from Kansas City. The "Z-Z-Zip" was the 1948 Class 1 high point winner and also annexed the famous British-American Trophy. The Bogey brothers, Bob and Bill of Loon Lake, N.Y., will be here with their famous "Blitz II" and a new boat "Blitz III". Dr. Walter Robinson, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., with "Mr. Docket" and Bill Braden, of Hamilton with "Ariel II" will contest the race.

Dr. W. W. Schomberg, Coral Gables, Florida, will be on hand with three boats for the various divisions as will Art Hatch with his "Costa Lotta."

Well Represented

The Class II Division 225's will be well represented with Ed Pine driving his starry "Maple Leaf" in quest of his third straight victory in his division. Maple Leaf will carry the number "U.S. 1" in this race indicating she is the National U.S. high point champion of the 225 class Division II.

Racing craft from Kingston, Gananoque, Brockville, Picton and other Canadian racing centres will be here for the water derby which at the present time points to being a highly successful meet. The regatta will be under the direct supervision of an American Power Boat Association, Canadian Division representative.

Races will include the two divisions in 225 hydroplanes; the 135 cubic inch class in which the famous Mike Steffen, Grand Island, N.Y., will race his "Egg and I"; racing runabouts, Classes D and E. and a special race "The Bay of Quinte Free-For-All."

This race is open to any boat not classified in the above categories and outboards and inboards from all over the district will compete for the three handsome prizes in each class.

Offers Prize

Four entries will be here from Madoc. And speaking of that village President Cal. Kincaid, of the Madoc Kiwanis Club, who owns a saucy craft will donate an added prize of $15 to any boat powered with the same type of motor, a Star Continental 4-cylinder job, that can kick spray in his teeth.

Massassaga Park off which the regatta will be staged, is four miles south and east of the city via the Belleville-Picton highway. Road signs will direct the public to Massassaga Park and regatta officials stated this morning that the roads and locality have been generously treated with dustlayer and other chemicals to offset the dust nuisance that prevailed in other years.

Buses will leave the Front-Bridge Streets intersection every half-hour beginning 12.30 p.m. The fare is 75 cents including admission to the regatta grounds with children's admission priced at 50 cents. Lunch is available on the grounds. The general admission to Massassaga is 50 cents per person with children half price.

MARMORA

Initial Work On New Highway Being Speeded

Marmora—Initial work towards the paving of No. 7 Highway between Marmora, and Madoc, is being expedited by the contractors. The road is being widened on the Marmora side of the hill which leads down to the C.N.R. track and greater width still is being given it at the Deloro turn.

Between that turn and Madoc, the road is being widened at two or more other sections while blasting will be done at the high rock on the horseshoe bend beyond the Ackerman mine property.

REMOVE PRICE CONTROLS

Buenos Aires, July 12 (AP)—Argentina has removed price controls in effect since 1943 on milk, edible oils and soap. Supplies of the three commodties now are adequate to meet demands.

Raspberry Prices Slightly Lower

Price of raspberries dropped slightly on the local farmers' market today with the red variety being generally quoted at 45 cents or two boxes for 85 cents. The blue variety could be purchased for a few cents less, although several farmers quoted both varieties at the same price.

Huckleberries sold at 50 cents the quart with wild raspberries, blackcaps and black currants quoted at the same figure. Red currants were 25 cents and gooseberries the same price.

Potatoes were plentiful at $1. per six-quart basket with quart boxes at 20 cents. Unshelled peas sold at 15 cents per box or two quart boxes for 25 cents.

NO WORK FOR SHIP

Many Residents Nightly Inspect New Fire Hall

City residents with an interest in where their tax money is going are availing themselves of the opportunity of inspecting at first hand the new fire station on Moira Street and the several thousand dollars worth of new fire fighting equipment stored in the building.

Each night this week from Sunday until Saturday night with the exception of Thursday evening "Open House" is being held at the fire hall when citizens are invited to inspect the new fire hall.

Visitors are shown completely through the new building and at the same time are given the opportunity of seeing the new aerial ladder, the recently purchased fire pumper and the new fire chief's car.

Members of the local fire department are justifiably proud of their fine new fire station and of their new equipment. They claim —and possibly rightly so—that the fire hall is the most modern and best appointed in the province. It was built at a cost of approximately $68,000.

Stucco Exterior

With an exterior of stucco over concrete block the new building stands out prominently with its bright red trimming. Three entrances on the ground floor will accommodate the largest fire fighting equipment. Also on the ground floor is the furnace room and hose drying racks. Across the front of the building a bright red lettered sign reads "Fire Station No. 2."

Upstairs is the living quarters for the members of the department, including offices for Fire Chief Gerald Vance. In the centre of the upstairs is a large rotunda, which is used for a games room. Also there is a large and completely equipped lounge room.

Well-equipped Kitchen

Many a city housewife might envy the firemen for their completely equipped kitchen including built-in cupboards. In the kitchen is an electric refrigerator and electric stove. Here firemen prepare their meals while on duty.

Sleeping accommodation, two men to a room, and all with single beds are provided for the members of the department on night duty, while there are also individual lockers and complete shower facilities.

Visiting privileges at the fire station will be discontinued for Thursday evening when members of city council and other officials, as well as fire chiefs from neighboring centres will be guests at a dinner at the fire hall. Official opening ceremonies will take place in conjunction with the dinner.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, July 12 — (CP) — Plain quality cattle made up the bulk of supply on the local livestock market this morning. Prices were generally steady. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle, 500; calves, 250; hogs, 300; sheep and lambs, 100. Held over from Monday's trading were 1,200 cattle.

Plain to medium light steers and heifers sold for $17-20 with boners downward to $14. A few good steers were $21-$22. Butcher cows brought $13.50-$16. Good bulls ranged from $18-$18.50 with plain as low as $15.50. Fed yearlings were $19.25-$23.25. Plain stockers sold for $14-$16.

Calves were steady at $21-$23 for choice vealers with plain to medium from $16-$20. Grassers for slaughter brought $13-$15.50.

The hog market was unsettled in morning trade. The previous close was $32 for Grade A and $31.60 for Grade B1.

Lambs were mostly 50 cents higher at $28.50 for good ewes and wethers and bucks at the $1 discount at $27. Good light sheep were $11-$13 for ewes and downward to $6 for culls.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, July 12. (CP)—Activity began to pick up slowly as the session progressed here today with prices continuing to move in a narrow range. A few industrials mixed fractional gains and losses while senior and junior golds producers advanced slowly. Base Metals recovered an early loss.

Industrial issues fluctuated irregularly with some opening losses disappearing in mid-session and several key issues slipping into the minus column. All changes were held to fractions. Constructions were strong as building activity in the Dominion continues brisk. Some steels and papers eased.

Senior golds brightened under the leadership of McIntyre while junior producers began to advance at the half-way mark on gains ranging up to 10 cents.

Base metals also climbed in midsession. Consolidated Smelters marked up $1 at $92 and Waite Amulet jumped 25 cents at $9. Quebec Labrador was very active for a five-cent loss.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, July 12 (CP)—Produce prices quoted on the spot market here this morning follow: Churning cream, No. 1, 58 cents fob, 62 delivered.

Supplies are still limited on the egg market. The market is firm at unchanged prices. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: Grade A large 65; A medium, 63; A pullet, 50-51; grade B 44; grade C 37. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large, 68; A medium, 66; A pullet 55; grade B 48; grade C 42.

The butter solid market is steady at unchanged prices. First grade tenderable solids, 58; other first grades, 57.

Americans Score Four Runs in First Inning

Brooklyn, July 12 (AP)—The underdog National League team today called on big left - handed Warren Spahn of Boston Braves, to oppose Mel Parnell of Boston Red Sox, as starting pitcher in the 16th annual All-star baseball game.

Spahn has a 9-8 record and Parnell's record is 11-5.

Skies were gray and the air was clammy as the National League team took the field for batting practice.

Joe DiMaggio, sensational since returning after an operation on his heel, and Ted Williams, nursing a fractured rib, were counted on by Manager Lou Boudreau to spark the American Leaguers.

Ebbets Field was all polished up for the occasion, with red, white and blue bunting draped from the red-painted rails of the box seats.

The National League has won only four of the previous 15 All-star games, and league President Ford Frick asked Southworth to bear down hard for victory although prestige was the only thing at stake.

An hour before game time the skies cleared slightly but the sun remained hidden, and the field was virtually shadowless. A light breeze blew from right field across the diamond.

First Americans:

D. DiMaggio went down swinging. Kazak made a nice stop of Kell's bounder but the runner was safe when Mize failed to come up with Kazak's low throw. Kazak was charged with an error. Williams was called out on strikes. Kell was credited with a stolen base as Seminick's throw pulled Reese off the bag. Joe DiMaggio, on a 2-1 count, lined a single to left scoring Kell. The run is unearned. Joost walked on four straight pitches. E. Robinson rapped a single to right of Mize scoring J. DiMaggio and sending Joost to third. Reese bobbled Michael's bounder, recovered but threw too late to force E. Robinson at second. Joost scored on the error. Tebbets' ground single between third and short scored E. Robinson, and Michaels raced all the way to third when the bag was left unprotected. Parnell fanned.

Nationals:

Parnell knocked down Reese's wicked smash and threw him out. J. Robinson smashed a low liner between Williams and J. DiMaggio and with a burst of speed slid in ahead of Joe's accurate throw to second, for a two base hit. Musial walloped a three-and-two pitch high over the right field screen for a home run scoring J. Robinson ahead of him. Kiner lifted a high foul to Tebbets directly in front of the National dugout. Parnell curved over a third called strike on Mize.

HONOR SHORT LIVED

Detroit, July 12 — (CP) — A little more than a month after he received $250 in savings bonds for being the safest driver in the Detroit street railway, John P. McGowan, 56, was held today on a charge of drunk driving.

He was arrested Monday when his auto swerved and hit a parked car belonging to Richard C. Rocheleau.

McGowan received the money June 8 for driving 600,000 miles in 21 years for the D. S. R. without a chargeable accident.

Freedom Felt Good to Jo-Jo But Like Humans He Abused it

(News item:—A young bear, believed to be one of the pair which escaped from the property of the White Brothers, city butchers, at Rossmore last fall, was shot and killed near Massassaga Point yesterday afternoon. The bear which weighed 120 pounds was killed by Percy O'Neill, C.N.R. inspector, who was hunting with a party headed by George Wallbridge. The bear, it is stated, had been raiding berry patches and gardens in the vicinity and had frightened several school children in the vicinity.)

"This is," grunted twelve-months-old "Jo-Jo" the sole remaining member of a pair of bear-cub twins formerly owned by Jo and Stan White, purveyors meat of this city, "the life. Six months of being pent up in a man-made cage with an artificial pine tree (as if those guys were kiddin' us) sticking up in the centre, like the curlicue on a mid-Victorian widow's chapeau, was plenty."

"Jo-Jo" was resting in a thicket near Massassaga Point early yesterday morning. Several months of new-found freedom had given him a new slant on life. His belly was full of succulent raspberries pilfered during the night from a nearby human's patch. Gardens had plenty of green stuff. The woods were full of edible things, there was a possibility later of raiding a few bee-hives or stumbling across a bee-tree, and there were plenty of half-grown humans who trudged to school every morning whom he could send crying down the road by appearing suddenly in their vicinity. Besides, he could go on a bearish binge by quaffing the molasses-spilled waters of the bay.

Memories of Confinement

But there were full-grown humans too. "Jo-Jo" had memories of the days spent in confinement with his twin brother "Stan" who was unceremoniously "bumped off" by these larger humans a few months ago. 'Stan's' pride was his downfall. His bearish ego cost him his life. So accustomed to having curious humans photograph him, he did not hesitate to pose for a special camera one day. He figured he would make the big American magazines. Who knows he might have made the Police Gazette posing with a neat, nifty, half-nude model.

But "Stan" guessed wrong. As he posed, head thrown back, a bearish leer illuminating his pointed features, this Bruin "Gable" received a rude jolt. In fact it was the last thing he remembered.

"What I want to get into your head is this," murmured the "camera hound," as he pulled the trigger of his .38 rifle. "Stan" toppled to the ground, a rug in the making.

"Jo-Jo" stretched out luxuriantly on his soft bed of pine needles. A short distance away, green Massassaga water glittered in the morning sunlight.

"This is the life," he reiterated, removing an obnoxious raspberry seed from his third bicuspid. "Nothing to worry about; lots to eat; no income tax, and a good hole to hibernate in next winter. Let those human guys worry about governments, taxes and women. A lot of 'em wish they were as free as I."

A sudden rustling in the bush brought "Jo-Jo" out of his day-dream. He huddled close to the ground. A few feet away were his dreaded enemies, the humans. Under their arms they carried the same kind of "cameras" that took the life of his departed brother.

No Mood For Posing

"Jo-Jo" was in no mood to pose for pictures. He had a butterfly-ish feeling in the region of his stomach. "These guys are up to no good—and me holding a shoreline seat for the Kiwanis Regatta Wednesday. Guess I'd better settle for a rain-check," he muttered.

He wandered through the woods to the "Garbage Grill" where he obtained meals free of charge after dark, and nibbled unselect bits of food from the human's smorgasbord.

That was his undoing. A shout echoed in his ears. He dashed for the safety of his favorite thicket, but before he reached it in front of him holding a .35 "camera" stood one of his enemies, a human.

"Jo-Jo" gave a despairing look at the woods. Therein lay safety. He ambled at top-speed for the bush. But he was too late. Three shots rang out in the still evening air and "Jo-Jo's" spirit rose gently from its fur-covered casing to join that of "Stan" in the Bruin Valhalla.

And that's the "bare" story of the demise of "Jo-Jo" and "Stan", two playful bear-cubs who sought freedom, got it, abused it and paid for the privilege.—G.H.C.

C.I.O. PRESIDENT

Murray, after a fruitless two and a half hour conference at Washington with Cyrus S. Ching, Federal Conciliation Director, said contract negotiations with United States Steel Corporation and other basic steel producers are "hopelessly deadlocked".

Ching later said he had reported to the White House without making any recommendation as to what action should be taken.

There was some belief, however any White House action might come before the steelworkers policy committee votes on Murray's strike recommendation.

President Truman has the power to declare the proposed strike a danger to the country's safety and welfare. He could appoint a fact-finding board and a walkout could be averted for 80 days.

Steel Magazine says some trade authorities believe the steelworkers would be agreeable to such action "in view of deteriorating economic conditions over recent months."

The steelworkers have received three wage increases since the end of the last war and now average about $1.65 hourly.

Their contract doesn't expire until 1950. However, a clause permitted it to be reopened this year for wage talks. If no agreement is reached by July 16 the union has the right to strike.

In the contract talks thus far, Murray hasn't revealed how much of a wage boost he wants. And he hasn't told big steel his desires for pensions, although other union spokesmen have set the figure at $150 monthly.

As far as hourly rates go, big steel made its position known July 6. President Benjamin F. Fairless said a fourth-round boost is not justified.

Since then other industry spokesmen have declared steel can't afford a boost because of a decline in business and rising material costs.

Murray counters with claims that big steel's profits in 1948 and the first quarter of this year justify his demands.

MARMORA

Baseball Team Trims Havelock For 4th Straight

Marmora—By its fourth successive win as they engaged Havelock on Monday evening, Marmora baseball team maintained its unbeaten record in the Trent Valley League, the score being 9-1. For the winners Drummond turned in a sound game on the mound and with Auger led in batting honors. Two runs were brought in with the latter's timely double in the 6th. Errors by the visitors in two frames cost them runs without which the score would have been closer.

Teams were:

Score by innings:

Havelock	000 010 0—1		5	7
Marmora	002 124 x—9		9	3

Point Anne Tennis Club In First Place

The Point Anne Tennis Club moved into first place in the Bay of Quinte Tennis League standings Sunday afternoon when they downed the visiting Trenton Tennis Club in a series of hard fought matches at Point Anne.

The homesters were hard pressed to subdue the rapidly improving visitors, being extended in every match. The sparkling play of both clubs was one of the highlights of the current campaign. A large audience witnessed one of the best matches seen locally in years.

First Men's Doubles: Barney Lesperance and Hank Fillion, Trenton, defeated Gordon Huck and Jack Hart, Point Anne, 6-0, 3-6, 6-4.

Second Men's Doubles: Guy Fraser and Thorald Horwood, Point Anne, defeated Bob Sager and Gerry Ireland, Trenton, 3-6, 6-4, 10-8.

Ladies' Doubles: Donalda Everett and Iona Carter, Point Anne, defeated Shirley Jones and Marie MacDonald, Trenton, 6-3, 6-1.

First Mixed Doubles: Laurence Horwood and Hilda Finlan, Point Anne, defeated Gordon Acherman and Freda MacDonald, Trenton, 9-7, 6-4.

Second Mixed Doubles: Perry Everett and Ilene Luffman, Point Anne, defeated Harold Moon and Pat MacDonald, Trenton, 7-5, 7-5.

Blind to Ask Abolition of Means Test

Toronto, July 12. (CP)—Abolition of the means test for pensions for the Blind is to be asked this week at a conference of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Members will ask that the pensions be made allowances, like family allowances.

Col. E. A. Baker, managing director of the C.N.I.B., said of the proposal in an interview:

"The means test has become increasingly irksome and obstructive in its effect, particularly on the rehabilitation of the newly-blind adult. The frustration and fears that are normally so difficult to overcome are aggravated by the additional fear introduced by the means test."

The conference will also review progress in the C.N.I.B.'s building program. Plans call for the building of 20 residence, with social, recreational and employment facilities. Two have already been built, in St. Catharines and Saskatoon.

J. W. Gillespie, supervisor of the C.N.I.B.'s Newfoundland Division, told interviewers of the nursery for blind children established in St. John's. He said blind persons in the new province were pleased to receive the Canadian pension for the blind and he mentioned that there were only four eye specialists to serve Newfoundland.

MADOC

Rochester Man Dies While in Doctor's Office

Madoc—Suffering a heart seizure, Henry C. Schreder of of Rochester, N.Y., died suddenly in the office of Dr. Mullin, Madoc, Monday morning.

Mr. Schreder and family were enjoying their holidays camping at Pitt's Landing, Moira Lake, where they had been spending their summer holidays for the past twelve years.

The body was taken to Duffin Funeral Home and then by motor to Rochester. His wife and two children and his mother, returned to Rochester on Monday afternoon.

COUNCIL APPROVES GRANT

Sudbury, July 12 — (CP).—Sudbury city council Monday night approved a grant of $1,000 to the Sudbury Police Association fund for families of Constables Edward Terrell and Gerard Dault, who were killed in a gun battle here last June 18.

Personal contributions have so far totalled $8,882. The civic grant plus some $1,500 raised in an exhibition softball game and a Sunday night concert that packed three city theatres, brings the fund to about $11,200.

WELCOME POWER BOAT DRIVERS

Belleville will have another opportunity of welcoming these fine sportsmen, the men who take part in thrilling power boat races all over the continent. They are participating in the first annual power boat regatta staged by the local Kiwanis Club.

This type of racing is one of the few modern sports that still remain amateur. The participants get their reward from winning keenly-contested races from others who are rivals in the sport only. They win renown, cups and other trophies but no money is involved. All classes of trades and professions contribute to the sport. Among them are merchants, engineers, doctors, machinists and lawyers. They are owners and drivers who travel thousands of miles paying their own expenses which must be no small item.

There is danger in the races and we have but to recall "Pops" Cooper who received injuries that proved fatal while racing at Picton last year. Cooper was a veteran of hundreds of races throughout America but even with his great experience he fell victim to one of those tragic incidents that sometimes mars a race.

The 225 class will have particular interest to Belleville spectators at the regatta as a local racer, Ed Pine, will take part. He has won already two gold trophies this season and given water he likes — a bit on the roughish side — has a splendid chance of repeating here. Anyway he will have the moral support of a host of district fans. His boat is named the Maple Leaf.

We hope conditions will be favorable for good racing and that the drivers taking part in the Canadian circuit will find Belleville can give them a welcome equal to the best they receive in any of the places they visit.

MUCH MORE RAIN NEEDED

The prolonged drought in Southern Ontario, though broken by a good rain last Saturday, is viewed apprehensively by many business men and other citizens in regard to the power situation next Autumn. Last year there was a long dry spell which resulted in much inconvenience and financial loss through blackouts lasting well into the Winter. Charge and counter-charge followed as to who was to blame until the furore was quieted by heavy rains, and power restrictions were gradually eased.

One favorable aspect at present has been the heavy rains which have fallen in Northern Ontario and much of Quebec. Mr. Saunders, Chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, stated some time ago that there was a good expectation that it might not be necessary to impose power restrictions this Winter providing there was normal rainfall during the Fall. Probably he was partially basing his predictions on the water-level situation in those areas mentioned above.

The report of the monthly load summary of primary power demands for the month of May just issued by the Commission shows an increase of 3.1 per cent while power generated and purchased was 3.8 per cent. The Southern Ontario system managed to keep ahead of demand by only .3 per cent. Thus during a favorable month for power production demand was almost on par with current generated.

The thousands of new homes constructed in the past year impose a further great demand on Hydro supply and which must be met at all costs. New industries also add to the problem. The task facing the Hydro Commission is a huge one, and everyone will keep his fingers crossed during the coming six months. We can hope the weatherman will be good to us.

EFFICACY OF DRUGS

Two doctors of the University of Wisconsin's School of Pharmacy have made the interesting discovery that if all the tiny surfaces in a thimbleful of finely powdered drug were stretched out on one surface, they would more than cover the floor of an ordinary room, reports the Kitchener-Waterloo Record. Two other powdered drugs that felt and looked about the same had only one-third as much surface in the same weight of material because the individual particles were much larger.

It is common knowledge that two small sugar lumps will dissolve in coffee or tea more rapidly than ine large lump. In the same way, drugs dissolve in the body and take effect more rapidly if they are made up of small particles. This is specially important in the case of slightly soluble drugs like those of the sulfa drug group.

The study of particle size was undertaken because it has a bearing on the efficacy of drugs prescribed by physicians.

DREAMING BOY

And a grin that is good to view;
But what's going on in that young mind there,
I fancy you wish you knew,

A freckled nose and a dimpled cheek
And a curious stare at you;
With many a thought which he doesn't speak,

What is he dreaming of, dawdling there,
One stocking off and shoe,
And those big wide eyes with a wondering stare?
How often you wish you knew.

There's more in a boy than the eyes can see
And more than he tells you, too,
But how best to counsel the man to be,

30 YEARS AGO

July 12th., 1919

At the Tabernacle Church on Sunday afternoon last Mrs. C.W. Moat was presented with a handsome club bag and several pieces of hand painted china by her many friends in the church. Mrs. James McCurdy, President of the Ladies' Aid Society, expressed regret at the departure of Mrs. Moat from Belleville and Mrs. M. Farley, Recording Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society, made the presentation. Mr. and Mrs. Moat who have been popular and valued workers in the church, will leave shortly to reside in Cornwall, Ontario.

The summer session of the Model School at Madoc opened with 22 pupils in attendance.

The Rev. Father Quinn of Tweed has left on a visit to friends in Ireland. The Rev. Father Shea will be in charge of the parish during the absence of Father Quinn.

40 YEARS AGO

July 12th., 1909

About 700 old Belleville boys and girls, now residing in Toronto, arrived here Saturday about noon and left Sunday evening on the return trip. The Mayor and several of the aldermen and prominent citizens met the excusionists at the depot and accorded them a hearty welcome.

Mr. C. R. Burrows, who has spent the past year in Washington, D. C., has returned to the city.

Mr. Charles H. Kyle is spending a few days in Toronto.

A barn owned by Mr. Greg. Titus, Mountain View, Prince Edward County, was struck by lightning and destroyed by fire.

Mr. William Thompson has returned from Montreal where he purchased a gas producing power plant of English manufacture which will be installed in his new factory on Mill St.

Nearly all the merchants observed the weekly half holiday; a few, however, have not agreed to close.

The steamer Varuna will commence her regular Saturday excursions to the 1000 Islands on Saturday.

Mr. Harry Price of Brandon, Manitoba, is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Price. Harry has been absent from the city for five years and is doing well in the west.

Mr. W. J. Yerex has opened a bakery on Bridge Street east near Front Street.

Mr. W. H. Biggar has left to spend a vacation at Murray Bay.

Mr. Arthur Rodbourne has left for Rochester, N.Y.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE RUBBISH HEAP

Thousands of junked automobiles at the entrance of the Hudson River tunnel! Acres and acres of slag poured out from the furnaces of the steel mill! A dismal vista of rubbish and ashes, with here and there a smoldering fire, and air pungent with the odor of burning paper! These are the waste piles one sees every day.

So much of life ends apparently in waste. The great spruce forests are cut down, made into paper, and, after seeing a brief service, the paper goes into the wastepaper basket. The shiny new car that is going down the street will be on the junk pile in only a few years, making the landscape ghastly as it nestles close to other cars dingy and dismantled.

We see the waste of human life in slums, dives, and in the great masses of slave labor over the world which move lazily under the taskmaster's lash. Often in higher circles we observe waste. People with every opportunity to make the best out of life end as dismal failures.

In the human realm, we can avoid obsolescence by seeing that our idea factory is kept working to capacity. We can avoid the wasting away of our souls by killing vices while they are in the larva state of temptation. We can keep ourselves from physical calamity by treating the body as the temple of God's Spirit.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

Since I have amassed over the years a remarkable collection of fishing tackle which I have no desire whatever to share with anybody else, I cannot honestly be described as a socialist at heart. But there is one socialistic idea that appeals to me strongly. And that is the system adopted in many stores and shops of having a box of consecutive numbered cards on the counters. And when you come into the store, you go and take the next card in the box. You wait until your number is called. And then you are attended to.

Private enterprise and personal initiative are revealed at their worst amongst the customers in a shop. In miniature, you have the world and its basic problem right there in, for instance, the bake shop. There all the trickery, guile and cunning personal enterprise and initiative are on display, the alert get waited on out of their turn—and much to their convenience—at the expense of the gentle, the polite, the unassuming. It is the whole problem of private enterprise in a nutshell. What the enemies of private enterprise hate is exactly the thing you and I hate when we have some competitive-hearted customer, who enters the shop three customers later than ourselves, bash his way to the fore and get waited on ahead of all four of us.

His way, did I say? I should have said her way. For it is the ladies who are the worst offenders in the stores. And it isn't always the big, bossy women, either. Britain's Money Troubles Deeper Than Dollars

By JAMES D. WHITE
(Associated Press News Analyst)
(For DeWitt Mackenzie)

One of the big reasons for Britain's money trouble goes far deeper than dollars.

In the old days the sun never set on the British Empire. Britain's colonist sons made deals that gave the mother country the world's highest living standard at the time. This is no longer possible now that the Empire is changing into a union of equal partner-nations.

One of Britain's profitable operations under the old system was to buy ray materials in the lands her armed forces held. These raw materials were taken to Britain and made into finished consumer, goods. These consumer goods were shipped back to the colonies.

Wiser Now

As a people, Britons never got so nearsighted while clipping coupons from colonial investments that they couldn't read the handwriting on the wall. They led all colonial powers in thinking up a civilized way to avoid the explosion that could have taken place if the colonial world had got a flat "no" to its demands for freedom.

Post-war Ills

Britain had to tackle the delicate part of this just as she emerged exhausted from the Second World War and faced a post-war world that had turned to other supplies. Some of her own dependencies, to whom she now owed money for the war, were buying elsewhere.

Within the framework of the new Commonwealth, she has tried to rebuild her trade with these areas, and has partly succeeded. But the basic fact is that they are no longer economic colonies in the old sense.

The United States has taken her place as chief supplier of finished goods to the world, and the demand for such American goods has put the Yankee dollar ahead of the pound sterling as the world's most wanted money.

Rich Crop Land Overrun With "Army Worms"

Thedford, Ont., July 12—(CP)—An estimated 600 acres of rich crop land in this Lambton County area is overrun with "army worms" and damage already is estimated at several thousand dollars.

Ironically enough, the scene of the attack is only seven miles from Ipperwash, the large army camp on Lake Huron.

It is only in the last few days that the worms have appeared in threatening numbers. County agricultural representative W. P. MacDonald blames it on unusual weather this year, particularly the long drought which has favored rapid increase of worm population.

Army worms are striped caterpillars without fur on their backs, and range in length from an inch to three inches. They are so called from their habit of marching in compact bodies of enormous numbers—overrunning fields and devouring practically everything green in their path.

The outbreak, Mr. MacDonald said, is the worst in this area since 1927, but some farmers claimed they hadn't seen anything like it since 1914.

Canada's Exports Of Motor Vehicles Slip Sharply

Ottawa, July 12. (CP)—Canada's exports of motor vehicles slipped sharply in the first five months of 1949 compared with the same period of 1948, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday.

While home consumption of vehicles produced in Canada increased from 84,543 to 98,079 in that period exports fell from 21,277 to 11,940.

At the same time the Bureau gave encouragement to those who are waiting for new cars.

It said Canada produced 5,000 more motor vehicles in May 1949 than in May 1948—26,708 compared with 21,368.

But the May total wasn't that far ahead of the 26,685 for April and 25,566 for March. For the first five months of the year, 1949 Canadian factory deliveries totalled 110,019 compared to 1948's 105,820.

Of May's total ,23,339 vehicles were shipped for sale in Canada and 3,369 for export.

30,000 Young Pheasants Will Be Distributed

Toronto, July 12 (CP) — The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests announced Monday that distribution will begin immediately of about 30,000 young pheasants for release in regulated townships throughout the province. The pheasants were raised on department bird farms at Codrington, 20 miles west of Belleville, and at Normandale, 30 miles south of Brantford. Their release is expected to provide good pheasant hunting this fall.

Police Dragging Isolated Creek For Missing Girl

Notre Dame De La Sallette, Que., July 12 — (CP)—Police today dragged a creek on the isolated farm of Regis Boucher, hoping to find the body of his seven-year-old daughter, Monique.

She has been missing since Friday. Quebec Provincial Police joined the search for her Monday and said they believed she was drowned in a creek on the farm.

Monique, one of 13 children, disappeared Friday when she and her cousin, Annette Boucher, went to bring some cows in from pasture. Monique said she would return by herself but never arrived at the farm home in rolling, wooded country 30 miles north of Ottawa.

Scores of volunteer searchers combed the countryside for her during the weekend and found only two sets of footprints and a flannelette slip. The footprints apparently had been made since a heavy rain in the area Saturday.

Insisted on Returning

Annette Boucher said that Monique told her she heard her mother calling and would take a short cut home. Annette said she had not heard anyone but Monique insisted on returning alone.

The search was concentrated in an area a mile long and a half-mile wide, along a mountainside where a neighbor said she heard childish cries Friday night.

The child's slip was found on a barbed wire fence on a nearby farm in the opposite direction to that the child said she was taking to reach home. Earlier reports that the slip was blood-stained were not substantiated.

Monique was wearing a tight red-and-blue cotton print dress when she disappeared and her mother said the girl could not remove the dress without help.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

CONFIDENCE

We hear a great deal about confidence, but we sidestep it too much. If we have confidence in ourselves we can accomplish anything for which we are capable. We have "bad times" and depressions largely because people lose confidence in the country, or in public officials. When confidence is restored, good times arrive!

We take a train, or an ocean liner, and think nothing of danger because we have confidence in the engineer and his helpers, as well as in the Captain of a boat and his crew. Fear, and it is all too often needless, is the one great enemy of confidence.

When we have confidence in a friend, we can both overlook many a frailty and forgive many a fault. Confidence and faith are what make up a solid friendship. They do all the big jobs in the world, as well. People buy from firms and institutions whose character is known, and in whom they have confidence. One of life's great tragedies is to lose confidence in a friend.

Free institutions will continue to live, and spread their benefits, just so long as the people have confidence in them. We put ourselves in the hands of a physician in whom we have confidence—and often his words are the best medicine that he uses in restoring confidence in ourselves. We may only be ailing in mind and heart How very great and welcomed is that one who will help us restore this confidence!

In early days the old Town Crier went through the streets of a town ringing his bell or crying "All's Well!" We ought to heed an invisible crier of "All's Well," every time we awake to a new day. That would give us confidence and make the day a successful one.

To enter into all work with a confident air is most important. We then do our best work and take pride in it. That's what contributes to personal happiness and continual progress. That dog of yours loves you because he has confidence in you. Do not give him disappointment.

Enter each day with a confident air and you will go far and people will welcome your presence at all times. Confident

CLINICAL NOTE FROM FOTHERGILL

John Fothergill was a famous English physician and writer of the eighteenth century, and when I was a medical student he was often quoted by my teachers. If Fothergill said so it was authoritative, and even in my student days "authorities" were not questioned. I can't remember clearly just when I began to wonder diffidently whether the eminent medical authorities were not more or less apocryphal—if you can imagine me being different about anything.

In the 'teenth edition of his textbook a distinguished therapeutic authority in my early years in practice stated positively that "alcohol never acts as a true stimulant to the brain, the spinal cord, or the nerves. On the contrary, its dominant influence is depressant." That was clear enough. But the author went on to say that "the chief uses of alcohol are as a rapidly-acting stimulant in all forms of cardiac failure due to shock or to poisons . . . pneumonia, fainting, snakebite. . ."

I couldn't take it. I wrote politely to the professor and asked how he reconciled these statements. The professor replied courteously that "the contradiction lies in the, as yet unexplained, difference between the study of this drug" (alcohol) "in the laboratory and its use at the bedside . . . It is quite conceivable that alcohol acts as a stimulant upon other functions of which, as yet we know very little, as for example, the ability of the body to resist infection . . ."

That was so ingenious that I pasted it in my copy of the author's textbook, as a reminder that (1) You can't pin a professor down and (2) Medical practice or art lags far behind medical science.

Now Fothergill's statement, as I have it in my notebook (I failed to mention where I heard or found it) seems sound today in the light of our knowledge of nutrition, although Fothergill must have uttered it 200 years ago. The statement pertains to the tongue: "A pale, broad, flabby tongue, marked by indentations of the teeth, is a good indication for iron. When the tongue is red and dry, iron disagrees and is not indicated."

In medical parlance "indication" means the symptoms or conditions require or call for this or that remedy.

The red dry tongue, always sore, more likely "indicates" riboflavin—formerly called vitamin B2, best taken in the form of tabsules (containing riboflavin and other B vitamins with ferrous gluconate and manganese).

Women with hypochromic anemia, iron deficiency anemia, the gray sickness," generally have sore tongue and some difficulty in swallowing solid foods, cracks at corners of the mouth, a gray pallor, brittle nails, prematurely graying hair. They usually need not only iron but several other vitamins and minerals which they do not get from their ordinary diet.

On written request (no clipping, please) if you provide stamped self addressed envelope you may have a copy of the pamphlet on The Gray Sickness—Nutritional Deficiency Anemia Doctors call it hypochromic anemia, meaning deficient color, decrease of the proportion of hemoglobin (iron coloring matter) in the blood.

The gray sickness in women in the third or fourth decade is more common today that the green sickness (chlorosis), a similar type of anemia, was in teen age girls in the golden days when eggs were nine cents a dozen a good man could knock off a dollar for ten hours of work.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Head Noises and Deafness

About at the end of my rope Have been receiving treatments for five months for head noises and deafness. Blocked Eustachian tubes. The treatments cost $15 each, but there is no apparent benefit. (Mrs. E. W. J.)

Answer—Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet on Tinnitus and Deafness. Tinnitus is a $15 word for a $150 head noise. Application of radium emanation (radon) to the Eustachian tube orifices in the naso-pharynx has brought about shrinkage of obstructing adenoid masses there with relief of deafness in children and head noises in older persons.

Premature Ageing of the Sk

Please tell me if any kind of diet or vitamins will help premature ageing of the skin. (Mis D. P.)

Answer—Yes, haven't you heard? Take not less than three glasses (1½ pints) of milk every day as a must of the basic health (and beauty) diet. Besides being the best source of calcium, which keeps us young, milk is the best food source of riboflavin (formerly called vitamin B2 or G) which keeps the skin young and clear.

WEDDINGS

TWIDDY—FRANCIS

Bridge Street United Church was the setting for the wedding on Saturday, July 9th, of Margaret Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Francis, Belleville, and Clare Harvard Twiddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Twiddy, Belleville, R.R. 5. Hydrangeas, hollyhocks, and delphiniums, formed a lovely background for the ceremony. The Rev. F. R. Harback, of the Tabernacle United Church, assisted by the Rev. H. C. Secker, of Adolphustown, officiated.

Mr. Alec Gordon, organist of the church, rendered the wedding music. and Miss Loretta MacDougall, soloist, sang during the signing of the register, "Through the Years."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of white satin trimmed with seed pearls. Her shoulder-length veil of embroidered net was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and baby's breath.

Miss Rita Wishart, of St. Anne de Bellevue, Que., was maid of honor, wearing an eggshell blue taffeta gown, with matching shoulder-length veil and halo of net and flowers. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses.

Mrs. Betty Maybee, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and wore a pale pink, brocaded gown of satin and net with matching shoulder-length veil caught by a halo of flowers and net. She carried a bouquet of yellow and pink roses.

Mr. Frank Bailey, of Belleville, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Charles Maybee, and Mr. Ross Pound, both of Belleville.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother in a soft, pale pink linen gown with lattice inserts, white accessories, and corsage of yellow roses, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, in a gown of pale grey crepe with matching hat, white accessories, and corsage of pink roses, received the many guests.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy will reside in Belleville.

SPENCER—HARPER

On Wednesday, July 6, 1949, at 2:30 p.m., in Trinity-St. Andrew's United Church, Brighton, Shirley Roberta Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Harper, Brighton, became the bride of Gordon James Spencer, son of Mrs. H. G. Spencer of Brighton, and the late Mr. Spencer. The groom's uncle, Rev. R. E. Spencer, of Montreal, was the officiating clergyman, assisted by Rev. J. E. Anderson, minister of the church. Baskets of white hydrangea and blue delphinium, baby breath and fern decorated the church.

Mrs. Lenna Alexander was organist and Mrs. Frank Hamilton soloist, singing "Because" before the ceremony and "Always" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white nylon marquisette with rounded lace yoke, stand-up collar, mantilla veil with sweeping train of tiny frills. Her matching mitts were lace trimmed and her bouquet a cascade of bright red roses, bouvardia and baby breath.

Mrs. D. G. Wadsworth of Montreal, the bride's sister, was matron-of-honor, and wore a gown of heaven blue Chantilly lace over taffeta, with matching bonnet and gloves, while the bridesmaids, Miss Joan Webster and the groom's sister, Miss Berenice Spencer, of Brighton, wore similar gowns in pink. All carried nosegays of carnations and baby breath, pink for the matron-of-honor and tinted blue for the bridesmaids.

Mr. Roy Spencer was his brother's groomsman. The bride's brother, Mr. Clarence Harper of Picton, and Mr. Ross Branscombe, of Brighton, were the ushers.

The reception was held at Rene's White House, the bride's mother wearing a dress of gun metal grey silk, lace trimmed, black accessories and corsage of pink carnations to receive the guests. Assisting, the groom's mother was attired in black sheer, black accessories and corsage of tinted blue carnations.

For their wedding trip by motor to the east coast, the bride donned a powder blue suit and pink blouse, black accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer will take up residence in Brighton.

HENNING—FITZGERALD

An aircraft flight which began at Telegraph Creek, Skeena, B.C., on Monday, June 27th., had its climax at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Prince Rupert, B.C., on Tuesday, June 28th, at 8 p.m., when Marguerite Fitzgerald, Reg.N., formerly of Belleville, Ont., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fitzgerald, became the bride of Larry Henning, of Inverness, B.C., at a quiet service performed by Canon Basil Prockter.

The bride, who was becomingly attired in a suit of light blue material, was attended by Mrs. Dalzell, wife of the pilot, G. C. F. Dalzell, northern flier.

Mr. Charles McKinnell, manager of the Inverness Cannery was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, Fifth Avenue East, where a small group of friends felicitated the bride and groom.

Guests at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Pett, of Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. F. Dalzell, and Constable E. E. Allen, of Telegraph Creek, they accompanied the bride-to-be on her flight; Dr. Purvis of Miller Bay Hospital; Canon and Mrs. Basil Prockter, and Mr. Charles McKinnell of Inverness.

They will make their home in Inverness, B.C.

The bride, who was at one time on the staff of the Miller Bay Hospital, was more recently government nurse at Telegraph Creek, Miss Florence A. Fitzgerald and Miss Eileen Fitzgerald, of the staff of the Ontario School for the Deaf, Belleville are sisters.

WILEY—DELINE

The wedding took place at St. Andrew's parsonage, Marmora, on Saturday evening, July 9th., of Doris Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Deline of Malone and Raymond Albert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiley, of Deloro. Rev. G. D. Young officiated.

The attendants were: Mr. and Mrs. Warden Deline.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley will reside near Stirling.

AUGER—CARMAN

At St. Andrew's parsonage, in Marmora, at 11 a.m., on Saturday, July 9th., the marriage was solemnized of Lena Gertrude Carman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Carman, of Marmora Township, and James Hector Auger, son of Mrs. Hector Auger, and the late Mr. Auger, of Marmora. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. D. Young.

The attendants were, Mrs. Jean Bell and William Auger.

Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the groom's mother, at which there were twenty-eight guests.

Family Reunion

STAPLEY - TUFTS FAMILY

The 24th annual reunion of the Stapley and Tufts families was held in Tweed Memorial Park last Wednesday. Over one hundred relatives gathered under the cool, cloudy skies. After a sumptuous dinner the gathering was called to order by the president, A. Montgomery. A report on the births, deaths and marriages since the last reunion was given by Walter Hamilton of Belleville.

Numerous prizes were awarded during the program. The champion prize-winner was Mrs. Lillian Palmateer of Tweed who carried away three prizes. She had the largest family present, was the youngest great grandmother and won the grandmothers' race. The oldest person present was Mrs. P. B. Hamilton of Mountain View. She commended Rev. Robert Tufts, a son of Cosmo Tufts, who is the pastor of Holiness Movement Church at Athens. "The youngest baby was George Arthur Palmateer. Doll Ruttan was present from longest distance. Lorne Holmes had smallest waist while Archie Clarke had present the most children under five years. Frank Stapley and Cosmo Tufts tied for the prize for having the oldest car on the grounds.

Everyone had a merry time taking part in the eleven different running, novelty and relay races. An impromptu ball game followed while others enjoyed the water or visiting one another. Supper was served and thus ended another short reunion.

Canadian Legion L.A. Branch Holds Annual Picnic

The Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion Branch, 99, held their annual picnic at Cedardale, recently, with their families. About 100 sat down to the well-filled tables for dinner.

Many prizes were given out in the sports contests for old and young, and all enjoyed themselves immensely. Tickets were also given out to the children for ice cream, and soft drinks and cracker jacks.

Mrs. H. Young was the lucky winner for the blanket on which tickets were sold to help with the expenses of the picnic.

Swimming was well enjoyed by all that were able to swim; even the little tots had lots of fun paddling in the water.

From 5.30 to 7.00 supper was served, after which all were ready for the homeward trip, tired but happy.

Thanks and gratitude are extended to Mrs. Cleaver and her committee for the splendid job of selecting prizes, and also for the arrangement of the sports' program; also to Mr. Smith, Mr. Newton, Mr. Tindall and Mr. Turner for their assistance in helping to make the picnic such a success.

Appreciation is also extended to the President, Mrs. Jeff, for a fine job well done in seeing that no on was injured, and the exceptional overall care.

Hollyhocks

My Lady Hollyhocks in gauzy
Summer dress,
How gracefully they bow to greet the wind's caress!
In crimson, pink and rose behold
they stately stand,
And the.. they swing and sway—a dancing happy band;
So dainty and so fair, of summer life a part,
Their cheery faces bring a joy to every heart,
For they gladden both alike, the cottage and the hall,
Those graceful hollyhocks that grow so slim and tall;
And when the winter comes and clouds obscure the way
I'll dream of hollyhocks upon a summer day.

RAWDON

Mt. Pleasant W.M.S. Holds "At Home" For Junior Bands

MT. PLEASANT W.M.S.

Rawdon—On Wednesday afternoon last Mount Pleasant church hall was nicely decorated with bouquets of summer blooms and a map of the world with the mission stations marked with red stars.

Three small tables were arranged with W.M.S. in the centre flanked by Mission Band and Baby Band. Mrs. Ross Hoard played quiet music and Mrs. John Holmes president of the W.M.S. gave the call to worship and read a poem "Partnership With God." She welcomed visitors, members and leaders of Mission Bands and Baby Bands and their mothers.

The treasurer reported over $70.00 remitted this quarter.

The August meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Roy Thrasher with keyword "Giving."

Loose Offering Divided

The offering was gathered by Mrs. Raymond McConnell and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, and dedicated by the pastor Rev. H. C. Vaclavik. The W.M.S. members used envelopes, and the loose collection of over $4.00 was equally divided between the two bands.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen read the roll and 16 members were in attendance. There was also 22 adults and 40 children from babies to teen-agers.

Among the visitors was Mrs. O. Bertrand, Corbyville, Baby Band Secretary of Belleville Presbyterial and her daughter Mary.

Mrs. Sid Demorest and Herbie and Mrs. Harold West of Stirling; Mrs. Demorest was the first superintendent of Mount Pleasant Baby Band when it was organized in 1942, and she is now superintendent of St. Paul's, Stirling, Baby Band and Mrs. West is her assistant.

Miss Lola McConnell presided for the Mission Band. Misses Ina Scott and Eleanor Smith sang "When He Cometh."

The Mission Band superintendent Mrs. John Mulheron spoke briefly and told the children an interesting story about "This is My Father's World".

Master Ray Sharpe read the roll and the members repeated "The Purpose". Misses Lola and Marilyn McConnell with Mrs. Malcolm Sharp as accompanist sang a duet.

The Baby Band superintendent, Mrs. Herbert Smith spoke briefly and said she had a membership of 26.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker Mrs. Bertrand gave a chalk talk on "God is Love" and told the children an interesting story about a Chinese boy and his great gift to the "Love Jesus Box".

Mrs. Bert Jeffs expressed thanks to the guest of honor, and Miss Gail Scott made the presentation of a lovely bouquet of Rambler roses.

Miss Ruth Linn graciously thanked the W.M.S. ladies for hospitality and Mrs. H. C. Vaclavik closed the service.

FOR ASTHMA & HAY FEVER

L. Armour Reid Honored By Presentation

An enjoyable banquet was held recently at Golden Acres Inn in honor of Mr. L. Armour Reid of Rednersville, former assistant manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, of this city.

For more than 35 years, Mr. Reid had held the position of assistant manager, retiring from active service on June 30th. In 1916 he began his connection with the company in Trenton, later coming to Belleville, in 1920 as manager.

Mr. Reid became the assistant manager, in lieu of managerships which had been offered to him from other centres, preferring to remain in the city.

After the banquet, all assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Monaghan, where a presentation on behalf of the staff of the company, was made to Mr. Reid, by Mr. Monaghan, the present manager of the shop.

Mr. B. E. Cassidy of Kings, former manager, attended and extended to Mr. and Mrs. Reid, the best of good wishes for the future. Mr. V. W. O'Connor, district manager, thanked Mr. Reid for his many years of faithful service with the company.

Following the presentation, a social evening was spent.

MADOC JUNCTION

School Mates Receive Parting Gifts

Madoc Jct.—A happy time was enjoyed last Thursday, when a number of little schoolmates gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker to spend the afternoon with their niece and nephew, Myrtle and Stanley Wannamaker, who in the near future will be leaving for Hamilton to be with their father.

Games were enjoyed then an address was read and Myrtle was preented with a red leather purse and cosmetic bag and Stanley with a flashlight. Myrtle and Stanley each thanked their friends.

Later Mrs. Wannamaker served dainty refreshments.

MARMORA

Orange Lodges Hold Annual Church Parade

Marmora—The annual church parade of Marmora L.O.L. 319 was held on Sunday evening with St. Paul's Anglican church being visited. Swelling the parade, was Harmony L.O.B.A. 600, representatives of Stirling L.O.B.A. and the newly organized Eldorado L.O.B.A. 1186, and brethren of Springbrook, Eldorado, and Nickle Lodges.

The parade left the Orange Hall to encircle the main streets before arriving at the church, and was led by the Spencer Kiltie Band. The service was conducted by the rector, Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie, who gave an appropriate discourse.

The lesson was read by Past County Master W. J. Cottrell. After the service, a short meeting was held at the hall at which visiting sisters and brethren joined members of the local lodge in short speeches.

Marmora.—Mrs. Hilliard McGarvey is visiting relatives in Belleville.

Mrs. C. A. Bleecker and Miss Miriam Savage are occupying the former's cottage at Crowe Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Peckinpaugh, and son, John, of Cleveland, are occupying their cottage at Crowe Lake.

Wellington on the Lake

A SUMMER DAY

A whispering wind the meadow grasses stirring,
A fleeting fragrance wafted on the air,
The leafy branches 'gainst the blue dome showing—
Oh! What can with a summer day compare?

A drowsy note from nests all snugly hidden,
The quail's weird call across the meadow land—
All nature seems to bow in benediction
With Love's sweet symbols seen on every hand.

Christ Church Guild, Hillier

Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Heaven, Mrs. L. K. Leavens, Miss Marjorie Blakely and Mrs. W. H. Anderson motored from Wellington, Wednesday afternoon to attend the July meeting of Hillier Guild at the home of Mrs. Fred Morton. There was a large attendance including Mrs. Hickey, of Belleville, who is entertaining relatives from New York City at her summer cottage at Consecon Lake. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Warner McFaul, and Rev. Mr. Heaven offered prayer. Plans were discussed for the afternoon tea to be held August 3rd at the town hall, Hillier, when several societies will be guests. A contest prepared by Mrs. W. McFaul was won by Mrs. Heaven. At the close a social hour was enjoyed with refreshments of cake and ice cream. Mrs. Stanley Thompson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Morton for her hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ford and children of Attwood, Ont, are spending holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ford, Oak Street.

Mrs. H. Jolley and Donald entertained guests from Peterborough over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tait, Detroit, are holidaying in Wellington, and visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Tait, Maple Avenue.

Mr. Hubbard has sold his residence, corner of Main and Maple Ave., to Mrs. J. G. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell, Toronto, will visit his mother, Mrs. Mabel Bell, after which Mrs. J. Bell will spend a few days in Ottawa.

Mr. Arthur Goodmurphy's residence looks fine with a new coat of paint. Hilton Reynolds did the work.

The members of Hillier Women's Institute and other friends were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bedell, The Willows, on Thursday last. This is a fine country residence, pleasantly situated on the Bay of Quinte.

Mr. Alex Tait entered on his new duties at the Bank of Nova Scotia, Wellington, on Monday, July 4. His many friends wish him success.

Mrs. Annie Taylor, Toronto, is enjoying the summer at her cottage here.

Fire and Car Accident

A disastrous fire and a motor accident caused no little excitement on Dominion Day. The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Burt, East Wellington, fell a prey to the flames, and Mr. Thomas Smith was injured in a motor collision and removed to Picton hospital. His friends are anxious for his recovery.

Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Pyne and daughter, Toronto, were Dominion Day weekend guests of his sisters, Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. Arthur Goodmurphy.

Best in Art

In the report of Wellington Consolidated School, it was interesting to note that Billy Ingraham was best in Art. Billy has some nice paintings which he has done. Possibly he may be a noted Canadian artist.

Mr. Elmer Carley of Toronto, spent the weekend at his home in Wellington.

Miss Ruth Vincent and Miss Mildred Stewart of Belleville, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Blakely.

Mrs. Valleau and daughter are spending holidays at their cottage at Havelock. They will be joined by Rev. and Mrs. Smith of Campbellford.

Mrs. Douglas Christie and son, Toronto, spent a week with Mrs. Annie Christie and Dorothy.

Congratulations to Mr. R. Hayes and bride, (nee Mrs. Roblin), who were married at the rectory by Rev. C. P. Heaven.

Mrs. Alice Pettengill is at her home after spending some time in Prince Edward hospital. Mrs. Fred Russell will be her attending nurse.

Mrs. Stella Chisholm is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. German Vandervoort.

National Leaguers to Shoot Works in Annual All-Star Clash With Favored Americans

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, July 12 — (AP) — The National League, from President Ford C. Frick down, is throwing in all its chips in an all-out effort to win the 16th annual All-Star game at Ebbets Field today.

Never has the victory-starved Frick been so determined to hang one on the chin of his rival league head, Will Harridge of the proud American Leaguers.

For the first time since the classic originated in 1933, Frick is playing an active role in shaping the line-up of the team. He still hasn't gotten over last year's most humiliating of all 11 defeats, a 5-2 pasting.

It was reported Frick recently sat down with Billy Southworth, who will lead his charges this afternoon, and after studying the probable American League line-up, helped Billy select the eight pitchers to represent the National.

"They didn't pay too much heed to records," said a National League man, "but leaned toward the hurlers who they figured had the stuff to stop those sluggers."

Little Attention to Records

The theory that Southworth was paying little attention to records was borne out when he announced that either Lefty Warren Spahn (918) of his own Boston Braves or righthander George (Red) Munger (6-4) of the St. Louis Cardinals would be his starting choice against the Americans. Except for Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell. who is counted on to pitch only one inning if at all, no other pitching selection has a poorer record.

"I know that Southworth feels Munger with his cross-fire pitch and Spahn, with his tricky delivery can fool Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and company," the National League man said.

Behind Spahn, Southworth has another pair of tough lefties in Howie Pollet (11-5) of the Cardinals and Preacher Roe (8-2) of Brooklyn Dodgers.

Back of Munger; the Nationals have three other righthanders, all ready for action. Vern Bickford, an 11-game winner for Southworth, could go. So could Ralph Branca (10-3) and Don Newcombe (6-2), both of Brooklyn.

Mel Parnell to Start

Manager Lou Boudreau of the American League All-star array has nominated Mel Parnell, who has won 11 and lost five for the Boston Red Sox. All pitchers, except those that become involved in an extra-inning game, are limited to three innings.

Boudreau got some bad news Monday night when the doctors reported that Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox had a fractured rib. Williams said he would be on hand today but didn't know if he would play. The outfielder was injured when he collided with a wall at Yankee Stadium July 4.

Boudreau said that "if he's out, I'll use Dale Mitchell (of Cleveland)."

Even if Williams doesn't play, Parnell will find a powerful batting cast behind him, led by Joe DiMaggio of New York Yankees. The elder DiMag replaced the injured Tommy Henrich, another Yankee, in the starting lineup.

The Americans are favored to gain their 12th victory in 16 decisions. There was no game in 1945. The weatherman predicted "fair and warm." If it should rain, the game will be played Wednesday morning at 11 a.m. (EDT). The time for the game today is 1:30 p. m., EDT.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Ty Tyson's Oshawa Merchants, who have had the Indian sign on Bill Easton's Batawans thus far this season, will be the baseball guests of the Shoemen at Exhibition Grounds tonight. The Shoemen have bowed to the Merchants in the Motor City two or three times by 4-3 scores and have defeated them once. Batawa seems to play its best baseball when battling Gingerich, Tyconny, Tyson, et al, and tonight's joust should be a thriller.

Manager Easton will start Gordy Muffitt, his ace righthander, against the Men of Tyson and in all likelihood the genial Ty will throw his starry collitch flinger against Batawa. The battery of Gingerich and Tyconny are reputed to be one of the best younger duos to be in action in these parts in some time and they should be well worth seeing. Oshawa is breathing down the necks of the league-leading Peterborough Marines in the current Central Ontario Baseball League race with the Shoemen in last slot and Brockville Memos in the third position.

Shoemen are thoroughly determined to break the Oshawa jinx tonight. They feel that sort of luck can't last forever so you can depend on it they'll be putting their best foot forward on the all-important tilt at Exhibition Park tonight.

Kiwanis regatta officials informed this desk today that a number of the boats participating in the club regatta at Massassaga Point on Wednesday afternoon will be on display in the Market Square tonight between 7 and 8.30 p.m. This will afford the general public an excellent close-up of these speed demons of the waterways and no doubt a large crowd will take advantage of the opportunity.

Centre of attraction at the regatta tomorrow will be the two "Blitz" 225 Division L class. Owned by the Bogey brothers, Bob and Bill, of Loon Lake, N.Y., the craft are reputed to be among the fastest in their class on the American and Canadian circuits. "Blitz I" is well-known in this district having raced at Belleville, Picton and Barrie in previous years. "Blitz II" piloted by Bill Bogey, is fresh out of the builders' shops and those who have seen her in action predict a brilliant future for her in her division.

Dr. W. W. Schomberg, Coral Gables, Florida, is bringing three boats here which will be entered in the various classes. Bill Braden, Hamilton, will be at the helm of his well-known "Ariel II" while Art Hatch, Hamilton, will send his "Costa Lotta" zooming over the course. Dr. Walter Robinson, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., internationally-known speedboat driver, will zip his "Mr. Docket" another brand new craft obtained after its predecessor burned to the water's edge last year, over Massassaga's foaming waters.

The first race gets under way at 1.30 and barring accidents and other unforeseen delays the regatta should be comfortably tucked away by five o'clock. Many entries in the 135 and runabout divisions will be here and Kiwanis regatta officials are looking forward to an excellent day of racing spills and thrills. A public address system will announce all entries and heat and race results. The regatta is under the official supervision of a representative of the American Power Boat Association.

One of the most lambasting wrestling matches ever to be seen in the Memorial Arena in Belleville has been signed for next Friday night when Sky-Hi Lee, the ruthless Ozark hillbilly, will take on Fred Atkins, the Australian and British Empire champion.

When Atkins polished off the sparkling Al Lovelock last Friday night, the arena management decided to bring some heavyweight in who would be practically certain of knocking off the arrogant and burly Fred Atkins.

Although the match is not for the Empire Title, Lee being a U.S. product, nevertheless the big objective for the fans now seems to be to see the boastful Australian defeated. If anyone is able to accomplish this big task, the 6 foot 9, 292-pound Lee looks like the man to do it. Besides being a thoroughly capable wrestler, the gigantic Lee is not averse to using the roughest tactics known to the game and seems like the man wha has the makings of polishing off such a strong and experienced wrestler as Atkins.

Two other all-star bouts are being signed for the card.

Dick Fischer, leading scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers, who will be in charge of the three-day tryout camp-school to be staged at Welland July 19, 20 and 21, reveals that the famous batting tee used by George Sisler at the Vero Beach Dodger camp will be utilized to improve the hitting of candidates attending the camp.

Another inovation from the Vero Beach camp to be used in Welland will be pitching strings, to aid moundsmen gain control.

Expert instruction on sliding is also planned. Alex Isabel, supervisor of recreation at Amsterdam, N.Y., and Joe Niland, Canisius University baseball and basketball coach, both of whom are attached to the Brooklyn organization, will aid Fischer in operating the Welland camp. Players are to bring gloves, spikes and uniforms.

Sydney, N. S., July 12 (CP)— First world series predictions usually start rolling in each year around July 4. The major league holiday lineup found New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers atop the American and National Leagues.

"It may be, as the records say," Ed (Sydney Post - Record) Smith reflected, "that the Fourth of July leaders in the National and American League continue on to the world series only about 50 per cent of the time . . ."

"But the Dodgers and Yankees look as though they intend to make the rule stick this year."

For, declared Ed, "While the rest of the American League sits up and waits for the Yankees to experience their first worthwhile slump of the campaign, the Casey Stengels — like the Mississippi River— just keeps rolling along."

He adds confidently: "And if they go out in front without Joe DiMaggio, they should have little trouble staying there with him."

"Stengel does not have a great team, but it obviously is good enough to hold off any challenger now in sight. The Red Sox were threatening and Casey cooled them with five straight defeats. Detroit was crowding for awhile . . ."

Of second - place Philadelphia Athletics, Ed comments: "The Athletics are staying right with the Yanks . . . (but) Connie Mack have lost five more games than Stengel, an obstacle that grows in importance as the race progresses." He gives the A's only second-spot ahead of Cleveland Indians.

Turning to the National League, Ed remarked: "(It) remains a two-club battle between Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, a duel which may eventually swing heavily to Brooklyn's favor because of youth."

"The Brooks, like the Yanks, have depth in all directions, plus the year's top player all-round in Jackie Robinson."

Ray Robinson Beats Gavilan In Easy Fashion

Philadelphia, July 12 — (AP) Ray Robinson still is king of the welterweights but he wants to take a shot at Lamotta's middleweight title.

If there ever was any doubt whether Sugar Ray is the best of the welters, he erased that impression last night with a clean-cut, unanimous victory over Cuba's hustling Kid Gavilan.

Robinson had no more than reached his crowded dressing room than he accounted he was perfectly willing to continue fighting in the 147-pound division.

"But I would gladly give up my title for a chance at the middleweight championship. I want to fight Lamotta again," he said.

"Making the weight this time was not too tough a task. I felt that I was in the best condition of my life and paced myself well over the 15 rounds. But it is easy for me to put on weight and I feel the middleweight title should be my next objective."

Even Gavilan's staunchest supporters (and they were many) in the crowd of 27,805 at Municipal Stadium couldn't find any fault with the decision. Some of them — and the Kid himself — did take exception, however, to the wide margin of victory.

Judge Harry Lasky and Referee Charley Daggert each gave the champion nine rounds and Gavilan six. Judge Frank Knaresborough scored the fight 12 for Robinson and three for the challenger.

"I do not understand how the officials gave so many rounds to Robinson," said the Cuban as he stretched out on his dressing-room table. "I thought I won 8 rounds."

The fight drew a gross gate of $175,754 — considerable more than the promoters' expectations — with Robinson collecting 40 per cent and Gavilan 18½ of a net $128,435.

Beautiful Defence

Robinson, with only the defeat by Lamotta to mar a string of 99 fights since turning pro in 1940, punched sharply and met Gavilan's two-fisted rushing tactics with a beautiful defence.

The first five rounds were pretty much give and take. But in the sixth Robinson started moving away. It looked as if he would finish the fight in the 8th when, after taking a mild pounding on the ropes, he delivered a blow with a right and another left. And Gavilan was in trouble.

Gavilan rallied briefly in the ninth but the champion took complete command again in the 10th, punching with deadly accuracy and catching many of Gavilan's swings on his gloves.

Robinson showed his contempt of Gavilan's punches in the 14th when he leaned on the ropes and rolled with blow after blow swung by the Cuban.

"He stung me a few times in the early rounds but I knew by then he couldn't hurt me so I decided to have some fun," Robinson said in his dressing room.

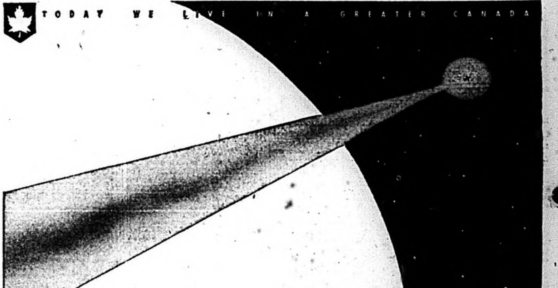
Gainsford and the champ said they would consider the bid.

TODAY WE LIVE IN A GREATER CANADA

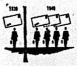


New Signs in the Sky...

A distant hum and a flashing streak in the outer sky announce another exciting Canadian achievement—a new jet plane designed and built by Canadians—one more example of the meteoric advances made by Canadian skills and manufacturing abilities.

In Canada, too, giant airliners, which have won international recognition, are now being built for the world's air routes of today and tomorrow.

Today our production—both in extent and variety—has attained heights undreamt of even ten years ago, creating new opportunities in every field of activity for the talents and enterprise of young Canadians.



Increase of air traffic: today Canada's commercial aircraft carry more than four times the number of passengers and three times the amount of mail they did in 1939.

One of a series presented by

"Countless New Opportunities..."

"I sometimes find it hard to realize the extent and rapidity of our plant's growth. It has all been based, of course, upon the tremendous expansion of Canadian industry in general, which has created countless new opportunities in every field of activity for the energy and enthusiasm of young Canadians."—says HARRY J. SEHL of Kitchener.

The development of Sehl Engineering is a typical Canadian success story. Only 14 years ago, Mr. Sehl, with one assistant, began operating a small tool and die shop in Kitchener. Its expansion has been spectacular, with new lines of production added, new departments established and new plants built. Today the company, with 90 employees, is fast becoming one of the leading metal producing concerns in the country.

Major League Pension Plan Not Working

(By The Canadian Press)

The Major-League ball players' pension plan, after two years of operation at a loss, is in imminent danger of folding, it was learned at New York Monday.

Inaugurated in 1947, the plan thus far has been a financial flop, according to player-representatives Fred (Dixie) Walker of Pittsburgh and Fred Hutchinson of Detroit.

"It's no use to kid ourselves," Walker said. "The plan has not passed out as well as we hoped it would. We're just not taking in enough money to meet the cost of operation.

"We went into the hole for $80,000 last year. In other words, we paid out that much more than we took in. And it will get worse as we go along. As I see it, we must take in approximately $200,000 more a year for the next eight years to keep the plan working."

It looked like something that was thought up in Brooklyn so it was fitting that the Dodgers beat the Yankees and Giants Monday night in a round-robin baseball game at New York.

The score was Brooklyn 6, Yankees 3, Giants 3.

Each team played six innings in an exhibition that climaxed the "night of champions" for charity at Yankee Stadium. The show drew 26,120 fans who contributed about $40,000 to the New York Heart Fund, the Babe Ruth Memorial Fund and the Lou Gehrig Memorial Fund.

The Civic Employees Tennis Club announced at Quebec Monday Bobby Riggs, leading American tennis professional and world's champion will compete in the Canadian professional championship to be held here July 25-26. The tournament is believed to be the first of its kind ever played in Canada.

Right hander Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., pitched the first five innings Monday night as Philadelphia Athletics pounded out an exhibition game 15-7 victory over the semi-professional Meriden Qnsilcos.

Marchildon has been out of action with a sore arm since May 30. Charlie Harris relieved him.

As the pick of the major leagues prepared to square off for the All-Star game in Brooklyn, the American League batting race Monday resolved into a feud between pace-setter George Kell of Detroit and runner-up Dom DiMaggio of Boston.

Only seven points separated Kell, who last week slipped three points to .345, and Ding-Dom, who climbed eight points to .338.

Robinson holds a 29-point lead over Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner. is hitting .333 to .332 for Red Schoendienst of St. Louis, who dropped from second to third.

At Sydney, Australia, Tommy Burns, the glamor boy of Australian boxing, said Monday he will not fight again. Burns lost the Australian welterweight title to Kevin Delaney by a decision in Sydney Stadium Sunday night.

The Cleveland Indians aren't for sale, so Dan Thornton, wealthy Colorado cattle man, has dropped his plans to buy the Indians. Thornton said Monday at Cunnison, Colo, he wanted to purchase the club if it was for sale and "the price is right". He added his idea of a "right" price was "about $1,000,000." Cleveland President Bill Veeck replied he had never heard of Thornton and the Indians weren't on the market."

In that case, Thornton said today, he is giving up his attempt to the club for the present.

Boson doctors found Monday night that Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox suffered a rib fracture when he fell over a wall in Yankee stadium July 4, while chasing a Joe Dimaggio home-run ball. Williams did not say whether he would appear in the all-star classic.

At Budapest, Frances tennis team, Monday reached the European Zone Davis' Cup finals when Marcel Bernard, the French ace, defeated Amdras Adam of Hungary, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1. In the finals, to be played July 26, France will meet the Italian team.

Philadelphia Phillies scored six runs in the first two innings Monday night to coast to a 7-6 win over Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League in an exhibition tilt at Toronto. The National Leaguers used Curt Simmons and Russ Meyer on the mound before throwing in Ken Heitzelman.

The 1949 Dominion Wrestling Championships will be held in conjunction with the British Empire Games' Eastern zone trials in Montreal Oct. 21-22, Ken Yost secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, announced at Winnipeg, Monday.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Philadelphia, July 12 (AP) — Financial dept . . . when Kid Gavilan fought Ray Robinson he could have collected a $5,000 forfeit because Ray was over the stipulated weight. He didn't — apparently on the theory that business man Robinson wouldn't give a title shot to a guy who had nicked him for that much... well, the Kid got his shot all right, and it didn't make much more than a pop gun, but he collected about $23,000 out of it... Ray got $50,000 or thereabouts, nearly twice as much as he earned in any of his 98 previous fights...Robinson, a guy who keeps promoters nervous, apparently hasn't changed. There were at least three different announcements right after the scrap about his future plans...You'll know which was correct when he gets into the ring again...

Sheer Courage Dept.

In press headquarters before the fight, Harry Lenny was reminiscing about the days when he managed Jack Delaney..."Delaney was the hardest right-hand puncher I ever say except Peter Maher," Lenny said. Then he went on to intimate that Maher lacked the heart to make a great fighter...That reminded one of the writers of a big, but faint-hearted heavyweight Joe Goult once managed before Joe hooked up with Jimmy Broddock...During a tough bout the fighter came to his corner, looking sadly beaten, and complained that he thought he had broken a hand.... "Look here," Gould told him, "you're not going to quit in my corner; if you want to quit, go out in the middle of the ring. And do it, not here. I'm the gamest manager in the business."

Ringside Returns

When Kid Gavilan fought Williams in one of his first bouts in New Yorn, Williams, a terrific puncher belted him right on the chin...the Kid's knees buckled, but he came right back and floored Johnny..After the fight, Williams told Galivan: "I broke seven jaws with that punch. Anybody who stands up like you did is going to be champion."

Buffalo Bisons Tapering Off In Int. League

(By The Associated Press)

When a team clouts 16 home runs in the first 10 days of the month, there's bound to be a letdown.

The first - place Buffalo Bisons of the International League after doing just that apparently are tapering off, at least for the present, for they've suffered two successive shutouts at the hands of Rochester Red Wings.

They're still 4½ games in front of Montreal Royals, despite the 3-0 pasting they took from the Red Wings Monday night. The Wings also applied the calcimine brush in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader, 12-0, which means the leaders have gone 16 innings without a run.

John Yuhas, a skinny right-hander, held the Bisons to six hits and did not allow a man to reach third base in last night's conquest for his fifth triumph. Louis Aloma, Buffalo pitcher, yielded only seven hits, including a home run by Steve Bilko.

Red Hardy of Jersey City Giants had the Baltimore Orioles handcuffed for six innings but he tossed up a pair of home run balls and they proved his undoing. Baltimore came out on top 4-2.

Frank Mancuso hit one in the seventh off Hardy with none on. In the eighth, Ken Wood whacked his 14th circuit clout of the season with two aboard. Al Widmar went the distance for Baltimore.

The Newark Bears went down to another defeat to implant themselves more firmly in the cellar. This one was at the hands of the Syracuse Chiefs, 7-2, and again it was the gopher ball that hurt the losers.

The Chiefs knocked four balls out of Ruppert Stadium — two by Bob Usher and one each by Dutch Mele and Carden Gillenwater — to enable Johnny Hetki to coast to his tenth victory.

Montreal and Toronto were not scheduled.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Electrics Down Kiwanis 15-7 In Weird Game

If one Bill Shakespeare had been writing the Northern Electric - Kiwanis Juniors baseball game played at the Exhibition Grounds last night he would have been at a loss whether to call it a Comedy of Errors or A Midsummer Night's Dream. He would have been right in either case.

For before one of the largest crowds of the Belleville District Baseball League season, Northern Electric strengthened its hold on second place in the league standing by defeating the junior team 15-7 in a weird error-packed pastime that saw no less than 17 bobbles chalked up, 11 of them committed by the losers.

No less than 21 hits sailed into the inner and outer pastures during the floodlight fiesta, with Electrics accounting for 11 off Don Semark and Kiwanis garnering 10 off Fitzpatrick and Bunton. Fitz was tabbed for all the junior runs, yielding 9 hits in four and one-third innings of play. 'Chuck' Barriage went in for one-third of an innings giving up one walk and Bunton tolled the remaining four heats giving up but one hit and holding the opposition scoreless.

Four of the clouts were triples with Carson and Reeves hitting for three bases for the winners and Bush and Galbraith tabbing the ball for Kiwanis.

Allen (One-hand) Kelleher smashed out three for the juniors with Mouse Bush getting a triple and single. Jackie Wardhaugh was credited with three singles for Electrics with Vern Goyer accounting for two as did Rutherford and Fitzpatrick.

Don Semark went the route for the losers giving up eleven hits, striking out eight and issuing 7 free tickets to first. His teammates however kicked the ball around the infield and outfield in a manner that would do credit to a top-flight soccer team. He held the Electrics to two hits for three innings then in the fourth twelve men came to bat, accounting for six runs off four hits, a walk, hit by pitcher and four errors.

Electric had scored three in the second off one hit, a wild pitch, a walk and two errors and added one in the third. They scored another in the fifth and rammed home four more in the eighth of three hits and two miscues.

Kiwanis trailed 10-2 up to the fifth when they got to Fitzpatrick for four hits. Two errors aided their cause and the juniors shoved over five runs before Fitz went to the showers. He was, however, credited with the victory. Barriage went in and pitched to two men then Bunton took over and stifled the junior bats for one hit for the rest of the game.

Electric pulled the only double play of the game in the eighth when Mulvill picked up Kelleher's grounder to double Galbraith at first.

The score:

Kiwanis	100	150	000—7	10	11
N. Electric	031	601	04x—15	11	6

Umpires: Schreider and Townsend.

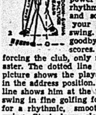
Better Golf

By Sam Snead



Beginning golfers are apt to feel that they have a lot of power and energy stored up in them and they are not anxious to apply it to the ball. You must remember, always, that golf is a game of rhythm and smooth power. If you convert your golf swing into a power swing — rhythm leaves and so with it your smooth swing. Then goodbye to low scores. Lunging, forcing the club, only spells disaster. The dotted line in today's picture shows the player's hands in the address position. The solid line shows him at the top of the swing in fine golfing form ready for a rhythmic, smooth downswing. Start down slowly from the top. Don't rush it in this area. Feel that you are pulling your hands down as pictured, rather than throwing them out and around. Your reversing pivot of hips and shoulders will supply the out-and-around motion without your adding to that action by throwing the hands out. Begin uncocking your wrists and hands when they are hip high in the downswing. Then the added power you transmit to your clubhead will reach its maximum at the correct mechanical instant when the club contacts the ball.

The aircraft had not been heard from for some time by flying control at the airport. Then a telephone call came from the hydraulic engineer of Bombay municipality at Ghatkopar saying that the Constellation had crashed in the hills there killing all the passengers and crew.

The engineer later said that the bodies of the victims tumbled out of the smashed aircraft and were strawn about the hillside.

Bodies Badly Burned

A Reuters News Agency correspondent who rushed to the scene of the crash reported that the bodies of the victims were charred and completely unrecognizable.

He confirmed there were no survivors.

The place where the constellation hit the hillside is almost inaccessible and can be reached only on foot across hilly country. It is three miles from the nearest road point.

The Reuters reporter who reached the spot in two hours from Bombay and surveyed the debris said the plane seemed to have crashed about 50 feet below the peak of a 400-foot hill. The hillside, he said, rises sheer and the plane, tumbling over and over, finished up in the valley at the foot of the hill where apparently it broke into flames. It was burnt to ashes.

Telephone News

Immediately after the crash some farm workers, who were the only eye-witnesses, ran towards the wreckage.

The hydraulic engineer telephoned the news to Santa Cruz airdrome where there was waiting a reception party which included officials of the United States Consulate in Bombay.

Emergency calls were sent out for doctors.

An emergency squad which returned to Ghatkopar after a two-hour trek through drenching rain and torrential streams running down the hill-side reported that the bodies were burnt, mutilated, or destroyed beyond recognition.

TROOPS, SAILORS

Dockers claimed they had been "locked out" for refusing to discharge the Canadian ships Beaverbrae and Argomont.

Men of their crews, belonging to the Canadian Seamens Union, ceased work in a dispute with Canadian shipowners involving wages and recognition of a rival organization, the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.).

The men's unofficial "lockout committee" said dockers were prepared to work all ships except the two Canadian vessels.

Denies Stoppage Walkout

But in parliament, Labor Minister George Isaacs, denying that the stoppage was a lockout, said it was "nothing but a Communist manoeuvre."

Actual seizure of the port will not come until a committee has been set up to run the miles of docks under 19 emergency regulations.

Transport Minister Alfred Barnes was ready to appoint the committee some time today. It will consist of three to five members, none in the government.

It was the first time since the general strike of 1926 that a state of emergency had been proclaimed to quell a labor dispute.

Some 2,300 soldiers, 400 sailors and marines were set to go into the port today to unload food.

The emergency proclamation is good for a week. Parliamentary approval can extend it to a month. The House of Commons debates the matter Wednesday, the House of Lords Thursday.

The emergency regulations empower the government committee to take over the board's job of hiring dock labor and employ people not on its list to give it control of dock traffic.

Men may be arrested without warrant if they are suspected of trying to keep others from working. But they may not be drafted to work, nor be prevented from peaceful picketing.

BALLOON PICKED UP

Hornell, N. Y., July 12 (AP)— A balloon that drifted here from Port Colborne was picked up Monday night by Benjamin J. Wines and George Hotinoty, representatives of the Hamilton District of the Watchtower Society.

The balloon, advertising a Bible lecture, broke loose from a mooring and crossed Lake Erie Sunday. Hornell members of the State Guard seized low-hanging ropes and dragged it to their armory, where they deflated it.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

There are a number of methods by which partners tell each other they have a slam. In Horse Sense we use a simple way that is direct. This makes it easy to understand and apply.

In the first bid is promised a definite minimum of big cards and sure trick-takers. Each bid, including the first, also promises a definite minimum number of the possible tricks in the hand.

When one player discovers 12 tricks and has aces and kings, he asks partner how many aces and kings he has. From this is decided if a slam is safe, and if so, is it a small or grand slam.

The bidding went thus:

South	North
1 H	3 H
4 NT	6 D
6 H	Pass

An opening one bidder shows five possible tricks. Among them is promised a minimum of four high cards, of which two are sure tricks. A jump assist in a major promises the other five needed for game.

When the jump response is immediate it also guarantees two sure tricks. This is in case the opener has two or more tricks in excess of his minimum. Because then they should probe for slam.

Four no-trump is the signal for asking how many aces and kings he has. In Horse Sense, the reply of six diamonds is a signal for showing two aces and only one king. With a king missing, grand slam may not be there.

The opening lead from west was diamond jack and 12 tricks can be had with only small effort. But it was discovered that all 13 tricks can be taken. Wanna try?

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, July 12 (AP) Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's skating beauty, is headed for Hollywood before she starts on a Canadian skating tour with her own company.

But the trip to Hollywood isn't primarily to sign a movie contract. She is to display before the music lovers who regularly crowd Hollywood Bowl for symphony the skating talents that won her the world's and Olympic championships.

For that stint — skating two or three numbers on a "tank" in front of the Bowl's symphony orchestra — she collects a cool $7,500. That's a healthy figure and more than many a top-flight Hollywood star gets for a single performance.

While she's here, she will consider a couple of handsome movie offers.

Hutton Business

From Betty Hutton comes news that her sister Marion is planning to quit show business.

Marion Hutton, who first found fame singing with the Glenn Miller Band, will soon marry radio writer Jack Douglas. She says she'll retire to a ranch in the San Fernando Valley.

Other Notes

Oh, these temperamental actors! Errol Flynn, back from Europe for "Forsythe Saga" retakes, refuses to see reporters . . .

Jimmy Durante goes from "Rupert" to "The Yellow Cab Man" with Red Skelton. Jimmy will play a movie star, which is something to look forward to . . .

Movie workers have a good local example of what's keeping them out of work. Half of the first - run theatres here are playing re-issues of old pictures . . .

Bob Hope likes an audience wherever he goes. When someone remarked that the "Where Men Are Men" set was crowded with visitors an assistant director retorted, "If you think this is a lot, you should have seen the buses that just left."

TRAPS FOR CATCHING UNWELCOME ALIENS

Dangerous alien is the Japanese beetle, which has invaded Southern Ontario from the U. S. It's a bronze colored, spotted insect, originally from Japan, which, like the grasshopper, eats anything green. The Dominion Department of Agriculture has set out 600 traps around Mimico, Ont., and will keep the invasion under control. Here Ross Biggar, Mimico student, hired by the department, prepares traps for snaring the insects. When a large number of insects is reported in any one area, poison is spread in liberal quantities.—Central Press Canadian.

Picton, Napanee Win Close Games In District Loop

In Napanee, an up-and-coming Trenton RCAF Flyers squad held the league-leading Gibbardville squad to a 3-2 decision in another outstanding exhibition of baseball.

Britain, Land of Opportunity, For Negroes From West Indies

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 12 — (CP)—Tens of thousands of British emigrants sail each year to start new lives in the Dominions. But the traffic is not all one way.

From the British West Indies and West Africa, every ship brings a handful of Negro settlers to Britain. In the last three years, close to 5,000 have landed at British ports.

For them, Britain is a land of opportunity. They are fleeing unemployment and poverty at home. They continue to clamor for passages to Britain despite official warnings that there is only a bleak future for them here unless they are trained workers.

Many of these newcomers quickly fit into the pattern of British life. Others find only casual employment or go on relief. A few take ship for home, frustrated and bitter.

British officials have visited the West Indies and West Africa to try to tone down the popular enthusiasm for life in Britain. Persuasion is the only weapon officials may use, because these Negroes are full - fledged British subjects who come and go as they please.

All they need to make the trip is a ticket and a British passport. They are not required to have any specified amount of capital to land at British ports.

Even stowaways can't be sent back. They are sent to jail for 14 days. Then they are free to look for work.

What officials fear most is creation of "pockets" of workless Negroes in the great port cities. There has been a tendency for newcomers to congregate in centres like Liverpool, Bristol and London.

Of the large body of unskilled, an official of the League of Colored People said:

"Hard economic necessity in the West Indies has made many of them jacks-of-all-trades. They find it hard at first to understand the high degree of specialization required in British industry."

Spurred by stories of good times and race equality in Britain, many Negroes used their life's savings for passage in the belief that they could find a standard of living higher than their native colonies could offer.

SHANNONVILLE

Shannonville—Mr. Asa Cook of Aurora, was a recent guest of his mother, Mrs. Hudson Cook.

All are sorry to hear Mrs. Everett Stratton recenty sprained her ankle and hope to see her around again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Goodfellow were Saturday evening guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little.

Miss Audrey Scott, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. L. Scott, left last week for the Sturgeon Lake district, where she will be employed in a local store for the summer months. Audrey hopes to enter Toronto University in the fall term.

It is pleasing to see Mrs. Vernon Rump around again after her recent bout with the measles.

Mr. Jimmy Hinckey, who has been attending Business College in Toronto, is holidaying at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Damon Hinckey.

The community offers their sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Dies in the loss of their barn by fire early Sunday morning. There was no stock in it at that time, but it contained a large quantity of hay. A crowd quickly gathered but nothing could be done to save the large building. Luckily rain had fallen just previously or it might have proven a more disastrous fire.

Mrs. Bertha Juby was a visitor in Peterborough this past week, where she visited friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Graves, and daughter, Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Graves, and son, Donald, all of Syracuse, N. Y., were recent guests of Mrs. Hudson Cook.

Congratulations to Dr. McVicker on his recent marriage. Dr. McVicker has made many friends in this community during the time his office has been located in this community.

A number from the community attended the sale of Mr. R. L. Davies on Saturday afternoon at the Belleville Market Square. Mr. Davies has been employed at Point Anne as an engineer with the Carter Construction Company for the past year, and has now accepted a position in his home town, Edmonton, Alberta. Mrs. Davies and daughter, Joy, are at present with Mrs. Davies' parents, in Mercoal, Alberta.

Little Miss Linda Kimmett of Deseronto, was a recent guest of Miss Gail Juby returning home on Sunday.

Mr. Jimmy Kent of Toronto, was a weekend guest of his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Kent.

Mrs. Baldwin of Toronto, and Mrs. Pearsall of Belleville, are visiting their mother, Mrs. Baptiste Hinchey, and their two brothers, Hugh and Damon, at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Anderson of Kerr Addison Mine, Virginiatown, Ontario, and Mrs. John Anderson of Timmins, were Thursday callers of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Fraser.

Mrs. Margaret Smith had the misfortune to sprain her ankle recently. Her many friends hope she will not be laid up too long.

Orange Lodge was held Thursday evening in the local Lodge Rooms. Plans were made for the celebration of the Twelfth of July in Belleville this year.

W.M.S.

The Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Orville Stratton, 2nd Concession on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Sam Elliott presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Frank Doxtator. Miss Winnifred Eckardt was the program convener and had prepared a very interesting program. Rev. L. Scott led in prayer and dedicated the offering. Delicious refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Mrs. Lee Grills and daughter Betty, of Sidney, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Grill's mother, Mrs. Allan MacDonald.

Mr. an d Mrs. Sam Elliott were Saturday visitors in Tweed.

A number of local residents are employed in the canning factory. The rain the latter part of the week, has brought on the raspberry crop.

Rev. and Mrs. L. Scott leave on Tuesday for a month's holiday in the Haliburton district. Service will be resumed in the United Church on the evening of August 14th

Birthday Party

Miss Gail Juby recently entertained five of her young playmates, it being the occasion of her eighth birthday. Due to the hot weather, the guests enjoyed a tea party on the lawn. Present were: Misses Ruth Kilburn, Margaret Slavin, Linda Johnson, Helen Houston and Ruth Slavin.

Miss Mary Isobel Vivian, accompanied by a chum from Wellington, left this week for a holiday in Southern Ontario.

At the Sunday evening service in the United Church, the Rev. L. Scott chose his text from Romans 8, verse 27. In his discourse he mentioned the life of Titus and other great men who overcame handicaps to make a success of their lives.

Annual Picnic

The annual United Church Sunday School picnic was held on Wednesday afternoon last. Mr. Charles Wood kindly lent his horses and hay wagon for the occasion. Mr. Crispe acted as teamster and a number of the Sunday School scholars journeyed to Mohawk Beach in this manner. Others were conveyed by cars. A swim was enjoyed but due to the inclement weather all present then proceeded to the home of Mr. Crispe where races were run and bounteous refreshments enjoyed.

Great credit for the success and planning of this yearly event is due the Superintendent, Mr William Slavin, and the teachers and officers of the Sunday School.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Cook, and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook and family, were recent guests of Mrs. Hudson Cook. ayinaaoidSChWa Cc Haoctain

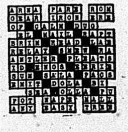
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:



Little Benny's Note Book

Ma looked at pop and shook her head to herself while we were eating breakfist this morning, saying, Really, William, I meen really, when I think of what the movies charge for admission, and when I think in the next breath of how you slept all through the picture last night, it makes me see boiling red.

My dear, I can tell you the plot of that picture werd for werd, pop said, and ma said, I'm lissening skeptcally.

Meening she didn't beleeve he could, and pop said, Well naturelly I haven't time to go into every detail of the action and all the nonsense of the dialog, but I'll give you a general idea of what when he ferst meets the gerl, but the persistent cuss keeps rite up on his toes, and when that sudden twist of events gives him nis big opportunity, by gollies he's rite there to take advantage of it, and the gerl cant help showing that she's not quite sorry he barged into her life.

Well, at least you seem to of been awake at the start, ma said, and pop said, I can finish it for you too, Well, he seems to of lost her again forever after that silly misunderstanding that could of been so easily cleered up with a sensible werd of explination, but fortunately the truth accidently comes out just in time, so it's all merry and gay at the end with the rite gerl in the rite guy's willing arms after all.

I can hardly beleeve it, I could of sworn your eyes were closed the whole time, ma said, and pop said, My dear, they were, and so markable memory for other pictures that I've seen, and the writers that wrote them seem to of remembered them even better.

And he folded his paper and left for his office as if he thawt he was grate.

Delegates Vote To Bar Commies From Unions

Milwaukee, July 12—(CP)—By an almost unanimous vote, 2,400 delegates to the 12th convention of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) Monday asked the Congress of Industrial Organizations to revoke charters of all affiliated unions dominated by communist party members.

Adoption of the resolution was regarded as a major victory for Walter Reuther, U.A.W. President, who is opposed for re-election today by W. B. Grant, former president of Ford Rouge Local 600. Grant was nominated by a left-wing caucus.

The convention condemned refusal of the United States immigration service to permit seven Canadian delegates to enter the U.S. to attend the deliberations.

Reuther said the anti-communist resolution was the strongest ever adopted by a C.I.O. Union. It said that unions controlled by Reds had failed to organize workers within their jurisdictions. It urged that organizing committees be set up to bring into the C.I.O. fold workers it claimed were betrayed by communists.

Good Weather To Greet Marchers On The Twelfth

(By Canadian Press)

Almost everywhere in Canada where parades, picnics and speeches were scheduled, good weather —sunny but not too hot—was on tap for the "glorious Twelfth", the biggest day of the year for the protestant order.

Newfoundland declares a public holiday for "the Twelfth". Neither the morning news nor the Evening Telegraph, the newspaper in its capital of St. John's, were published today.

Other areas took on a holiday air as fife and drum led lodge members in colorful regalia. In some centres, Orangemen from adjacent sections of the United States joined in the celebration.

Saskatchewan's largest Orange celebration was scheduled for Caron, 50 miles west of Regina, while the main Manitoba observance was at Emerson. Alberta moved its celebration ahead to Saturday and several hundred of its Orangemen attends a picnic in an Edmonton park.

In the Maritimes, 5,000 lodge members were expected to rally at Sussex, N.B., to help the Admiral Nelson Orange Lodge of Sussex to celebrate its 100th anniversary.

The largest Orange walks in Ontario this year were those in Toronto and Hamilton. A white horse that normally draws a breadwagon was picked for his day of glory in leading the march to Toronto's Exhibition Park.

Merry-go-Round Special Target Of Cottagers

Port Stanley, July 12 (CP)—A merry-go-round on the boardwalk at this Lake Erie summer resort was the special target of irate cottagers in village council Monday night as they protested its late operation, and particularly its music.

"Very definitely, it is obnoxious," said Archie Campbell.

"If it is music, it is outrageous" added Robert Langton.

"There is not a note of music in it," said John Watson. "We go out in the country a couple of times a week just to get away from it."

Some 70 summer residents signed a petition objecting to boardwalk amusements operating until midnight or later. Council agreed to give immediate warning that provincial police will be asked to enforce the 11 p.m. closing of amusements.

Manhattan Love Song

By Kathleen Norris

When Mack came back Chris had gained a foothold with Madge and they were rivals. Madge went to an opening night with Chris; went away to Long Island for the weekend with Mack to visit his boss. She was prettier, more charming and confident and gay every second. Often she suggested that the disappointed suitor and Fanny "do something." And then Fanny, being very casual and affectionate and sleepy to hide a deep inner hurt, would plead fatigue; she had been counting all day upon getting to bed early!

So Madge would go off, laughing and lovely and apologetic, in the Chinese coat with the white fur collar that Fanny had come to hate, and Fanny and the other man would look at each other good-naturedly, indulgently, in the blackness she left behind her.

If it were Chris he never made any pretense at amusing her; he was always "sunk." It had always been a fearful day at the office, and he was going to turn in. But Mack usually made a polite gesture.

"Want to go and see a flicker with me?"

"Oh, no thanks, Mack."

Or it might be:

"I'm going over to the offices of the I.B.C. tonight. Bill gave me a pass, and he introduced me to the hostess. I'll get in all right. There's quite a show on this evening. Want to come?"

And then she might go, because she was only twenty-one, and heartbroken and lonely. It was something to do, something better lying wakeful on her bed, trying to read, and falling instead into long thoughts of Madge--Madge so pretty and beloved and sure of herself--so satisfied with herself.....

The I.B.C. offices were located on several upper floors of a tall Fifth avenue building. Fanny liked the atmosphere. She liked the silences, the whispers, the signals, the strange world that moved by seconds, minutes, clocks and gongs. The comedian broadly grinning himself, would finish his lines in a completely uninterested group of program managers,; he would noiselessly depart, just as the string orchestra punctually struck its opening note.

One night, in a Shakespearean program, Fanny read Portia's lovely lines:

"You see me, Lord Bassanio, where I stand,
Such as I am..."

This was early in November, and it was only a few days later that quite unexpectedly their group parted, and after that Fanny felt for a while as if she were alone in the city indeed. It came because she could not bear the situation any longer, could not bear to see Chris almost every night every Sat. afternoon and Sunday, and yet know that he came and telephoned and waited for Madge, he sat anxious and handsome and shabby and patient but Fanny knew he hardly saw her at all, cared little that she was alive

"Fanny," Madge chanced to say on one of these days' "suppose I went on paying the rent out of my allowance, and you stayed here a week or two, and I went to Phylis Maitland's for visit? We're having rehearsals---"

"Why not?" Fanny felt that she was speaking from the depth upon depth of boredom "Or why not give up the room and I'll go to Grandma Behrmann? She has a room for seven dollars a week She's been offering it to me."

"Oh, but Fanny----!' Fanny could see beyond the tone of protest and regret that Madge was perfectly delighted at the idea. "Could you afford it?"

"That's board," Fanny said simply.

"Board! At seven dollars a week?

"That's what she charges. Sne has four young men, who double up in one big room on the top floor, and her room, and the one she wants me to take, on the next It's a wooden cottage, with a balcony, way over in the East Twenties, but that isn't so far for me."

"But the table would be awful."

"Oh, no, it wouldn't. I've been there for lunches. It's a little noodley and kartoffley, but its delicious. Her daughter, who lives downstairs, does most of it. They're all very sentimental and fat," said Fanny, "and they sing on all occasions. I like it."

"Well, but darling, then when do we see each other?" Madge wailed, in perfectly obvious relief, pressing the ringing telephone against her fresh sweet cheek, frowning ruefully at Fanny, even while she said, "Yes? Oh, Chris darling, I'd love it, but I can't! Tomorrow night? I'd love it."

Fanny moved that night. Chris did not come at all, and Mack and Madge were going to a play. They helped her hilariously into a taxi; Madge embraced her, and Mack paid her fare in advance. Madge reminded her that the next day was Saturday, and that they were all going to meet in Mack's office at five and "do something thrilling."

"Saturday is my long day at the shop."

"I know, darling. But you just tell the old shop to go chase itself! You know we haven't got so many more Saturdays, if I'm to go home to mother for Christmas."

Fanny alone in the taxi, began to cry forlornly. The dark streets looked sorid and unfriendly and frighteing; to be shabby and hard worked and lonely was not so else! But the next day she saw her much fun, New York or anywhere first snow and took her city to her heart again.

One night just before Christmas Chris came to see her. Fanny had not seen him for two weeks, had not seen Madge. She had had a promotion. Old Dr. Kreutzmann had brought some friends down to see the Salvage Shop, and had talked again to Fanny, and another Kreutzmann, the doctor's brother, duly introduced, had proved to be none other than the big theatrical producer Something Fanny had said had made him laugh, and he had presently been telling her carelessly enough that if she came over to the office on Tuesday, and sent inhere this card, he would see that she at least had a chance.

"You can hang up dresses just as well over there as here," he said. "And it'll pay you better."

Fanny had not even telephoned Madge. Madge was over in Newark, anyway, with her adored Phyliss; Fanny somehow had not wanted to get in touch with her. The sooner that wound healed the easier for them all. It was with a great plunge--a suffocating flutter at her heart that she heard Otto Windenberg shout from downstairs, in the free-and-easy manner that prevailed at Mrs. Behrman's: "Fanny, there's a Mr. Thring to see you!"

"Chris!" Fanny came flying downstairs with her tawny hair wet from the comb, and the skies of June in her eyes. "Chris, my dear, I'm so glad to see you! D'you know it's weeks?---What's the matter?"

The last was added in a different, a sharper tone, as Fanny wheeled him about to the light.

"I don't feel very well," Chris said slowly.

"Chris, what is it?" She had drawn him into the parlor, with its cushions and lace curtains, its shells and statues, its realistic wooden mouse and realistic china plate of cookies.

"Madge wanted you to know," Chris said, in a lifeless tone, "that she and Mack left for California today; they're going to be married when they get there!"

"Madge----!" Fanny's voice was only a whisper. "What d'you mean?"

"It's true."

"Oh, Chris!" She was thinking only of him, her face very white. "What--what will you do?" she whispered.

"I've resigned from the office," Chris said, in a hard voice, not looking at her. "I'm going to ship somewhere. I've been down on docks since--since they told me. I telephoned the Salvage Shop, Fan, but they said you weren't there any more."

"I'm up at the Kreutzmann place. The big Kreutzmann, who put on the big shows, is my old doctor's brother, you know. But, Chris---Chris, where are you going?"

"Somewhere. Anywhere!" he said vaguely. Fanny had only one look at the misery in his eyes before he stooped suddenly and put his arm about her, kissing the curve of her hair at her temple, saying brokenly: "That leaves you alone, you poor kid. You're the only one of us who had any--grit. I'll let you know how it goes; I'll be back. I'm not ever going to California again, anyway. Good-bye Fan!"

She was crying as she waved him good-bye through the dark wintry street. It was only half-past four o'clock, but on one of the shortest days of the year lights were lighted over the black city; the great bridges, lifting their arches bravely into the cold dusk, were sprangled with stars.

"All right, New York," said Fanny, wiping her eyes, blowing her nose. "You haven't licked me yet!"

In the office of Robert Kreutzmann sat Fanny Furness, in an almost unbearable state of excitement. It was the morning of allmornings to have something wonderful happen, and unless this were all a dream, and Fanny tucked up asleep under her suffocating big German bedspread at Mrs. Behrmann's, it was actually happening. Anyway, here she was in Kreutzmann's office, "by appointment."

Recount Confirms The Election of Liberal Member

(By The Canadian Press)

A recount has confirmed the election of Charles Cannon, Liberal, in the federal riding of Iles-De-La-Madeleine. The result of the recount was announced yesterday while a similar recount started in Dorchester and others were pending in constituencies which had close races in the June 27 federal election.

Other Quebec ridings in which recounts have been granted are Trois-Rivieres and Montreal Papineau. Recounts are to be held in the Ontario constituencies of Toronto Greenwood, Brant-Wentworth and Middlesex East, as well as in the Nova Scotia riding of Annapolis-Kings and in Regina City.

The result in Iles-De-La-Madeleine gave Mr. Cannon a winning margin of 58 votes, instead of the 46 announced a week ago, over Pierre Sevigny, Independent Progressive Conservative candidate. Mr. Sevigny asked for the recount.

Officials conducting the Dorchester recount in Quebec City said they expected it would require two days.

In Middlesex East, the recount started yesterday at London, Ont. Judge Ian MacRae of Middlesex County said it probably would take "several days" to recheck the more than 21,000 ballots.

Fire Hazards In B.C. Reach Dangerous Stage

Vancouver, July 12 — (CP)—British Columbia logging operators today are awaiting the "stop work" order from Provincial Forest Service officials which will tell them that fire hazards have reached the "extremely dangerous stage."

A number of operators already have voluntarily suspended operations as flames lick through some B. C. timber stands and a scorching sun blazes down fiercely on other timber areas.

Meanwhile, provincial authorities in Manitoba have reported that three of six fires in the northern part of that province have been extinguished.

A blaze believed started by friction caused when a guy-line broke on the Stoltze Logging Company operations 13 miles west of Duncan, on Vancouver Island, is giving B. C. fire fighters the most worry.

One hundred men and four tractors are fighting the Stoltze fire, which has eaten away an estimated 1,000,000 board feet of bucked and felled timber while racing through 400 acres.

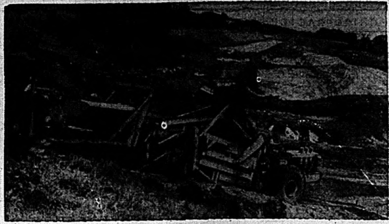
May Close Roads

Besides the precaution of halting logging operations, forest service officers said they will, if necessary, order a closure of travel in the danger areas. All the lower part of Vancouver Island is considered a hazard.

Forestry spokesmen said 27 new fires, including the Stoltze blaze, broke out during the weekend in the Vancouver forest district.

In Manitoba, a fire at Dogskin River, 300 miles north of Winnipeg, and two at Bloodvein River, 125 miles north of Winnipeg, still are raging. The latter two have been confined to 30 acres while the Dogskin fire is still burning after breaking away on the northern side.

Three fires reported Saturday in the Island lake area, 100 miles east of Norway House, are reported "under control."



CHANNELS HARNESS THE THAMES

Ontario's Thames River, a rampaging, uncontrollable flood in the spring will be tamed probably by next year, when diversion channels are completed. The channels will remove the annual threat to industries located in the river area and to farms whose acres were under two or three feet of water. This straight channel at Ingersoll is six miles long. Heavy machinery, in operation day and night, may set a new Canadian excavation record there.—Central Press Canadian.

2ND THURLOW

2nd Thurlow—Mr. and Mrs. Archie Greatrix attended the Old Boys' Reunion at Deseronto, last week, and called on Mr. and Mrs. Ted Howe, and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Geddess, of Deseronto.

Congratulations to Masters Glenn McCue, Stanley Sanderson, Ken Jeffery of S.S. No. 4 and to Dorothy Jordon and Harvey Stolker of S.S. No. 3, who passed their entrance examinations at the Belleville Collegiate.

Mrs. Ralph Greatrix and Keith have returned home after spending week with her mother, Mrs. Woodcox, Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Grills called on Mr and Mrs. F. Mitchell on Wednesday night.

Mrs. L. Moncrief is visiting friends in Campbellford and Peterborough.

Miss Doris Woodcox, Bancroft, is spending the holidays with her sister, Mrs. R. Greatrix.

Mrs. R. T. Boldrick and Nancy Arlene, Belleville, spent Friday afternoon and evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Atkins.

Cash, Articles Missing.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Keene had the misfortune to lose $18.00 in cash, a gold wristwatch, suitcase and other articles, on Thursday morning when their hired man of three days disappeared, while Mr and Mrs. Keene were milking, taking the above valuables with him.

Horses Prove Tougher Than Men at Stampede

The cowpokes took a double-barreled beating before an official paid attendance of 70,951 fans — largest opening day total in the history of the colorful western show.

First Mayor Hiram E. (Buck) McCallum and his carefree, eye-dazzling "goodwill" contingent from Toronto grabbed the limelight from the western cowhands. Then wildly bucking bronks and steers pitched the would-be saddle stickers into the dust in humiliating fashion.

Mayor McCallum — just plain "Buck" to Calgarians young and old — officially opened Canada's wildest and woolliest show before a jammed exhibition crowd Monday night. Not even a soaking late afternoon thunderstorm diminished the crowd as it surpassed the former high attendance mark set last year by more than 6,000.

The crowd attending the opening-day performances equalled almost two-thirds of the total population of some 107,000 in this foothills city.

Richard Dodging Horse, daring young Indian cowboy from the Sarcee Reserve near Calgary, was the lone Canadian to top a major event. He sprang from his pony onto a galloping steer to decorate the horns of the animal with a red ribbon in near-record time of 4 3-5 seconds.

Western Crops Being Vamped by 'Painted Ladies'

Winnipeg, July 12 — (CP) — Latest hazard to which prairie crops are being subjected sounds like a throw-back from the early days of the wild and woolly west—the crops are being vamped by painted ladies.

Only in this case the "painted ladies" are caterpillar-type insects which have attacked 25,000 acres of sunflowers in the Altona-Winkler area of south-central Manitoba.

Already farmers have swung into action to repel their advances. The repellant is a spray known as Toxophene. Provincial Agriculture Department officials say farmers have been spraying with such prompt determination that the "painted ladies" are being routed before extensive damage can be caused to the sunflower crop.

Toxaphene is described by entomologists as being equally effective against grasshopper or the new blight.

Early this season wide damage from grasshoppers was predicted throughout the west. The insects have lowered the yields in some fields, but preventive methods have kept damage well below potential.

Another problem is the green aphid insect which made its appearance recently in oats and barley stands. Hon. Errick Willis, Manitoba's public works minister, said Monday night that the aphids now are turning their attention to wheat.

This is contrary to the expectations of entomologists, who had predicted the aphids would stick to a diet of oats and barley. Agriculture Department officials have confirmed the insects' widening interests, saying that reports of infected wheat fields are increasing.

OIL KILLS DUCKS

Toronto, July 12 — (CP) — Hundreds of ducks were killed Sunday by a giant oil slick which drifted into a lagoon on Centre Island in Toronto harbor. Harbor Commission officials expressed belief that the oil came from a ship.

Experts Tackle Job of Guarding Area's Dollar Pool

Representatives of Seven Countries Meet in London

London, July 13. (CP)—Financial experts of the Commonwealth today tackled the urgent job of guarding the sterling area's dwindling dollar pool.

Representatives of seven countries and Southern Rhodesia are meeting to see what can be done to earn the sterling area more gold and dollars and save what it has left.

The delegates today were to draw up a program of work for their talks, which are expected to last at least a week.

They will be deliberating with an eye on another conference among those three set for some time in September in Washington. In view of this, a treasury spokesman said Tuesday night that no hard-and-fast decisions are to be expected.

The sterling area is the currency group which takes in all countries of the British Commonwealth, except Canada, and also includes Burma, Iceland, Iran and the Republic of Ireland. Britain is its banker.

The sterling countries need dollars to buy essential goods they can get in sufficient quantities only from the dollar countries.

They draw on their common gold and dollar pool to pay for any such goods they can't pay for by exporting to those countries.

14,000 DOCKERS STILL DEFYING ORDER OF GOVT.

Ships Idle in Port of London Increased to 132

London, July 13—(CP)—Number of ships idle in the Port of London increased to 132 today as nearly 14,000 dockers continued to defy the government's State of Emergency.

More than 2,000 troops continued to unload foodstuffs but porters at the great Smithfield Market which handles the bulk of London's meat supplies said they would not touch truck loads from the troop-dockers.

Meanwhile, Parliament today was debating the government's sweeping powers as the five cabinet-appointed dock "dictators" got down to work controlling the docks.

Members of the Canadian Seamen's Union, whose dispute with Canadian shipowners caused the London dock stoppage, visited the House of Commons today.

Led by J. Pope, Union organizer in Britain, they were to press for intervention by Prime Minister Attlee.

At today's Commons session Home Secretary James Chuter Ede was expected to move for approval of the emergency regulations issued under the proclamation.

Enforced by Committee

These regulations, drafted under the Emergency Act of 1920, are being enforced by the five-man emergency committee, armed with extraordinary powers.

The emergency proclamation is valid for a week. Parliament can extend it to a month.

The National Dock Labor Board which handles job assignments, has advised all men who want to work to report at the usual time and place.

Strike leaders have stood by their contention the workers have been locked out.

The dispute centres around two Canadian ships, the Beaverbrae and the Argomont. Dockers have refused to handle the cargoes, because members of the crews, belonging to the C.S.U., are on strike.

British Transport Union Ousts Reds

Scarborough, Yorkshire, England, July 12 — (Reuters)—Britain's Transport and General Workers Union — the biggest trade union in the world with 1,300,000 members — decided Monday to dismiss all communists holding office. It was believed several officials of the union and a large number of voluntary workers would be removed from their posts.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, July 13 (CP)—Synopsis: The weather is generally clear over Ontario. Slightly cooler and drier air moving down from Northern Ontario has reached the Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions and will move into the lower lake region this afternoon.

Sunny skies, and rather cool temperatures will prevail over most of the province on Thursday.

U.S. Soldier Stabs Sweetheart Takes Own Life

Gifu, Japan, July 12 (CP)—An American soldier fatally stabbed his Japanese sweetheart, army authorities said today, and then joined her in death by throwing himself in front of a train.

Army investigators said the double tragedy occurred July 8. Pte. William B. Demison, 34, Fresno, Calif., died instantly. The girl, Yosmiko Suruhashi, 23, was found dying in her home in Nagoya City, south of Gifu.

A note authorities said Demison had written was found in the girl's room. It read:

"This is to anyone who might want to know why I am doing this.

"I have been tormented by this girl for over two years and she won't change. I love her too much to let her go so I am taking her life and mine too . . ."

ATHLETE'S JINX

Pathlow, Sask. (CP)— Arthur Bennett, catcher for the local baseball team, has a recurring trouble. A finger on his right hand was broken twice when hit by spinning balls. When it healed he went back to his position at the plate. Now his finger is broken again.

Stricken Child Given Speedy Trip To Hospital by Police Co-operation

Brantford, July 13 — (CP) — Ambulance and police sirens were shrilling between Brantford and Toronto this morning in an emergency dash to the Sick Children's Hospital to save the life of a five-day-old boy requiring immediate replacing of his blood through transfusion.

Baby Zuerrer, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric P. J. Zuerrer of nearby Burford, suffered from "RH Positive" blood condition, was placed in an incubator with oxygen and heating equipment on a fire department ambulance.

The operation involves draining of the toxic blood from the child's body and replacing it by transfusion with blood of another type.

When the condition of the baby became apparent earlier this morning, Dr. J. A. D. Marquis set a chain of emergency telephone and radio calls in action between here and Toronto. Six separate police escorts relieved one another during the dash.

Provincial Constable Don Oxlay of the Brant detachment escorted the ambulance from the hospital here to Ancaster, where Dundas O. P. P. took over. Brantford traffic officers made sure that streets in the east ward here were clear as the ambulance roared to the outskirts.

Hamilton city police and the Dundas cruiser cleared West Hamilton streets and at Sheridan, Aurora district O. P. P. took over the escort from the Dundas car. At Toronto's western limits, the municipal force completed the escort to the Sick Children's Hospital.

Dr. R. D. McKinley, house physician at the Brantford General, accompanied the ambulance.

35 Killed as Wingtip Snags on Mountain

Los Angeles, July 13. (AP)—Official sources differed today whether a fight aboard an airliner caused it to crash and explode 30 miles north of here with a loss of 35 lives and injuries to 14.

A C-46 transport operated by Standard Airlines snagged a wingtip Tuesday in the Santa Susana Mountains in a fog and exploded on a steep canyonside in what civil aeronautics board inspectors said was the worst non-scheduled flight accident in United States history.

James N. Peyton, regional C.A.S. chief, said that a brief fight between two men passengers apparently did not cause the crash. He made this statement after talking to survivors. Pyton said the crash occurred an hour and a half after the fight.

Convinced Fight Cause

However, Capt. L. R. Powell, chief pilot for Standard, said his investigation convinced him the battle caused the tragedy. He described the pilot of the twin-engine craft, Roy G. White, as highly skilled and careful. White was killed.

Standard Airlines previously had been ordered by the C.A.B. to discontinue flight operations next week for violating regulations.

Prime Minister Enjoys Vacation In New Brunswick

Bathurst, N. B., July 13 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent, vacationing here on New Brunswick's north shore after the strenuous election campaign, is getting a little golf, a daily swim and engaging in a few social functions.

The prime minister, who arrived here last week, said he is already feeling the benefit of the rest after his coast-to-coast tour.

Canadian-Made Cement Scarce

Hamilton, July 13—(CP)—Enormous priority orders of cement for Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission projects throughout Ontario, coupled with an intensified building boom, have made Canadian-produced cement almost unavailable to dealers here. Last week, some 200,000 bags of German cement were unloaded here to aid the situation, described by dealers as acute.

Dealers and builders are using German, Belgium, British and American cement to try to keep up with demand.

One local dealer said: "You just can't buy Canadian cement"

4,000 Marchers Representing Lodges From Nearby Centres Celebrate "Twelfth" in City

An estimated 15,000 persons in the more than a mile long parade or watching the spectacle from the curbline, took part in 12th of July celebration in Belleville yesterday as lodges from the Hastings and Prince Edward county district observed the 259th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

Comments that it was a grand and glorious 12th celebration were heard almost on every hand as the 4,000 odd marchers representing 37 lodges and the 6,000 spectators made it one of the largest "walks" ever to be staged in the city. The attendance far surpassed the expectations of even the most optimistic members of the host lodge, Benjamin L.O.L. No. 274.

The fife and drums and the skirl of the bagpipes resounded throughout the city as the parade, headed by the 9th Anti-Tank Pipe Band under their leader J. Browning, marched away from the fair grounds.

Long March

Down Bridge Street to Front Street the route of march was lined with spectators, while north on Front Street to the Upper bridge the sidewalk was lined five deep as shoppers and pedestrians paused to view the parade. The parade returned to the fair grounds by way of Moira Street, Hillside and Sinclair back to Bridge Street.

It was by far the largest "walk" seen in the Belleville district in many years and speakers at the afternoon program referred on many occasions to the increased interest being taken in the Orange Order by the younger generation. This was manifestly indicated by the number of youthful marchers who participated in the parade as members of juvenile lodges.

Maple Leaf Lodge from Maple Leaf 25 miles north of Bancroft won the prize as the best men's lodge, this lodge winning the nod of judges through sheer weight of numbers. Kingston L.O.B.A. No. 980 was adjudged the best women's lodge.

Canada May Face Worst Polio Epidemic Since 1916

Observance of Certain Precautions Helpful Especially by Children

Toronto, July 13. —(CP)— Canada may this year face the worst epidemic of poliomyelitis since 1916, the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis said today.

The Foundation, which is associated with the Canadian March of Dimes, urges Canadians to take every possible precaution against spread of the dread disease.

Horace Brown, executive director of the Foundation, said: "Responsible scientists and men familiar with the field have stated there is a possibility that 1949 might see the worst epidemic since 1916.

"While we have no desire . . . to be alarmists," he said, "we do feel the public should be made aware. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the United States. . . has already reported. . .almost 3,000 cases."

Rules Outlined

The Foundation says observance of the following rules—especially by children—is helpful:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely:

Body of Missing Girl Found in Lake Near Home

Notre Dame De La Sallette, Que., July 13. (CP)—A tiny white crucifix clutched in her hand, little Monique Boucher was found floating in Clay Lake Tuesday, just a mile from the farm home she failed to reach last Friday when she started home after helping a cousin with the cows.

A car horn, sounding through the wooded hills near this village of 500 persons, told searchers the four-day hunt for the seven-year-old girl was over.

Eloi St. Amour, a lifelong friend of Monique's parents and her 11 brothers and sisters, found the body. It was floating fully-clothed three feet from shore and near a creek that ran through the Boucher farm.

Dr. Jean Lorrain, the coroner, said death was due to drowning and there would be no inquest.

Veteran woodsmen said the little girl must have become lost while returning home. She probably was drowned in the creek and her body floated down into the lake.

Dr. Lorrain said he believed she died some time Friday night.

Regis Boucher, Monique's father, and the family arrived at the lake just a few minutes after the body was found. Asked if it was Monique's body, Mr. Boucher nodded his head silently and the family burst into tears.

Mr. St. Amour said: "I had a dream last night that she would be found in the lake."

Annette Boucher, a cousin, was the last person to see Monique alive. They had gone to bring the cows in from pasture, but Monique turned back when she said she heard her mother calling. Annette didn't hear anything.

To reach home, Monique had to cross the narrow creek.

Will Continue To Use Garage Despite Action

Oshawa, July 13. (CP)—Francois David Boire, who calls himself King David II, said Tuesday that he will continue to house a family of six in a garage despite a court action brought against him by surburban East Whitby Township.

Boire, who has visited the United States and many world capitals to present his views on world government, faces five charges of infringing township building and sanitary by-laws. The cases have been set over to July 25.

To Build Shrine

Meanwhile, the 57-year-old carpenter is digging heavy stones from the basement of a demolished house near Oshawa's business section and says he intends to use then to construct a shrine on another lot. Under an agreement with the owner of the house site, he is to have the stone in return for filling in the basement.

Boire, who calls himself "King David II" by "divine ordinance", said he bears council members no ill will.

"They don't realize it, but they are actually God's instruments to publicize my program," he said "There is no foundation for their case as they are up against a Dominion statue guaranteeing freedom of worship."

Obeying Commandment

Despite township claims that his garage is unfit for human habitation, Boire insists he is only "obeying God's first commandment—to shelter the homeless".

Boire said part of his program with a world government with headquarters in Palestine is a spiritual plan for control of atomic warfare. He asserted:

"I am going to hitch the township council to the Lord's publicity wagon".

WORKERS ACCEPT PROPOSAL FOR 60-DAY DELAY

Steel Strike Averted By Action of Union

Pittsburgh, July 13. (AP) — President Philip Murray of the United Steelworkers (C.I.O.) today announced that his Union's Executive Board "by unanimous action" has accepted President Truman's proposal for a 60-day delay in a steel strike.

The executive board's decision will be given to the Union's Wage Policy Committee for ratification at a meeting later today.

A strike of 500,000 Union steelmakers was set for this weekend —on Friday and Saturday midnight.

President Truman had asked Murray and six leading steel producers to continue existing contracts for 60 days pending a report from a fact-finding board the President has appointed.

Only one of six Steel companies—Jones & Laughlin—thus far has accepted the White House proposal.

The President made the same request of United States Steel Corporation, Republic Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, and Wheeling Steel.

Search Parties Combing Hills To Find Bodies

Bombay, July 13 — (Reuters) — Search parties combing the Ghatkopar Hill in a monsoon downpour today recovered eight more bodies of victims who died Tuesday in the crash of a Royal Dutch Airlines Constellation.

Loy Henderson, United States Ambassador to India, today identified 10 of the victims, including eight American journalists, among the 33 bodies brought to Bombay Tuesday.

The remains of four other victims still were untraced.

The correspondents, whose bylines and broadcasts were familiar to millions of Americans, had been on an Indonesian tour in co-operation with the Dutch government, when the tragedy occurred.

Their Constellation was circling in a rain squall in an attempt to land at Santa Cruz airfield, 15 miles north of Bombay, when it struck the hillside, about four miles to the east.

TEN CASES POLIO

Cornwall, July 13 — (CP)—Ten cases of poliomyelitis have been diagnosed in Cornwall and the urban townships it was announced today by Dr. R. S. Peat, Medical Health Officer for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. Seven of the cases have been sent to isolation hospital at Ottawa. All are children.

Many Imperial Veteran Pensioners In Canada to Get Financial Aid

Ottawa, July 13—(CP) — Britain's War Pensions Chief said today the 9,000 Imperial Veteran pensioners living in Canada soon will get news of recent Legislative measures that should be a financial boon to many of them.

Completing a six-weeks visit to Canada and the United States, Sir Arton Wilson told a press conference "the problem of the aging veteran of the First Great War, now somewhere between 55 and 75, sticks out like a sore thumb" among the problems faced by his staff.

Sir Arton said the top basic pension for a totally disabled single British veteran is $45 a month — Canada's is $84 — but there are other aids. This would include allowances for the wife and children, $30 a month if the man is unemployable and another $40 if he is helpless he needs constant attendance.

There also are arrangements for cars or motor-powered tricycles for some 1,500 of the most severely wounded among Britain's 1,100,000 veterans. Some of these eventually will come to Canada.

To acquaint the pensioners with these provisions, some of them recent, the Pensions Minister is mailing individual letters to each man. The pensioners in Canada should get their's in the next few weeks.

Of the British pensioners in Canada, Ontario and British Columbia have the greatest numbers, he said.

Will Allow Seamen To be Hired by National Service

Union Asks Attlee to Use Influence for Settlement

Montreal, July 13 — (CP) — The Canadian Seamen's Union today made a major concession towards settling its world - wide strike when it offered to accept the practice of hiring seamen through Canada's National Employment Service instead of through union hiring halls.

The union, which called a strike against more than 80 vessels owned by the Shipping Federation of Canada March 31, sent a telegram Tuesday to Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Labor Minister at Ottawa, setting forth conditions under which it was "prepared to immediately call off the deep-sea strike."

Concession Outlined

The major concession was the union's agreement that "all future replacements shall be made through the National Employment Service without discrimination for reason of strike activity and that experienced seamen be given preference of employment."

When a conciliation board examined the dispute between union and shipowners last year the C. S. U. sought to have hiring in Canada and as far south as Norfolk, Va., and San Pedro, Cal., done through hiring halls.

The owners had demanded that the hiring - hall practice cease while the conciliation board recommended that hiring be done either through the union offices or through N.E.S.

Major Move Near

The telegram was interpreted here as meaning some major move in the long drawn-out strike was near.

The strike was precipitated when the Union, negotiating with shipowners for a new contract, learned that the owners had signed with the rival Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.)

Gradually ships were tied up all over the world and two in the Port of London have precipitated a strike by dockers acting in sympathy with the allegedly-communist-led C.S.U.

Tuesday the Union sent a cable to Prime Minister Attlee—its second in two weeks—asking him to use his influence with Canadian shipowners to bring about a settlement.

Mr. MacNamara was not available in Ottawa for comment on the C.S.U. telegram which referred to discussions Tuesday with himself and other Labor Department officers.

Want Seamen Returned

The telegram signed on behalf of the C.S.U. National Negotiating Committee by T. G. McManus, Secretary-Treasurer, asked as another condition for ending the strike that "all seamen employed on ships on March 31 shall be returned to their former place of employment without discrimination."

Child Claims Some Bad Little Boys Hurt Her

Ottawa, July 13 — (CP)—Was 28-months-old Marie Giselle Lachance beaten and raped by an adult sex maniac or by some neighborhood children? She said Tuesday that "some bad little boys" hurt her.

But police still probed the possibility that an adult tied her up with heavy fishing line and a man's necktie and raped her as she hung naked from a rafter in a shed near her home.

Police cruisers were instructed Tuesday night to give the area "special attention" to ease the minds of worried parents.

Neighbors said police had questioned them closely about an unidentified immigrant, missing from his home in the district. But police said the missing man has nothing to do with the case.

Marie Giselle still is in hospital. Her mother visited her Tuesday as the child slowly recovered from shock and near-strangulation.

Inspector Ubald Sauve, head of the Ottawa police morality squad, called it "one of the most brutal sex attacks in the history of the city . . . a savage and calculated attack on a two-year-old child."

A little mongrel dog helped save her life. He growled around the ramshackle shed Monday and attracted seven-year-old John Davis . . . he found the girl and yelled for help.

Stampede Heads For All-time Attendance Mark

Calgary, July 13. (CP)—Canada's most colorful exhibition, the Calgary Stampede—appeared headed for an all-time attendance mark today despite the loss of its "Toronto sparkle".

For the second straight day a mammoth crowd jammed its way into the exhibition grounds on Tuesday to shatter the second-day attendance mark. Official attendance Tuesday was 66,943 compared with the previous second day high of 49,612 set last year.

Mayor Hiram E. (Buck) McCallum, who officially opened the stampede, and his 250 "goodwillers" left early today for an outing at Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies before starting their homeward trek They will visit Edmonton and Saskatoon on the return journey

Meanwhile United States cowboys held a commanding lead in the majority of stampede events.

The first go-round in a major event was scheduled to be completed later today in the North American Saddle Bronc Riding Championship. Ross Dollarhide of Lakeview, Ore., still clung to the lead in the event with Deb Copenhaven of Portland, Ore., in second place.

TWO CASES OF POLIO TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Two cases of poliomyelitis were reported to have been admitted to Belleville General Hospital from a northern section of the county.

Hospital authorities, when contacted today, reported the cases had been discharged.

Dr. G. S. Cronk, medical health officer stated that no cases had been reported originating in the city.

TRAFFIC TIED UP FOR OVER HOUR BY ORANGE PARADE

Traffic along Belleville's main streets was tied up for the better part of an hour Tuesday afternoon as a result of the lengthy Orange parade staged up the main business thoroughfare.

The parade moved into the downtown area at 1:45 and at 2:45 there was still congestion on the main street. Cars were backed up along Front Street and around on Dundas as far as Pinnacle as the last marchers went past. The market square was clogged with blocked cars and trucks as was Bridge Street East and West.

PROPERTY OWNERS DISCUSS PROBLEMS

A meeting of the Property Owners' Association of Parkwood Heights was held at the Baptist Sunday School hall last evening when problems concerning that area were discussed. Approximately 42 home owners were present. The president of the association, Mr. Dennis Swan, presided over the meeting.

HOLDER OF NUMBER 430 WINS PRIZE

Program number 430 was the lucky winner of the special attendance prize given by Benjamin L.O.L. No. 274 drawn at the conclusion of the Twelfth of July celebration held in the city yesterday. The holder of the program bearing the above number is asked to forward the book to Robert Fair, 249½ William St., giving name and address and the prize will be sent through the mail.

PRICES CONTINUE UP

Toronto, July 12 — (CP) — Egg prices continued their upward swing Monday and at day's end had recorded a five - cent increase on top grades over Saturday. This brought the gain for the last 10 days to 12 cents.

Delegates Give Convention Report To Kiwanis Club

Mr. Finkle gave a travelogue on his journey to and from Atlantic City with interesting sidelights on the places seen and visited. Mr. Harback gave a detailed report of the speeches delivered by outstanding religious and civic leaders, including Dr. Franklin G. Fry, president of the Lutheran Church in America; J. Belmont Mosser, International president of Kiwanis; Henry Luce, prominent American publisher; Eric Johnston, "the conscience of the movie making industry"; and U.S. Senator from Montana, Carl E. Mont.

Mr. Harback gave his impressions of the various speeches, commenting on their worth as he judged them and stating in what way he had been disappointed by the convention as a whole.

Final arrangements for the Kiwanis regatta at Massassaga Park were made.

Truck Forced Into Ditch, New Cars Damaged

A truck load of light English cars was damaged Tuesday morning when the transport went into the ditch on the Trenton - Belleville highway as the driver turned out to avoid striking a parked truck.

An eastbound Smith Transport had stopped for a road block for resurfacing operations on the highway and the following automobile transport could not stop in time. The driver turned his vehicle into the ditch and bumped over a culvert and crashed a telephone pole before bringing his transport to a stop. The transport did not overturn but the cars were damaged by the telephone pole. O.P.P. Purdy investigated.

Belleville Band To Give Concert At Armouries

Thursday evening the Belleville Municipal Band will present the second in its series of summer concerts on the Armouries Lawn. Mr. Ted Robbins, the Bandmaster, has selected a program of varied interest that will appeal to music lover of all tastes and will include the following numbers:

March, "The Middy" (Alford); Waltz, "Nights of Gladness" (Ancliffe); Overture to the opera "Norma" (Bellini); March Fantasie "Yankee Doodle" (Morton Gould); Fantasie on music from the film "Snow White' (arr. by Liedzen); March, "American Patrol' (G. Miller-arr. by J. Gray); Cornet Solo, "The Lord's Prayer" (A H. Malotte); Soloist, Jack Fenn; March, "On the Mall" (E. F. Goldman). God Save The King.

POLICE BLOTTER

With the exception of a real bang-up traffic jam, which saw vehicles tied up for blocks, the Twelfth of July celebration passed almost without incident insofar as the local police department was concerned.

Police Chief Walter Probert reported the large crowds very orderly, the only incident reported being an argument between two women which took place in the ladies' beverage room of a local hotel. Police asked the two principals to move along.

Car Owned in Madoc

A John Street resident reported a car parked on the street for the past two weeks. Checking of the licence revealed it was owned by Ernest C. Brown of Madoc. The vehicle had not been reported stolen.

Four Are Held

Early this morning four city residents, Percy Badgley, Arnold Ridley, Lorne Sanford and Harold Wright, were apprehended in a back room at the former DeVault grocery store on Bridge Street, West. The men were charged with vagrancy and with breaking and entering.

Police stated the four men were using the back room of the former store as sleeping quarters.

Final Results Give G.S. White 1,897 Majority

Final results of the vote in the Federal election of June 27th for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough were announced this week by the returning officer Mr. H. W. Sabine of Marmora.

The official count of the votes cast showed that John Haffey, C.C.F., polled 732 votes; W. "Dunc" Munro, Liberal, 4,681, and George S. White, Progressive-Conservative, who polled 6,573. This gives Mr. White a majority of 1,897.

Family Left Body on Sofa For Two Days

Cleveland, July 13 (AP) — Lura Pomerene, 78, lay dead on a davenport for more than two days while her 65-year-old brother and a sister, 75, went about their duties as usual, Coroner Samuel R. Gerber reported Tuesday.

Gerber was notified of the death after Julius Pomerene, the brother, telephoned an undertaker Monday night.

Lura Pomerene had lived in a dusty, ornate 11-room house with her brother and a sister, Susan.

Pomerene said Tuesday he knew his sister had died Saturday, but he didn't feel like calling an undertaker. "We were unprepared and weren't feeling very well ourselves," he said.

Police Commission Requests Poles Be Removed

In an effort to speed up the work of the removal of hydro poles from the south edge of the pavement along Dundas Street, west of the Devil's Elbow, members of the Belleville Police Commission met with the Public Utilities Commission on Monday afternoon.

For some months it has been recommended that the hydro poles along this part of Dundas Street be set back to reduce the present traffic hazard. City council had recommended the move with the police commission later adding its voice.

Public Utilities Manager O. H. Scott told members of the police commission that the poles would be moved just as soon as utility employees could get at the work. He said the rush of work in other parts of the city had made it impossible to start the work.

Hydro poles along the above stretch of street are so close to the pavement that they create a very definite traffic hazard and a number of accidents have occurred with motor vehicles crashing into the poles.

Orangemen Hold Most Successful Parades in Years

By Canadian Press

The Toronto parade, with upwards of 6,500 marchers, was described by officials of the Loyal Orange Lodge as one of the largest ever held in that city. It took two hours to pass the City Hall cenotaph and was viewed by an estimated 10,000 persons.

In celebration of the 259th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne victory of the protestant William of Orange over the Roman Catholic James II, 5,000 lodge members marched in Hamilton, 1,500 in Vancouver, others in a score of communities across Canada.

Supplying music for the Toronto march were 12 fife and drum bands, 15 pipe bands and three brass bands. The Orange fifes and Derry drums disrupted proceedings in a Toronto courtroom and won remands for four persons.

Almost everywhere, bright but moderately cool weather favored the parades, picnics, sports programs and speeches on the traditions of Protestantism.

Big in Ottawa Valley

Orangemen in their blue, orange and white regalia gathered at three Ottawa Valley centres and at Shawville, Que., as well as at Carleton Place, Richmond and Metcalfe in the same general area.

Montreal Orangemen travelled 50 miles to celebrate at Vankleek Hill, Ont. There was a big gathering at Sussex, N.B., Newfoundland declared the day a public holiday.

Other Ontario centres in which walks were held included Fenelon Falls, where Ontario Premier Leslie Frost addressed 2,000 persons, Elmvale, Cannington, Flesherton, Mount Forest, Brussels, Parry Sound, Nobleton and Listowel.

For the second time in years, an Orange stork brought a July 12 baby to Mr. and Mrs. High O'Neil of Toronto. Their son, Barry, arrived two years ago and their daughter, Suzanne, Tuesday. Mrs. O'Neil's maiden name was O'Reilly.

REFUSED USE OF PARK

Toronto, July 13 — (CP) — Board of Control refused an application by the Jehovah's Witnesses for use of a city park today following discussion of whether the sect was a religious organization.

The Witnesses applied for use of midtown Willow Vale Park for a series of outdoor Bible lectures. Controllers Balfour and Saunders commented that the sect was "not a religious organization," but was "merely carrying on propaganda."

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, July 13 — (CP) — Prices bounced up and down in the busiest session since last Friday here today. Base metals opened quietly and then climbed steadily while golds tended softer. Selected industrials climbed fractions.

Consolidated Smelters featured a brisk base metal list, gaining 2½ at 95. Normetal, New Calumet, Sherritt and Quemont were also strong. Reports of increasing demand for non-ferrous metals and slightly higher prices in copper and lead have bolstered the base metal stock market.

Waite Amulet held the spotlight in mid-session when a reduced dividend was announced. At one time up 20 cents at $9.25, Waite slid to $8.90 and then rebounded to $9.10.

Refining oils, liquors and utilities brightened in the industrial list. McIntyre sold at a new high in senior golds while other senior and junior producers were under pressure of realizing sales following Tuesday's advance.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, July 13 — (CP) — Cattle prices were generally unchanged in trading at the Toronto stock yards this morning. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle, 440; calves, 260; hogs, 300; sheep and lambs, 100. Held over from Tuesday's trading were 400 cattle.

Choice weighty steers were $22.50 and a few good heifers brought $20-$21. Butcher cows sold for $13.50-$16. Good bulls were $18-$18.50 with plain selling downward to $15. Fed yearlings were $20-$23.

Choice vealers were steady at $22-$23 with plain to medium from $15-$20. Grassers for slaughter were $13.50-$15.

Grade A hogs were $33 and B1, $32.60. Sows were steady at $22 dressed.

Lambs were steady at $28.50 for good ewes and wethers and $27.50 for bucks. Good light sheep were steady at $11-$13 with culls downward to $5.

PRODUCE MARKET

Butter prints unquoted.

The egg market is firm at unchanged prices. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: Grade A large, 65; A medium, 62; A pullet 50-51; Grade B 44; Grade C 37. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large 68; A medium 66; A pullet 55; Grade B 48; Grade C 42.

District Orangemen Entertained By Wellman's Lodge at Stirling

Stirling (Special)—All roads led to Stirling agricultural grounds on Tuesday when over 2,500 people gathered to celebrate the "Glorious Twelfth."

Worshipful Master Harry McAdam and members of Wellman's L.O.L. No. 172 Rawdon, were on hand to welcome their guests. Streamers were placed along the streets and visiting friends had no difficulty in finding their way to the fairgrounds.

The day was ideal with a light breeze and all were thankful the recent heat wave had been broken.

800 Served Luncheon

At noon the Wellman's United Church ladies served a delicious full course hot dinner to over 800 guests. During the afternoon they sold pie and sandwiches and at five o'clock they served supper to a large number. The ladies were well satisfied with their returns and throughout the grounds many compliments were heard regarding the abundant and appetizing meals which were served in the Exhibit Hall, under the direction of Miss Delia Johnstone and W. A. members.

Several families of Wellman's Lodges spent the day in the confectionery booth where they sold cold drinks, ice cream and confectionery.

25 Lodges Parade

Approximately twenty - five lodges were in attendance and around 2 p. m. the large parade left the fair grounds headed by County Master Jim Diamond of Hazzard's Corners riding a white steed, followed by Stirling Municipal Band headed by Bandmaster Maurice Bell.

A car followed driven by Brother Fred Bateman, Stirling, Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East, containing the guest of honor and his wife, also Past County Master W. J. Johnson of Harold, Ontario.

The various lodges in the procession were:

Joined in Parade

A new lodge, Nickle L.O.B.A. has just been organized and they joined in for part of the march despite the fact that as yet they have no banners.

Several lodges were escorted with fife and drum bands while Flinton was accompanied by the bagpipes. Many Masters on white horses led the lodges which included a former Rawdon boy, Mr. Roy White, of Eldorado, formerly of Mount Pleasant.

Two of the ladies' lodges sported matching parasols.

Short Program Enjoyed

A short program was enjoyed with County Master Jim Diamond as master of ceremonies. He spoke briefly and said 63,000 members of Loyal Orange Lodges, gave their services in the First World War, while the flower of young manhood were again in the forefront from 1937 to 1945.

Pays Tribute to Wellman's

Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East, Brother Fred Bateman of Stirling, referred to the splendid celebration held in Ottawa a year ago. He paid tribute to Wellman's L.O.L. members who had been able to stage such a splendid celebration despite the fact that they have a small membership.

Mr. George White, M.P., Hastings - Peterborough, gave a lengthy address in commemoration of the 259th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

Tells of Visit to Derry

He told of a visit to Derry, Ireland, and the historic importance of the Derry Wall and the freedom gained by the Magna Charte. in 1215. He said "today people take their freedom for granted and do not realise how our ancestors struggled to gain our independence."

He urged all Protestant people to uphold and strengthen the ties that bind Canada to the British Commonwealth.

The Union Jack is a symbol of freedom and justice and through the centuries the flag has stood for dignity, honor and protection.

First Parade in 1818

The first Orange parade was held in Ontario in 1818 and in 1822, the Toronto members joined York Lodge.

In 1829, the Crown of Ireland come to Canada. In 1830 the first Grand Lodge meeting was held at Brockville, with fees of one pound per lodge per year, and a five pound fee for life membership.

In 1867 special outlines were set out for Grand Lodge membership.

Mr. White in closing said, "Canada must remain a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations and this tie should be strengthened."

Grateful For Support

Brother Harry McAdam, Master of Wellman's L.O.L. 172, thanked all the friends of Centre Hastings for their support in putting across this splendid celebration.

In the evening a large number of Rawdonians attended the big party in the Exhibition Hall, when the Trent Valley Ramblers, under the leadership of Mr. Jack McCaughen, dispersed modern and old-time music.

Fine Program Lauded

Everyone was laud in his praise for the splendid day enjoyed by young and old and members of Wellman's L.O.L. 172, received many compliments.

C.O.F. Instals Officers

The installation of the officers of Court 736 Canadian Order of Foresters for the year 1949 took place at the regular meeting.

Brother M. Becksted, district organizer, occupied the chief Ranger's chair and P. Farren, P.C.R. Kingston, was acting High Marshal.

Visiting brothers were present from Kingston and Napanee.

Officers installed for the forthcoming year were the following:

Chief Ranger: Brother Earl Yateman.

Vice Chief Ranger: Brother Ken Cavers.

Chaplain: Brother Roy Boyce.

Financial Secretary: Brother Doug Ptolemy.

Senior Beatle: Brother Jack Ellis.

After a number of years of inactivity this is the first slate of officers to be installed. Much of the credit for reorganization goes of course to district organizers Roulston of Napanee and Becksted of Kingston but the Court is very grateful to all the kind Brothers in Belleville and the surrounding district who cooperated so splendidly in giving information and records of former activities.

During the meeting applications from two new prospective members were accepted. After all the business had been transacted the Court was duly closed by the Chief Ranger and so ended another night of fellowship in the oldest fraternal insurance organization in Canada.

The Foundation feels that parents should keep their fear and anxiety to an absolute minimum. Should the disease strike in the home, it says, a calm, confident attitude is conducive to recovery.

Do Not Ignore Symptoms

Of those stricgen, it reports, at least half recover completely while 25 per cent suffer only slight after-effects. The public is urged not to ignore headaches, nausea, muscle soreness or stiffness but to call for medical attention immediately.

Mr. Brown said the Foundation hopes to have its National Medical Advisory Committee formulate plans next month to combat polio in 1950. Because the Foundation was formed last Feb. 15, he said it is in the process of organization "and will not be in any position to do a great deal towards alleviating any 1949 epidemic."

Walter Reuther Elected Pres. For Third Term

Milwaukee, July 13 (AP)—Walter Reuther Tuesday was elected to his third term as President of the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.).

The union's other three top officers were swept back in at the same time at the U.A.W. convention.

Reuter's re-election, a foregone conclusion, became positive when he received a majority of the 2,400 delegates' 8,780 votes.

Opposing the veteran red-haired chieftain was W. G. Grant, former head of the big Ford Local 600 at Detroit. Grant was the nominee of the left-wing Progressive Unity caucus.

Declined to Run

A third nominee, Claude E. Bland of Hudson Local 154, Detroit, declined to run.

The three other incumbents are Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey and Vice-Presidents John W. Livingston and Richard T. Gosser.

On the Grant ticket were James Lindahl, Packard Local 190, Detroit, opposing Mazey, and John De. Vito, Cleveland, and William H. Johnson, Local 600 seeking the vice-presidencies.

Reuther was elected to his first term as U.A.W. head in March, 1946, unseating left-wing leader R. J. Thomas in the convention at Atlantic City, N.Y.

As this year's convention Reuther's program has suffered only one minor setback. Delegates Monday boisterously defeated a measure to hold future conventions at two-year intervals. But Tuesday Reuther smoothly guided to approval another proposal, a 20-month break between conventions.

Only Wage Policy

Leon Keyserling, vice-chairman of President Truman's council of economic advisers, told the convention the only wage policy which can sustain the country is "one which provides for increased consumer power from year to year."

But, he told reporters later, he did not mean that wages were the only item that should go up.

"I believe profits should rise, too," he said.

Toronto Chief Tells Resident To Lay Charges

Toronto, July 13—(CP)—Chief their cruiser and to shoot him Toronto Police said today that Percy Sniderman, 34, who complained he was beaten by police Tuesday night, is being given the names of officers he complained about and is being referred to a Justice of Peace to lay official charges.

Sniderman, a Toronto vegetable salesman, said he was beaten for an hour by three officers Tuesday night. He said the men threatened to run him down with the men spotted a long stretch if he tried to escape.

Police said Sniderman was sentenced to 30 days last year for assaulting police and has a record of other convictions.

UNFORTUNATE AIR ACCIDENTS

The unfortunate series of air accidents occurring this week in which a comparatively large number of persons lost their lives or suffered injury again focuses attention on this mode of travel. Statistics are quoted to prove the safety of air travel, then along comes a group of disasters which do much to shake, temporarily, public confidence.

With the improvement in plane and motors has come an increase in-size so that now a large airliner carries almost as many passengers as a railroad coach. When something does go wrong, then the toll can be very heavy. However, considering the thousands of flights which are made daily and in weather which is frequently unfavorable, it is surprising to many people that there are not more accidents. In fact when one thinks about the matter, it should be pointed out that the Trans-Canada Airways' record is conspicuous by the few major acidents it has. The company has every right to be proud of its showing although its aircraft fly in weather that must be more often unfavorable than in the United States.

Research has done much and will do more to make air travel more safe and equipment is gradually being devised that will do away with much of the human element and its tendencies to make mistakes at the wrong moment. Despite the publicity that air accidents receive in the press and on the radio there will be little decrease in patronage. The public's memory is notoriously short and the mishaps of today are forgotten in the desire tomorrow for speedy transportation in a luxurious manner. This the airplane is able to provide but, still, it is an adventure for most of us and probably will be for a long time.

A LIMIT TO PATIENCE

The emergency measures adopted by the British Government to deal with the crippling strike in the London docks are an indication that even a socialist government can have enough of communist-inspired walkouts. There has been considerable trouble for some time of unrest among London dock workers with work stoppages being brought about on the slightest provocation.

During these incidents, valuable cargoes of foodstuffs have been delayed getting to the people needing them plus the holding up of vessels for long periods when they might, otherwise, have been busy on other assignments. The emergency measures provide for the arrest without warrant or to prosecute anyone considered to be acting against the national interest. Troops can also be drafted to unload ships to speed the handling of cargoes held up in the port of London by the dispute.

In Australia a country-wide strike of coal miners has entered its third week during which time industry and business have been thrown out of gear by the lack of coal. Two leaders of the Australian Miners Federation have been sentenced to one-year terms for contempt of court and their union fined a substantial sum as well. The officials were held in contempt by an arbitration court on charges of refusing to pay to the court sums of money withdrawn from the bank allegedly to prolong the strike.

Labor leaders who go to extremes to achieve their aims and come into conflict with the government on the question of national interest can be expected to come out second best. No man can be greater than the nation to which he belongs. When he and others defy their fellow countrymen they arouse public sentiment to such a pitch that the government is bound to take drastic measures to deal with the problem. Emergency laws, and court rulings in matters of imprudence, have a way of countering demands of unwise leaders.

Few will question the right of labor to get its just dues but when matters reach the stage that these demands, and the methods used to bring them about, menace the life of the community or the nation itself then we feel an aroused government has every right to assert itself. This is what we are seeing in Britain and Australia and one does not have to be a seer to forecast the outcome of the struggle. Perhaps there is a lesson in it for Canada and Canadians.

TRACTOR ACCIDENTS RANK HIGH ON FARM

Tractors account for 28 per cent of farm machinery accidents in the United States according to official figures; and most often it is while cranking the tractor that farmers get sprained or broken wrists or arms. Next most frequently reported are accidents that happen while attaching implements to tractors, being struck or run over by tractors that tip over or rear, and jumping or falling off tractors

Combines and threshing machines account for about a third as many accidents as tractors, and corn pickers and corn shellers account for six per cent of machine accidents. Home machinery used chiefly by women accounts for only three per cent of all machinery accidents.

Though these figures apply to farms in the United States there is no reason to assume that machinery accidents are less frequent in Canada. More careful handling of farm and home machinery will prevent many aches and pains, or accidents of a more serious nature.

Why should tears so powerful be
Is ever a mystery to me.

I can stand an angry word
And pretend I hadn't heard;

I can laugh away a sneer,

When I saw my mother cry.

And my Nellie's tears to see
Brought the bitterest pain to me.

Now with thinning hair and gray
Still I find it so today.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

July 13th., 1929.

Field Major and Mrs. Squarebriggs, of the Salvation Army, who were stationed here at one time, have been appointed as leaders of the corps at Lisgar Street, Toronto.

In a bowling match here last evening the Belleville bowlers defeated Deseronto by two points. The following composed the rinks: Belleville: G. Waddell, S. E. Vermilyea, Dr. Haffner, Fred Liberty, skip, 15. Deseronto: H. M. Rathbun, R. H. Burnham, James Fairburn, G. M. Campbell, skip, 11; Belleville W. Embury, R. J. Dewar, H. B. Stock, A. R. Symons, skip, 26; Deseronto: A. Rendall, A. G. Bogart, R. Miller, I. Allum, skip, 24.

July 13th., 1919.

Good prices were realized for all produce offered on the market today. Butter was scarce and sold at 58 cents to 60 cents per pound; eggs 48 cents per dozen; chickens $2.00 to $3.00 per pair; new potatoes 50 cents per half peck; green peas 30 cents per quart, raspberries 30 cents per box, cherries 18 cents per box and $2.00 by the basket, huckleberries 30 cents per quart.

By acclamation Mr. Angus Nicholson and Mr. R. Woods have been elected Reeve and Deputy Reeve respectively of Madoc township for the balance of the year. Mr. W. H. Kells was nominated for the reeveship but withdrew.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Bateman of Buffalo, N.Y., spent yesterday in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyde.

40 YEARS AGO

July 13th., 1909.

The sailing races yesterday afternoon, the first of the season, were carried off in good order. There was only one mishap, the dinghy "Agnes" sailed by Hugh Rathbun upset. Walter Evans went to the assistance of the boys in the water in his motor boat. The starting and finishing point was from a buoy in front of the club house. In the dinghy races the results were as follows: "Viola," J. Munro, 1st.; "Folly," W. Carter, 2nd.; "Senga," C. M. Reid, 3rd.; "Agnes," J. Rathbun, 4th.; "Lena," F. Wallbridge, 5th. In the punt races the results were as follows: "After You," J. Callaghan, 1st.; "Alaska," C. Cornell, 2nd.; "So Long," W. Smith, 3rd. In the yacht races there were only two entries, the "Gladys," owned by Gorman and Spangenberg, and the "Stanley," owned by J. Weir; the former boat won easily. The officials were W. Rogers, J. D. Clarke, T. Thompson and W. Carnew.

50 YEARS AGO

July 13th., 1899.

Mr. John Austin of Norwich, Conn., is visiting his parents in the city.

Miss May Eustace is visiting friends in Kingston.

Mr. Charles Wallis has arrived from Buffalo, N.Y., and will take up residence in this city.

Mr. W. C. Munn of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, is spending a few days in town.

Mrs. F. S. Larke of this city is visiting friends in Ottawa.

Mr. J. Ford of Fort Neuf, Quebec, was in the city yesterday the guest of his sister, Mrs. I. J. Frost.

A further leave of absence of six months has been granted Lieut. Herbert Hulme of the 15th Regiment, who is now in Dawson City.

Dr. Perry G. Goldsmith has been gazetted Lieut.-Surgeon of the 15th Regiment.

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WASTING TIME PROFITABLY

After the Apostle Paul had been arrested in Jerusalem at the end of his third missionary journey, he was sent to Caesarea, the capital of Palestine, to await trial. There he remained in prison for two years.

How trying those two years must have been. What a waste of time this long period of enforced inactivity on the part of a useful man appeared to be. Yet during those two years, Luke, Paul's companion, who later wrote the Gospel which bears his name and the Book of Acts, was collecting historical material for his momentous works. Looking back now on that scene, it is revealed to us that these two years were among the most profitable in the life of Paul and his associates and in the history of the Christian Church.

Often we are put on the broad of our backs or caught in a cul-de-sac or crowded off the pathway of life and compelled to remain in the ditch for a while. We think what a waste of time this all is. Very often later years disclose that this was really a time of inestimable profit to us. Sir Isaac Newton was reclining under a tree when an apple fell on his head, and he forthwith made an important scientific discovery. Epoch-making ideas have often come to the great while they were in throes of persecution or while they were languishing in enforced idleness.

Take life as it comes. It teaches us its lessons when and where it will.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

A tree is, literally, a fountain. It is continuously lifting unbelievable quantities of water out of the earth and spraying it from countless minute nozzles into the air. In one of the most fascinating books published in the past ten years. "This Green World," Rutherford Platt devotes a chapter to what he calls the world's greatest waterworks.

"A well-spaced apple orchard," he writes, "will have forty trees to the acre. If they are healthy trees will lift sixteen tons of water a day. That is at the rate of four gallons per tree per hour."

A great elm, he says, will have several million leaves. From that tree, every day, all day and night, a constant stream of invisible water-vapor flows into the air, hundreds of gallons of water restored to the atmosphere.

"Corn, one stalk of it," says Platt, "will lift 440 pounds of

LETTERS

Nothing is so expressive of a person as the letters he writes. They are himself. That is why I am fascinated by the letters of those whose books I have greatly loved or admired. I always want to know how that writer thought when he had no idea of his thoughts ever reaching any other than the one addressed.

I have an entire shelf of books that are but the published letters of great writers and public men. The writers are more revealed in their letters than in any of their books. Take the letters of Charles Lamb, for example. They are so quaintly expressed, full of kindliness and touches of humor. I have never liked the books of D. H. Lawrence, but his published letters are masterpieces of honest revelation.

Many are the volumes that are titled "Life and Letters." But in the letters is to be discovered the life. Cowper, the poet, was considered one of the finest letter writers of his day. Another famous letter writer was Walpole, but his letters to me read dry and studied. They lack the intimate touch. The letters of William James, however, are an intellectual treat. On the other hand, to read the letters of Abraham Lincoln is to read of one whose humanity was always evidenced.

There are those who live in the sympathy and understanding of their friends, and so the letters that are exchanged come from the heart. In writing to Wordsworth, Lamb—in speaking of some of the friends that he had lost—wrote, "So many parts of me have been numbed." It is that way with the sincere letter writer. There is a delight to life when we have friends to whom we can write.

Sir Walter Raleigh, the English writer, in commenting upon letter writers, had this to say: "In a letter to a friend the thought is often unimportant, and the feeling, if it be only a desire to entertain him, everything."

A letter, written hurriedly, just to have written it, because of a duty or obligation, is meaningless. A letter should have a purpose, and be a joy to both write and send. You thus transport a part of yourself upon a journey. We all love such letters when received! And we bless the mail man a little extra.

Proposed Union For Asia Far Short Of Atlantic Pact

By JAMES D. WHITE
(Associated Press News Analyst)
(For Dewitt Mackenzie)

As the cold war grips East Asia, it is only natural that political leaders there should get together on how to stop the spread of Communism.

This is one reason that the "retired" generalissimo of China, Chiang Kai-Shek, and President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines have met and agreed to form an anti-Communist union of countries in the western Pacific.

The proposed union is far short of the Pacific pact Quirino and others called for last winter when the Atlantic pact was announced. It does not mention the military aid necessary to give it teeth.

Korea Willing

President Syngman Rhee of Southern Korea already has said "Korea stands ready to join."

In Washington, the State Department says it views such movements as the proposed Pacific union "with sympathy" but stands on State Secretary Dean Acheson's earlier statement that a Pacific pact at this time would be premature.

A dispatch from The Associated Press from Hong Kong indicates that Chiang may be promoting the Pacific union from his "retirement" as another way of prolonging his refugee government in Canton as the recognized government of Nationalist China.

Shot in the Arm

This dispatch, quoting competent but not otherwise identified observers, says the news already has given Canton a "shot in the arm."

"What the Nationalist would like, of course, would be an outbreak of war between the United States and Russia," says the dispatch. "Since this appears unlikely, the next best thing would be some sort of common anti-Communist front among Asiatic nations which would be a big moral if not a substantial boost to the Kuomintang position."

Inside Philippines

Quirino has other domestic troubles. In the election next fall he faces strong opposition. An internal split among the Liberals is in contrast with the growing strength of the Nationalist as under Jose Laurel, once puppet president under the Japanese.

Only three possible leaders for any Pan-Asiatic non-Communist movement have been mentioned —India's Prime Minister Nehru, Chiang, and Quirino.

If Chiang and Quirino have teamed up to lead the field, one reason is that Chiang sees the Pacific union as a chance to keep his regime in Canton going.

The initiative Quirino has taken as an Asiatic leader may help his position in a tight domestic political situation.

field. If all the water his corn collected underground and raised up and expelled into the air stayed on top of the field where you could see it, the farmer would have a lake of water five feet deep by the end of August."

Many parts of Canada have been visited by drought in recent weeks. But for the most part, the trees stayed green. The minor vegetation, which could not find water to breath, faded and withered. But the trees reached down and breathed up water to exhale into the air. Platt says only 2 per cent of the water a tree inhales is used in the process of its own digestive system. The rest is simply inhaled from the ground, and breathed out in evaporation. Over the forest, countless tons of water are breathed out every hour.

$150,000 Fire In Newfoundland

Corner Brook, Nfld., July 13 (CP)—The scourge of fire struck in Newfoundland again Tuesday, destroying five buildings at neighboring Curling and Timberland at two other places.

Two homes, a theatre, garage and restaurant were gutted in the $150,000 fire at Curling on the outskirts of this west coal mill town. Two volunteer firemen were injured slightly. The fire broke out in the home of Maurice Boland and spread rapidly to the other buildings.

This blaze had no connection with a renewed forest outbreak near Cormac, about seven miles east of here. At the same time, another forest fire gained strength in the northern coast area of Micmac Pond and threatened valuable timberland.

WHO SHOULD TELL WHOM?

A much quoted observation of Sherman's—not the General but the Professor—famous text book, Chemistry of Food and Nutrition is that—"A food supply may appear liberal and varied, and yet unless milk and green leaf vegetables are well represented it may be calcium-poor. Hence the 'ordinary diet' of Americans and Europeans, at least among dwellers in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element.."

I said the other day that whole milk, skim milk or separator milk is the best food source of calcium, and calcium deficiency in the diet of most North Americans is accountable for so many common or chronic ailments that I hesitate to name them here.

This is the health column, not a clinic. The difference between a health column and a quack's advertisement is that the former is shy of diseases and symptoms and the latter is pediculous with them. That's why I hesitate to name here the ailments which are in effect manifestations of calcium deficiency. But I describe them and tell how to prevent or correct them in the booklet The Calcium Shortage—for which send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope.

A symptom, says Webster, is any perceptible change in the body or its function, either subjective or objective, which indicates disease.

Symptoms are taboo at the dinner table, in ordinary conversation, in a health column. In other columns and on the air one might almost say there is nothing else but.

So far as your own health and happiness may be concerned you should never listen to any never read a recital of symptoms. Indeed, you will be healthier and happier if you never mention or describe your symptoms, if you have any, to any one but your physician.

If so when you do consult a physician, for goodness sake don't waste the doctor's time and your money trying to impress the doctor with your knowledge of pathology, hygiene, therapeutics etc. Don't tell the doctor your blood pressure is high or low, your nerves are all shot, your system is too acid, your liver is torpid or that you just need a good tonic.

Tell the doctor only what you feel, and when and where you feel it. That is, tell the doctor only your subjective symptoms. Leave it to the dcotor to observe any objective symptoms you may present on examination. And leave it to the doctor to determine, if possible, and to explain, if desirable, the meaning or significance of the symptoms.

For instance, it is a mistake to complain to the doctor that you have "indigestion." That's a meaningless word. If food doesn't digest it just doesn't digest—its presence gives no discomfort or distress. Instead of using such meaningless words tell the doctor what you feel and tell him or her in your own words. If you call it "indigestion" you don't know what you are talking about. If you say I feel sharp or dull ache or pain or burning or prsesure here at such and such times—you show good sense.

At any rate the patient should tell the doctor, and only the doctor, the symptoms. If the doctor tells the patient or prospective customer the symptoms of this and that disease it is your cut to get a firm grip on your pocketbook, for the charlatan probably knows what you've got.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Postcard Request

Kindly send your pamphlet on bladder trouble. (B. D.)

Answer—Any reader who provides stamped envelope bearing his address may have the pamphlet on Bladder Trouble (prostatic obstruction) on written request. We have filed your postal—pending arrival of a letter containing your written request and the s. a. e.

Pineapple Juice

Fond of pineapple juice unsweetened. I get it in cans. Some people claim the juice eats the lining of the can (tin). (M. L.)

Answer—It is good wholesome food or beverage and no harm if an infinitesimal amount of tin is dissolved in the juice.

4,000 MARCHERS

Acted as Judges

The oldest Orangeman on the grounds was 85-year-old James Bowers of Picton, who has been a member of the Orange Order for the past 63 years.

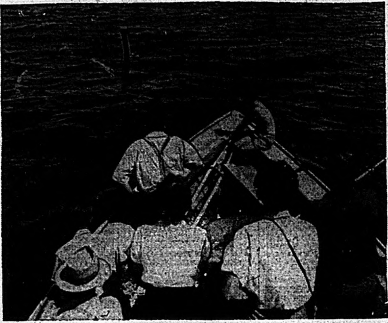
Prince Edward county lodges headed the parade, followed by the prize winning Maple Leaf Lodge from North Hastings. Sentinel Lodge from Petherick's Corners with members marching in white uniforms and headed by their pipe band stood out, while juvenile lodges from Picton, Trenton, and Victory Lodge of Belleville, in their natty uniforms drew spirited applause from the spectators.

Wearing the feather headdress characteristic of their tribal ancestors, members of the Tyendinaga Mohawk Lodge, came in for spirited applause as they appeared in the parade. Although comparatively few in numbers the Mohawk Lodge members made it up in sheer color wearing specially made Indian costumes the appearance of which drew approval along the route of march.

Many Had Own Band

The Trenton lodges were headed by the Lions' Club, Boys Band from that centre, while the Frankford Lodge also had their own pipe band. White dresses were worn by members of the various L. O. B. A. Lodges, the Trenton Lodge members placing an additional stress on the Orange colors by carrying umbrellas of that color.

Parade marshal for the more than a mile long parade was Lorne Weese of Shannonville who riding a dappled horse represented William of Orange. Assistant parade marshal was Jule Bentley, of Belleville. The parade took nearly half an hour to pass a given point and traffic in the downtown section of the city was completely tied up until the parade had passed.



Only top of galley smokestack shows above surface of water where tugboat J. A. Cornett sank 2½ miles off Point Traverse, 30 miles southeast of Picton. Crew of eight were saved by Cecil and Earl Lobb, fishermen. Tug is lying on a shoal on the edge of shipping lane.—Hodgson.

Welcomed by Mayor

Mayor D. L. Storey officially welcomed visiting Orangemen to the city, stating it was indeed an honor and a pleasure to welcome so many members of the Order.

"May your stay with us here today be one of pleasure and we trust you will take away with you many kind thoughts and memories of your visit to Belleville."

Worshipful Master Lorne Goodman, master of the Host Lodge Benjamin No. 274 welcomed the visiting lodge members to the city, as did county master Russell McFarlane.

County Master Clifford McFaul stated it was a great pleasure to see so many Orange sisters and brothers take part in the Orange celebration. The Order, he said, was based on the open Bible, and on liberty and freedom. He would like to see every Protestant a member of the Orange Order.

Ladies Lodges were particularly important because "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." He said there should be an L.O.B.A. lodge in every town.

"We need more men like Joshua" he concluded. "Men who will stand firm for the truth of the Bible."

Speaks of Growth

Rev. F. C. Beazer, formerly of Roslin, spoke of the growth of the Orange Order and pointed to the number of young Orangemen in the parade. "The Order," he said "stood for liberty and freedom" Take away Protestantism and slavery would result, he assured.

Brother Jack Anderson, District Master of North Hastings commented on the parade and congratulated the host lodge on the success of the celebration. Deputy Grand Lecturer for Ontario East, Morgan Brown also spoke briefly.

The program of speech making was conducted from the bandstand adjoining Yoeman Street in the Exhibition Park. Members of the various lodges congregated on the park lawn to listen to the speeches. Joe Shortt acted as Master of Ceremonies.

But while the elders were content to hear principals of the Orange Order expounded by the various speakers, and to listen to the music of the fife and the drum, there was also activity for the kiddies.

Races Run Off

Under the capable chairmanship of Harold Ackerman a schedule of races for the kiddies was run off with winners being presented with suitable prizes. In addition there was a free bag of candies for all the kiddies. The races were held in front of the grand stand.

Following were the winners in the race events—Girls', six and under, Ilieen Buchanan, Mary Street; Boys' six and under, Roland Moore, Everett St; Girls', 15 and under, Jane S. Brant, of Shannonville; Boys' 15 and under John Lemon, Thurlow; Girls' 10 and under ,Ethel Salten, Norwich; Boys' 10 and under, Rodney Sharpe, South John St.

Mixed three-legged race, Rose Marie Roper, Moira Street, and Robert Alexander, Church St., Boys' three-legged race, Hugh Hurst, Pinnacle Street, and Bobby Hughes, South John Street; Girls' three-legged race, Phyllis Kinnear and Minne McIntyre, Consecon.

Softball Game

Two teams from the city commercial softball league, Howe and Hagerman and Provincial Engineers hooked up in a softball tilt which was won by the Provincial Engineer 8-3.

Lineups were as follows—Provincial Engineers—St. Denis, 2b; Balyx, ss; Donovan, cf; Burley 3b; McGuire c; Hanna 1b; Carr rf; Knott lf; and Bawden; Howe and Hagerman—Doyle, Amo, Rogers, Fitzgibbon, Callaghan, Donavon, Cook, Gray and Adams.

Well into the late afternoon members of the various lodges were seen to congregate around the fife and drum bands as traditional Orange numbers were played for the entertainment of listeners. Also it was a grand opportunity for lodge members to renew acquaintances of previous years.

Members of the local St. John Ambulance Brigade were on hand to deal with casualties. But in this the "walk" was uneventful as not even the parade produced a casualty.

RESCUED AFTER BRIDE DROWNS

Erie, Pa., July 12 (AP)—Fishermen Saturday rescued Harry K. Getchell, 35, who clung to the edge of his capsized boat for six hours after his bride of a week and two others had been drowned in the storm-chopped waters of Lake Erie. Ten other persons were picked up by fishermen and the United States Coast Guard as a result of a sudden squall that upset several small boats Friday night.

LESS WHEAT FORECAST

Washington, July 12 — (AP)—The United States government reported Monday a sharp reduction in wheat crop prospects due to unfavorable June weather and plant disease conditions. But it forecast the second largest corn crop on record, exceeded only by last year's all-time high of nearly 3,700,000,000 bushels.

A half hour before the crash, Pilot White had radioed Lockheed airport at Burbank that he wanted police to stand by to arrest one of two men passengers who had been fighting aboard. He said one man was badly beaten. The plane was inbound from New York.

A passenger, Mrs. Mary Bettis of Long Beach, Calif, said she saw the fight. She said she saw a man strike one blow at the man next to him.

Fighting Day Before

Stewardess Vicky Zelsdorf said in a Long Beach hospital that the two men also had been fighting the day before.

When Mrs. Zelsdorf saw they were going to crash she threw a blanket across her knees and abdomen. Doctors said this was her maternal instinct to save her unborn child, which they hoped to save. The stewardess was severely injured.

C.A.B. Chief Peyton said "there was no apparent malfunctions of the engines or structural failure of the aircraft."

He has recommended a formal hearing and said investigation at the scene will continue several days.

The crash occurred in sagebrush-covered Box canyon at an altitude of about 1,800 feet. Bodies, many of them charred, were strewn for 400 feet across a ridge and over boulders.

Five persons, including a girl with a foot torn off, stumbled 300 yards down the slope to fire road. Two others made their way nearly two miles toward a highway before rescuers picked them up.

Early today only 16 of the 35 bodies had been identified. Nineteen remained unidentified.

ANTI-CLIMACTIC

Then United States Steel hurled its bombshell. The corporation said it would have nothing to do with the Fact-finding Board. It based its objections on the fact that the President had by-passed the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

Republic and Bethlehem then chimed in with rejections. They echoed United States Steel's reasons.

Answers Promised

Youngstown Sheet and Tube promised its answer today. Wheeling Steel did not comment.

It had been believed the Steel Union would go along with the President's plan. "Big Steel's" rejection, however, made the Union position doubtful.

Truman was reported ready to name a Fact-finding Board—despite company rejections—if the Union agrees to it. This, however, seemed likely only to add confusion to incertainty.

The last country wide strike was in 1946. A five-week strike then resulted in an 18½ cent hourly wage boost.
strike was in 1946. A five-week strike then resulted in an 18½ cent hourly wage boost.

Contract negotiations with United States Steel broke down last week when United States Steel and the other companies refused Union demands for a general wage increase and for wholly company-financed pension and insurance programs.

A report by Robert R. Nathan, former Government Economist, released by the Union Tuesday, said the industry could afford a 30-cent hourly wage boost—and still reduce prices.

EXPERTS

In the last three months they ran up a deficit of £157,000,000 ($628,000,000) with the dollar area, notably the United States. Their gold and dollar reserves slumped to £406,000,000 ($1,624,000,000).

Britain, Australia, India and the colonies have clamped a three-month ban on all but urgent dollar purchases.

The opinion is widely held here that the Commonwealth by itself can do little to solve the dollar problem.

Observers take the view that the dollar problem is rooted in the fact that North American and European economies are not complementary. At least part of the difficulty is also held to be political.

Unofficially, the United States is said to blame socialism for the present situation, saying it makes Britain's prices uncompetitive. Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the Exchequer, has been just as insistent that Britain will stand firmly by a policy of full employment and fair shares for all.

Canadian Finance Minister Abbott describes the Commonwealth talks as another stage in the western world's quest for a reasonable trading framework. He said the role of Canada at the conference will largely be one of "wait and see" what develops.

Abbott told a press conference Monday: "the dollar problem is primarily one for other countries. We have plenty of dollars. But of course we will be interested in anything that effects the Commonwealth or our own interests."

Raspberry Jam is Wonderful made the Easy "Sure-Results" Way... with CERTO

1. You'll be amazed how QUICK it is . . . how EASY. First you crush 2 quarts fully ripe berries (Yes! RIPE fruit — not under-ripe as in old-fashioned recipes). Measure 4 cups prepared fruit and 6½ cups sugar into large saucepan or kettle. Mix well, bring to full rolling boil over high heat. Stir constantly before and while boiling.

2. Boil hard one minute only. (The boil is so short it cannot dull the natural colour or spoil the lovely fresh-fruit taste. They stay right in your jam.) Remove from heat and stir in half-bottle of Certo. Stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Then ladle into glasses and paraffin quickly.

3. You get 10 glasses instead of 6. Because you don't have to "boil down" your jam to make it set, practically no juice can waste away in steam. So you get about 10 glasses instead of the 6 you'd expect from long-boil recipes (Certo helps ALL fruits to jell perfectly with an average yield of 50% more jam or jelly).

4. No guesswork — sure results. With Certo Fruit Pectin you get 78 kitchen-tested recipes — a different one for each fruit. While the season lasts why not make several kinds of jam and jelly for those long winter months? But be sure to follow the Certo recipes exactly . . . don't change a thing . . . and your jams and jellies will always turn out right.

Certo is nothing but fruit pectin — the natural substance in fruit which makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell"—extracted and concentrated for easier, quicker, better jam and jelly making. The name "Certo" is a trade-mark.

Look for book of 78 tested Recipes under the Label

A POUND OF JAM OR JELLY MADE WITH CERTO CONTAINS NO MORE SUGAR THAN A POUND MADE THE OLD, LONG-BOIL WAY.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S., of Shannonville United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Orval Stratton on Thursday last with 16 members and visitors present. Mrs. Sam Elliott, who acted for the absent president, Mrs. Frank Doxtator, welcomed the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Scott. All were pleased to see some lady visitors present.

The minutes of the last meeting were given by the secretary, and adopted as read. Mrs. Hudson Cook read a letter of thanks from Mrs. Charles Boultstridge for flowers, and cards when she was ill. A letter from Little Britain was read commending Mrs. Scott, the new minister's wife, to the W.M.S., as a Life members and a faithful worker.

A letter of thanks was also read from Mrs. Fred Barlow for the card of sympathy at the time of her sister's death. Mrs. Everett Stratton also expressed her thanks for the card received at the time of her cousin's death.

After the dedication of the offering and prayer by the Rev. L. Scott, Miss Winnifred Eckardt, group leader, took charge of the program. This was taken from the Missionary Monthly, and the theme, "The Great Need for More Missionaries". Mrs. Claude Clarke read the Bible lesson.

Questions asked by the group leader were answered by Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Curl and were interesting as well as instructive. Mrs. Everett Stratton gave a reading entitled "Why is Education so Necessary Today?" Mrs. Arthur Houston read "Light in Dark Places".

Following the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, and her assistants, and a social time enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Slavin, on August 4th.

Queen Mary Leading Collector Of Antiques in Great Britain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 13 — (CP)—In her 83rd year Queen Mary still is one of Britain's leading collectors of antiques and has been called the "patron saint" of the trade.

Some of her most notable treasures, many found by persistent hunting through small and obscure antique stores, were among £4,000,000 ($16,000,000) worth of exhibits at the ninth Antique Dealers' Fair.

"Vast as is the knowledge assembled here, Queen Mary knows as much about antiques as all of you put together."

Connoisseurs from North America and parts of the European contingent applauded the tribute and later showered praise on the Queen Mother's prize exhibit—a miniature in marble of the life-size statue of Voltaire which J. A. Houdson executed for the Comedie Francaise in 1781.

Queen Mary also loaned a silver jewel casket, the lid set with Medallion heads of Charles I and Queen Henrietta Maria; and two gold snuff boxes originally owned by the Duke of Cambridge.

Other members of the Royal Family loaned treasures. The exhibit is an 18th - century French clock purchased by George IV, when Prince of Wales. The Queen loaned a Sheraton mahogany work table of spherical form, supported by three carved ebonized legs; Princess Elizabeth, a pair of silver cups and covers made by Nicholas Clausen in 1719.

Real antiques have to works of art or craftsmanship made before 1830 and all exhibits at the fair were first examined by a jury of experts to determine their validity.

Visitors viewed with reverence a pedestal mahogany desk at which Queen Victoria wrote her discursive letters, and an ancient timepiece made by Tom Tompion, the "father" of English clockmakers.

One of many novelties was a 5,000-year-old Chinese ornament shaped like a camel, found in the tomb of a Chinese emperor. The inscription shows that the camel was intended to take him on his journey into the next world.

WEDDINGS

DIER—COUGHLAN

Bridge Street United Church was the setting Saturday afternoon, July 9th., for the wedding of Elva Isobel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coughlan, and Frederick James Dier, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dier, of Corbyville, Ont. The Rev. F. R. Harback officiated before a background of white gladioli.

Mrs. Morley Duff, organist of Tabernacle Church, provided the wedding music and Mr. Edwin Pourie, of Toronto, soloist, sang before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer", and during the signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded taffeta, fashioned with a molded bodice, and low cameo neckline. Her full length veil of tulle illusion was held by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. William Brown, her only attendant, was gowned in yellow taffeta, and carried yellow roses.

Mr. Stanley Dier, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Wallace Caughey, and Mr. Douglas Coughlan, brother of the bride.

At Golden Acres, where the reception was held, the mother of the bride received in a gown of French blue crepe and lace with a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother, who assisted her, wore a gown of tawny rose crepe and lace with corsage of white roses and pink gypsophelia.

After a wedding trip to Muskoka, by motor, Mr. and Mrs. Dier will reside in Toronto, where the bridegroom is on the teaching staff of Secord School.

Guests were present from Windsor, Toronto, Brockville, Montreal, Ottawa, and Renfrew, including the bridegroom's grandfather from New Westminster, British Columbia.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Elva Coughlan was entertained to miscellaneous showers at the homes of Mrs. Harry Langridge and Mrs. William Brown; a tea and presentation by Mrs. John Goodfellow, also a dinner and presentation by her business associates of the Income Tax Office.

FISH FALL ON FIELD

Wellington, N.Z., July 13 (Reuters)—It was raining fish today at Hastings—10 miles from the sea.

During a brief rain storm, thousands of fish averaging four inches in length fell on a 10-acre field. It was believed they had been caught up in a waterspout, carried aloft and then fell in the shower.

However, no waterspouts had been reported anywhere in the vicinity, authorities reported.

Popular Canning Bulletin Ready

A bulletin which will prove timely to housewives who missed the last printing, is "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables", prepared by the Consumer Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. This is a reprint of the bulletin of the same title first published some two years ago which has proved so popular.

It might well be described as an A.B.C. of canning, dealing as it does step by step with the subject, from the selection of the fresh fruits or vegetables, through to the finished product. All methods of processing are included and a processing timetable adds to the value of the publication.

And so many people often leaf through a book from the back to the front, it might pay to do so with this, for the last three pages contain a "quiz" which could well be read first—even before starting to can. For here will generally be found the answer to many puzzling reasons as to why last year's jelly was not quite clear, why the berries floated, why the peas were cloudy, and a host of others.

The bulletin may be obtained by writing the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Ask for Publication No. 789.

Urges Recognition Of Spinster's Role

London — (CP) — Married women were told of their "debt to spinsters" by Delegate Margaret Moody, speaking at the National Federation of Women's Institutes' Conference.

"When a crisis arises in the home, and domestic help is not available, what is the solution? Send for Aunt Meg.

"When parents grow old and need looking after who is the natural one to look after them? The unmarried daughter."

Miss Moody supported a resolution asking the government to grant spinsters the same housekeeper's allowance free of income tax as widows and widowers receive.

All of us are not spinsters because we have not been asked," she said. "When our sweethearts went to the 1914-18 war our Victoria parents bade us wait until the war was over.

"Well, we waited."

Temple of Beauty

The trunks of oak and beech ascend
Like massive pillars to the sky.
Scarce glimpsed amid the lacy blend
Of swaying, rustling canopy.
Across the forest floor, the flow
Of changing patterns ceaseless falls;
Sunlight and shadow come and go
Silent but for the bird-land calls.
Pine and birch so stalwart, strong,
Giant columns to the blue
Cathedral valley full of song
Giving peace and life anew.
Dappled carpet of the forest,
Mottled trunks and pillared
stone,
Organ-tone of wind's caress,
Holiest Temple ever known!

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

They're Happily Married, Yet Thinking of Suicide

A woman who writes me that she and her husband have been happily married for almost 20 years, and are still in love with each other as much as ever, follows this up with the statement that they have been thinking of suicide.

The reason? They are so heavily in debt that they are beside themselves with despair.

"We have had nothing but hard luck and illness for years," she says, "and have never had a helping hand from anyone. Our lives are so worried all the time over our bills that our nerves are on edge. Since 1936 my husband has had stomach trouble which keeps him out of work many weeks at a time, although he has held the same job for over 22 years. Having had nothing to carry us over such an emergency, we keep plugging deeper into debt until now our bills amount to about $2,000. Both my husband and I are working and make about $60 a week between us. We pay all we can out of that on our bills. but it isn't enough to go around, with our home to keep up and our one child to provide for. Our child is almost through school.

"We are good, honest people and want to pay off our obligations, but we are so far behind we don't know what to do. We tangled up with loan companies that just eat up our money, and I am afraid my husband may lose his job because of creditors contacting his employer. We never have any money to go anywhere for recreation, and our clothes are getting shabby, but if we were to buy new ones it would have to be on the instalment plan and we can't do that.

"Maybe you can offer us a solution to our problems."

There is nothing in the world, it seems, that makes away with money quite so fast as illness. The high cost of being sick has been the financial ruin of many an honest hard-working family. This woman and her husband are by no means alone in their trouble.

Desperate as their plight seems to them, however, it will surely be possible for them to work out their problems.

What they most need is some good sound financial advice from a reputable source. If they had understood how to get this in the first place, they could certainly have been kept out of the hands of loan sharks.

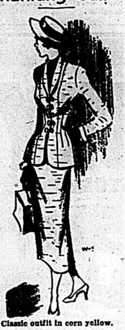
What I think this couple should do is to go together to a social welfare organization and ask for help in planning the allotment of their money so that little by little they can pay off these bills. Some definite arrangement can certainly be made for handling their obligations, and it is the business of a social welfare organization to help people with this type of problem just as much as any other kind.

I suggest that these two sit down and make a careful list of what they owe and who they owe it to. Then let them set down on another sheet of paper the items on which they must spend money—for rent, food, the needs of their child and, in general, everything else that has to be spent for day-to-day living. They should also set down the amount of their present income.

When they have done this, they should make an appointment to see someone on the staff of their nearest welfare organization, and then take their figures with them when they go. The welfare organization I have in mind for them to get in touch with is one which has member agencies in cities and towns throughout the country. I believe the nearest such agency to these people's home would be the Family Society of Greater Boston, 10 Derne Street, Boston, 14, Mass. They can either write this organization or call them on the telephone for an appointment.

It is, of course, very difficult indeed for anyone in such a situation to feel there is any hope at all. But if this wife and her husband will take the advice I have just given, I feel quite sure they will get help that will show them how to get out of their apparently hopeless trap.

Suave Silk Shantung Suit



Classic outfit in corn yellow.

By VERA WINSTON

PURE SILK shantung in corn yellow is used for an aristocratic little suit for summer, good in town, and especially fine for the traveller. Cut on softly classic lines, it has a rolled collar above the interesting linked button fastening. Deft seaming shapes the jacket. The skirt is straight with a kick pleat in front. It is shown with navy blue accessories, but black, brown, gray or green would go equally well.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

LET'S FACE IT! Your facial expression . . . or lack of it . . . when you say "How do you do" in acknowledging an introduction will either incline people to like you and want to know you better, or will make them lose interest in you or in knowing you. Watch this . . . especially on your vacation, when you are meeting new people and want to make a good impression, want to make a good first impression. For, alas, so often when you muff the opportunity to make a good first impression, you never get the opportunity to make a second impression.

Gracious Plan: Groom's Parents Give Reception for Son's Wife

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am the prospective bridegroom . . . my fiancee is from out-of-town, we are to be married next month, and the wedding and reception are to be held in her home. After we return from our wedding trip, my relatives and friends may meet my bride. Would this be proper? If so, is this occasion called a "reception," "Open House" or "Welcome Home?" We would like to enclose the invitations to this occasion with the invitations to the wedding and reception, as this would help in the expenses. Please tell us the correct wording of the card to be enclosed.

V. C.

It is a very gracious plan, and entirely and delightfully correct, for the bridegroom's parents to give a reception in honor of the bride. so that their relatives and friends may meet their son's wife. And while this occasion may be referred to as a "reception," the invitation to this kind of party usually reads simply "To meet—"

But most definitely these invitations should not be enclosed with the wedding invitations. The wedding invitations are issued by your bride's mother and father: these invitations are issued by your mother and father, and it would be in very bad taste and presuming for them to use the same envelope for their invitations. Also, because of the unnecessary timing, your parents' invitations should be sent out later than the wedding invitations.

To Meet
Mr. and Mrs. Victor Clark
Sunday, September 19th
4-7 o'clock
R.s.v.p.

Or, very informally:

To Greet
Elizabeth and Victor Clark

Maid of Honor and Bridesmaids Buy Their Own Wedding Costumes

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Who buys the gowns for the maid of honor and the bridesmaids? Is it the bride's parents, or the individuals themselves?

M. R.

Each bridal attendant buys her own costume, although every detail of her costume is planned by the bride-to-be. The bride's parents provide the flowers worn by or carried by the bride's attendants.

Fashion Flashes

FLOWER GARDEN prints are popular the country over. A confined pattern of rose-poppies and carnations with green fern on a white crepe ground adds up to a pretty picture in a frock with deep oval neckline, both fore and aft. The sleeves are short, the skirt moderately full.

IT'S BEEN A LONG RUN for straws, and now plenty of lightweight summer felts are starting to appear. With a tailored suit of gray silk shantung, one girl wears a little slanted roller of gray felt, with navy velvet crown band and stick-up of tiny red flowers.

REMEMBER the beautiful dress of flower-printed lawn? Well, it's back and very much in style. Liberty lawn, in a delicate allover little flower print in yellow tones, makes up into an easy dress that buttons from the high neckline, with its little rounded collar, to the hem of the easy skirt.

A GRAND COMPANION for travelling is an afternoon frock of navy rayon jersey cut on easy lines and held at the waist with a tailored belt of calfskin. Sleeves are of bracelet length, and the deep cowled neckline, which is wearable as a hood, rounds to a deep oval in front.

WELL DESIGNED for comfort while en route is a series of soft felts with scarf trims, good for plane, train or car. A small casual hat with soft medium brim and squarish crown is in rust colored felt with crown sash and scarf of gold colored silk surah. Another, in white, has a surah scarf in a tiny woven red, white and blue diamond check.

A NATURAL for town wear for the more mature figure is the side-closing coat-dress in soft silk. Navy, deep brown or gray silk shantung is used for a good design that has a surplice neckline draped into the snug side-closing of the wide midriff section. The skirt wraps completely from one side seam to the other.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Women who are intent upon self-improvement generally, as well as good-looks and charm, would do well to take note of the speaking voice. An unpleasant one is a handicap, puts one out of the running. Of what value the smart figure, the lovely complexion, the chic hair-do if the voice is rasping, sets teeth on edge, makes listeners want to pick up their heels and run?

A poor voice can be made attractive; wrong speaking habits can be corrected. Nearly all universities have classes in voice culture. Some day, perhaps, this subject will be taken up in grade schools and little girls and boys will get the right start along those lines. They will be told that there is a close relationship between perfect posture and voice control. The full-chested woman is likely to have a better speaking voice than the one whose shoulders slump, whose breathing is shallow.

Few voices are naturally unpleasant; the trouble is in the way they are used. American women have the reputation, the world over, for shouting and loud talk. That sort of thing is not pretty. Ladies do not yell. The voice that is soft and low bespeaks culture; also it is an expression of good manners.

American women have a reputation for shouting and loud talk.

High-pitched voices bring misery to the ears of listeners. They get on one's nerves. There are others that make you think of sqeaky door hinges. There are women whose voices have a flat, unmusical quality. They harp on one tone, drone on and on. How much more attractive these women would be if they were to form the habit of giving all vowels an open sound, pronounce each word with precision, use a wide range of tones to give a beautiful, expressive quality to the voice.

One way to cultivate a better voice is to do breathing exercises for ten minutes each day. This practice will also improve the lines of the figure, making one chestier, will bring coloring to the complexion. So air-condition your breathing machine.

Stand tall, chest high, spinal column stretched. Inhale through your nostrils while you count five. Say one vowel. Inhale again, and speak the next vowel; say it slowly.

Be mindful of pitch. Do not pitch the voice high. Don't use too much volume. The nervous woman is likely to make both of these mistakes.

Enunciate clearly, so the listener will not have to ask you to repeat your words.

How do you say "this afternoon?" Do you make it sound like "tzafternun?" If so, you are a sloppy speaker, my friend, in need of vocal reform.

Saskatchewan, Alberta Facing Shorter Crops

Ottawa, July 13. (CP)—Saskatchewan and Alberta, plagued by a long dry spell, face below-average crops this Summer. Manitoba, hit less severely by drought can expect good crops, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said Tuesday in its weekly crop report.

Many parts of Saskatchewan and Alberta will have grain yields of less than ten bushels to the acre, the Bureau said.

Rainfall in all three provinces has been below normal during the growing season—41 per cent below normal in Alberta, 19 per cent below normal in Saskatchewan and 11 per cent below normal in Manitoba.

Grain crops in Southwest Saskatchewan will be "very light and hay is a complete failure," the Bureau said. In the southeast corner of Alberta, crops were beyond help.

The worst Alberta area ran east and north of a 220-mile line from Coutts on the United States border north to Stettler and east to Lacombe, midway between Calgary and Edmonton. Around Hanna, in East-Central Alberta, crops were expected to average only from five to ten bushels an acre. Near Edmonton all crops were in the worst condition in years.

Some 22,000 square miles of Saskatchewan in the extreme southwest was hit. In this area, 60 per cent of the wheat fields would yield less than six bushels an acre, the Bureau said. Grass was in poor shape in ranching areas but adequate feed supplies were on hand.

The crop prospects were good in southwest Saskatchewan, and fair in other sections of the province.

ROSLIN

Farewell Party Held in Honor Of Departing Pastor

Roslin.—A farewell party was held on Friday evening for the Rev. F. C. Beazer and Mrs. Beazer when members of the Roslin Parish and community met at the rectory to bid them farewell, and spend one more evening with them.

Chairs had been arranged in the spacious lawns, and Mr. Cecil Geen acted as chairman for a short musical program. Those assisting with the program were: Mrs. Earl Gray, a solo with Miss Rita Slingerland as accompanist; Miss Joan Vance, solo with guitar accompaniment; Rev. F. C. Beazer, solo, with Mrs. A. Bates as accompanist.

Mr. Ernest Coulter, of Moneymore, was called on and spoke briefly.

Mrs. Newton Wilson read an address on behalf of the Eighth Line Ladies' Guild and Mrs. Wm. Cockins made the presentation of a woollen blanket.

Mr. Everett Geen read an address on behalf of the Roslin Parish and community and Messrs. Roy Vance and Wm. Geen presented them with a substantial purse.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beazer made suitable replies, thanking their many friends for their gifts and many kindnesses shown them during their 17 years spent at Roslin.

Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in a social way.

During the evening members of the Thomasburg W.A., presented Miss Beazer with an electric grill.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fargey of Toronto, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fargey.

At the Sunday evening service in St. Paul's Anglican Church, the Rev. F. C. Beazer preached his farewell sermon taking as his text, "Lord Thou hast been our refuge from one generation to another," found in the 90th Psalm verse.

Services throughout the summer months will be in charge of Mr. Fletcher, a student minister.

AIR MATTRESSES: "We are taking our holidays this year camping in Algonquin Park. Can we rent two air mattresses? What would be the cost?"

We have not been able to discover any place where air mattresses can be rented. To buy them new would cost from $10.95 to $19.50. They are obtainable at Eaton's, Simpson's and War Surplus Stores.

CULTIVATED DEW WORMS: "Where can I get some information on raising cultivated dew worms or night crawlers?"

The Ontario Department of Agriculture have a booklet on dew worms, which we have sent you under separate cover. Instead of wishing for good fishing, it's good worms.

NURSES' TRAINING: "Is there any hospital in Toronto which will accept a girl for nurses' training who has her junior matriculation?"

Most Toronto hospitals require Senior Matriculation standing before accepting any girl for training. However, the following hospitals will accept Junior Matriculation standing: Toronto East General; St. Joseph's, Sunnyside; Women's College Hospital. Nurses' aide training can be taken with High School entrance. Application should be made to Public Health Department, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Secrets of Canadian Arctic Being Wrested From Wrappings By Host of Varied Investigators

By JACK AVESON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, July 13 (CP)— The secrets of the Canadian Arctic are being torn from their snow-encrusted wrappings this summer by a host of investigators whose number is as great as their missions are varied.

Coming under official scrutiny are such diverse matters as the type of life existing on previously - undiscovered islands, the mystery of a beaver - killing disease and the exact whereabouts of the magnetic pole.

Some of the expeditions already are in the northland, others are en route and still others are close to having their tasks complete.

T. C. Manning, Arctic veteran of the Federal Mines and Resources Department's Geographic Bureau, last month headed a party of seven Canadian scientists assigned to explore two large islands in Foxe Basin discovered last July by the R. C. A. F.

Lying west of Baffin Island, the new lands appeared barren and ice-infested when viewed from the air. The Manning Expedition will determine what vegetation and animal life exists and study geographical aspects of the islands.

To Determine Location

Three scientists and seven airmen, headed by Ralph D. Hutchinson of Toronto, member of the Dominion Observatory's magnetic division, are off on another mission. Their assignment is to determine the exact location of the magnetic pole, believed to be on Prince of Wales Island about 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg.

The expedition, sponsored jointly by the Federal Resources Department and the R. C. A. F., is expected to take about eight weeks.

Dr. Malcolm Brown of Kingston is in charge of a seven - man medical expedition from Queen's University studying the health and ailments of people living in northern latitudes. Fourth party to be sponsored by the university in the last three years, the members are interested in all aspects of health. Their headquarters are at Coral Harbor on Southampton Island.

In the Western Canadian Arctic Dr. Douglas Leechman of Ottawa, archeologist with the National Museum, is working on a vastly different project. He is travelling along the Alaska highway searching for traces of early Indian migrations from Siberia. Tools and weapons made from flint already have been found, suggesting a migration extending from Dawson in the Yukon to Calgary.

A trapline biologist for the Ontario Lands and Forests Department, G. A. Elsey of Toronto, is wondering what mysterious disease was reported this spring to be killing off northern Ontario's beaver population. He started a six-week treaty trip in late May, determined to gain information about the strange malady.

Brighteners

Charleston, S. C. — Kathleen Shuler missed $22 Monday while chatting with Mannie Griffin at her home.

Police requested Griffin to drink a solution of soap and water and in a little while he coughed up a $20 bill and two ones.

Savannah, Ga.—After 13 years, Albert Campbell pried behind the mirror of an old dresser he bought at a second-hand sale.

He found 19 $100 bills.

Campbell reported his find to the county police, who in turn reported it to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Both agencies said that as far as they are concerned the money belongs to him.

Rochester, N. Y. — Kids used to hang around the engine house to admire the red firetrucks and the firemen.

They still come in droves—but the attraction now is the firemen's television set.

Three house rules for the children: Everybody goes home at 9 p. m.; no refreshments; pipe down when the telephone or alarm bell rings.

Tokyo— Passengers learned today why for years their baggage wasn't safe on one rail line.

Police arrested 30 conductors and baggagemen on charges of taking over 10,000,000 yen ($27,000) worth of passengers' possessions in five years.

Elizabeth, N. J. — Police reported that burglars apparently were so fascinated with the television set in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Weber that they didn't get around to taking anything of value from the house.

The police found the floor around the machine littered with cigar and cigaret stubs, empty whisky bottles, and looted sardine cans. But although the house was thoroughly ransacked by the burglars, police said nothing seemed to be missing.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

BAYSIDE W.M.S.

White's District — On Wednesday afternoon the Bayside Woman's Missionary Society entertained the Sunbeam Mission Band at White's Church. Due to the inclement weather both the meeting and games were held in the church.

The president, Mrs. C. Rush, conducted the meeting and gave a story for the girls and boys entitled "Aunt Sue and Sally." Sally was a little Negro girl who loved to help Aunt Sue who was selling Bibles. Many on the bus looked down on the Negroes, but Sally, by her chattering, helped sell many Bibles on the bus. The moral of the story, "God loves Negro and white alike."

Refreshments were served by the ladies and the children returned home happy after a worthwhile afternoon.

Master Raymond Masse and Master Paul Masse, Bayside, are holidaying with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. N. Duetta of Prince Edward.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mallory of Toronto are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mallory.

Congratulations are extended to all who were successful in passing their examinations in the public schools of the district, also the entrance and collegiate students.

Mesdames P. Boulton, C. Holmes, B. Bonisteel, E. Curtis, W. Parks, C. Stickle, R. Stickle, C. Jeffery, J. Reid and A. Jones of the Bay of Quinte Women's Institute were among those who took the Institute sight-seeing trip to Ottawa on Tuesday by bus.

The mint, the parliament buildings, Chateau Laurier, and the Dominion Experimental Farm were among the places of interest visited as well as the shopping district.

The heavy rain on Saturday night will do a lot of good in this district. The raspberries are just starting with bushes well-loaded and haying is almost completed, except for the second crop of alfalfa.

NO PARKING FREE

Guelph, Ont. (CP) — Local parking meters have found a new use. Outside a grocery store recently a little cocker spaniel waited patiently for his mistress—his leash wrapped around the meter. He seemed unconcerned that the meter showed overtime parking.

Rickey Lays Blame of National Loop's Defeat on Performance Of Fans' First-string Selections

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, July 13 (AP) — A disgruntled National League band, writhing under still another solar plexus punch delivered by the merciless American League, today placed the blame for its latest All-star shellacking directly on the fans' doorstep.

The National League has been defeated 10 times in 16 encounters with the American Leaguers.

Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, in whose ball yard the latest nightmare for the National League took place —a 11-7 drubbing, said:

"I suppose it's silly to alibi our defeats, especially when so many have been inflicted upon us." he said. "But it seems to me that the nation - wide fans' voting idea is not the best.

"The manager should not be forced to start with the fans' top selections — and play them for three innings. He should be privileged to start anybody he sees fit and use him as long as he desires.

"You might have noticed that after the first three amateurish innings, the game was played in a smoother and more interesting fashion. That was because the managers were left free to run things the way they wanted."

Although Rickey was careful not to mention names, a listener could gather from his conversation that he blamed the National League defeat upon three individuals — all selected by the fans. They were first baseman Johnny Mize of New York Giants, third baseman Eddie Kazak of St. Louis Cardinals and catcher Andy Seminick of Philadelphia Phillies. It was obvious that he thought Gil Hodges, Sid Gordon and Roy Campanella, their respective fourth - inning replacements, should have started in their places.

Mize Main Target

Rickey's main target appeared to be Mize. He kept referring to him as "that fellow," in reviewing the sloppily - played first inning when the National League infield fell apart and permitted the opposition to score four unearned runs. That eventually was the margin of defeat.

In that innings with one away, George Kell was safe when Mize failed to come up with a routine pickup of a low throw by Kazak. That error, technically charged to Kazak, but morally to Mize, opened the door for the American League.

Ted Williams was called out on strikes, but Kell stole second as Seminick waited too long, then threw wide to second. Kazak, who had swung over near second in the shift for Williams, also helped by forgetting to cover the bag.

Following a run - scoring single by Joe DiMaggio and a walk to Eddie Joost, Mize failed to come up with a smash to his right by Eddie Robinson. The blow went for a single and brought in a run. Pee Wee Reese then bobbled a ball hit to short to allow another run to score. Birdie Tebbetts singled past third for another tally, and Case Michaels raced all the way to third when Reese and Kazak got mixed up on who should cover the bag.

Got Two Back

The Nationals got back two runs in their half of the inning when Stan Musial followed Jackie Robinson's double with a home run. That made it 4-3 in the second on a walk off southpaw Mel Parnell of Boston's Red Sox, a single by Kazak, a hit batter and pitcher Don Newcombe's long fly which brought in a run.

Mize and Kazak figured prominently in the Nationals' third-inning attack which produced two runs and put them in front for the first and only time in the game. Jackie Robinson's stroll, Musial's single — his second of three safeties — and Ralph Kiner's double - 'play grounder. furnished the tying run. Mize then singled, moved to second on a walk to Willard Marshall, and Hodges, his pinch runner, pranced across the plate with the lead run when Kazak slashed his second single to left.

The Americans, however, regained the lead in the fourth and the Nationals never caught up, although Kiner later blasted a two-run homer off Philadelphia's Lou Brissie.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the winners agrees with the majority of the 32,577 fans who paid $79,255.02 — all of which goes to the players pension fund — that it was one of the shabbiest played games since the All-star competition began in 1933.

What is wrong with baseball in Belleville's Exhibition Park?

That is a question that is beginning to cause the fans to wonder if the teams in the Belleville District Baseball League are of the mediocre quality they appear to be when playing under the lights here.

We have heard a number of complaints from players of various teams to the effect that there is something definiteely wrong with the lighting system.

The Zulu Jungle Giants, colored baseball team which performed against the Batawa Shoemen a short time ago, were emphatic in their statements that the lighting system here is not what it should be.

The lights, at least some of them, are out of focus, the Zulu Giants manager said in an after-game statement.

Baseball at the Exhibition Grounds especially of late has not been the baseball it should be. Teams playing under the lights perform in a manner that would cause a corner-lot squad of moppets to turn up crinkled noses in disgust.

Yet the same teams go out of town for "away" dates and turn in games that result in low close scores. For instance, Tuesday night Kiwanis Juniors and Northern Electric gave a display of baseball that was anything but good and at times did not represent a reasonable facsimile of the summer pastime. Seventeen errors were chalked up all told.

Yet in Napanee, Trenton Flyers held the home team to a 3-2 score and Picton edged the Point Anne squad on the latter's diamond 2-0.

And by the same token the Batawa Shoemen have yet to turn in a performance here against other Central Ontario Baseball League teams that is worthy of a squad of senior calibre.

Yet the same team, player for player have played in Oshawa and Peterborough, giving performances that at times have meant victory and at others, a loss by one and two-run margins.

But here is another angle to this zany probleem. The Petes and Oshawa can play here and give outstanding performances.

Just what is the trouble? Are the lights at fault? Are the teams selecting the stand here to get goofy games out of their systems? Or what is it?

The fact remains that the type of baseball being dished up to fandom here is anything but conducive to the success of the game and the respective league in the future.

Team managers have been complaining about lack of attendance. Sports fandom, like housewives will not pay for something that is rapidly approaching the point where it is not value received.

While the fans do not expect baseball of major league calibre, they at least want to see exhibitions that do not produce errors in double figures.

Something is wrong with baseball here. It may be the floodlight system; it may be the teams. It is definitely something and whatever it is steps should be taken to curb, if not cure it.

Two top teams of the Belleville District Baseball League go into action tonight at Exhibition Park with Napanee taking on the fast-travelling Northern Electrics. The planters have won their last three or four starts and are practically breathing down the Gibbardville necks. Just who Manager Frank Grandame will send to the mound tonight is conjectural but a safe guess is Bunton who turned in a neat four-inning relief effort against the wavering Kiwanis Juniors Tuesday night. Ed Hooper will likely get the fling-chore for the loop-leaders and that presages a pitcher's duel if the "jinx" is run out of town.

Well, we at long last got our first glimpse of video yesterday afternoon. Thanks to Art Booth and Sons, Front Street dealers, this corner, with a large number of baseball fans was privileged to watch the Major League stars in action in the annual All-Star game played at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field. Reception was good, and we saw the diamond luminaries smash out hits, commit errors, pull off daring slides and fielding plays, to say nothing of some neat advertising for the three-sharp sponsors. We saw the great DiMag, also brother Dominic in action; the illustrious Ted Williams and a galaxy of modern diamond greats. It was refreshing entertainment and we intend to purchase a set — if someone will kindly inform us as to where we can get the reportorial fingers on sufficient mazuma.

The old error jinx still swings its nefarious influence over Exhibition Park. It apparently is no respector of teams for last night Oshawa Merchants and Batawa Shoemen jousted in a Senior COBL game — and you guessed it — the squads kicked the ball around for 11 errors, six of them charged to the Shoemen. One o fthe shining lights in a drab game was Doug Sutton's hurling. The Oshawa lefthander had no trouble stifling the Batawa bludgeons letting them down with four hits for their lone run in the six heats. He left the game to give Clemence a chance to show his stuff, and the tall righthander picked up the cut-off thread where Sutton left off.

Tyconny, the highly-rated Oshawa import from the USA, did everything but impress the fans hereabouts. He looked like a mill-run receiver here last night and his base-throwing could have been a lot better. However he whacked out a couple of hits that were good for three runs. Cook, Oshawa fielder, smashed out the only extra-base hit of the game when he tripled to centre in the third, in a game that your guess was as good as mine if the ball would fall for a hit or do a juggling act. The win consolidates the Merchants in top spot in the league standing while the Shoemen are now gazing upwards from their cellar position.

Sports Roundup

(By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

Brooklyn, July 13 — (AP) — Nearly every all-star baseball game, like every world series, has its big moment of drama and excitement—something the spectators remember and discuss for years . . . The 1949 all-star game had its big moments, too, but they were high comedy instead of drama. . . But what else could you expect in Brooklyn? ? There was Johnny Mize failing to come up with Eddie Kazak's low throw in the first inning, a play that meant four runs. . . And the inevitable result: "of course the error is on Kazak; they decided its unfair to make Mize bend over." . . . There was Waillard Marshall playing tag with the ball by the centre field wall for the fourth error that tied the all-star game record; he just couldn't find the handle on it. And Roy Campanella had the same sort of trouble for error No. 5. . . When the starting lineup was changed to put Gil Hodges on first and Campanella behind the plate, it made five dodgers in the line-up—Don Newcombe, Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson were the others. It was the "Brooklyn against the world" game all over again.

Segar's Brain Child

Charley Segar, the National League publicitor, refused to offer an alibi for that fourth straight defeat. . . "We've played 16 games so far, in all the parks," he explained. "Next year the all-star game is going back to Chicago, where it started. Were going to do like Bill Veeck did in Cleveland; call the first 16 exhibitions, stage a grand opening and then we'll begin counting them." . . . "Yeah," exclaimed a listener. "You even had to get that idea from the American League.

Converted Fielder Making Good As a Pitcher

By Associated Press

Will Erv Dusak be the next to follow in the footsteps of Bucky Walters and Bob Lemon?

Walters and Lemon, after failing to make the Major Leagues as an infielder and outfielder, respectively, switched to pitching and attained stardom. That's what Dusak is doing for the Rochester Red Wings of the International League.

Dusak, who failed to stick in the big time as an outfielder, was optioned to the Wings by the parent St. Louis Cardinals this spring to gain pitching knowledge—and his report card is getting better all the time.

The 28-year-old hurler pitched the best game of his short career Tuesday night—an 8-2, one-hit triumph over the league-leading Buffalo Bisons.

Gene Markland solved Dusak for Buffalo's lone hit of the game in the fifth innings when he belted a home run after Marty Tabacheck had walked.

Dusak, who now has won four straight games during which he has allowed only two runs per contest, fanned six and walked six Bisons. The big righthander boasts a 7-4 won-lost record.

Dusak also collected two of Rochester's 13 hits.

Dusak's best previous performance also came at the expense of the Bisons. He turned back Buffalo 3-2 in 13 innings July 6.

It appears that all Dusak has to master is control. In his 13 inning triumph he walked seven but fanned 12.

Although Dusak got two hits, the heavy stickwork for Rochester was done by husky Steve Bilke and catcher Charley Marshall.

Bilko poled his 20th homer of the season with a teammate on base in the fifth inning. Marshall slammed his second homer in the third, also with a runner on the sacks.

Lefty Jim Parton started for the Bisons and yielded four runs in the first inning, to the delight of 10,560 Rochester fans. Parton gave way to Luman Harris in the fourth after Marshall's circuit blow.

A scheduled game between Syracuse Chiefs and Newark Bears was rained out, as was a scheduled doubleheader between the Jersey City Giants and the Baltimore Orioles. Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Royals were idle.

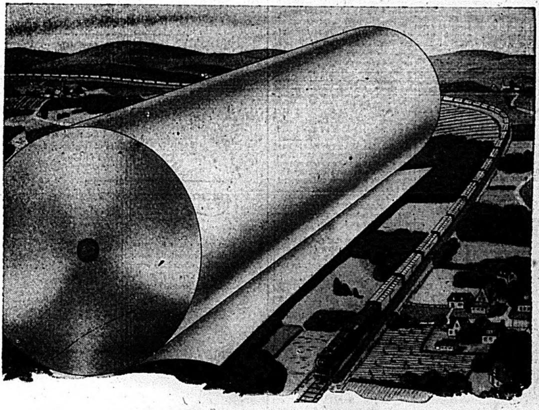
CANADA NEEDS HEALTHY RAILWAYS TO SERVE HER PEOPLE



The Railways Do A Giant's Job in Moving Canada's Huge Newsprint Production

Our great pulp and paper industry every year relies on the railways to carry nearly seven million tons of newsprint and wood pulp. Yet that is hardly more than a quarter of the total tonnage of forest products they handle in a year.

This advertisement is one of a series pointing out the railways' key place in Canada's economy. As Canada's largest builders of railway rolling stock and equipment, this company and its employees are directly concerned with the railway industry. Canadian Car & Foundry, operating eight modern plants, turns out thousands of railway cars of every type. The company is fully equipped to supply Canada's railways with the latest type passenger and freight cars to meet the growing needs of our expanding economy.

IT IS a long way from the North woods to the roaring presses of big-city newspapers. The railways perform this long haul for Canada's newsprint producers.

And that is only a fraction of their job. They carry millions of tons of pulpwood logs, further millions of lumber and other forest products.

Sinews of steel are needed to move the combined output of the biggest pulp and paper industry in the world and of Canada's far-flung woods operations. It takes organization, and manpower, and a huge investment in track and terminals and rolling stock.

Every Canadian, both as producer and consumer, has a direct interest in the railways—in seeing that they are kept efficient and fully adequate to the nation's needs.

The railways are big BUYERS too

Paper is a relatively small item in railway purchasing. Yet last year they spent several hundred thousands of dollars for menus, tickets, timetables, forms, stationery . . . some of the "little" items which together make the railways important customers of the paper and printing industries . . . and the country's biggest buyers.

Errors Feature Drab Contest When Oshawa Defeats Batawa 8-1 To Strengthen Loop Lead

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Batawa's cellar - dwelling Shoemen could do little or nothing with the slants of two Oshawa Merchants' hurlers at Exhibition Park last night, and as a result went down to an 8-1 defeat to help the Motor City crew consolidate their top-slot position in the C.O.B.L. standing. The defeat plunged the Shoemen a step deeper into the cellar.

The game was another of those error - laden affairs that appears to be a characteristic of teams performing on Belleville's floodlighted baseball park. Batawa kicked the ball around no less than six times while the Merchants were guilty of 5 miscues.

Doug. Sutton, Oshawa starting lefthander had little trouble choking the Batawa bludgeons in the six innings he worked. The slim southpaw restricted the Shoemen to four of their five hits in the half-dozen heats he toiled, giving them their lone marker in the sixth when Mouse Bush who had singled romped home after two Oshawa fielders kicked the ball around. Sutton struck out four and walked one. He was given credit for the victory.

Sutton Calls it a Day

Clemence took over the chucking chores from Sutton, and he, too, had little difficulty with the Batawa bats. He held them to one lone clout in the remaining three innings, striking out four.

Ken Peacock was given the starting assignment for the Shoemen and lasted for six innings in which Oshawa got to his delivery for seven clouts for five runs. He sent down five via the strikeout route and issued three passes, one of them costly, forcing in a run.

Gordy Muffitt relieved the righthander in the seventh and his offerings were no puzzle to the Oshawa bats. They nicked him for a trio of clouts for as many runs in as many innings.

Merchants put the game in the bag in the sixth when after leading 2-0 they shoved over three runs off McMullen's single, three walks and a Batawa error. They repeated in the eighth off hits by Ticonny and Bidgood aided by two Batawa errors and a sacrifice.

One of the few features in an otherwise dull game was a double play in the ninth when Bush tossed Clemence's ground ball to Solmes to nip Hanna at second. The throw to first was in time to retire the batter.

Andy McMullen paced the Oshawa attack with three singles with Cook getting a triple and single. Keeler and Ticonny got two each.

Better Golf

By Sam Snead

We mentioned here that the shoulders should pivot about twice as much as the hips pivot. And your full shoulder pivot is a ninety degree turn from the address position. This will leave your back "facing" the hole. You'll see a correct pivot in today's picture. Again we emphasize that the head must be held still and the eyes kept fixed on the back of the ball. In the position shown, the right leg is straight but it is not locked. There is a difference as you will note if you experiment a little. Reversing the hip pivot slowly and simultaneously pulling your hands down from the top, you start your shoulder pivot. The left shoulder starts back and around and travels at twice the speed of the hip pivot because it must reverse twice as far in order that the shoulders and the hips return to the address position at the moment of impact. That isn't nearly as complicated as it sounds and if you'll read it again you'll understand that action automatically swings this way if you don't press — if you don't struggle to swing harder than you can swing with rhythm. —(Copyright 1949, John F. Towering Hi Lee, the "Ozark Ike" of the maul, mayhem and mash'em game, will unlimber his stupendous frame in Memorial Arena on Friday night and attempt to curb if not cure the mayhemic tendencies of one Fred Atkins, British Empire wrestling champion of Australia. Atkins, a champion far removed from the gentlemanly mien of his predecessors, has discovered the only way to stop these upstarts desirous of removing the Empire bauble from his brown locks, is to treat 'em rough. And thus far he hasn't been kidding them. But he'll run up against a rockbound, muscled giant from the hillbilly mountains who can play rough, too. So that means a tidy battle of crash 'em, bash 'em and mash'em on Friday. Tom Rice, a newcomer, clashes with handsome Ben Sharpe with Pat Flanagan meeting Abe Zvonkin, former Queen's gridiron star, in the opener.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By DAVE LEIGHTON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Regina, July 13 — (CP)—The Canadian sports volcano, dormant for the last few weeks, has erupted again.

Major victim of the latest explosion has been track and field, one sport usually noted for its absence of squabbles in the old east-west traditions.

Occasion for the blow - off was the decision of the British Empire Games officials to hold the Canadian track and field trials in Toronto, instead of having zonal meets as was done in the Olympic trials. This caused some western sports writers to blast the decision because of the time and money involved in long trips by Western athletes.

Most writers seemed to feel that any team selected at the Toronto trials to go to New Zealand would be pretty well confined to Eastern-Canada athletes.

Potshot

Tommy (Regina Leader - Post) Melville took one of the opening potshots. Said Tommy: "The fact that there will be no zone trials in track events means that most prairie hopefuls will have to pass up the chance of competing for berths because it costs too much to go to Toronto.

"Even British Columbia, which is one of the hotboxes of track, is finding it difficult to raise money for the team it would like to send."

The big trouble, Tommy said, is that track people, unlike their brothers in other sports, have little chance to raise funds through gates.

"The Amateur Athletic Union should know what it is doing but the criticism in the west will be strong."

The Root of All Evil

Tommy declared it was a mistake ever to do away with zone trials.

"If Don Pettie of Calgary can burn up a track at Red Deer, Alta., no doubt he could whip up a pretty fair time at, say, Winnipeg, and if that time should be better than one made by a runner at Toronto, well, let Pettie go to New Zealand.

"This country is too wide and most athletes are too poor for one-centre trials unless a middle site is selected.

Toronto, July 13 (CP)—Choice of a coach for Canada's track and field British Empire games team to New Zealand next year is a top-drawer secret with Canadian officials running the show. There have been whispers it might be Winnipeg's Ken Yost or Lloyd Percival of Toronto but, sshh, has anyone heard about Alex Wilson of Montreal?

Yes, it's the same Alex who represented Canada in track in the 1928 Olympic games at Amsterdam and the 1932 games at Los Angeles. He hasn't got the job yet, but a well-informed source here said today he is "the choice of Montreal's clique" on the B. E. games committee.

"The selection will be made behind closed doors and someone else may get it but Wilson will not be entirely overlooked. He's the dark-horse in the field right now."

Alex has been coach at Loyola College, Chicago, the last 10 years

It would be somewhat of a surprise if Yost, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union and coach of the Dominion's 1948 Olympic track team, is appointed to the post. It is known that Yost has his eye on the manager's job —the position held in the London Olympics last year by Fred Rowell of Vancouver.

And Lloyd Percival? He has been teaching Canadian 'teenagers by radio and mail the last five years how to operate on a cinder track, how to play better basketball, tennis, hockey, baseball, football and "how to develop and keep top-level organic condition and fitness for athletic activities."

His coaching has produced results, particularly with North Toronto Track Club athletes who ran away with the Canadian junior track meet at Toronto last weekend. His youngsters compiled an impressive 250 points in the two-day meet, 205 more than their nearest rivals, Toronto's West End Y juniors.

Current Edition Of Athletics Did Not Cost Much

Philadelphia, uly 13 — (AP)—Connie Mack is making a bid for his 10th American League pennant with a team that is a masterpiece of low-cost construction.

The 86-year-old manager-owner put together the current edition of Philadelphia Athletics for considerably less than $180,000 he paid for Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw, his two great pitchers of 20 years ago.

Barney McCosky, outfielder sidelined by a lame back, is generally considered the most expensive man on the club, since he came here from Detroit in a trade for George Kell, the American League's All-star third baseman. But in actual dollar investment the price was low for Kell came up through the A's farm system.

Eddie Joost and Ferris Fain, rated two of the most important men on the club, cost Mack only $17,500 and three players.

Mack's highly - regarded pitching staff cost an estimated $50,000. Dick Fowler and Joe Coleman were acquired through a former working agreement with Toronto of the International League.

The brilliant Lou Brissie, Carl Scheib, Bobby Shantz and Charley Harris grew up on the A's farms or with the parent club.

Alex Kellner, surprise winner of 12 games, was purchased from Birmingham of the Southern Association with which the Athletics had a working agreement.

Phil Marchildon, the Penetanguishene righthander who has been sidelined most of this season with back trouble, also came to the A's from Toronto as part of the clubs' working agreement.

Sam Chapman was signed on the recommendation of Ty Cobb after he was graduated from the University of California.

Elmer Valo came up from Wilmington, Del., once an A's farm club.

Pete Sauer, regular second baseman now benched with an injury, was a draftee at $7,500.

Calgarians Return Goal Posts Stolen Last Autumn

(By The Canadian Press)

Two of Calgary's prized Grey Cup victory "trophies" were returned to their rightful Toronto owners in a special ceremony at the opening of the Calgary stampede Monday.

Tom Brook, fiery president of the Dominion Football Champion Stampeders, turned over two goalposts "stolen" from Toronto Varsity stadium to the eastern city's chief magistrate, Hiram E. (Buck) McCallum.

The posts were seized by enthusiastic Calgary supporters following Stampeders victory over Ottawa Roughriders in Toronto last fall.

The posts won't be much use to Varsity stadium, however. Several feet are missing from each post, sawed off by souvenir-hunting Calgarians.

He won the Donegall qualifier competition, ended in a two-way tie for first place in the Stock Exchange Challenge Trophy event, and was one of six Canadians who qualified outright for the second stage of the St. George's challenge vase competition.

Nick Metz, former National Hockey League star with the Toronto Maple Leafs, will coach Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League next season, it was announced at Saskatoon Tuesday.

Club President R. M. Cantlon said he received word from Conn Smythe, Leaf general manager, that Metz had been granted permission to accept the position. It is expected that Metz will be a playing coach.

Mimico Mountaineers defeated Owen Sound Crescents 13-10 at Owen Sound Tuesday night, handing the Crescents their first defeat in their last six starts and preventing them from breaking their first-place tie with Brampton Excelsiors.

Top scorers for Mounties were the Dixon boys, Al and Ken, with three goals apiece. McPhail got two goals while Gair, Simpson, Pritchard and Rankin each scored one. For the losers, Shortridge, Slater and Woods each scored two while Campbell, Kazarian, Mason and Ashbee each scored one.

At London, the British Ice Hockey Association Tuesday night accepted the world amateur championships for 1950. The tournament will be held, probably at Wembley arena, in March. The B.I.H.A. expected 14 teams to compete for the title held by Czechoslovakia.

Chicago White Sox announced the sale of pitcher Al Gettel to Washington Senators for the $10,000 waiver price. He has a record of two victories and five defeats this season.

Montreal Royals of the International League defeated New York Giants of the National League 4-2 in an exhibition game at Montreal Tuesday night before 11,770 fans. The Royals rapped three of the Giants' top hurlers, Larry Jansen, Clint Hartung and Hank Behrman, for nine hits.

At Syracuse, N.Y., Willie Pep, world featherweight champion, easily outpointed Jean Mougin, former lightweight titleholder of France, in their non-title, 10-round feature bout Tuesday night. The decision was unanimous with Pep ahead in every round. Pep apparently used the match as a tune-up for his championship title with Eddie Compo, scheduled for July 28.

The sight of carriages on rails was a source of much excitement in the little town of La Prairie, near Montreal, in 1836. Clanking and rattling on their way to St. John, Quebec, these horse-drawn cars were Canada's first railway.

A line from Montreal to Sarnia was finished in 1856. It covered 1,100 miles, and was at that time the world's longest railway. The first trans-Canada railway was built by the Canadian Pacific and completed in 1885. Overcoming great hazards, railroad men pushed across the prairies and foothills, through rugged moutain passes—then on to the Pacific coast.

Today Canadian trains travel on rails that would twice encircle the world, and carry more than 40 million travellers swiftly, safely and comfortably.

Canada has grown with the railways. With the appearance of diesel-electric locomotives and the gradual changeover to this more modern form of motive power, a new era of transportation is beginning. This new era offers vast opportunities for Canadians. Yes, there's room to grow—in Canada Unlimited.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Time does not permit the rehash of every bridge deal. And there are too many hidden tricks for the human mind to discover in all the cases. So, few players will ever get all the tricks possible.

However, every time you postmortem a played deal, something may be found in it that someone has overlooked. A different lead or discard; a different plan of action will be seen.

South was declarer at six hearts in this deal:

NORTH
♠A 4
♥A J 9 3
♦Q 7 5 2
♣K 10 4

WEST
♠10 7 6
♥10 5 4
♦J 10 8 3
♣8 7 6

EAST
♠Q J 9 2
♦K 9 6 4
♣Q J 9 3

SOUTH
♠K 8 5 3
♥K Q 7 6 2
♣A 5 2

Opening lead from west was the diamond jack. There is no fuss to be mad over the taking of the needed 12 tricks. Small slam comes in with comparative ease by losing a trick in one black suit.

Three north losing diamonds can be ruffed in south. Three rounds of trumps can be pulled. The three side aces and two black kings can be cashed. Ruff of a south spade makes it 12 tricks.

Making such a contract would you complacently accept the result? What if somebody says you should have taken all 13 tricks? Would you lay a bet it could not be done? Better not.

Take trick one with the south diamond ace. Trick two is with the dummy spade ace. Ruff a diamond with a south trump. Cash the king of spades and ruff a south spade in the dummy.

Now ruff another dummy diamond with a south trump. Lead trump king from south and overtake with the dummy heart ace. Ruff dummy last diamond with the south queen of hearts.

Here you lead the last south trump. When west does not play the ten, finesse with the dummy nine to win this trick. Pull the final trumps in all hands by cashing the dummy heart jack.

On the last trump lead from dummy with south ace. Look at what east has left and you will take the rest. That you will.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, July 13 — (AP)— A check on the "Oscar Derby" at the midway mark reveals a scant field.

Never has there been so few contenders for Academy honors at the six-month post in Hollywood's annual race. From this vantage point, it appears that only "Letter to Three Wives", "Home of the Brave," "The Window" and "Champion" make a serious bid for blue-blood honors.

Kirk Douglas' prizefighter role seems to be the only performance to rate serious attention. Unlike last year, female contenders for the acting prize are sparse.

It looks as though the studios are de-emphasizing Oscar. They have already withdrawn their financial support from the Academy. And their 1949 releases so far have leaned toward comedies, musicals, crime thrillers and other so-called crowd-pleasers. Drama has taken a back seat.

Wednesday Notes

Johnny seems to be Hollywood's favorite handle these days. Last season it was "Johnny Belinda" and before, "Johnny O'Clock." Now we are soon to see such Johnnies as "Johnny Allegro," "Johnny One-eye," "Johnny Holiday" and "Johnny Stool Pigeon."

This trend no doubt has some significance. Could it be there's jack in Johnnies? . . .

It takes no ouija board to predict that Bill Lawrence will hit the crooner hall of fame in the footsteps of Vallee, Crosby, Columbo, Sinatra, Como, etc. But here is a guy with a really modern design. I'm talking about television. I think he'll be video's first swoon sensation. A lift of his eyebrow can send a bobbysoxer into hysterics at the other end of a co-axial cable. It is frightening to think of TV's possibilities of mass hypnosis . . .

GIFTS PAY FOR VISITS

Newcastle-on-Tyne, England — Forty British mothers, anxious to spend a holiday with daughters married to Canadian and United States veterans, are organizing their own export campaign. Because of restrictions on money they can take with them, the mothers are taking household articles to pay their way in Canada and the United States.

MADOC

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

Madoc — The W.M.S. members of the St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, held their July meeting at the home of Mrs. Russell Lewis, with a good attendance.

A meditation on the beatitudes "Blessed are the peace-makers" was used to open the meeting. The business was dealt with. The expense-treasurer reported that a good bale had been sent away, also a good supply of magazines.

Mrs. Russell Lewis and Mrs. Elmy rendered a duet "Face to Face." Mrs. Field Allen had charge of the topic "Chinese Christians Face Their Task," showing three ways they are trying to Christianize the non-Christians. Mrs. Brown read an article "Foreigners Are So Queer," showing what Chinese think of us, also a clipping on "Conditions in China."

The president gave an account of the rally held at Gananoque in June. She emphasized the address of the supply secretary who told how the supplies are being used. After the close of the meeting and prayer by Mrs. McCaffrey, the hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Kernahan during the social half-hour.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. W. Jenkins and family of Woodruffe, returned to their home on Saturday after spending their holidays with the former's mother, Mrs. F. E. Jenkins.

Miss Catherine Hart spent the weekend with friends in Belleville.

Mrs. W. Gray, Mrs. R. Bristol, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Vankleek spent Friday with Mrs. Gray's sister, Mrs. Dewart, at her cottage on Lake Chemong.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Noble of Toronto are camping at Moira Lake.

Mr. Archie Ashley of Vankleek Hill spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Ashley.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke of Toronto are spending a few days with Mrs. Margaret Curtis.

Mrs. Blanche Alexander left on Sunday to spend her holidays with her sister, Mrs. Fred Maines and Mr. Maines at Waterloo, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fox and family of Belleville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kincaid.

ALLAN'S MILLS

Allan's Mills — Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Barnum and family of Guelph, also Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Loynes and family of London are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnum.

AT THE McCARTHY — Wedding plans of Michael Duane and pretty Lenore Aubert are changed when the bride disappears on her wedding night in Columbia's "The Return of the Whistler," now playing at Odeon's McCarthy Theatre, along with "Sleeping Car to Trieste," featuring Jean Kent.

IT'S TRUE! By Wiley Padan

June ALLYSON WAS SO EAGER TO BECOME A DANCER WHILE STILL IN HIGH SCHOOL THAT SHE SAW ONE MOVIE EIGHTEEN TIMES IN ORDER TO LEARN ITS DANCE ROUTINES! SHE AMAZED DOCTORS WHO PREDICTED SHE MIGHT NEVER WALK AGAIN AFTER AN OAK TREE BRANCH, STRUCK BY LIGHTNING, TOPPLED ON HER. BUT THE DETERMINED JUNE FOOLED 'EM.

Margaret O'BRIEN IS DEFINITELY NOT A PRECOCIOUS HOLLYWOOD "BRAT." WHEN NOT AT WORK ON THE SET OF M-G-M's "LITTLE WOMEN," HER LATEST FILM, SHE ENJOYED HER FAVORITE PASTIMES, PLAYING JACKS, SKIPPING ROPE, LOOKING AT PICTURE BOOKS, DRESSING HER DOLLS AND ROMPING WITH HER PETS. MAGGIE HAS GROWN TO FOUR FEET TEN INCHES, AND WEIGHS 88 POUNDS.

Elizabeth TAYLOR LAUNCHED HER CAREER UNEXPECTEDLY WHEN HER FATHER, ACTING AS AN AIR-RAID WARDEN DURING THE WAR, HEARD BY CHANCE THAT M-G-M WAS LOOKING FOR AN ENGLISH GIRL TO PLAY IN "LASSIE COME HOME." A SCREEN TEST WAS FOLLOWED BY A LONG TERM CONTRACT. HER LATEST FILM WAS MADE IN LONDON, WHERE ELIZABETH WAS BORN ON FEBRUARY 27.

Janet LEIGH WAS BORN JEANETTE HELEN MORRISON IN MERCED, CALIFORNIA, ON JULY 26. SHE RECEIVED A MOTION PICTURE CONTRACT BEFORE SHE EVER FACED A CAMERA! WHILE VACATIONING AT A SKI RESORT, NORMA SHEARER SPOTTED JANET'S PICTURE IN A FAMILY SNAPSHOT ALBUM WHICH WAS SHOWN TO HER BY A HOTEL RECEPTIONIST. THE RECEPTIONIST WAS MISS LEIGH'S MOTHER.

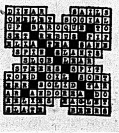
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:



Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Sid Hunt were wondering what to do, and Sid said, How about walking out to the Park, [illegible] looking for lucky 4 leaf [illegible]vers?

Okay, sure, let's get Shorty Judge and Glasses Magee and all walk out together, I said, and Sid said, Okay, you go and get Shorty and I'll get Glasses, and we'll all meet here.

Okay, I said.

And I went and rang Shorty's door bell and he came to the door himself, saying, Nuthing doing, I aint allowed out.

Why not? I said, and he said, My mother got tickits to a radio guy asks different ladies if they've got certain things in their handbags, sutch as a key ring or a loose cancelled stamp or something, and if they happen to have it they get a swell phrize. And I always have all kinds of junk in my pockits, so I emptied my pockits into her hand bag before she left so she'd be more libel to find whatever the guy asked for if she had, and it must of made her bag a little heavier than usual, because she dropped it in the buss while she was paying her fare, and all kinds of things went all over the floor, like nales and bottle tops and about 14 pencil stumps and stuff, and everybody laffed except my mother, and she hasn't laffed since, and I aint allowed out, he said.

Aw heck, I said. And I went back and Sid was waiting al-

He aint allowed out, where's Shorty? Sid said, and I said, He aint either. Why aint Glasses? I said.

Knotholers Earn Third Place in Loop Standing

Houston "Knotholers" played errorless ball afield behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Hunter to shut out Stewart-Warner 2-0 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader played last evening at the Alemite field. The win boosted the Knotholers into sole possession of third place in the league standing and dropped the Alemite into fourth place.

In the second game Corby's withstood a late rally by McFarlane's Woodenware to cop a 13-9 win and preserve their second place standing.

Houston's scored their two runs in the bottom of the third frame on two doubles and the only error of the game. Wardhaugh singled to open the inning and went to second on Adams' fly ball to left field. Woods doubled in Wardhaugh and went to third on an unsuccessful try to nail Wardhaugh at the plate. He scored the insurance run when Rowbotham threw wide at third.

Load Bases, Fail to Score

The Knotholers had the bases loaded in the second frame with one away and failed to score. In the sixth Temple was nailed sliding at the plate on Hunter's double to right field to retire the side in their only other scoring threat.

Stewart Warner left two runners stranded in the fourth and fifth stanzas.

Hunter went the route for the winners striking out eight, walking four, and giving up four hits for no runs. Dracup went well for the losers striking out three, walking four, and being touched for six hits and the ball game.

Lead Withers Away

In the second game Corbys saw a commanding lead wither away in the bottom of the seventh but managed to hang on and take the verdict 13-9.

McFarlane starter "Buck" Young was erratic in his deliveries serving up eleven walks and keeping himself in hot water in almost every inning. Five errors behind him did nothing to ease conditions and it was errors and walks that beat the Woodenware crew.

Corbys opened the scoring for three tallies in the first frame on a single by Ray Reid, and a double by Doug Sword and four free passes.

McFarlanes evened the count in their end of the second canto on Frank Baldwin's double, and error, and Dick Moore's four master to left-centre field. Harold Reid lashed out a homer for a single Corby run in the third. Three walks, two errors and Storms' homer to right field accounted for five Corbys tallies in the fourth. They wound up their scoring in the top of the seventh pushing over four more runs on a walk, a double, a single, and two errors.

Come Storming Back

Woodenware came storming back in the bottom of the seventh for six runs on four hits, two walks, and an error, as they batted around. Lead off man Dick Moore singled, Peters was called out, Boyce and Skinkle walked with Dick Moore stealing home. Scanlon got on on an error that scored Boyce, Young singled and Frank Baldwin cleared the sacks with a homer to centre field. Holland singled but was forced at second by Jack Moore, and Dick Moore flied out to deep centre field to retire the side.

Keith Baldwin went all the way for the winners, walking four, striking out three, and being nicked for eight safeties and nine runs. Young walked eleven, struck out four, and surrendered seven hits for the ball game.

Johnstown Moves Into First Place Tie in League

Frankford— Johnstown upset Frankford 7-3 last Friday evening to pull into a first place tie in with the losers, Sidney Softball League fixture played at Frankford. Johnstown put together two walks and three hits for five runs in the top of the fourth and were never headed.

Frankford came back to score their three tallies in the bottom of the fourth on singles by Mason, Consaul, and Phillips and a triple by Lohnes.

Johnstown added two more counters in the sixth to sew up the pastime.

Frankford and Johnstown wound up in a dead heat for first place in the Sidney Softball League Monday evening with both teams copping a win.

In Frankford, the homesters edged the Batawa entry 5-4 in a thrill-packed contest.

Singles by Consaul and Phillips, and triples by Zufelt and Lohnes got Frankford away to a three-run lead in the first frame.

Batawa punched over a brace of runs in the third. Frankford added two more in the fifth and they proved to be the winning markers. Batawa staged a great rally in the seventh, that netted them two runs but failed to overtake the leaders. Zufelt of Frankford, had to leave the game in the third stanza when he was struck on the ankle by a line drive.

Police Posse Hunts Gunman In Dense Bush

Wawa, Ont., July 13. (CP)— Planes and ground parties are searching this rugged section of Northern Ontario today for Carman Lethbridge, 43, accused of shooting at Provincial Constable William Waito with a .22-calibre rifle.

The officer said Lethbridge, who came here from Sault Ste. Marie, 175 miles southeast of here, fired at him early Tuesday when the constable tried to arrest him for drunkenness. Then the powerfully-built iron miner disappeared into the surrounding Michipicoten area bush.

When last seen, Lethbridge was carrying a rifle. Searching parties moved cautiously when they spread out into the rocky, hilly tree-studded Terrain only a few miles inland from the Lake Superior shoreline.

Lethbridge had been working at the Helen Iron Mine of Algoma Ore properties here. He recently was prohibited from buying liquor, police said.

Constable Waito said he believed Lethbridge might have headed for a camp he owns 15 miles north of here. He expressed belief hunger soon will force the man out of the bush.

The Actual Science of Prayer

The kind of prayer to which the Founder of Christianity referred when he said unequivocally, "Ask, and ye shall receive"—which accounts for his own great work and the ever-widening healing and liberating work of Christian Science today—is explained scientifically in the first chapter of the Christian Science textbook,

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures"

Education Board Holds Meeting To Discuss School

Rawdon—On Monday evening, last, a special meeting was held in Stirling theatre at the call of Reeve Wells, and Chairman of Board of Education C. I., Hatton, re a new Union School for Stirling, Sidney and Rawdon ratepayers who have been in the Union School section. The attendance was not as large as it should have been, however, the majority favored a new school.

At 8.30 p.m. Reeve Harold Wells spoke briefly, and told what had been done up to date. He reminded his audience that Stirling has always been at the front in promoting education. He said, "the primary reason of the meeting was to decide re building a new school or making alterations to the old structure."

Mr. C. I. Hatton, chairman of the Board, explained the school situation. For the past six years there has been overcrowding, and last year 35 small children were housed in one room at the high school.

The old Union School in Stirling was built in 1875 and it would be hard to remodel the old building, but it would make a good site for a small industry.

New School Needed

The Board feels that a new school is needed as there are approximately 200 pupils and the department stresses that 30 or 35 pupils is enough for one room, and the Board members are anxious to supply the children with adequate education and for that reason, they asked council for a new school.

An architects drawing of a new modern structure with five classrooms, play room and health room covering three or four acres was shown, and they figured cost of same would be around $135,000. The government will pay 55 per cent of the cost of the new building, and at this late date, it will be hard to get much accomplished in 1949.

The new structure would be one storey, practically fire proof, facing north and south which would provide natural sunlight in every room every sunny day.

The play room would be equipped with chairs and would be a boon to the children in stormy weather.

The health room would be used by doctors and nurses and for eye testing.

Convinced Good Site

The department feels that the site should be on a good location with no child walking more than 3/4 mile to school.

The grounds would be large enough to provide for games and agriculture.

Twenty minutes was allowed for open discussion re the present site, etc.

Mr. Roger Meiklejohn explained how the school could be financed.

Inspector C. B. McGuire said the assessment for Stirling, part of Sidney and part of Rawdon was approximately $600,000 and at present it costs around 10.6 mills to operate the old school, and he felt that Stirling does need a new Union School. He paid tribute to the Board of Education and felt all would be proud of a new edifice.

Four Sites Available

The four sites available were discussed and if there are others the Board will be glad to pay them a visit of inspection.

Mr. H. C. Tompkins pointed out that there was no suitable place in Stirling to educate the children if it was decided to remodel the old school in place of a new building.

The inspector thought the wise course was to decided to build now and leave choice of site to the School Board and Council, who were elected to do what is best for all.

It will take one year to build a new structure and no time should be lost in getting started.

Following more discussion the vote was taken with the majority favoring a new building.

THOMASBURG

Thomasburg.—The Rev. F. C. Beazer conducted his farewell service in Christ Church on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Beazer has been rector of this parish for the past 16 years and during this time he and Mrs. Beazer have made many friends, not only among the members of their congregation, but among all denominations.

They will be greatly missed in the community. Mr. Fletcher will be in charge of the service in the Anglican church for the next few weeks. On Sunday, July 17th, the Rev. A. B. Payne of Kingston, will assist with the services and will spend a few days in the parish.

Several from Thomasburg attended the Induction Service at Moira United Church on Tuesday evening, when the Rev. Morley Clarke was inducted as pastor in charge of the West Huntingdon, Eggleton, Moira and Thomasburg United Churches. A hearty welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke who have taken up residence in the parsonage in the village.

Farewell Party

A large number from here attended the farewell party in honor of the Rev. F.C. Beazer and Mrs. Beazer, on the grounds of St. Paul's Anglican rectory, on Friday evening. Mr. Cecil Geen was master of ceremonies for the evening, and an enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. Geen in his remarks, spoke feelingly of the fine qualities of Mr. and Mrs. Beazer. During the evening they were presented with a sum of money from the parish.

The ladies of the Anglican Woman's Auxiliary, of Thomasburg, presented Mrs. Beazer with an electric grill as a parting gift, a small recognition of her loyal support as a member of the Auxiliary.

The Rev. J. W. Flatt, of Belleville. was a guest on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Melburne Adams.

Mr. John Geen attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, the late Mr. Wesley Parks, Plainfield, at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, on Friday afternoon.

Misses Jean and Carolyn Vance, of Tweed, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Horace Vance, and other relatives here.

The Rev. F. C. Beazer and Mrs. Beazer were dinner hour guests on Tuesday of Mr. Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Geen and sons.

A number from here attended the district Orange Service at Tweed United church, on Sunday morning.

Mr. John Houston, of Belleville, spent last week with his grandmother, Mrs. James Way.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morton, on Thursday, July 7th., at the Belleville General Hospital twins a boy and a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Williams and John of Kingston, spent the dinner hour on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Wesley Morton.

Mr. Claude Thompson, Kingston, spent a short holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Porter, of Toronto, are spending their vacation with Miss Emma Porter.

Mrs. Snider and Mr. Donald Sanders of Bloomfield, visited recently at the home of Mrs. W. B. Richardson.

Mrs. B. Brown, Julia and Dannie Brown, of Toronto, have arrived to spend the summer at their home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vance of Belleville, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Will Yateman. Friends of Mrs. Yateman will be pleased to learn that she is much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Martin of Napanee, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Martin.

Mr. Fred Porter Jr., met with a painful accident on Saturday afternoon while drawing in hay. A piece of the harness broke causing the tongue of the wagon to fall, which frightened the horses, causing them to run away. Mr. Porter jumped from the load of hay to avoid a more serious accident, and in so doing, injured his knee. Dr. Henry Bateman was called to the home and removed Mr. Porter to the Belleville hospital, where his knee was placed in a cast. Mr. Porter was able to return to his home late Saturday evening.

Manhattan Love Song

By Kathleen Norris

This was enough, on such a singing April morning, to raise her spirits to the pitch of delirium. After the cold, lonely, puzzling months of the long winter it was almost unbearably sweet to have the air soften, and the snows melt, and a blue trembling sky take the place of the leaden, bleak dome that the city had worn so long. It was unbearably sweet to have summer hats suddenly in windows, summer flowers cramming the steamed glass of the florist shops, a languid fragrant twilight instead of wet, lamp-lighted dark ending the day. This was enough joy. Fanny had her new hat, too, of dark blue straw, and under her big soft Bond Street coat there was a new frock, of dark blue cloth. And she had bought a gardenia.

The Bond Street coat had come from the Salvage Shop, but the dress was quite new. Just the feel of it, just the tilt of the blue hat made Fanny feel in the key with the singing, spreading, deepening, all-enveloping glory of the late spring.

But there was more. She had written Kreutzmann a modest application weeks ago . . . written him indeed under the desperate pressure of a February mood, when the streets were slushy and when rain was falling, and when Fanny herself had had a cold in her head. She had said modestly that some time when he was casting a play she would like a part. She had had no stage experience, but she had studied dramatic diction in night classes, and several times had done 'bits' for the Inter-America Broadcasting Company.

The great Kreutzmann had paralyzed her with excitement a few days later by pausing at her desk to say, as he went through the office:

'I have your name, Fanny. I'll keep you in mind."

Robert Kreutzmann, the great theatrical dictator, had kept his word about remembering her. He might . . . Fanny could not believe the words as her thoughts framed them . . . he might be going to offer her a chance!

She waited patiently for him to get through some long talk in the inner office. There was plenty of time, and this was all fun. She began to try to describe the furnishings of the room in German for Otto's benefit. Otto and she studied German together in the evening three times a week, and the effect was curiously to make her want to put all her thoughts into German.

Well, then, this office —diese zimmer —of Kreutzmann was an enormous room in the theatre building. It had one curved wall, on the other side of which were perhaps gallery seats; anyway, the theatre's vast empty bulk was right there, for there was a sort of porthole in the thick barrier of cement and concrete and steel, through which one could look down into it.

One of the walls was all doors; the two remaining angles were broken by the tremendously imposing windows, deep set, that were framed outside in the heavy, up-curved cornices and angles and scrollwork that hung over Broadway. Anyone down there in the dirty hurried street, Fanny knew, for she had often done it, could look up and see these symbolic great mouldings, and on the floor above them enormous figures . . . Comedy and Tragedy taking masks off their faces and medal-lions with the names and faces of Shakespeare and Moliere and Goethe.

The office was richly carpeted, and the tables and chairs and lamps were all comfortable and rich and ugly; where there were Kreutzmanns there would always be that effect. A large photograph of Mrs. Robert Kreutzmann, with Babette and Sonya, was on the desk; the walls were papered with theatrical photographs old and new; Fanny Davenport with ringlets cascading over a striped silk shoulder, and a finger held to tipped cheek; Robert Mantell, magnificent in a cutaway; May Robson, Georgia Cayvan, Katherine Gray, Helen Morgan on her piano, June Walker, Peggy Wood.

This morning the windows were open, and fresh sweet air streamed in; it was deliciously thrilling to stand at one of them, high above Broadway, and see the closed morning theatres opposite, and the night clubs being cleaned and aired, and the presses going in the newspaper office. Broadway had her dull, her grimy side in ten o'clock light, but in a few hours the big signs would be flaming up and down, and the theatres pouring out streams of brilliance, the restaurants and the sidewalks would be crowded, and every opening door would release bursts of music and laughter into the star-peirced blazing night.

"Good-morning, Fanny!" said Robert Kreutzmann behind her, and Fanny faced about, with her heart plunging, and they shook hands.

She sat on the edge of her chair, watching him with the alert friendly fear of a cat. But Kreutzmann was very much at his ease, laughing and leisurely, wanting to know how they treated her in the office, and how Mama Behrmann was.

"And how many of these yellow-headed boys are in love with you?"

"All of them," Fanny said shamelessly.

"All of them?" Then that's safe." After a while he got talking of a new play, and her heart, which had almost gone back to its normal beat, began to hammer again, and her hands and her knees got cold, and her mouth furry. "Now," he said, "what are they paying you?"

"Eighteen . . ." she had to clear her throat, "eighteen a week."

"Oh, well, we can do better than that. But come now . . . they rob me, you know, Fanny; this man who was just with me, he was telling me how poor I am, and how I have to cut down. Five years ago do you know that I would-offer you, just to do a little maid's part . . . on in the first act, and then for a minute at the end? You would have had seventy-five dollars a week for that. But now . . ."

Of course this was all a dream —a dream—oh, don't let this be a dream!

"So I say thirty-five," Kreutzmann observed.

Fanny's face broke into deeper wrinkles; broke into April tear.

"Mr. Kreutzmann, you're awfully kind . . ."

"Yes, but why does she cry about it?"

"Because I'm so happy, I guess . . . and it's spring, and—and everthing!" Fanny managed to say, on a choked laugh.

"But you know you have a delightful voice, Fanny, and you are young and pretty, and you have a goot figure," Kreutzmann argued simply, "so who shall have a chance if not you?"

"I know." She was standing. "But just the same you're wonderfully kind."

"And the salary doesn't frighten you?"

She looked at him seriously, but her face was already to laugh. oc'tgina na'about juwif aert have a good figure," Kreutzmann Fanny said, "I've been here almost a year now, and—I've lived. I began at ten a week and I got on all right; then, when I came here, it was fifteen, and now it's eighteen."

Pope Orders Major Excommunication Of Red Catholics

Decree Denies Sacraments And Comforts of the Church

Vatican City, July 14 — (AP) Pope Pius has ordered major excommunication of all militant communists who also are Catholics. The sweeping decree would deny them the sacraments and comforts of the church.

The momentous order applies to all members of the Roman Catholic faith "who made profession of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the communists."

The decree marks the fourth time the pope has used excommunication to fight back at the communists in recent years.

Previous decrees had been directed at those who tried and sentenced Archbishop Alojzijc Stepinac in Yugoslavia in 1946, at those responsible for the imprisonment of Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, and at the founders and willing members of a separatist, government - controlled Catholic Action Society in Czechoslovakia.

Informed Vatican sources interpreted the decree's wording to be in effect a last warning to Catholics who still defend or follow communism. It applies the church's major weapon of discipline to members who might be wavering under red pressure.

A recent unofficial estimate listed some 330,000,000 Catholics in the world.

Countries where there are many Catholics and also many communists include Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary in Eastern Europe and France and Italy in the west.

Two Million in Italy

Catholic Italy numbers 2,000,000 Communists in its population decree might be applied in the following manner:

1. Catholics who militantly and persistently follow Communist doctrines would be automatically excommunicated.

2. Catholics who have adopted Communist theories in principle rather than practice might be allowed a period of grace to return wholeheartedly to the faith.

3. Catholics who read Communist writings or otherwise expose themselves to Communist doctrine would be dented sacraments of the church but not be automatically excommunicated.

The seven sacraments under Catholic doctrine are baptism, confirmation, holy communion, penance, extreme unction, ordination and matrimony.

Has No Precedent

The excommunication order appeared to have no precedent in the 1000-year history of the Catholic church. It could affect millions of persons.

Instances of church repression have been reported in Czechoslovakia, where Archbishop Joseph Beran has been in open conflict with the State, and in Poland, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Romania and in Russia itself.

A Vatican informant estimated last week that nearly 3,000 Catholic priests and members of religious orders are imprisoned in Soviet-orbit countries.

The Vatican radio began sending the order out to the world in a dozen languages Wednesday night.

Under usual Vatican custom a decree also is transmitted to many hundreds of bishops throughout the world. They in turn spread it through their dioceses to the faithful.

IMPORT CONTROLS TO BE TIGHTENED SAYS MINISTER

Will Counteract U.S. Dollar Shortage

Ottawa, July 14 — (CP) — To meet Canada's persistent shortage of United States dollars, the government plans to tighten up the controls on imports from the U.S. that is imposed in 1947.

He said the debit balance of trade with the U.S.—$250,000,000 for the first five months of this year compared with $184,000,000 for the same period last year—was the only "disturbing" aspect of Canadian trade.

To Regulate Steel

Steel imports probably would be regulated. Oil might come under import controls when Canadian supplies increased. Existing controls would be tightened.

Mr. Howe also,

1. Said the Canadian wheat board is working on plans for taking over the marketing of oats and barley and an announcement may be made next week.

2. Said Canada was not planning any more tariff concessions to help the United Kingdom sell more British good here.

3. Estimated that Canadian trade this year will equal last year's figure and said the Dominion was "selling everything we produce" although "we are having some trouble with our manufactured goods."

Exports Will Be High

Canada would exports worth $3,000,000,000 this year and import goods worth $2,800,000,000 he said.

The import restrictions first were imposed in November, 1947, when Canadas reserves of gold and dollars had dwindled to less than $500,000,000. They began to be lifted last summer as dollar reserves increased. Many manufactured goods and raw materiels still are under complete control, other can be imported on a quota basis.

Where import controls have been removed, as in the case of steel, parliament will have to authorize new controls, Mr. Howe said On items imported by permit the government has only to turn down requests for permits.

WILL BECOME HOME FOR AGED

Toronto, July 14 — (CP) — Lambert Lodge, formerly Christie Street Military Hospital, will become a home for the chronically-ill aged as soon as possible and with a minimum of alterations, acting Mayor John Innes announced Wednesday. A special civic committee meeting will be held Friday to study the entire problem of future requirements for the accommodation of the aged, Mr. Innes said.

Britain to Slash Imports From Canada, U.S. by Over $400 Millions

London, July 14—(CP)— This year Britain will import only 75 cents' worth of goods for every dollar's worth she bought last year in the United States and other areas demanding payment in dollars.

Sir Spafford Cripps, Chancellor to the Exchequer, announced the slash today—a cut of $400,000,000 off the $1,600,000,000 spent last year. Since some prices have dropped, the cut will not necessarily mean a 25-per-cent reduction in tonnage. But the effect upon North American factories and farms will be marked.

Sir Stafford told the House of Commons of plans to cut tobacco imports from North America and mentioned timber, paper and pulp, non-ferrous metals and steel as other types of goods due for slashing.

Britain will lower her sugar ration from 10 to eight ounces weekly. Candy will go back to ration August 14, at the rate of four ounces per person.

The Chancellor knocked $20,000,000 off the $110,000,000 originally set aside for the purchase of tobacco.

He said this would mean a reduction of about five per cent to British users. Cigarets already are scarce here and lines in front of tobacco stores are a common sight.

Ford Says Higher Wages Would Be Great Mistake

New York, July 14. (CP)—Henry Ford II said Wednesday that higher wages now for automobile workers would be a great mistake, because this fall there will be a buyers' market in the United States.

The President of the Ford Motor Company discussed the United Auto Workers' (C.I.O.) demand for a fourth-round wage boost. He arrived from Europe on the Queen Elizabeth.

"We're going to be in a buyers' market this fall and we can't keep prices down if wages go up," he said.

But James B. Carey, C.I.O. secretary-treasurer and another passenger on the Elizabeth, took a different view:

"The only way to bring about a buyers' market is to assure adequate purchasing power to the public."

He said there isn't any buyers' market now because prices are too high.

Ford was returning from discussions in England on the British dollar shortage. He said the situation has cut Ford production there because American machinery for model changes must be bought with dollars.

Canada Turning Thumbs Down On Imports

Ottawa, July 14. (CP)—Cool, green watermelon, juicy pears, tangy apricots and ripe yellow canteloupes — these and other fruits such as apples and berries now are being harvested in the United States and ready for shipment.

But Canada, with a big eye on her pocketbook, is turning thumbs down on imports.

By banning fruits and placing restrictions on U.S. vegetables, Canada is saving about $2,000,000 a month in scarce U.S. dollars.

She is continuing the ban on American fruits that first started when her dollar reserves became critical in November, 1947.

Canada's restrictions on U.S. fruits and vegetables were expected to be lifted this month, but indications are, that rather than lift them, parliament may slap on now ones when it meets in September.

"If Canada's dollar reserves decline, you can expect further steps to stop the flow of Canadian dollars into dollar areas," a government spokesman said.

SMALLER NAVY

London, July 14—(AP) — The Royal Navy has broken with centuries old tradition. Wednesday it announced a decision to replace battleships on operation duty with smaller vessels, because the big men o'war are not "the essential need of the present time." Under a new policy, an Admiralty statement said, capital ships will be withdrawn from sea duty and more destroyers, minesweepers and frigates put into service.

SEEK MISSING GIRL

St. Mary's, Ont., July 14—(CP) Police started a search Wednesday for 16-year-old Helen Lowey, missing from her home here since Tuesday. She was living with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ward. Police were told the girl disappeared during Monday night. She has black hair, dark eyes and weighs about 110 pounds.

TALL TALE OF FISH

Cranberry Portage, Man.—(CP) —Seven fishermen from Bismarck, N.D., found the fishing good near here. In five days they caught their limit of lake trout, northern pike and walleyes—a total of 1,400 pounds. Any pike weighing less than 15 pounds were allowed to swim away.

TRUMAN TO SET UP FACT-FINDING BOARD ON STEEL

Nothing Heard From President's Message

Washington, July 14 (AP).—The White House said today that President Truman will set up a steel fact-finding board Friday whether or not the "big three" producers yield to his pressure for them to go along with his plan to avert a strike Saturday.

Charles Ross, presidential secretary, announced this after saying nothing has been heard from Truman's latest message to the three companies.

The board's findings and recommendations may be decisive on the issue of whether millions of American workers are to have a fourth round of post-war wage increases.

Asking United States Steel, Republic and Bethlehem to reconsider their rejections of his plan to submit the wage-pension dispute to a special inquiry board for a recommended solution, Truman told the three:

"Surely you are not afraid to have your side of this dispute examined in the public interest."

Some Accept Plan

While some smaller steel firms and the United Steel Workers (CIO) Union accepted Truman's plan, the "big three" had contended it by-passed Taft-Hartley law procedures for strikes imperilling the country's health and safety.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and its steel union, said he will issue a strike order today to apply to all steel firms rejecting Truman's plan for a 60-day strike truce.

Truman, in asking the three to reconsider Wednesday, said it was his opinion the present situation "does not constitute such an immediate peril to the national health or safety" as to invoke Taft-Hartley emergency strike clauses.

Inquiry Board

An inquiry board named under Taft-Hartley lacks power to recommend a dispute solution, as the president said his three-man board will have.

If enough steel firms agree to go along, the "big three" faced a prospect that their refusals may mean their steel-making facilities will be shut down while the rest of the industry operates during the two-month period.

Also, with a big part of the industry continuing operations, Truman would have an added argument against exercising his Taft-Hartley emergency powers on the ground there was no emergency.

Hired a Hall To Air Complaints

Little Current, July 14 (CP)—Jack May, tourist camp operator at this Manitoulin Island Centre, Wednesday did what a lot of people have been told to do—he hired a hall to air his complaints.

May issued handbills inviting the public to attend a ratepayers' meeting yesterday at which he criticized the conduct of several unnamed civic officials, police, court officials and members of the press.

He said a waterworks system planned for Little Current, to have cost $125,000, actually would cost about $200,000. May was opposed to the increase.

About 40 persons turned out to hear him. Only a handful were still present at the end of his speech.

BUSH FIRE UNDER CONTROL

Campbellford, July 14 (CP)—Volunteer firemen and district farmers tonight brought a 15-acre bush fire under control on Ross's Island, in the Trent River, south of here. Campbellford is 37 miles east of Peterborough. Farmers led hundreds of head of grazing cattle to safety while others successfully prevented the fire from reaching heavy timberland on the 300-acre island.

Commissioner Mackay Finds No Evidence to Support Charges Laid by Constable

Retirement of Page, Hartleib On Pension Recommended

Toronto, July 14 — (CP) — Dismissal of Provincial Police Constable J. E. Keays of Belleville, who made wholesale charges of misconduct and maladministration of justice against other police officers and Crown officials, was recommended today in the report of a royal commissioner who investigated the charges.

Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay, the royal commissioner, found no evidence to support the Keays' allegations, but he recommended complete re-organization of the Belleville district of the Ontario Provincial Police.

As part of this re-organization, he recommended the retirement of District Inspector W. A. Page and Sgt. E. F. Hartleib.

Recommendations Carried Out

Mr. Frost said these recommendations have been carried out Both Inspector Page and Sgt. Hartleib now are on full pension. Monies that Keays has paid into the pension fund will be returned to him, plus interest.

A member of the force for 12 years, Keays made a total of 60 charges. In addition to the officers mentioned, he also levelled them at Commissioner W. H. Stringer, Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, Inspector T. W. Cousans, Sgt. J. Allan Stringer, Cpl. Sam Ervine, Constable J. B. Driscoll and Constable G. R. Purdy.

Mr. Justice Mackay said he found that Commissioner Stringer had supported and defended Keays, whom Stringer regarded as an officer of exceptional promise.

Had Shown Kindness

"He (Stringer) showed kindness and consideration until it was eventually destroyed by the conduct of Keays," the Justice added.

Crown Attorney Donnan has been accused of general fraud in respect to the activities of E. M. Carefoot of Belleville, said to have an alleged cancer cure, of interfering with Keays' work as a police officer and of being a confirmed drunkard.

Mr. Justice Mackay found that the Crown Attorney was instrumental in sending some persons, including members of his own family, to Carefoot for treatment knowing that the latter had no license to practise. However, he said, there was no evidence brought out that Carefoot had practised.

Not Open To Censure

"I am of the opinion that Donnan was impotent and unfortunate but under the circumstances not seriously open to censure," he added.

If a fraud had been perpetrated or attempted on the public, His Lordship continued, there was nothing to link Donnan with the act. Keays' charge that he had been interfered with had no foundation in fact and in fact was wholly unsupported.

"There is conflict of evidence in respect to the allegation of drunkenness. However, I accepted the evidence of a responsible judge that if Donnan had been drinking he would have ordered him out of court."

The charge against Sgt. Stringer that he had lied to newspaper men about the way he had shot John Miki "justly deserves unqualified condemnation," said Mr. Justice Mackay. (Stringer killed Miki in a gun battle after the latter had shot to death Constable Harold Dent. The fight occurred in the Ottawa district some nine years ago.)

Showed Courage

"Sgt. Stringer showed courage and sound judgment and the award of the King's Medal to him for his actions was fully justified. The charge is unsupported by any reliable witness."

His Lordship found that Constable Purdy had altered his report in the Leroy Wood's case but the change was made because of his failure to comprehend any wrong-doing in the act.

There was no evidence to substantiate the charge that Cpl. Irvine was guilty of perjury and of false documentation in his diary nor was there evidence to support the accusation against Constable Driscoll.

Charges Wholly Unsupported

Notwithstanding the ability and general capacity of Keays as an officer, Mr. Justice Mackay said

Troops Move into Strike-Bound Coal Fields to Work Open-Cut Mines

Sydney, Australia, July 14 (CP) —Australian army troops late tonight moved into the strike-bound coal fields of New South Wales to work open-cut mines.

The orders were issued to regular army units following a secret conference this week between leaders of the federal and state governments.

The first troops to move drove a convoy of 15 bulldozers and scoops to the recently opened open-cut mine at Minni. This mine is not easily reached from the main mining area and apparently was chosen to make interference by striking miners as difficult as possible.

Earlier, building workers said they will not work factories or machinery using blacklisted coal hauled from the mines by non-Communist rail unions.

A large police force left here today for the coal fields to protect the "rail lift." The railway unions announced Wednesday they would bring the coal despite the threat of striking coal miners to resist any attempt to move it.

The coal was mined before the Dominion's 23,000 coal miners began their paralyzing strike June 27. The decision of the rail unions was believed to indicate a breakaway from the Communist-controlled unions which called the strike.

In Commonwealth arbitration court, two more union leaders drew one-year sentences for contempt. William Parkinson, acting President of the Miners' Federation, strongest of the Communist-dominated unions, and Morris Michael Fitzgibbon, Miners' Federation official, were jailed for refusing to pay into the court money withdrawn from union bank accounts allegedly to assist the striking miners.

The proceedings were taken under a national emergency coal strike Act, provisions of which included freezing of union funds. Several other union leaders have also been imprisoned in similar contempt cases.

FARMERS SELL MORE CATTLE FOR HIGHER PRICES

Ottawa, July 14 (CP)—Canadian farmers sold more cattle last year than in any other year in the country's history. And they sold them for the highest average prices on record.

A total of 2,056,995 head of cattle and 840,921 calves were sold, the federal agriculture department said today in its 1948 market review. Only once before —in 1945—had cattle marketing bettered 2,000,000.

Hogs sales were slightly higher than in 1947 but the production of sheep and lambs continued the decline that began in 1946.

Exports of cattle and beef—nearly all of them to the United States—also reached record levels. Cattle exports of 446,458 head were valued at $73,840,000. Beef exports of 126,362,900 pounds were valued at $37,400,000.

Cattle sold for an average of $15.19 per 100 pounds, compared with $10.92 in 1947. Calves sold at an average of $17.66, more than $5 higher than 1947 prices.

The value of all cattle sold was valued at $301,800,000, compared with $165,400,000 in 1947. The value of calves was $32,100,000 compared with $17,600,000.

In 1947 there were 1,564,413 cattle and 704,396 calves sold, with a combined total of $180,000,000.

Cash Value High

Hog marketings in 1948 were 4,774,445, compared with 4,764,873 in 1947 and 8,863,830 in 1944. The estimated cash value of the sales was $215,000,000 and prices averaged $29.03 per 100 pounds for slaughter hogs, $7.75 higher than in 1947 and the highest price on record.

The department said there was almost an "insatiable" domestic demand for pork products with the result that the surplus for export to the United Kingdom fell short of requirements under the Anglo-Canadian bacon agreement.

There were 800,544 sheep and lambs marketed during the year, the smallest volume for any year since 1940. The quality of the stock marketed also decreased although prices increased during the year by about $5 per 100 pounds to $17, the highest average price on record.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, July 14 (CP)—Synopsis:—A weak disturbance near Chicago is causing showers and a few thundershowers over Illinois and Michigan. The showers will move across Southern Ontario today and tonight. Sunny and warmer weather is forecast for southern sections of the province on Friday following the passage of the Chicago disturbance eastward into the New England States.

Cooler weather is again moving southward from Hudson Bay into Northern Ontario and will likely reach the Lower Lakes region on Friday.

One of the Best Camps in History At Moira Lake

Nearing the half way point of the boys' period at the Moira Lake Camp, some fifty campers and leaders are experiencing one of the best camps in the long history of Moira Lake. Weather has been perfect for outdoor activity and long hours of sunlight have been crowded with so many and varied events to keep the camp in top pitch of expectancy.

In the amateur talent contest Peter Smith was the winner with his piano solo closely followed by Edwin Colclough in a trumpet solo. The "sourpuss" or more correctly the "straight face" competition was won by Robert Brearley closely followed by Douglas Walters.

Popular Feature

Among the dramatic presentations, which are proving to be a popular feature, was the "Sultan of Hava Banana" involving many campers in the cast directed by Paul Sweetman. The modern version of Jesse James cast by Jack Matthew's cabin in all its bloodcurdling realism was equally well received. The campers were greatly relieved when Jesse came to final destruction at the hands of the sheriff of Madoc.

Indian Day with all the costume and customs of the natives roaming the hills seeking hidden information. An impressive and serious camp fire setting concluded the program.

Dock a Great Aid

The new swimming and boating dock donated and erected by the Rotary Club has greatly aided the aquatic program. No boy will leave camp this week without being able to swim. This is an objective of the camp for every period. Doug Eaton has given patient attention to this aspect of camp life. The fleet of canoes presented by the Y's Men's Club and the Rotary Club has been a major item in the improvement of the dock; further improvement in the waterfront was made in the erection of steps approaching the stone level. This work has been a major effort of A. Kenneth Griffiths, Gilbert B. Scott, Dr. Jack Marshall, Harold F. Mott, Jack Ireland, Stanley D. Hagerman, George A. Campbell, A. Brewer Hunt, R. W. Hart, R. E. Houston, Stuart A. Riley, L. A. Young and other craftsmen.

Donald Carter has been welcomed in the last group of campers following his triumphs in the junior athletic meet at Toronto.

Fulton's Team Ahead

In the softball league Ron Fulton's team was in the lead closely pursued by the team headed by Edwin Colclough. Application of present campers for continuation to the end of camp has taken practically all available accommodation, only a few short periods are now available and application should be made for these reservations immediately at the Y.M.C.A.

The girls' camp which commences on July 30th is now filled but it is hoped that some additional accommodation can be made available for a few of those who are on the waiting list.

Plans Completed For Young Liberal Basket Picnic

Final plans for the Young Liberal basket picnic to be held at Presqu'Ile Point, Saturday, July 16, were made at a meeting held Wednesday evening in their club rooms.

The social committee, headed by Percy Marcus, reported that transportation would be provided free of charge and that the bus will leave the Collegiate grounds on Church Street side at 2.30 p.m. It will return from Presqu'Ile after the dance in the evening. Special cars will be leaving the Point earlier in the evening to return to the city.

Soft drinks will be provided and a sports program has been arranged for the day.

Other members of the hard working committee are Isobel McCabe, Sheila Doyle and Bob Lucy.

OBITUARY

MRS. ALICE MAUDE MURDOCK

(Montreal-Belleville)

Mrs. Alice Maude (Roberts) Murdock, mother of Mr. Clarence D. Murdock of this city, died suddenly on Wednesday at her home, 2136 Vendome Avenue, Montreal. She was the wife of the Rev. William C. Murdock who survives her, together with one daughter, Mrs. M. G. (Ethel) MacFarlane, of Allandale, Ontario; two sons, Clarence D. Murdock of this city and Reginald W. Murdock of Montreal.

Prior to taking up residence in Montreal five years ago, Mrs. Murdock and her husband resided in Estevan, Sask. She was a member of the United Church.

Interment will take place at Belleville on Friday afternoon; the funeral announcement is made in this edition.

POLICE BLOTTER

With the exception of a couple of minor motor accidents, there was little overnight police activity in the city.

Early this morning there was a report of a man and a woman having a lively verbal argument in Victoria Park and officers were dispatched to investigate, while also today there was a complaint from a local shoe store stating some cash and a ring had disappeared from a girl's purse.

Missourian Wins Major Prizes in Power Boat Regatta Sponsored by Kiwanis Club

Flashing over sunlit Massassaga Bay waters, the elite of American and Canadian speedboat drivers gave 2,000 spectators the thrill of their lives at Massassaga Park Wednesday afternoon when the Kiwanis Club staged its first annual regatta.

They saw a stout Missourian from Kansas City live up to his State's slogan "You've gotta show me" and take two of the three major prizes in a series of thrilling races.

Sidney Street, of Kansas City, who brought three racing craft here roared his 225-cubic inch Division 1 beauty "Z-Z-Zip" over the three-lap five mile course to win two sensational heats in his division to take first money and the Belleville Sargent Gold Trophy emblematic of the course championship.

Street, incidentally also won the 225 Class II Division with his fast "Whiz" who roared over the finish line ahead of the "Maple Leaf" owned and driven by Ed. Pine of Belleville, which chased the flying Missouri boat to the wire in both heats.

56.85 M.P.H. Registered

"Z-Z-Zip" flashing over the more or less placid surface of Massassaga Bay raced to a clean-cut victory at a speed of 56.85 miles per hour.

Closest competitor to the flying Missouri boat was "Blitz III" a new craft owned and driven by Bill Bogey, of Saranac Lake, N.Y. "Blitz II", a sister boat to "Blitz III" driven by Bogey's brother John, gave the flying "Zip" the race of its nautical life and pushed her to the wire in both heats.

"Mr .Dockit" owned and driven by Dr. Walter G. Robinson, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., proved a keen disappointment. A strong pre-race favorite to capture the trophy and prize money in the 225 Division I Class, the "Dockit" which sped over a Quebec course last week for an unofficial record of 83.85 miles per hour, developed mechanical trouble after a slow display in the first heat and was withdrawn for repairs.

Proved To Be Sluggish

"Blitz II," a former Gold Cup champion, driven by John Bogey, Saranac Lake, N.Y., proved to be sluggish and was never in the race. She gave a gallant display but apparently did not have the power to cope with her flying competitors although this boat can do better than the time made by "Zip".

"Ariel II" owned and driven by Bill Braden, of Waterdown, Ont., and rated in pre-race "betting" as the strongest threat to "Dockit" did not appear to be up to the mark and trailed "Zip" and "Blitz III" to take third place.

In the Class II of the 225-cubic inch division, the wind and water did not favor the favorite "Maple Leaf" owned and driven by Ed. Pine of this city. "Maple Leaf", it is said, likes rough water and the more or less placid surface of Massassaga Bay was not exactly to her liking.

Holds U.S. Title

"Whiz" driven by her Missouri owner, rotund Sidney Street, who holds a United States national championship for highest points won in 1948, gave "Maple Leaf" her wash in a sensational duo of heats.

The Missouri craft hit a flying speed of 51 miles per hour to cross the finish line twice scant lengths ahead of the Belleville boat.

"Costa Lotta", a new boat driven by Art Hatch of Hamilton drove to a far away third place in this division, while the "Count Christo" of Pontiac, Mich., driven by Jack Christoff, finished fourth.

Wins Restricted Class

Sid Street, the race-winning Missourian had his eye on this race too but his "Gee Whiz" after leading the pack in the first heat "conked out" within shouting distance of the finish line.

The only "incident" of the regatta took place in this race when Dave Belfie, Gananoque, driving "Family Curse" hit an unexpected squall on the far stretch, turned over and sank. Belfie jumped clear of his boat and was picked up a few minutes later unhurt.

The sister boat "Farmer's Wife II" driven by Bill Belfie, Gananoque, was forced out of the race because of mechanical trouble.

"Running Wild" gave the streaking "Hornet" a close run for the money but failed to have the needed punch when rounding the lower buoys on the stretch for the wire.

Only Boat to Finish

In the "D" and "E" Class racing runabouts the "Dilkusha" owned and driven by Harold Archer of Port Perry had things pretty much her own way. She was the only boat to finish, as was the "Dot E' of St. Petersburgh, Florida, driven by Ed. Endres in the service runabout class.

Six entries appeared on the course for the Bay of Quinte Free-For-All a novice race sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Cal. Kincaid, Madoc, won the outboard prize with George Publow, Picton, getting the inboard trophy. A feature of this race was a tiny sea-flea driven by Mac Wallbridge of Ameliasburg, which finished second in the outboard class. The tiny boat buffeted by the waves gave a fine display and received a grand ovation from the spectators as it ripped over the finish line.

Guests of Club

The drivers and mechanics were guests of the Kiwanis Club at luncheon on the grounds and later at the Hotel Quinte where a buffet lunch was served and the trophies and prizes presented.

Kiwanian Taylor Franklin, chairman of the Regatta Committee, in a brief address congratulated the drivers on their performances and also expressed his appreciation of the work done by his various committees. He then turned the business end of the session over to Kiwanian Harold Craig who presented the prizes to the various winners.

Commodore Reg Sparkes of the Canadian Boating Association and vice-president of the American Power Boat Association in a brief address paid tribute to the first venture of the Kiwanis Club in regattas. "You have done a grand job," he said, "and as far as finding fault is concerned the answer is 'nil'."

Bob Finlayson, Toronto, editor of Canadian Boating Magazine who was the official referee of the regatta added his congratulations with a few remarks of constructive criticism.

A number of the drivers especially those from south of the border including the champion Sid Street, expressed their satisfaction with the regatta and paid special tribute to the Kiwanis Club for the splendid treatment accorded them.

The general consensus of the drivers was: "We'll be back next

DOUBLED FORCE OF SERVICEMEN WORK ON DOCKS

Parliament Can Extend State of Emergency for Month

London, July 14 (CP)—The government, with almost unanimous approval from parliament for its broad emergency powers, sent a double force of servicemen to work today on the strike-bound London docks.

A force of 4,500 soldiers and sailors, as against 2,300 Wednesday, moved into the port area to unload food ships tied up by the 18-day stoppage. Another 2,700 men were ordered by the Royal Air Force to stand by for duty Friday.

The Dock Labor Board said 14,204 men were idle today, 3,464 more than when the emergency was proclaimed by the King at the request of the cabinet last Monday.

Work on 132 ships was held up. Eight others were being unloaded or loaded by undermanned crews. Almost 40 ships were still being worked by full dock crews.

Approve Powers

The House of Commons Wednesday night approved the emergency powers assumed by the government, which has seized control of the dock area along the Thames River under regulations which virtually mean martial law. Commons approved the regulations by a vote of 412 to 4. One Communist and three members expelled from the Labor party cast the only dissenting votes.

The emergency proclamation, first since the general strike of 1926, is valid for a week. Parliament can extend it to a month.

Prime Minister Attlee told Commons the government would not tolerate dictation by "Communists and fellow travellers." He called for a finish fight with the strike leaders.

Union Men Wait For Report

The executive committees of the Stevedore's and Tugmen's Unions, whose members are idle, waited for the report today from union leaders who looked into the basic dispute Wednesday.

There were indications they might ask the men to go back to work but the workers have ignored similar pleas before from both union and government officials. The strikers have remained refiant in the face of government charges their walkout is Communist-inspired.

The British union leaders met Wednesday with Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner, who had a hand in negotiations to settle the jurisdictional dispute between two Canadian unions which has provoked the London trouble.

The longshoremen have refused to unload the Canadian ships tied up by the leftiest Canadian Seamen's Union. The dock board then refused to allow these men to work other vessels. Other dock workers struck in sympathy.

U.K. Financial Losses as Result Of War Outlined in Pamphlet

By FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

Some of the staggering financial losses suffered by Britain in the war are outlined in a pamphlet released by the United Kingdom Information Office in Ottawa.

Entitled "Britain's Overseas Financial Assets and Liabilities," it comments in part:

"Britain's external financial position was completely changed through the war.

"Her overseas investments shrank by some $4,500,000,000, plus a net loss of reserves amounting to $615,000,000. These losses were all additional to her loss of resources through physical destruction and through the turning of her industry from trade to war production."

At the same time, advances to Allied governments, most of which are still outstanding, amounted to well over $1,000,000,000.

"Britain's gold and dollar reserves were almost completely wiped out at one stage . . . She was spending not only her last reserves, but also selling her most precious dollar and other overseas investments to pay for her war expenditure during the early years before lend-lease.

"In the first 18 months of the war, Britain had to rely to a considerable extent on the sale of British investments in Canada to finance war purchases in that country.

"By March, 1942, $714,000,000 of Canadian government or government - guaranteed securities owned by British investors had been repatriated, and a further $126,000,000 had been provided by private repatriation. British investors still held $700,000,000 worth of dollar securities and $300,000,000 worth of sterling securities based on Canadian property; but the Canadian government decided to halt further repatriation."

Further wartime supplies from Canada were financed partially by a long-term interest-free loan; and by Canadian outright gifts of $2,733,000,000 either for the United Kingdom or for the United Nations in general as part of mutual aid.

"In 1943 Britain bought and paid cash for more than $850,000,000 worth of goods from Canada, in addition to giving certain reciprocal aid."

An unofficial estimate of Britain's external assets and liabilities at last Dec. 31 puts assets at $14,600,000,000 and liabilities at $22,900,000,000.

Board to Investigate Charge of Assault

Windsor, uly 14 (CP)—Board of Education Wednesday night promised a full investigation into a report which resulted in school principal Robert M. Fuller appearing in court Saturday to answer a common assault charge laid by the father of one of his pupils.

Edward Whited, a Negro, charges that Mr. Fuller struck his 12-year-old daughter, Elaine, on the face, seized her by the hair, banged her head against a door and then hit her with his knee. The incident allegedly took place at Dougall Avenue school June 24.

Superintendent of schools, Leonard Wheelton, said no complaint has been received from the Whited family concerning the incident but that after the case came to light in the newspaper, a report was asked for, and received, from Mr. Fuller."

Dr. H. D. Taylor, chairman, said the Board will conduct its own inquiry into the incident when the court case has been heard.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, July 14 (CP)—Prices moved narrowly in spotty trading with a few industrials climbing slightly here today. Golds and base metals tended weaker on realizing sales.

Selected industrials continued Wednesday's firmness, resisting the generally easier tone in market. Canadian Food Products Pfd. sold off at a new low while steels firmed.

A wide list of base metal stocks showed changes, mostly on the downside. Wednesday's strong demand lifted the group to the highest level in some time and profit-taking cut into most of the gains today. Consolidated Smelters absorbed sales readily, losing only 1-2 of Wednesday's 2 1-2-point gain.

Steep Rock was a standout in the generally lower list, attracting considerable attention for a 22-cent advance at $1.62.

Kerr Addison slipped a fraction in senior golds and a few juniors showed losses ranging up to five cents.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, July 14—(CP)—Fresh offerings were light on the local livestock market this morning. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle, 130; calves, 50; hogs, 100: lambs, 30. Left from Wednesday's trading were 250 cattle.

Prices were strong on a few choice steers offered at $22.50-$23. Good heifers were $21. Plain light steers and heifers sold from $16-$19. Good cows brought $15-16 A few light stockers were $15-16 50.

Hogs were steady at $33 for Grade A and $32.60 for Grade B1. Sows were steady at $22 dressed.

Lamb prices held steady. Good lambs were $28.50 for ewes and wethers and $27.50 for bucks. No sheep were offered.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, July 14 (CP)—Produce prices quoted on the Spot Market here this morning follow —Churning Cream, No. 1, 58c F.O.B. 62c delivered.

Butter prints unquoted.

The egg market was firm this morning on light supply. Lower grades increased in price. Country shippers quoted graded eggs cases free—Grade A large 65; A medium 63; A pullet 51-52; wholesale to retail: Grade A large 68-69; A medium 66-67; A pullet 55-60; Grade B 48-49; Grade C 41-42.

Butter solids: First grade tenderable solids, 58; other first grades 57.

HOGS

Toronto, July 14 — (CP) — Hog prices were unchanged at Stratford today. Grade A were $32.85 from farmers and $33 from truckers.

At Hull, Que., Grade A hogs were up $1 at $33.75 delivered.

Liberal Assured Of House Seat

Final results were Mr. Tremblay 6,979, Mr. Corriveau 6,760, L. P. Bouchard, Union of Electors candidate, 1,019.

SCULPTURED ROCKS

Roche Percee, Sask. — (CP)— The rocks of Roche Percee in southeastern Saskatchewan are beginning to crumble. Sculptured into strange shapes by wind and rain some of the sandstone giants are 30 feet high. But weathering is going too far and some of the giants are slowly disintegrating.

COMMISSIONER

he was forced to recommend his dismissal.

"His charges and allegations of wrong-doing, perjury, deceit, inefficiency, and unimpartiality against public officials and police officers remain wholly unsupported and are completely without vindication, justification, mitigation or excuse," he added.

Pays Tribute to Inspector

His Lordship, paying tribute to Insp. Page's years of effective service, said that he was of the opinion that this officer's usefulness now was curtailed by marked physical limitations and his retirement was indicated.

In recommending the complete re-organization of the Belleville Provincial Police district, he said he found that a "basis of antagonism, prejudice, misdirect impulse, inflamed passions had arisen prior to and during the inquiry and these conditions would be corrected by the re-organization.".

Mr. Justice Mackay exonerated Leslie Blackwell, who was attorney - general at the time the royal commission was set up, of any threat to Keays. When the charges first arose, the only action left open to Mr. Blackwell was to announce publicly that they would be investigated by a royal commission and that Keays would be dismissed if his charges were not substantiated.

Police Arrest Suspect in Armed Robbery

Sudbury, July 14. (CP)—Police said today they have arrested Wilfred Lebrun, 29, of Ottawa in connection with the attempted armed robbery last week of the Provincial Bank of Canada branch at Papineauville, Que.

Sudbury police arrested Lebrun, the last of three men wanted in connection with the holdup, in an Elm Street hotel Wednesday less than five hours after being advised by Montreal police that he was believed to be heading for this city.

He was taken into custody as he sat in the hotel beverage room and offered no resistance.

Police said Lebrun at first denied being the man sought, but later was identified through papers in his possession.

Three men failed last week when they attempted to force the manager of the Papineauville branch of th Banque Provinciale du Canada to open the safe. They fled after striking the bank manager's wife in the mouth.

Marshall Plan Countries to Buy Goods in Canada

Ottawa, July 14. (CP)— The United States has put up the money for Marshall plan countries to buy $762,619,776 worth of goods in Canada.

It's $19,852,000 more than the total at the end of May when the amount set aside to be used to buy Canadian goods was $742,767,776.

The United Kingdom continues to get the green light for purchasing the biggest chunk of commodities in Canada. At July 1 total authorizations had cleared the way for the U.K. to buy a host of commodities to the value of $629,441,129—an increase of $15,222,000 from May 31 when the figure was $614,219,129.

The U.S. dollars alloted for purchases in Canada are 38 per cent of all the money authorized under E.C.A. to be spent in countries outside the United States, and 13 per cent of the total authorizations when the U.S. purchases are included.

Two Cobourg Girls Drown off Beach

Cobourg, July 14 (CP) — Two little girls were drowned here Wednesday when swept down by a Lake Ontario undertow. They were Shirley Anne Genereux, seven, and Lou-Anne Tryon, eight, both of Cobourg. The girls were swimming and playing in shallow water when the current started pulling them under.

STRANGE HARVEST

Vancouver — (CP) — Strange things grew overnight on C. Thody's front lawn. One Sunday morning he found: two overcoats, a man's suit, dressing gown, eight shirts, women's slacks and skirt, seven blouses, five dresses, three slips, a night dress and chenille dressing gown. He gave his harvest to the police, but he's still puzzled.

Campbellford Man Given Seven Years In Penitentiary

Peterborough, July 14—(CP)— Albert Ibey, 24, of Campbellford, was sentenced today to seven years on five charges of break-ins and thefts at Havelock village, and theft of a truck at Coboconk.

His younger brother Fred, 17, charged with the same offences, which took place July 6, after he escaped from Bowmanville Industrial Training School, was sentenced to two years less a day definite and the same period indefinite.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw told the Magistrate that he was writing to the Attorney General about the younger boy's escape from Bowmanville because the school authorities had known where he was but had done nothing about it.

Provincial Constables Archie Grayling and R. A. Feeley described how four policemen had hunted for the boys in the bush country around the lake, north of Havelock, knowing them to be armed.

Constable Grayling said that when the four policemen closed in on the boys, whom they discovered in the bush near Trout Lake, they had asked the youths if they would have shot them.

One of the brothers had replied to Constable A. Kellog of Hastings that he would have "shot your guts."

"We're not scared of your peashooters" referring to the police revolvers, they said, "but we knew you had a rifle."

THE TOUCH OF GREEN

Many green stones, such as emeralds and serpentines, owe their color to the presence of chromium.

Grenfell Mission Gave Health Care To Newfoundland

Washington, July 14 (CP)—Sir Wilfred Grenfell's great dream was that Newfoundland would become "the Gibraltar of North America", one of his co-workers says.

Eleanor Cushing of New York, executive secretary of the Grenfell Mission, told the Washington Soroptimist Club about the welfare work launched by Sir Wilfred in 1892. Miss Cushing worked with him for eight years.

"It's only been within the last couple of years that the spotlight of civilization has been turned on Newfoundland," she said. In 1892, Sir Wilfred found Newfoundlanders without proper medical care and in poor health from malnutrition. Illiteracy was rampant, she said.

The Grenfell Mission now operates five hospitals, seven nursing homes and a children's home. The nutritional diseases, beri-beri and scurvy, are almost eliminated but tuberculosis still takes a considerable toll.

Miss Cushing praised the generous support given by volunteer workers.

"Most of these volunteers have been American and Canadian college boys and girls who took their summer vacation time to come help us and without pay.

APHIDS DESTROY CROPS

Winnipeg, July 14—(CP)—Manitoba's plague of hungry crop-killing gree naphids Wednsday was reported to be spreading north and east, leaving in their trail thousands of acres of destroyed oats and barley. Almost 30 municipalities reported the insects.

FALL FAIRS AID COMMUNITIES

One of Ontario's oldest institutions, the Fall Fair, will again hold the limelight in a month or so and from the largest to the smallest, each is an event of extreme importance in its own locality.

Ontario Agricultural Societies' Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, of which J. A. Carroll is superintendent, has just had printed the 1949 list of fair dates. It is issued by the Department and during the months of September and October as many as 25 Fall Fairs are scheduled for some day of the week.

An interesting feature of this year's list is the fact that of the 260 fairs and exhibitions, 23 of them, of which the Belleville Fair is one, are this year starting their second century. They observed their anniversary last year and directors are preparing for much bigger things as they enter their second century.

"The Fall Fair provides a sort of show-window for the smaller communities, just as the bigger fairs offer industry an opportunity to advertise its wares in the district served by the fair," Mr. Carroll has commented. "The Fall Fair also gives real impetus to improving agricultural practices."

Mr. Carroll points out, too, that livestock competitions encourage better breeding and care of animals; competitions in all the various clases of the Fair, bring about better production of grain, vegetables, methods of production and in a host of other ways give the farmer a higher goal to aim at.

In Northern Ontario the Fall Fair is an outstanding event, especially in areas where farms are widespread and people in remote areas meet their neighbors only on rare occasions.

In this year's list the earliest events are in the first part of August although there are livestock shows and other exhibitions during the early summer. Then there is the Canadian National Exhibition which has been described as "The Shop Window of the World" which this year will be held from August 26 to September 10. The latest of all is the Royal Winter Fair held on November 15 to 23.

However, from the smallest to the biggest, each has its own individual importance in the locality which it serves. This importance is often beyond calculation.

VEST LOSING POPULARITY

Is the vest — one of the hardiest and long-lived of all conventional male garments — on its way out? A survey of the men's wear trade in Chicago indicates that it is.

The reasons are various. Wartime restrictions made the standard for double breasted suits two instead of three pieces. A good many garment manufacturers never have gotten around to restoring the vest, for obvious reasons. Millions of young men came back from the armed forces accustomed to wearing a military blouse over a shirt and tie sans vest. And, for some years past there has been a trend among younger men to leave their vests on a hanger in the wardrobe, using instead, when the weather indicates, a sleeveless pullover sweater. The result of all this has been the gradual development of a no vest psychology which tends to establish the idea that the waistcoat, to use the older name, is a garment for older men, says an editorial in the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch.

However, habit is a powerful thing. Men have been wearing vests for several centuries, although the scanty undergarb of today is sober beside the billowing, flowered waistcoats of colonial times. And there still are millions of men who do not feel properly attired without a portable catchall to hold pens, pencils, numerous other minor impedimenta and to serve as a backdrop for fraternity jewelry.

On the other hand, there are practical considerations that appear to be bringing about the decline of the vest. Originally, waistcoats not only had sartorial appeal, but were needed for warmth. A close fitting vest, worn under a greatcoat, was a real comfort in cold weather. Today, except for outdoor workers, men do not need so much clothing. They ride in heated trains, buses and automobiles. Homes and offices have central heating.

Wives have little affection for vests. Gravy stains require that a whole suit go to the cleaner whereas an accident to a shirt means only one more item in the family washing.

It looks to us as if the cards are stacked against the vest. But we don't look for its disappearance overnight.

If issuance of building permits continues at its present rate Montreal will have nearly 10,000 new dwelling units in 1949, twice the normal number. The 1948 total was 8,352 and in the first six months of this year more than 4,800 units were authorized.

QUESTION

What is wrong with us that men
One another want to kill?
Why these tales of crime we pen
Pages of the press to fill?

Why the countless minds distraught?
Why so many wayward youth?
Can it be in what we've taught truth?
We have lost the light of

Can it be we've ceased to care
For the ways our parents taught:
Love of home and conduct fair,
Love of gentle deed and thought?

Why "old-fashioned" now the phrase
Flung at simple truths to sneer?
Following those "old-fashioned ways"

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE UNSEEN HAND

A writer, describing a trip he and David Livingstone, the great missionary, had made together, tells this following astonishing incident. "One day Livingstone narrowly escaped losing his life from an attack by a two-horned rhinoceros. Livingstone had become separated from the others and was stooping to gather some specimens when a black rhinoceros made a furious charge at him. But, strange to say, it suddenly stopped short, giving him time to escape. In his flight Livingstone's watch and chain became entangled in a branch and, stopping to loosen it, he saw the beast still standing in the same spot, as if held back by an unseen hand."

In the life of almost every individual some astonishing preservation has at some time occurred. It has seemed that some overwhelming circumstance as ferocious as the black rhinoceros has been suddenly stopped short and kept from wiping us out of existence, as if held back by an unseen hand.

Jesus assures us that even the hairs of our heads are numbered. If this is true, then certainly it is not hard for us to believe that the God who has made us takes care of us until the commission we were sent to earth to perform is finished. There is an unseen hand guiding everyone of us through the maze of life's manifold experiences.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

The locksmith who came to mend a lock at my house arrived with nothing more than a screw driver and small round box for squirting powdered graphite into the locks.

He said that ninety per cent of all lock trouble could be fixed with those two tools. And he was sick and tired of lugging a big tool box around with him.

"Locks," he asserted, "are probably the best built bits of mechanism in modern use. They're simple, solid and enduring. The reason they go wrong is generally due to screws being allowed to get loose. If a man took a screw driver once a year and went around tightening the screws that hold his locks in place, he would never have lock trouble.

"The second cause of trouble," remarked the locksmith, "is oil. If a lock gets sticky, the women get the little oil can and dose enough oil into the mechanism to keep a bicycle going six months. That oil soon gums with dust.

sure. These little packets of powdered graphite cost only a few cents. You squirt the powder into the lock, and she's as slick as silk . . ."

The locksmith took his screw driver and removed the whole business from my door. He examined it critically, twisting and turning the parts.

"H'mmm," he murmured. "Just as I feared! A broken tumbler. It rarely happens. . ."

So he had to get in his car and go back to his shop for the tool box When he returned, he took the lock all apart, and poked and scrabbled through the tool box to see if he could find a part to replace the broken tumbler.

"As I feared," he said. "This is an old-fashioned type. . . I'm afraid you'll need a new lock on there."

Which I did. And after he had screwed the new lock into place firmly with his screw driver, he took the graphite squirter and gave it a good douse, and pocket-

Correspondents Went to Get Story On Indonesia

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press News Analyst
For Dewitt Mackenzie

The correspondents who died in the Bombay air crash had gone to Indonesia to get a story strangely mixed with despair and hope.

Indonesia contains things people use a lot—such as oil, tin, rubber and quinine. It also contains the most congested population on earth (Java) in a section of the world that is intent, in varying degrees of passion, on attaining national freedom.

But there may be a peaceful way to make the change, and that is the hope.

Dutch Ruled Well

After driving the Portuguese out of Indonesia some 300 years ago the Dutch ruled the Indies with a firm but paternal hand.

But even before the second world war the Indonesians had begun to agitate tor freedom.

The Japanese swept the Dutch out of Indonesia or into concentration camps, much as a tidal wave once uprooted trees along the shore of Sunda Strait when the volcano Krakatoa blew itself to bits.

They promised the Indonesians everything, but didn't deliver. Only at the last minute before VJ-Day, they let them set up a republic.

Didn't Play Ball

The Dutch came back, war-weary in their own right, to an Indonesia that wanted freedom but still needed help which the Dutch could supply.

The Dutch realized that without Indonesia their own country would be poor indeed. Their plan was to put the republic into a United States of Indonesia, and make that a member of a new Dutch Commonwealth that would replace the empire.

Many things worked against this. Cabinets have fallen at the Hague over the Indonesian question. In Indonesia, the Japanese left a legacy of guns, poverty, and chaos. Guerrillas crounged for themselves. The Dutch army and the Indonesian army didn't trust each other.

The United Nations stepped in and sent a commission to mediate. But the last four years are strewn with agreements made, broken, and followed by fighting.

Twice the Dutch have taken "police action" that by-passed U. N. sponsored truces.

Now, there's to be another try to iron things out, and if it works the new plan will start working by next year.

The correspondents on that ill-fated plane had been taken by the Dutch to look the situation over. One report says they had become convinced that the Indonesians are not ready for self government and that chaos will follow.

That's half the question. The other half is whether anyone else can govern them these days.

Doctor Says Noise Can Injure Brain

Chicago — (CP) — Continued loud noises can hurt your brain and your nerves as well as your ears, a Milwaukee doctor says.

Dr. W. E. Grove declares the results of long-continued clamor are "not incomparable to battle fatigue."

Writing in the journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Grove says: "The nervous system is not constituted to take this sort of battering. One becomes jumpy, jittery and irritable under the impact of continuous noise.

"Exposure to extremely loud sounds over a long period results in impaired hearing. The louder the sound, the greater the impairment over a similar period."

He says the danger point to health lies somewhere between 70 and 100 decibles. A decible is a unit measuring the loudness of sounds. Ordinary office noise rates about 40 decibles, a busy street produces about 65 decibles, and heavy traffic about 80 decibles.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HOME

For many years, of necessity, I travelled thousands of miles, under all sorts of conditions. But I never left home without a catch in the throat, and never returned without realizing that home was the best destination of all.

Travelling to learn, and to gain a livelihood, is a worthy occupation, but the longer it is engaged in, the more one longs to stay at home, with its simple comforts and freedom. Travelling just to get to one's destination, however, without knowledge gained along the way, is like shoving opportunity from one's path, without an eye-look.

Said Thoreau: "Only that travelling is good which reveals to me the value of home and enables me to enjoy it better." Perhaps it may well be said that home is the ever-shinning star that guides us safely and happily over life's roughest roads. People coming from long tours in foreign lands habitually exclaim upon their return that "there is no place like home."

There are too many people in this world who do not appreciate their homes. But they hardly get away before they wish that they were back in their own small niche, and to the most comfortable bed ever known! Homesickness is a wonderful ailment for us all to have. It makes one conscious of one of the greatest blessings on earth.

John Howard Payne wrote his immortal "Home, Sweet Home" while in a foreign land, but without a home that he could call his own. Yet that song has made millions appreciate their "home" and look forward to its enjoyment anew.

It doesn't take great wealth to make a home beloved. It's as Eddie Guest has written in one of his most famous poems—"It takes a heap o' livin' in a house t' make it home." Usually the humbler it is the happier are all within its walls. And more precious are its memories.

If you have a home—"be it ever so humble"—try and look upon it as a shrine and thank God each day for its possession.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

(Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letter should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, care of this newspaper.)

THE NATURE OF NEURASTHENIA

The subject of numerous new books for both medical and lay readers and of rapidly increasing numbers of articles in popular magazines as well as medical journals, and eke betimes a vulgar crack in this column, is geriatrics.

Geriatrics (derived from a Greek word geras, meaning old age, and a Greek word iatros meaning physician, medicine or treatment) is the branch of medicine concerned with old age and its diseases.

To the best of my knowledge there are only a handful of practicing geriatricians in the country at present, doctors who work at it, I mean. If my information is correct even the authors of medical textbooks on the subject do not limit their practice, if they practice at all, to diseases of the aged. And I don't blame them. People would shun the office of a doctor who announces that his or her practice is limited to—what? Old codgers? Elderly folk? For this reason I doubt that there will ever be enough "well known" geriatricians to prevent many of these customers fro mfalling into the hands of ordinary doctors.

A bona fide geriatrician would have a better chance of surviving in practice than a what shall I call him—a prophylactician?—a physician who limits his or her practic to prophylaxis, the prevention of disease and the preservation of health. The customers would patronize such a specialist, provided he or she gave time and service without expectation of compensation. Most people today are like the client who, having taken more than an hour of my time and received my advice about this ailment, exclaimed when I named my fee "What for? —you didn't give me any medicine!"

Mental depression, lack of initiative and loss of functional efficiency are the common vague manifestations of nutritional deficiency. McLester mentions in his Nutrition and Diet that a number of patients in a Birmingham hospital with pellagra had been in the hospital in previous years with "neurasthenia." In the green book Nerves and Nutrition (for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope) Brady harps on this idea and calls milk the best nerve food. Fresh whole milk or skim milk or separator milk is indeed the richest food source of niacin (nicotinic acid) and riboflavin, vitamins of the B-complex, prolonged or habitual lack of which is the chief cause of pellagra. Whole milk is also the best food source of calcium, and calcium deficiency in the diet of most Americans is accountable for so many common or chronic ailments that I hesitate to name them here.

I hesitate because telling the symptoms is not very kind on the doctor's part. It is usually a quack's way of knocking over new business. Well, some readers may say, so what? Just this: As a rule it is better that the patient tell his or her symptoms to the doctor when or if he or she consults a physician.

But I can conceive no other way to teach you dum—you laymen this lesson in nutrition, so the next two or three talks about nutrition will be as symptomatic [illegible] an old time almanac or doc[illegible] book.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Allergy

Suggestions in a leaflet of yours on Allergy brought more relief than anything I ever tried. You do not say how long the potassium and vitamin C treatment should continue. (Mrs. J. C. P.)

Answer—If you'll read the leaflet more carefully you'll see that the potassium and C is to be taken only for relief, but calcium and D should be taken for several weeks for prevention. For copy of pamphlet Relief for Allergy send stamped self addressed envelope.

No Substitute

Preparing for state bar examination. Is it all right to substitute vitamin B1 for vitamin B complex which you advise to prevent examination jitters? (B R.)

Answer—No. One milligram (about one-sixtieth of a grain) of thiamine (vitamin B1) along with each one-grain tablet, pill or capsule of quinine sulfate, three times a day for a week or two before the ordeal, would be better than none, but the B complex is part of the treatment and no substitute may be used.

Official's Ruses Deceive Fenians

Winnipeg, July 14—(CP)—The circumstances which preluded the construction of one of the first houses built in a section of Winnipeg are such as would delight a writer of mystery stories. They involve several thousand dollars concealed in a coffin and a man forced into disguise by threats of Fenian revenge.

The story came to light when two members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Winnipeg investigated the history of the area surrounding their clubhouse at 3 Evergreen Place.

It appears that Hon. Gilbert McMicken, a Windsor, Ont., magistrate, was appointed first assistant receiver-general in western Canada in 1879. One of his first duties was to open a bank in Fort Garry, as Winnipeg then was known.

For safe keeping, he hid funds for the bank in a coffin during the journey. And because of previous dealings with the Fenians during their raids upon Canada from the United States, Mr. McMicken protected himself by a disguise. He had his beard and sidewhiskers shaved off and his white hair dyed black.

Ruses Paid Off

The precautions paid off. He encountered few difficulties and fewer dangers on his trip west. Most of his worries after his arrival in Fort Garry were about housing.

So across the Assiniboine River on a wooded lot running west from Osborne St. the assistant receiver-general built a home for his family.

There was no bridge across the river in those days—nor were there enough interested people to build one. Mr. McMicken soon tired of making the trip by rowboat. He built a sturdy footbridge.

The second owner of the house was John Cosgrave, owner of a brewery. The house burned to the ground in 1888. The site was acquired by a land and timber agent for the federal government and the house rebuilt.

The property owned by the Professional and Business Women's Club was one of those built by Manlius Bull, one of the original property owners of the district. The club bought the property in 1946.

68-Year-Old Woman Top Foot-Slogger

Wellington, N.Z., July 14—(CP)—New Zealand's "great-grandmother hiker," Mrs. Kitty O'Sullivan is planning to cross the United States on foot. If she finds some other great-grandmother has already done it she is out to reduce the time.

Mrs. O'Sullivan, 68, has set distance walking records in many parts of the world. She walked from one end of New Zealand to the other 17 years ago. At 57, she visited Britain and walked the 881 miles from Land's End to John O'Groats in 34 days.

She has just returned from Australia where, after four months' of intensive gymnasium training, she walked from Brisbane to Sydney, a distance of 667 miles in 47 days. This time included six half-days off to rest her feet and two whole days in which she was held up by floods.

Mrs. O'Sullivan, who is only five feet tall and weighs 112 lbs, can perform feats in the gymnasium that most women a third of her age could not do.

Stirring Address Sets Girls Moving

High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, England, (CP)—Principal Janet Vaughan told the girls of swank Wycombe Abbey school assembled for Speech Day.

"The world is full of exciting and interesting people and things. It is up to us to go out and find our own opportunities".

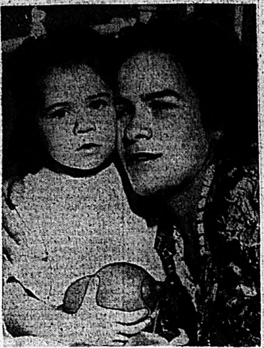
Wendy Lawton and Cherry Stone, both 15, took Dr. Vaughan's remarks to heart. They ran away.

Next day a policeman found them in a bus station at Aylesbury, 16 miles away. They had slept the night in haystack. Back they went to Wycombe Abbey to face the music.

Place First Woman In Top Health Post

Washington (CP)—Lucile Petry has been appointed an assistant surgeon-general of the United States public health service. She is the first woman to hold such a post.

Miss Petry has headed the division of nursing since 1946. Before entering the public health service, she was assistant director of the University of Minnesota School of nursing and instructor at the Johns Hopkins and Yale schools of nursing.



ASSAULT VICTIM

Safe in her mother's arms and recovering from a criminal attack is 28-month-old Marie Giselle Lachance, who was found tied to a rafter, nude and bruised and nearly strangled in a shed behind her third-storey apartment in Ottawa's lower town. Police called the assault the city's most brutal case of its kind.—(CP Photo.)

Couple Must Have Lived Happily For Year and Day to Enter Trials

By Norman Cribbens
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Dunmow, Essex, England, July 14—(CP) — Any married couple who can claim to have "lived blissfully together for a year and a day" without a single quarrel, are entitled to enter the Dunmow Flitch Trials, to be held here Oct. 1.

The trials, originated in the 13th century, have for hundreds of years drawn crowds of people to what is accepted as the funniest mock trial in Britain.

This year the traditional prize of a flitch (or side) of bacon will be a present from a New Zealand farmer. The farmer gave a quantity of bacon to the Commonwealth Gift Scheme for distribution in Britain on condition that one flitch was reserved for the Dunmow Trials.

The competition is open to any couple who are not afraid of their claim to married happiness being falsified under cross-examination.

"Visitors from any part of the world may enter," an official of the Trials Committee said. "All they have to do is make application in writing to the Dunmow Flitch Committee, Dunmow Town Hall. We then send them a questionnaire."

Two or three of the best entrants are selected for the Trial, which is conducted with traditional pomp and ceremony.

Authentic law court procedure is followed in the conduct of the trials, with judge and jury, counsel for the claimants and counsel for the bacon.

Final decision is left to a jury of six local bachelors and six local maidens. The winning couple are carried around the town in a replica of the chair used 600 years ago.

At one pre-war trial, a wife said on oath: "When we first married, my husband agreed to bring me a cup of tea in bed every morning. He did this for two months. Then he said we'd take it in turns—but his turn hasn't come round yet."

Another time a middle-aged married couple claimed that their marriage was free from the "chief causes of marital strife."

These were listed as:

Husbands—bad temper, untidiness, stopping out late.

Wives — extravagance, irritability, bad cooking.

The Dunmow Trials are said to have been instituted in the reign of King Henry III by ord Fitzwalter, an Essex Baron, whose own marriage was unhappy.

Prefers Home Role To Stage Contract

Glasgow, Scotland, (CP) — Twenty-seven-year-old Mrs. Robert McLeod prefers being a housewife to a theatre star.

She was offered a part in "Oklahoma" in London's West End. She could have been one of the stars of "Brigadoon", or a leading performer in "White Horse Inn".

Mrs. McLeod turned them all down. She said she preferred to stay home and look after her husband who is a postman.

"I will sing only in Glasgow," she said.

As Louise Boyd, she began her singing career at 16 by winning first prize in a Glasgow contest. With her prize money she took singing lessons.

While singing at a concert to raise money for fighter planes during the war she met Bob McLeod, the postman, who was then playing trumpet in a local band.

They married, but Louise continued her concert career in Glasgow. Last year a London produced heard her performance and invited her to audition for the Scottish musical "Brigadoon", now playing at His Majesty's Theatre in London.

It was suggested that for practice, Louise should have a part in "Oklahoma".

"I was tempted," she said. "My husband told me he did not want to stand in my way, but when I thought of the happy home life I should have to give up here I decided against it.

"Some people think I'm crazy, but I've turned my back on the London stage. I'll sing only in Glasgow."

Advocates Laughter As Reform Measure

Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, (CP)— Dame Lilian Barker, former Borstal governor, told welfare workers: "I have laughed more people into being good than if I had preached for hours.

"Preaching gets dull, it annoys. Give them something that amuses them and fastens on their minds and it is a very different story."

Dame Barker said moral welfare workers "used to be flat-footed, flat-hatted, flat-chested and flat-minded, but al that is changed now."

Gifts Presented On Anniversary

Last Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Huck entertained about thirty-five guests at their Summer cottage at Massassaga Point at a surprise party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, of Point Anne, on the occasion of their twenty-fifth anniversary.

The evening was spent in playing cards.

After distribution of the prizes, Mr. H. E. Payne read an address to the guests of honor, and Mrs. Joseph Huck presented Mrs. Armstrong with a silver tea tray, and Mr. Armstrong with a silver cocktail shaker, and other gifts. Mr. Armstrong expressed their appreciation to their friends and relatives for their generosity and thoughtfulness.

Refreshments were served the guests at a table decorated in pink and silver, after which the guests thanked the host and hostess for the happy evening which all had enjoyed.

The Experts Say . .

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, (CP)—"Putting down" fruit may still be a puzzle to the new homemaker, but she will find plenty of guiding rules in the latest edition of the agriculture department bulletin, 'Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables."

The booklet, which is just off the press, is the last word from home economists of the department's consumer section, on recommended methods of canning for different kinds of fruits and vegetables.

In addition there are ten pages of recipes for a tasty variety of marmalades, jams, and for pickles and relishes.

Select and wash three pounds firm, ripe, black or sweet white cherries. Pack unpitted, with stems attached, in clean jars. Cover with the following cold vinegar mixture: two cups vinegar; two cups water; two teaspoons salt; one-half cup brown sugar; two tablespoon whole cloves; one-quarter ounce stick cinnamon.

Tie whole spices in cheesecloth bag. Mix all ingredients together and boil for five minutes. Cool and remove spice bag. Pour cold syrup over cherries in jars and seal. Yield: about four pints.

Cantaloupe and peach jam may became the family's favorite breakfast "sweet".

Ingredients: five cups peeled diced cantaloupe; five cups peeled, diced peaches; three medium oranges, grated rind and juice; five cups sugar.

Mix all ingredients and let stand until sugar is dissolved (about one hour). Bring to boil and boil, uncovered, to jam stage (about 30 minutes). Pour into hot sterilized jars. Cool and seal. Yield: about 6 1-2 cups.

The agriculture department booklet also endeavors to answer questions which crop up in the course of canning.

It gives several reasons why jelly sometimes fails to set—using over-ripe fruit or fruit lacking in pectin; too short a boiling time before or after adding the sugar; using too much sugar in proportion to the pectin and acid in the juice.

Sugar crystals in jelly may be caused from an excess of sugar; insufficient acid; over-cooking of the jelly too great a delay in sealing it.

Jelly "weeps" sometimes because of too much acid in the fruit juice. This may be prevented by mixing a juice high in acid with one low in acid.

Begum Skirts, Punkha Sashes Height of Fashion Next Fall

New York, July 14—(AP) — We can't all be Rita Hayworth, but we can dress in Begum skirts and Punkha sashes next fall.

Anthony Blotta has designed an entire "India Modern" collection inspired by the land of the Maharajahs, and including everything but the temple bells.

Previewed Wednesday for the visiting fashion press, the group highlights the tunic silhouette, goes in for a lavish spattering of jewels and sequins, and introduces such colors as Bangor brown, Rhama blue, oriental flame, Bombay beige, Hindustan taupe, lotus leaf green and Hindu sand.

Feature Pockets

The collection also features "hidden temple pockets", which are jacket pockets slit at the sides so you can reach other pockets in the dress beneath.

There also is the "Ghandi Rever", being a looped lapel stitched to the sleeve seam.

Adele Simpson predicts that the coat dress will be North America's most popular garment this fall and shows it in all versions, from tweed to satin. It is effective in the new feather-weight woolens which are featured in all collections this season. Sheer tweeds are especially handsome as handled by the adept Adele, a pint-size designer whose influence is large.

A feature of the collection is the constellation neckline, low, revealing and cuffed to form a frame for the face.

Girl Guide Camp At Doe Lake Wonderful Place

Toronto, July 14 (CP)—The new Provincial Girl Guide camp at Doe Lake in the Parry Sound district has already become an established camp for Ontario Girl Guides in its first season. The camp has its own chapel in the woods, a dinghy, appropriately named the Guider, and three canoes, says Mrs. Gordon D. Conant, of Oshawa, Provincial Guide Commissioner, who has just returned from a visit to the camp.

"Campers and their leaders are demonstrating plenty of patience and a love of campaign which will make Ontario's first Provincial camp site a wonderful place, both for them and for campers in years to come," said Mrs. Conant.

Guides from 16 Ontario centres are registered at the camp of which Miss Kathlyn Anson is in charge as chief commandant. The camp, while convenient to the highway, is "really out in the wilds," she says and campers have already had the thrill of having a fawn, a buck and a doe call on them.

Mrs. James Carson, Oshawa, is campcraft commandant and assisted in having a raft built for swimming. Since the camp opened, Mrs. E. V. Elliott, Sprucedale, Ont., in charge of the first camp, has been granted her camper's license which will permit her to hold Guide camps at any time in the future. Assisting Miss Anson are Mrs. Stanley Norton, London, Ont., Miss Xenia Knetchtel, Hanover, Miss M. Campbell, Toronto, and Miss M. A. Burland, Bermuda.

The girls at the camp are studying for Guide badges and camp badges have been awarded to Jean McFayden, Oshawa, Kathleen Gnowler, Oshawa, Marjorie Coyle, Kingston and Nancy Boulter, Toronto.

SCHOHARIE

Schoharie—Friends were grieved when the word was passed along on Wednesday that Harvey Davison had passed on at Belleville hospital. During his two years residence here, he had won many friends by his friendly, cheerful manner who deeply mourn his passing. Much sympathy is extended to Mrs. Davison.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Don Reed, Bud Hunt and Shirley Foster, spent Sunday at Oak Lake.

Mrs. Addie Vincent and Mrs. Lewis Cleave, were Saturday supper guests of Mrs. Harvey Davison.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert MacCauley and family, were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Norma Foster.

Miss Norma Foster enjoyed the boat trip from Cobourg to Rochester and return on Saturday.

Mr. Bud Hunt returned to Toronto on Thursday after two weeks' holidays with his uncle, Theodore Foster and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Grosse and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Grosse and Walter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster and Ross, were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Palmatier at their cottage, Rock-a-way Beach, Salmon Point.

Ross Foster spent a couple of days at the home of his brother, Keith Foster and did chores while Mr. and Mrs. Keith Foster took in the boat trip to Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Maybee and two children, Toronto, are spending two weeks' holidays with his mother, Mrs. Clare Jackson and sister, Mrs. Bessie Leavitt and Fay.

Hosiery Makers Woo Woman Away From Bare Legs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

New York, (AP) —The men who make women's stockings are engaged in a subtle campaign to persuade women away from bare legs.

It has resulted in new styles and greater variety. It is the answer of a $750,000,000 industry to the fact that millions of women discovered the joys of bare-leggedness during the war years.

"The bars are down," said Sarl Constantine, president of the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers, "because bare legs have been accepted and nothing in the world could make women believe they must wear long hose at all times."

Of course the N.A.H.M. hopes that women will pull on a pair of anklets (which they also manufacture) with their slacks and shorts or house dresses if they must bare their nether extremities.

In spite of the vogue for bare legs, a sizable number of pairs of full length are shipped by N.A.H.M. members—more than 600,000,000 pairs last year, and about 67 per cent of them nylon.

That includes full-fashioned (which means a real seam up the back) and seamless, rayon, silk, cotton and wool, but very few of the last four categories.

Constantine cites as example of the persuasion campaign the revival of clocks ("they certainly make a woman's ankles look more attractive), lace inserts and insets, heel reinforcements with double points, flares, square ends, and stockings without heel or toe reinforcements or lacking one of them for use with sling-back and open-toed shoes.

Whim of Fashion

Last year, when hosiery production was getting back toward normal (which meant there was not a shortage) women suddenly discovered the smartest thing in the stocking field was very dark colors—and brightly hued stockings to match gay dresses.

The dark colors went over big, but the colored stockings fad didn't take.

The industry does not admit this was anything but a fashion whim— it was almost impossible to paint legs black or navy blue. The result was that lots of bare-legged women who had relied on cosmetics for leg covering, climbed back into their nylons. Now the color trend is toward lighter stockings.

"The reason is that men like to look at a good looking pair of legs in natural colors. Flesh-colored tones are the bread of stockings; black and very dark shades are the cocktails. A little is fun and goes a long way."

What about the oft-heard complaint that post-war nylons don't wear as well as the prewar hose?

"Very simple," answers Constantine. "Before the war the industry very rarely manufactured anything more sheer than 30-denier. Now one of the most popular weights is 15-denier—much sheerer."

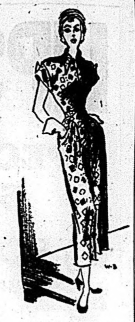
As a matter of fact, the hosiery manufacturers of the nation would appreciate it very much if women would stop insisting on gossamer-sheer 15-denier for every day wear.

"Women should buy and wear stockings with some relation to the tasks they are going to perform," Constantine says.

TOPPLES FROM BOAT

Cornwall, July 14 — (CP) — Believed to have suffered a heart attack, Lawrence Thompson, 60-year-old Indian resident of Loucks Island, toppled from his boat into the St. Lawrence River Wednesday.

His body was found floating near the mainland shortly afterwards. Coroner C. A. Stewart attributed death to natural causes. Loucks Island is situated opposite Aultsville, 18 miles west of Cornwall.



Colorful silk dress.

By VERA WESTON

A SIMPLE BUT most effective dress of pure silk, cut on neat lines is always a good choice, whether one is in town, en route or going to attend a country luncheon. This one uses a mosaic print in bright green and blue with touches of fuschia. From a set-in criss-cross belt gathers shape the skirt top, which has concealed pockets. A casual collar and turn-back cuffs on the brief sleeves gives a softly tailored effect. The back of the dress is centre seamed.

Ladies Prefer Hatless Males

Vancouver (CP)—The Hat of Foundation are talking through their product. According to a survey of Vancouver women the local ladies prefer men without hats—advertising to the contrary.

"I like to see their hair," said one young woman. "I mean, how else is a girl to judge?"

Over 70 per cent prefer males—particularly the young ones—without headgear, the survey revealed.

Customers' Corner

A GOOD food store must be a CLEAN store.

We believe our customers are entitled to top quality food at low prices, served in clean, healthful surroundings.

That's why we train and instruct our employees to keep all trays and cases and scales scrubbed and sanitary; to keep refuse and packing cases out of the aisles and off the sidewalks; and to keep floors and grocery racks clean and orderly.

Sometimes during rush periods it's hard to keep a store as neat as it should be. But that's our job, and you will be doing us a favor if you will let us know if your A&P store ever fails in any way to measure up to our high standards of cleanliness. Please write:

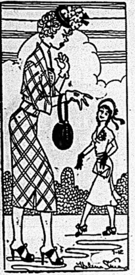
BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON
(Mme. Qui Vive)

Developing Thin Legs

Madame Fashion is always cutting capers, and one of her favorite antics is to cut skirts short, then tell her followers to wear them longer, then up the hems again. There must always be changes. And that's all right; they're helpful in stimulating the circulation and they send countless garments to rummage sales.



Hobbling Around on High Heels Distorts the Muscles of the Legs

When skirts are short, women take a survey of their legs, rejoice if they qualify, if outlines are pleasing, ankles neat as those of a deer, knees not bumpy. But girls with spindle shanks and those with fatted calves are equally disturbed. Plump ones are easier to normalize than the skinnies, because vigorous exercise will put them in form. When legs are of the pipe-stem variety, it is usually because the entire frame needs building up and curves are lacking.

A little more butter on the bread, a quart of rich milk a day, gentle outdoor exercise, plenty of sleep, and not so much tearing around generally will turn the trick. If these hygenic measures do not add weight, there should be a trip to the doctor and a thorough physical check up to find the cause of malnutrition, if it is present.

First see that the feet are properly shod. Hobbling around all one's walking hours on high heels, distorts the muscles of the legs and weakens them. They are not able to function properly. Don't change to "flats"; they are equally harmful, because they do not give proper support. Select heels of moderate dimensions. Buy shoes that have leather soles that make for free movements of the foot.

Stand tall, arms extended out at the sides on a line with the shoulders. Keep the chest lifted. Have the feet fairly far apart. Bend the knees and lower the body until the buttocks are resting on the heels. Up on the toes, back to first position and repeat. There will be a strong muscle pull on the thighs, the calves and the ankles, all of which will develop muscles and make them strong. This may not be easy at first. You may take a tumble. But what's that in the great and glorious cause of pulchritude?

Hands on hips, walk tippy-toe, up and down the room, up and down, taking short steps at first, then gradually making the steps longer. This is fun.

Massage will help along the good work. Apply cocoabutter from ankles to knee, smoothing it on generously. With both hands pick up the flesh on the back of the legs; lift and pinch it until it glows.

Rides to Fame On Hobby Horse

Hamilton, Scotland —(CP)— William Hogg, 37-year-old former school teacher, was virtually ridden to industrial fame on a toy horse.

He originally made the horse of wood for his four-year-old daughter, Alie. Friends were impressed and persuaded him to make others. Finally he perfected an aluminum model which walks when its rider moves the head.

Since then success has been staggering. He's quit teaching and gone into partnership in a factory. The factory has a backlog of months of orders including £40,000 ($160,000) taken at the British Industries Fair. He and his partner now are planning a second factory.

Hogg's horse virtually stopped the fair at Olympia, London. Demonstrating that it was strong enough to carry three men, Hogg was finally asked by fair officials to stop because such a crowd jammed the aisles no one could get by.

WOULD BUILD WITH WOOD

New Delhi — (CP) — Timber may replace steel for many structural works, Dr. S. Kamesam, export official in the Indian government, said recently. India has a large variety of timber and bamboo forests and a scheme to substitute wood for steel may speed up industrialization, delayed by steel shortages.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

(Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage)

It's Silly to be Bothered by Teasing

Dear Miss Fairfax:

How can I prove to my friends and neighbors that I am not in love with a man who lives in the same community that I do? I date him occasionally, not because I am in love with him, but because I like his company and we have fun together. He goes with other girls, too.

There are some people who are always saying that this man goes with me when he can't get anyone else, but actually he has asked me for more dates than I have ever accepted. I tell these people that I am not in love with this boy, but they tell me that actions speak louder than words. Will I have to stop seeing him to prove I am not in love? I am 24 years old.

K.

Dear K: It seems to me very silly for you to pay any attention to such foolish gossip. These people are doubtless only teasing you, and if you let them see so plainly that it gets a rise out of you, of course they are just going to keep on.

If you enjoy this boy's company, it would be ridiculous to stop seeing him for any such reason as you have given me. You are plenty old enough to have more sense than to let other people's remarks run your life for you.

Lost His Girl Through Mistaken Chivalry

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About a year ago I broke up with a girl with whom I was very much in love. The reason was because I was not working, and I wanted her to have more than I could give her at the time.

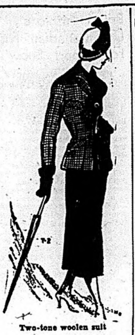
Soon after breaking up with this girl I realized I was wrong, because if she really loved me, she would have taken me for what I was worth. Now, after a year, I would like to pick things up where I left off. The only trouble is she is going steady again.

Do you think I should try to get in touch with her, or just forget about her? It will be rather hard to forget.

W.

Dear W: I don't suppose there is any rule that says you can't make a try for this girl again if you want to, unless, of course, she has become engaged. But you will have to realize that it would be only natural if she felt a little hesitant about taking up with you again, lest you might break off with her a second time. You have given her reason to be a little dubious about the stability of your feelings.

You are right in thinking it would have been better to explain things frankly at the time, in order to give her the opportunity to show you that it was you, and not what you could do for her, that she cared about. So if you do decide now to try and get her interested in you again, you had certainly better be frank this time and tell her exactly why you broke off with her before.



Two-tone woolen suit

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

THERE ARE nice proportions for the smaller figure in this attractive two-tone suit, an entry for the early autumn fashion parade. The jacket is in beige and brown checked woolen. The skirt is in dark brown woolen, and is made with kick pleats at the side. The jacket has a five-button single breasted closing below high placed revers. Slit pockets at the breast and patch pockets at the hips, with the check used diagonally, are in keeping with the feeling for pockets on everything that marks the coming fashions.

STILL SAILING

Port Victoria, Australia — (CP) Two Finnish four-masted barques sailed from here recently, wheat-laden to Falmouth, England. They are the last survivors of the once world-famous annual sailing ship race from Australia to Britain. At one time 70 sailing vessels used to load wheat at south Australia outports for the non-stop run to Britain.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Good hint for good vacation-manners: When you meet new people listen charmingly. Find out the interests and enthusiasms of your new vacation-acquaintances . . . these are conversational steps on the pathway from Acquaintanceship to Friendship.

"Give": With Your Words of Appreciation for Dinner-Hospitality

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

What is a polite thing to say to your hostess when you leave after having been invited to dinner? I've heard some people say, "Thank you for the delicious dinner," but somehow that doesn't seem correct to me . . . seems to put too much emphasis on the food. Don't you think so?

Claire.

Yes, I do think so. The point to be made in your words of appreciation is to thank for the hospitality, although of course the hostess will welcome appreciative words about the dinner, particularly if she was the cook! You might say, for example, "Thank you, Grace, for such a happy time . . . it was a wonderful party! And such a delicious dinner . . . I've never tasted such perfect fried chicken." (And with a very close friend you might go all out with your enthusiasm, "You're a genius as a hostess and as a cook!")

Incorrect: Dinner Jackets at a Morning Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My brother is to be married on September 17th; it is to be a morning wedding, at 9.30. He would very much like to wear, and have his best man and ushers wear, white dinner jackets. But some of our friends maintain that it is too late in the season to wear these white jackets. What is your opinion?

C. R.

It is not correct for the men in the wedding party to wear dinner jackets, black or white, at a daytime wedding, morning or afternoon. Correctly, dinner jackets are not worn before six o'clock in the evening at the very earliest. And, generally speaking, white dinner jackets would be out of season at a wedding in your part of the country on September 17th. The men should wear daytime attire, formal, semi-formal, or informal, depending on what the bride is planning to wear.

For Wedding Reception Only Two Items Necessary: Bridal Cake Drink-for-Toasts

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

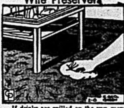
I am to have a church wedding in September, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, to have a matron of honor and four bridesmaids. Two hundred guests are to be invited, and the reception is to follow immediately, in a downstairs room in the church. Do you think it would be correct to serve only ice cream, cake, and punch at the reception? At most of the receptions at this type of wedding which I have attended recently, chicken salad and rolls were served, as well as ice cream, cake, and punch. However, although I would like to cut down on expenses, I would like to serve correctly.

C. S.

The hour that you have chosen for your wedding and reception (4 p.m.) is the most practical choice of time-of-day for the serving of a simple menu. You can always . . . and correctly . . . simplify your reception menu, so long as you retain two important items, (1) the bridal cake and (2) a cold drink for the wedding toasts.

So the menu you have in mind is adequate and correct: ice cream, cake (the bridal cake, the first slice of which is cut by the bride and shared with the groom; and also delicious small cakes, as a supplement to the bridal cake), and punch. You may, if you wish, add hot coffee, which so many guests enjoy and which is not a strain on the menu-budget. (It is true that, this season, chicken salad and rolls have returned with great popularity to the wedding-reception-menu, but these items are a luxury in the menu, and are not necessary.)

Wife Preservers



If drinks are spilled on the rug, mop them up immediately, then sponge the place with cold water.

YOU'D NEVER BELIEVE SHE IS 48 . . . .

She's one of the peppiest, happiest-spirited women you ever saw. At the time when most women think life is passing them by—she's right in the midst of things—always ready to go places and do things . . . as popular with the men as girls half her age. To look at her you would never believe she was a day over 38.

How does she do it? She gives the credit to Dr. Williams Pink Pills . . . for well she knows how important it is to have plenty of rich, red blood during those years when so many women are "pulled down" in health by bodily changes.

If you feel "always tired", if you look pale and dragged out, if you are suffering from a feeling of nervous exhaustion, are jittery and irritable, you may be paying the price of poor blood make-up. Don't wait—start Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They contain an easily assimilable form of iron—fortified with a generous amount of Vitamin B₁—and are wonderfully effective in helping to build the rich, red blood so necessary to vigor and energy. RAWDON

One Hundred Guests Honor Newly Weds With Fine Gifts

Rawdon — On Friday evening over 100 guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McMullen, fifth concession Rawdon, to honor their daughter Thelma, and her husband, Mr. Frank Rodgers, on the occassion of their recent marriage.

Several relatives and friends were in attendance from Stirling, Minto, Ivanhoe, Mount Pleasant and Hoards, as well as from the Bethel community.

The newlyweds were given seats of honor, and the pastor, Rev. H. C. Vaclavik, was master of ceremonies. He spoke briefly giving the young couple some good advice and he also entertained during the program.

Interesting Program

Mrs. Hiram Rodgers, Stirling led in a round of community singing. Mrs. R. Williams, Stirling, was accompanist for the evening.

Mrs. Frank McGee, Minto, read a poem "To the June Bride"; Miss Joyce Reid, Ivanhoe, sang "Forever and Ever."

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mount Pleasant, contributed a humorous reading.

Address Read

Miss Laura McGee read an address on behalf of the Bethel community and visiting friends which was signed by Myrtle Brady, Lauretta Preston and Marguerite Sine.

The young couple then opened a large array of parcels containing blankets, tablecloths, china, kitchen accessories, end tables and ornamental gifts.

Thelma and Frank both voiced their thanks for the lovely evening arranged in their honor; for program and gifts, and invited all to visit them in their new home in Belleville.

The ladies served refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour and extended best wishes to the newlyweds.

British Fashions Use Canadian Fur For Export Show

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, (CP)—Canadian ermine, squirrel and ranch mink made an enticing contribution to the fur fashions shown during Britain's Fashion Fortnight—the export drive show sponsored by the clothing manufacturers and the Board of Trade.

A jacket in Canadian squirrel had a neat waist, long rounded peplum with back pleating, cavalier collar and big sleeves caught in a long, tight wristband.

A loose, ripple-back coat with pointed shawl collar and wide-cuffed sleeves was in dyed Canadian ermine.

Canadian ranch mink made a loose, wide coat with a three-ripple back, cape collar and interlacing cuffs on a wide sleeve.

Black tulip was the shade of the sheeny, blue-black Canadian squirrel hip-length jacket with fold reverses to the hem, dolman sleeve and tight cuff.

A sunray cape-jacket of Canadian ermine could tie in front as a fitted jacket or hang loose with capesleeve panel. Ermine was used again in a straight, loose coat with wide cuffed sleeves and the deep, yoke-shawl collar of the '20s.

A dyed Canadian squirrel hip-length jacket with shawl collar had a sunray back and sleeves giving a rippling bat-wing effect.

Match Fox, Lame

A natural blue for three-quarter length cape was worked in alternate panels of fox and a dull gold lame.

In early '20s style was the white coney evening coat, with high stand collar, flaring three-quarter length skirt and single, diamante catch buckle at the waist. Sleeves were leg-of-mutton with wide high shoulder line.

Bead-embroidered satin or grosgrain was used for shoulder yokes, panels, or collars in evening capes and short coats. Kimono sleeves were used in a fitted black tupil Canadian sbuirrel coat with matching muff.

Civet cat, snow leopard and ocelot supplied showier coats while were popular for moderately-priced garments. Moleskin was the fur most noted for dyeing—in dark navy, purple and blue-black shades.

Russian ermine, Siberian squirrel, mink, embros and Indian lamb, American broadtail, South American skunk, pony and sealskin were other furs used. But the nearest thing to chinchilla was the natural chinchilla coney cape-coatee with its fan-shaped three-quarter sleeves.

MARMORA

Many Visitors At Marmora

Marmora—Marmora L.O.L. 319 and Harmony L.O.B.A. 600 participated in the 12th of July celebration held by Wellman's Corners L.O.L. in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pouleyko are visiting relatives in Hamilton.

Lieut. Percy Gray is spending the week at the camp in Petawawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gray and two children are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Bud Levoy in Pembroke.

Misses Muriel and Olive Jones of Toronto, are occupying their cottage at Crowe Lake.

Mrs. R. Henderson, son Robert and daughter, Jane, of Grimsby, are spending two weeks holidays with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ethier.

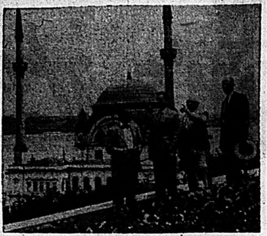
Fish in local waters have been showing more inclination to bite since Monday. A party at Marble Point Lodge brought in a fine catch of eleven bass on Monday and a few nice pickerel added to the score at that hostelry.

Miss Lena McWilliams of Toronto is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eggleton.

New arrivals at Marble Point Lodge are: Mr. and Mrs. Lester Erick and family, Dunkirk, N.Y.; Mr and Mrs. E. H. Jordan, Forestville, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs John E. Hudson and family, Jamestown, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Utermack, Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs Ron Dart, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sharp and family, Toronto; Rev. and Mrs. Phil Fress, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Greene, Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Newton, Burlington, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Turner, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. George Berschig and Mr. and Mrs. E Berschig Berea; Mr. and Mrs. R C. Speck, Chettenham, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Cameron, Montreal; and Miss Alice Harsten, Oshawa.

Mr. Gordon McWilliams of Toronto, visited relatives here on Tuesday.

Guests registered at Tipperary Hotel include D. Witherspoon and J. Peer, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. P. Williams and family, Belington, West Virginia; Lem J. Marquis and Marvin P. Davison, Buffalo, N.Y.; Howard Beeckman, New Knoxville, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hunt and son Donald, Eden, N.Y.; Richard J. Crane, Kettleby, Ont.; Albert Martin, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Minor and Mr. and Mrs T. M. McNamara, Memphis, Tenn.



EXPEDITION SEEKS NOAH'S ARK REMAINS

Remains of the ark in which Noah and the animals survived the deluge will be sought by these members of a U. S. expedition, shown as they arrived at Istanbul, Turkey. The expedition, headed by Dr. A. J. Smith, of the Oriental Archaeological Research Foundation of Greensboro, N.C., has obtained permission of the Turkish government to conduct their search on Mount Ararat, where, the Bible tells us, the ark grounded after the deluge. There have been reports that remnants of it have been seen there in modern timse. Left to right above are E. J. Newton, photographer; Wendall Off, medical officer; Dr. Smith and Walter I. Wood, mechanical engineer.—Central Press Canadian.

FRANKFORD

Frankford — Misses Lois Phillips and Amelia Plevak went to the Cobourg to Rochester excursion Saturday.

Mr. Herb Rutter and Mr. Fred Johnson of Bloomfield and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith of Preston Hill spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Dafoe spent Sunday visiting relatives in Marmora. Billy remained for a holiday.

The Sunday School picnic of the Trinity Anglican Church was held at Oak Lake Wednesday afternoon. The weather was rather unfavorable, but everyone who attended reports a good time. Games and races were enjoyed.

Frankford Merchants defeated Colborne by a 14-7 count, behind a neat pitching job by Don Boyle Thursday night in Colborne.

Ray Scott and Gene Lohnes spent Saturday in Rochester, N.Y.

Arnold Creaser of Toronto, spent Sunday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Lackey.

The Frankford Boy Scout Troop spent Sunday afternoon as guests of the Belleville Boy Scouts, who have been camping at Jarvis Lake this past week. The visitors were cordially received, and shown the greatest possible hospitality by the Belleville Scouts and Scoutmasters.

The boys were driven to and from the lake by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Plumpton.

Ballot Vote

In Thursday's ballot - vote held in the community - memorial hall, it was unanimously decided that the village of Frankford would purchase a supply of power from the Hydro Electric Power Commission. Only about half of the eligible voters turned out, but the unanimous result left no doubt as to the wishes of the citizens.

The first question, "Are you in favor of the purchase of a supply of power from the Hydro Electric Power Commission?" The result was: 234 yes, 5 No.

The second question: "Are you in favor of the issue of ten year bonds, in the amount of $20,000. for the purchase of the local distribution system. The result was: 231 Yes, 8 No.

The results of the voting were most gratifying to Reeve Spencer, who has spent many months work in negotiating with the Toronto office on this issue. Reeve Spencer reports that work is going ahead, and a definite statement on the program made will be forthcoming in a few weeks.

The Frankford fire brigade was called out Tuesday to extinguish a grass fire at the south end of the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stickle and Mr. Ray Scott, the Scouts and drivers enjoyed a picnic lunch on the shore of the lake. On the return trip, all called in for a few minutes to visit Arnold Creaser in Ivanhoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Fleming of Alliquippa, Pennsylvania, spent Sunday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lohnes. They drove to Lake-On-The-Mountain for a picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chard of Wellington were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McLeod.

Mr. Jack Williams spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mrs. Frank Woods spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Don Tripp.

Build Giant Dam to Supply Sydney in Drought Years

Sydney, Australia — (Reuters) —Preliminary work is well under way on a giant new dam which, according to engineers, will solve water supply problems experienced during drought years in Sydney.

Water supply experts say that the dam will be one of the most spectacular engineering works ever undertaken in Australia.

If present plans are carried out, it will be the biggest in the southern hemisphere and second in size only to the Grand Coulee and Boulder Dams in the United States.

Known as the Warragamba Dam, it is being constructed in the Burragorang Valley, in the Blue Mountains, about 200 miles from Sydney.

For years, surveyors and engineers have been working on the site, measuring, testing and discussing the tedious preliminaries of a project which they estimate will cost $32,500,000.

According to engineers, the dam when completed, will provide a water supply sufficient for 5,000,000 people and still have water to spare over longer and more severe dry spells than any experienced since rainfall records have been kept in Sydney. Sydney's present population is approximately 1,500,000.

The dam, 383 feet high, will impound 460,000,000,000 gallons of water in an artificial lake extending 30 miles through the gorges and valleys of the Blue Mountains. Much of its 12,000-acre surface will be overhung by sandstone precipices between 600 and 800 feet high.

Bored Five Miles

Experts say that preliminary surveys required five miles of exploratory borings to an average depth of 250 feet, one bore being 815 feet under a river.

A tunnel 1,800 feet in length has already been driven past the dam site to carry the flow of the river, and plans show that nearly 1,000,000 cubic yards of rock will have to be blasted in the river bed and banks to ensure a sound foundation to carry the weight of the 3,000,000-ton concrete structure.

Sand and stone for the concrete will be brought to the site in buckets travelling along 13 miles of overhead cable and supported on hundreds of steel towers.

In the estimates $3,250,000 has been set aside for the erection of a model town for workers employed on the construction of the dam.

Experts say that the scene as at present conceived is the brain child of one of Australia's greatest dam builders, S. T. Farnsworth, who died last year.

They state that no living man can claim he originated the project, because the idea was the dream of the Polish explorer, Count Strzelecki, the man who named Mount Kosciusko, Australia's highest mountain. As long ago as 1845, Count Strzelecki suggested that the dam should be built — although he then had in mind the use of the waters for irrigation instead of for city purposes.

Landowners in the Burragorang Valley declare that the dam will not only build. It will also destroy. Its water, they say, will wipe out one of the most beautiful valleys in Australia, and one which provides a rich, sheltered region of deep forests and green river flats, where the finest maize in New South Wales is grown.

They also claim that the farms, sawmills and mines in the valley produce goods worth $812,500 every year and that the water in the dam will seal off black coal deposits estimated at 448,000,000 tons.

Hunt for Noah's Ark Continues

Istanbul, Turkey, July 14 (AP) — The hunt for Noah's Ark is on in earnest now that the snow is melting in Turkish highlands. Scores of Turks are engaged in the search and foreigners are seeking permission to roam the country.

Newspapers have given considerable space to the Ark hunts, and for the first time official Ankara is showing more than usual interest in the projects:

Particular interest centres on Mount Ararat on the Turkish - Soviet frontier. Remains of the Ark are reported to have been seen there and at two other places in Turkey. Ararat is traditionally regarded as the Ark's resting place.

Russia has contended persons wanting to climb the mountain are spies. Ararat looks down on Soviet territory.

Two Turks have claimed they found the Ark, not at Ararat but 12 walking days from Tokat in North Central Anatolia. They asked a pledge from the government for 40 per cent of whatever money it might bring and got such an assurance.

ECONOMIC CRISIS MAY BE TREATED BY NEW ACTION

Major Commodities Will be Stabilized

Annecy, France, July 14—(Reuters)—Leading delegates at the Annecy tariff negotiations, grouping the main trading countries of the world, are canvassing the possibility of new international action to meet the threat of an increasing world economic crisis.

They are expected to propose later this month that the tariff cuts on which 32 countries have agreed to be backed by an international effort to stimulate multilateral trade.

They also are expected to propose immediate international action on the problem of stabilizing some of the major world commodities.

Many of the 500 officials here believe the considerable reductions in tariffs which have been obtained will represent little advantage if world trade continues in its present limited channels.

Cut Trade Barriers

They urge that, with great progress having been made with the cutting down of tariff barrier, international action should now concentrate on eliminating quotas, controls and other restrictions which they think are strangling world trade.

Some of these officials fear that if quick action is not taken there may be a dangerous move away from the 1947 Geneva Agreement on tariffs and trade.

This treaty, the greatest multilateral trade agreement ever signed, culminated the tariff-lowering negotiations carried out in 1947 in Geneva between 23 countries.

Ratify Charter

The second step was the adoption in Havana in 1948 by 54 countries of an International Trade Charter which established the most comprehensive set of rules for trading that the world has known. The third step was to be ratification of the charter by National Parliaments to enable the international trade organization to be set up.

But the United States Congress, preoccupied with Domestic Labor Legislation, voting of Marshall Plan credits and the Atlantic Pact, has had to postpone ratification of the charter.

It is thought unlikely that Congress will be able to accomplish this before the middle of next year.

Delegates here believe this will be too late for the initiation of an international effort against a slump. They are therefore expected to propose immediate action within the structure of the Geneva Treaty which is administered by a small secretariat of eight international civil servants, topped by a council representing all the signatories.

Logging Ceases On Vancouver Is.

Victoria, B.C., July 14 — Logging operations on Vancouver Island reached a standstill Wednesday as forest conditions forced nearly all companies to cease operations.

The "hazard stick" used to measure moisture content of the forest floor read a low six at numerous points — which means a tinder-dry "almost explosive condition."

Logging companies are taking no chance on a recurrence of another uncontrolled blaze similar to the one that swept the Cowichan Lake area earlier this week.

The blaze, now under control, is still burning and more than 80 men carrying out "mopping up" tactics. The fire is confined [illegible] felled and bucked timber.

POLICE HUNTING SAFE

Thieves entered through a second floor apartment door from which they removed the hinges on King Street.

The theft was discovered at noon Wednesday when the proprietor opened the lunch counter for the day's business. He said everything had been securely locked when he left at midnight.

D.P's in Canada Weakening Hold Of Communists

Toronto, July 14 (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today that displaced persons in Canada, in the short time most of them have been here, have succeeded in weakening the hold of Communists on the foreign-born population.

In a newspage story, it says a survey in Toronto shows that the immigrants, who have suffered in body and spirit under Russian rule, have not lost their hatred of Communism.

The paper says Communists in this country are fighting what the paper calls "a vicious, desperate and losing battle" against the influence of the immigrants, taunting and threatening the new Canadians and threatening reprisals against relatives in European countries under Russian rule.

"What is happening in Toronto is happening right across the Dominion, in every city and town where D P s and Communists meet, according to informants who have access to the facts," the paper says. "Until recently, the warfare was below the surface. Now it is breaking out in the open with the Communists resorting to violence in an effort to intimidate these newcomers."

In Toronto, there have been several clashes in recent weeks between Communists and immigrants at Alexandra Park at Bathurst and Dundas streets in the heart of Toronto's foreign-born section. The paper quotes eyewitnesses as saying the trouble was Communist- inspired.

Children Not Expected to Live

Montreal, July 14 — (CP) — A 10-year-old girl and the younger brother she snatched from the tracks in front of a speeding suburban train are not expected to live, hospital authorities said today.

The girl, Barbary Barry, was berry-picking Wednesday at nearby Mackaville along the tracks of the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway, an electric shuttle service between here and Granby, when she noticed her two-year-old brother John sitting on the tracks.

She ran to the spot and picked up the tot but the locomotive struck them both, hurling them 15 feet.

The train crew did not see the accident and the train continued its journey.

Dr. M. Katz of Waterloo, Que., driving on the highway which parallels the tracks, found the children sometime later crumpled unconscious in a ditch.

He brought them to hospital here where their condition was listed as critical and little hope held for their recovery.

OFFICER KILLED, FIVE WOUNDED AS BOMB THROWN

Prime Minister Nehru Addressing Gathering

Calcutta, July 14—(CP)— One policeman was killed and five persons were wounded today when a bomb was thrown at a meeting being addressed by Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

Nehru, addressing a crowd estimated at 1,000,000 on the need to "face the Communist trouble squarely," was not injured.

Bystanders seized a man suspected of having thrown the bomb and turned him over to police.

Three other bomb explosions occurred in the city earlier tonight but there were no casualties.

Nehru visited here investigating political unrest and violence.

When the Prime Minister Tuesday began his present tour of this troubled city, noisy demonstrators mingling with the enthusiastic crowd hurled stones and shoes but missed his automobile.

Two police constables were wounded when today's bomb exploded near a picket guarding the meeting. The audience seized a man and handed him over to police. Nehru continued his speech.

Socialists and other left-wing factions earlier urged a boycott of today's meeting and were said to have organized a counter-demonstration.

Appeal Made That Pilgrimages Be Stopped

Warsaw, July 14 (AP). — The Roman Catholic hierarchy appealed today to Poles to stop pilgrimages to Lublin Cathedral where a woman was killed and 19 other persons were hurt in a stampede to see a portrait of the "weeping Virgin".

The official Polish press agency said Wednesday the whole story about the Virgin picture was disturbing public order.

Most Rev. Poitr Kalwa, Bishop of Lublin, said an inquiry by a special commission failed to disclose any basis for reports that anything of a supernatural character had occurred in the cathedral.

More than 500,000 Poles are said to have flocked to Lublin within the last week. Tens of thousands of peasants left the fields and trekked into the eastern Polish city. Train and bus services were disorganized by mass pilgrimages, many of which were led by nuns and priests.

Throngs at a side entrance to the cathedral Wednesday broke down the wooden enclosure. During the melee the woman, Helen Tabczuk, 20, was trampled to death and 19 others were seriously hurt.

The Polish press agency, organ of the Communist-led government said Wednesday Catholic leaders had "deliberately" encouraged a mass pilgrimage to the eastern Polish city.

It started when six blind Poles were said to have regained their sight after kneeling before the portrait. Priests had reported tears of blood coming from the eyes in the picture.

GOODWILL PLANE LANDS

Sydney, Australia, July 14 — (CP)—A Canadian Pacific Airlines plane landed today at Sydney's Mascot Airport on a pre-inaugural flight of C.P.A.'s new Vancouver Sydney service. The four-engined Canadair Four carried 33 passengers, including 14 newspaper men and a crew of nine.

GERMAN SOCCER TOUR

Berlin — (CP) — A Swedish soccer team started its tour in Germany with a victory recently by defeating a German team in Berlin's Olympic Stadium. This was the first visit to Berlin by a foreign team since the war.

THE CHIEF RETURNS

Return of "the Chief" — he's known by many names — to his happy hunting grounds near Pembroke was brought about this week by members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Belleville, who toted their beloved wooden mascot to Petawawa for summer manoeuvres. Supervising the week's training from his place of honor in front of the "Hasty Pee" huts "the Chief" is shown above discussing training problems with RSM Angus Duffy, Belleville alderman. "The Chief", carved from wood by a Pembroke woodcarver—10 miles from Petawawa — replaces the wooden Indian that accompanied the unit overseas and who now lies buried on a French beach. "The boys" buried him so that the enemy wouldn't capture him when the "Hasty Pees" were forced to vacate the beaches in 1940. RSM Duffy has been with the regiment for 20 years and for the past 10 has been Regimental Sergeant Major.

Petawawa, Ont., July 14, Special —Almost 100-strong, members of Belleville's Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment trooped into Petawawa last weekend for a week's intensive training. They brought with them two of their most prized possessions—a life-sized wooden Indian mascot and RSM Angus Duffy, Belleville alderman and service station proprietor.

Duffy for the past 10 years has been Regimental Sergeant Major of the "Hasty Pees" and as such took the unit overseas with the Second World War. He has been with the regiment for almost 20 years. This, however, will be the last summer training camp he will attend. He will retire from the Army in December.

Field Practice

Along with members of the Midland Regiment from Port Hope and the Prince of Wales Own Regiment, Kingston, who also are in camp this week, the "Hasty Pees" are making the most of the chance to put into actual practice all the theory absorbed during winter training sessions in their own armouries.

Working out under experienced Active Force instructors, recruits are getting a taste of foot and rifle drill tempered with lectures and demonstrations on a variety of military subjects. Next year they'll go on to more advanced training in the use of weapons peculiar to an infantry battalion.

Rugged Training

More seasoned soldiers, and especially those with actual combat experience, are undergoing a more rugged and advanced type of training that includes an up-to-date form of the old Army torture known as "battle drill". Petawawa terrain, noted for its hundreds of square miles of sand hills and scrubby pine woods, is especially suited to the training of the battalion's Bren-gun carrier crews. At the same time, 6-pounder gunners and 3-inch mortar crews are being kept busy punching new holes in the already shell-wracked reaches of the Petawawa ranges.

As infantrymen, members of the "Hasty Pees" are being taught up-to-the-minute methods of deploying infantry with tanks in an attack. Thursday evening, all ranks of the unit will participate with other units now in camp in a noisy and fantastic demonstration of "fire power". At that time literally every weapon in camp from a rifle to a 25-pounder gun, and thousands of rounds of all types of ammunition, will be fired in support of a mythical attack.

The big week's work will wind up with an overnight tactical exercise involving all ranks of the three Reserve battalions.

Members Attending

Members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment now training at Petawawa are: Lt-Col R. W. K. Abraham, OBE, Commanding Officer; Majors F M Burtt, W. L. Graydon and R. W. Young; Captains J. E. Uplands Tenants Must Get Rid Of Their Pets

Ottawa, July 14—(CP) — Uplands tenants claim their pets weren't responsible for a diptheria outbreak that killed two children and they say the city health officer agrees with them.

City Welfare Commissioner H. P. Goodfellow says the diphtheria isn't necessarily the reason—but the pets have to go by July 15.

He posted a notice Wednesday at suburban Uplands Emergency Shelter, a former R.C.A.F. barracks, ordering tenants to get rid of their pets. It said Dr. J. J. Day, City Health Officer, had demanded that regulations of their lease be adhered to. The lease prohibits animals and birds on the premises.

A storm of protest was immediately raised by tenants. Edward F. McGregor, president of the Uplands Tenants' Protective Association said in a statement that Dr. Day had said dogs and cats had nothing to do with the recent outbreak.

Statement Issued

On behalf of residents of Uplands, and at Rockcliffe and Argyle Avenue shelters were similar notices were received, he said the "dictatorial policy" was just another example of "bungling inefficiency" and "downright callousness" which featured Ottawa's Emergency Housing.

His organization a few days ago forwarded suggestions to Board of Control suggesting a revised program of medical supervision at Uplands, sinks and toilets for each living unit and a proper garbage disposal program.

Mr. Goodfellow declined to say what he will do if the tenants refuse to get rid of their pets.

Meanwhile the Ottawa Humane Society says it has ample room for the pets at the shelters. There are 450 families at the Uplands project.

County Court

Pleading guilty to operating a slot machine at his place of business, Ernest M. Lucas, proprietor of a tourist camp east of the city was fined $100 and costs of $16.50 when he appeared in court today before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

The magistrate ordered the confiscation and destruction of the machine, and also confiscation of what money the machine might contain.

Case Remanded

George Baptiste, charged with assault of Police Chief Albert Marks of Deseronto was remanded for one week with cash bail set at $100.

The charge against Baptiste arose out of the near-riot which occurred in Deseronto when a group of Indians are alleged to have attacked the police chief when he attempted to take a drunk home. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan suggested that under the circumstances it may be advisable to hold the court proceedings in Belleville but Magistrate Wills disagreed claiming there was no reason why the case should not be held in Deseronto.

Pleads Guilty

Orley G. Lazier, former truck driver for the Brewer's Warehousing Company, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop and was assessed $10 and costs of $3. The charge against Lazier resulted from an accident occurring on the Foxboro-Belleville highway on June 21, in which Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P. for Hastings West was injured. Other charges of careless driving and of passing laid against Lazier were withdrawn by the Crown.

John Ross Neddow, South John street, was fined $5 and costs of $2.50 for possessing an unregistered revolver while Harold Allen Lee, Hillcrest, was assessed the same fine and costs for borrowing the pistol.

Godfrey Norris, Hillcrest, was assessed $10 and costs for creating a disturbance and had a charge of assaulting his wife laid over for two weeks to allow his wife the opportunity of appearing in court. If at that time Mrs. Norris does not appear to press the complaint the charge will be dismissed.

Two Thurlow Township residents were assessed $7.50 each for permitting dogs to run at large, the charges being preferred by Thomas Thorne.

A motorist paid $8 for operating a device resembling a siren, while a local trucker paid $23.25 for overloading his vehicle.

Hobby Show Features Miniature Circus, Tiny Sawmill and Raceway

Toronto, July 14—(CP)—A circus, a sawmill and a raceway are all under the same roof here this week.

They are part of the sprawling exhibition of Canadian and American hobbies being shown at Toronto's Exhibition Park Coliseum. About a foot high they could get into a medium-size living room. What's more, they all work—in miniature.

The circus, brainchild of Nova Scotian J. (Pop) Barrett, is the top attraction of the show. It covers 1,000 square feet and is crammed with everything from the Hula dancer to the good old merry-go-round.

Barrett, a 57-year-old circus man from New Glasgow, N.S., says he built the "greatest show on earth" to "get the fever out of my blood after 17 years as a circus man." So far he's spent a total of 22 years working on that fever.

Up at the other end of the crowded hobby show floor, Phil Quelch fascinates old and young with his scale replica of a British Columbia sawmill. Under his watchful eye, the whistle toots and five minutes later a miniature pile of planks rolls off the conveyor belt.

Quelch, a 35-year-old bandsaw filer from Vancouver Island, built the mill in his spare time from such things as sewing machine parts, cream separators and pieces of an old player piano. He says he used nothing but scrap wood for the project and is still adding machines after seven years of spare-time puttering.

Toronto's Kiwanis Club has the race track. It got the hobby idea from United States University students. Tiny tanks of pressurized carbon diozide gas send style model racing cars whizzing down the track at speeds of more than 100 miles an hour. When they can find a long enough raceway they say they can top 150, with a tail-wind.

The Hobby Show is strictly a one-man idea. Murray Gordon, 34, of Toronto, thought up the exhibition after three years as publisher of Canadian Home Hobbycraft, a general hobby magazine. He says he thought of it after seeing hundreds of local exhibitions across Canada.

One sure thing about the initial Canadian Hobby Show is the spectator's amazement. As one onlooker said when he watched the beautiful models, "you know, there's something in having a hobby!"

Lunge Stomachs Show Why Bass Sometimes Scarce

Montreal, July 14—(CP)—Quebec's department of game and fisheries is in the midst of a study of three types of game fish—maskinonge, pike and bass. One conclusion reached so far is that a lot of bass are being eaten by the maskinonge.

The researchers pay Montreal district anglers $1 each for muskies and 25 cents for pike. The angler merely has to telephone for a biologist who will take down the details of the catch, examine his fish, take away the head and stomach, leaving the fish almost ready for cooking.

The tests were begun last year with the purpose of determining the habits of the muskie and pike. Conclusions reached when the study is complete will help the department in its plans to restock Quebec waters with game fish

Since muskies and pike inhabit the same waters as small-mouth bass, fisheries experts wish to learn to what extent these bigger fish feed on bass as well as other types of small fish.

Dr Gustave Prevost, director of biology, said that last year's tests on the stomach contents of maskinonge showed that 10 per cent of their food consisted of bass.

Pike were added to the experiments this year to see if they are also predators where bass are concerned. If this proves true fishermen may be urged to go out next spring before legal fishing for bass and muskie opens, and catch northern pike as a means of saving a larger percentage of each year's crop of bass.

MYSTERY MAN REAPPEARS

The whereabouts of Valentin Gubitchev, Russian engineer, whose trial was originally scheduled to begin July 9, has been a mystery the past few weeks. But here he is, arriving at federal court, July 11. The New York trial was postponed by Federal Judge William Bondy until Oct. 17. Gubitchev will go on trial then with Judith Coplon on charges of conspiring to commit espionage. Miss Coplon was sentenced in Washington last month to 40 months in prison. The October trial will be round two for the U.S. girl.—Central Press Canadian.

RUSSIANS LOWER ANOTHER BAR IN BLOCKADE

Helmstedt, Germany, July 14—(AP)—Russian guards cleared a 60 - truck American convoy through the Soviet-zone checkpoint here in less than a minute today, lowering another bar in their "little blockade."

Wednesday night the Russian guards suddenly relaxed their slowdown and gave the green light to German trucks bound for Berlin, permitting the vehicles to pass this checkpoint at a normal rate for the first time since Saturday.

The barriers were reported still up, however, at nine other Soviet-zone entry points.

Dropping their harassment of Berlin-bound German cargoes as mysteriously as they began it Saturday night, the Russians were clearing trucks through Helmstedt at the rate of 40 an hour today. There was a backlog of only 60 German trucks awaiting entry when the American convoy passed through. Five hundred had been stalled Wednesday.

The sudden Soviet decision to relax restrictions was not explained

The American convoy was the first large trucking operation by the western powers since the official blockade lifting May 12.

United States officers said it was only a training exercise to be repeated once a week.

Today it had two obvious purposes: to test the "little blockade" and to provide some relief to the airlift.

SETTING NEW MARKS

Calgary, July 14—(CP) — Attendance marks continued to topple as the Calgary Stampede entered its fourth day with cool-nerved Canadian cowboys leading the dangerous steer decorating event.

For the third straight day Wednesday huge crowds jamming their way into Calgary's Victoria Park set a new attendance mark. Official attendance Wednesday was announced as 72,307, an increase of 8,732 over the same date last year. Attendance figures now are 32,160 ahead of the same time last year.

THE BLIND SPOT

In the twilight squads of farmers, led by Agricultural Repre-sentative Keith McRuer, spread poison through oat field. Worms march at night, climb oat stalks and drop heads to ground. After coming through dry spell in excellent shape, grain is now exposed to this new danger.—Claridge.

Harold Robertson, Stroud farmer, shovels poison mixture of bran, Paris green, molasses and water into sack held by Lou Irving in counter-attack against army worms infesting Perth County fields. Similar invasion is being fought in Lambton County.—Globe and Mail.

Clever Creations By Lamp Designers

New York (CP)—Aladdin's magic lamp may have been able to do more but the lamps on display in a current showing are much more attractive.

Perhaps goaded by a remark of Marcel Breurer, architect, that he could find no suitable lamps with which to furnish his Museum of Modern Arts exhibition house, lamp designers and manufacturers have gone all-out to prove their inventiveness and versatility.

Some of the designers have approached abstract art in their manipulation of ceramics in lamp bases.

One in this group, called "The Big Catch" has a shade in a printed fish motif, overlaid by netting. The base is a ceramic fish on a wooden block.

An interesting corner-table lamp has a base of pickled walnut, in the form of a right angle. Curving brass tubes at each end of the base support cylindrical fibreglass shades. Or it ran be obtained with one continuous right-angled shade.

The floor lamps have rolled steel shafts, fibreglass shades and wooden bases. The base of one looks like a wooden dumbbell.

Some of the floorlamps have curved stems in order to allow the standard to fit under a desk or chair and still obtain the maxium lighting effect.

A shade, designed in the shape of a Shaker bonnet—longer at the top tha nthe bottom—has the lamp bulbs concealed from direct view.

There are attractive versions of the popular shapes — torsos, leaves, masks and horses heads—with brass and copper bases.

Forty-Four Shades In Fall Lingerie

New York (CP)—Fall lingerie has a bright outlook.

Autumn models will appear in 44 different shades, designed to complement the important basic colors of the season's fashions.

Recognizing the trend toward a more comprehensive range of tones in undergarments, one textile firm has introduced a Colorama Forty-Four. Colors run through blues, pinks, yellows, mauves and greens, inspired fashion colors such as apricot, grey, raspberry and brilliant hues of flame-blue and flamingo.

One group of colors comprises tints from light champagne to golden toast, intended to blend with the brown and rust colors that highlight the autumn picture.

PLANNED RECREATION

Montreal (CP)—Montreal has appointed two women monitors to take charge of one of the city's playgrounds during the school-holiday months. One will direct play and games and the other will teach handicraft to various age groups.

POLICE CHIEF FIRED

Toronto, July 14 —(CP)—Suburban Leaside council today discharged Police Chief John McGrail following expiration of the 9 a.m. deadline set by council for his written resignation.

Chief McGrail would only say he had not resigned. The request for his resignation came as a complete surprise, he said. Reason given by council was that during his term of office, McGrail had not been able to promote the necessary harmony and efficiency required in the force.

Des Moines—Peter Baumann's wingless chickens soon may be moving into the high-income brackets

Baumann disclosed today that Tom G. Dyer, sales manager of a Spencer, Ia., feed firm, is handling the sale of exclusive rights to the streamlined birds.

Through selective mating he has developed a flock in which he says 95 out of 100 eggs hatch into wingless chicks.

Although Baumann declined to discuss the figure he has in mind, Dyer said he was negotiating with several large feed dealers for between $75,000 and $100,000 for rights to the birds.

Bridgewater, Mass.,— Even the hottest passerby usually spares a chuckle for the new sign over Fred Snow's store.

It says: "Twenty degrees cooler inside—and snow."

Old Orchard Beach, Me. —The starter really had his troubles in the third harness race here Wednesday night.

On the way to the gate Television reared, breaking his sulky.

That held things up several minutes.

Once away, the field had to be called back. A dog sauntered onto the track.

Then it was a deer, apparently drawn from nearby woods by the track's floodlights.

The deer fled, the horses finally had the track to themselves.

Manhattan Love Song

By Kathleen Norris

"And you can do it?" he asked, looking down at her from his six feet three.

Her flashing laugh answered him.

"I love it!" she said, with a gesture toward the city below the opened window.

"It's a great city," he said, in the dry, noncommittal tone of the born New Yorker. "But you must have had some scared days."

"Never—really." Fanny looked out at the roofs that were hazy and soft under the hazy soft sky, at the jerking caterpillars of the elevated railways, at the blocked skyline over toward the Avenue, and the swarming insects far below that were men and motorcars. An odd softness came into her voice. "It gets into your blood," she said in an undertone.

"And you'll be here on Thursday at eleven?"

And then Fanny was going through the tremendous halls again—was threading her way back to her own office in the costume rooms upstairs, hugging her secret to her fast-beating heart. On Thursday at eleven parts were to be given out, and she would be there.

That day Broadway seemed to smile at her when she went out for lunch; she had a window seat at the particular little restaurant she affected, and could look upon throngs that went up and down, and feel herself a happy, a successful part of them—a part of New York. She had a job in a big theatrical firm, and she was being considered for a part . . .

When she went back there was a famous actress in the elevator, going up to see "Bob." The elevator boy nudged Fanny; she must not miss Miss Lord. But Fanny had identified the little star already and was drinking in every detail of her appearance with thirsty eyes.

"How'd you like to be her?" the elevator boy asked when he and Fanny had the car to themselves.

"I'd rather be me!" sang Fanny.

"Yes, you would!" said the elevator boy.

In the lingering sweet twilight that made even the city streets romantic, Fanny walked home; she wanted to walk tonight, to see things, feel things, make them all a magical background for the joy of being younge and lithe and filled with glorious hopes. The wprld smelled of lilac tonight; the crowds going home, streaming like a river along the East Side sidewalks, seemed happy; windows were open everywhere, and children, wild with spring, were running and shouting bareheaded in the streets.

In Mama Behrmann's dining room the windows were open, and the warm dusk was the only light for dinner; it was too hot for lamps. Fanny let Otto have her round red sausage and her sauerkraut—her dinner was milk and rye bread, and stewed pink rhubarb and honey cookies. She and the boys and their stout old hostess lingered in pleasant idleness when the meal was over, nibbling, yawning, talking a little silent again.

"Lessons, Fanny," Otto presently said.

"Oh-h-h, we can't do lessons tonight! I ache."

"But if I say we shall walk to the East River and look at the moon, then you don't ache?"

"Oh, let's—let's! It's so heavenly out!"

Otto laughed with German heartiness. But on their walk it was he who quoted Heine: "Im wunderschonen monat Mai," and "Auf meinen grossen schmerzen," and he who held her hand for sheer youth and love and happiness, as they came back.

The streets were filled; hurdy-gurdies were playing, and children mad with spirits were dancing; women leaned on window sills, and sometimes, through an open hallway, they could hear a baby crying sharply, fretfully. Other babies, wide awake and attentive in their father's arms sat on steps and watched the parade of the first warm night. Fanny, back at their own steps, protested that she didn't want to go in.

GRADUATES FROM COMMUNIST COLLEGE

Members of a group of 2,000 Japanese prisoners of war, recently repatriated from Russia, are shown applauding Kyuichi Tokuda, secretary-general of the Communist party in Japan (left) after he gave them a pep talk at Communist headquarters in Tokyo. The repatriates came ashore singing the "Internationale" — Communist anthem — and announcing that they were the vanguard of a Commuafst army. Obviously all are alumni of the little red schoolhouse.—Central Press Canadian.

"Then we sit on the steps," conceded Otto.

After a while he said:

"You are so happy that you may be an actress?"

"Oh, happy!" Fanny sighed in an excess of bliss.

"But if you do this you don't have a home and children," Otto suggested mildly.

"Oh, some day I might. Look at . . ." Fanny had to hesitate a moment, but in the end she could name women who had been wives and mothers, and great actresses, too.

"See now, they don't do anything well because they do all things," Otto commended.

Off to the southwest, above the levels of the big buildings, the sky was streaked with a murderous strange red; in the east a great circle of moon was rising, enormous against the puny bridges and the little houses. It was almost ten o'clock; everything was quieter now, the crowds in the street thinned, the children sent to bed. Couples walked by on their way home from eight o'clock movies; feet chipped on the sidewalks and died away; sleepy step-sitters, shadows in the shadow, stirred and spoke and vanished into hotly lighted doorways. Now and then an elevated train crashed by, and now and then the sound of a boat's whistle came from the river. The biggest city was settling herself for sleep; there were still great lights, there would be great lights for hours, but myriads of tinier lights flickered and went out, and the soft night breeze moved the shabby curtains on many a darkened window sill.

"So you are afraid," Otto presently said, in his amiable way, "you are afraid to be just nice, plain lady, with a husband and children; is that it?"

"Not afraid," Fanny said, rousing herself wearily, contentedly. "But I want to be everthing! If other women can do it, I can do it. . . ."

• • • • •

"Leave us cut out the visitors, will you please?" asked Mr. Pfingst patiently. "We'd ought to get started."

Fanny looked at him sympathetically; no one else seemed to know that he had spoken. A few men stood in a knot on the great empty dirty stage, talking absorbedly and gesturing with passion; someone—a lean, handsome youth — light-heartedly played the piano; three girls, gathered about him, sang what he played. Other persons, an oddly assorted lot, sat on scattered chairs, murmuring to each other, or were in the position Fanny felt to be her own—that of a child sitting up past bedtime.

She looked her best, but there was nothing sensational in her attire. Her manners were an artful combination of complete selfeffacement and exquisite readiness to oblige, assist, obey, sympathize. She was alert, yet retiring; eager to miss nothing, yet undesirous of attention.

But how delicious — how exquisite to her senses this theatrical atmosphere was! The shadowy darkness of the great empty theatre, the humble cleaners who were working their way up and down the aisles; the magnificent person, whoever he was, who sat in a box, the stage in its shabby morning undress of odd scenes, hanging ropes, eccentric lights—all these were a part of the most fascinating background in the world, and she was part of it, too. It seemed incredible that only a few hundred feet away Broadway was filled with men and women pursuing their morning avocations; bakers putting Danish pastries into their windows; taxis waiting for the green light; girls in the "dime" selling thread and green tumblers and pencils, and that she, Fanny Furness of Palo Alto, was in here glorying in all this enchantment.

"You must be crazy about it," one of the girls said to her somewhat witheringly during the course of a rehearsal.

"What makes you think so?" Fanny asked in the vibrant voice that had singing notes in it.

"The way you act," the girl said simply. She had no illusion as to her profession herself. She was Day La France, and had been in movies, and was noted on the program after the star and leading man, under "Who's Who in the Play".

For the first few rehearsals all the players appeared to be entirely unaware of each other's existence; they complained in low tones to the director, or asked him questions, but they spoke to no one else, buttoned up their coats or reddened their lips when dismissed, and went their varied ways. But after a week of hard work there was certain softening; like animals, they lost their first suspicions and fears and began to put out friendly feelers. Fanny almost immediately popular— given any start at all she could count on that nowadays — and she enjoyed the confused wasteful delayed hours of rehearsals as if they had been staged for her benefit only.

Her part in No Parking Day or Night was nothing; there must be a dozen merry studio friends to burst in on Magda in the first act, and Fanny was one. She was to wear her own clothes, only substituting a rakish-looking beret for her hat, and escorting an eager wire-haired terrier on a leash. The dog belonged to one of the men players and was eternally straining to reach his master; Fanny's haunting fear was that on the night of the opening he would tangle all their legs together in one ignominious heap capsized on the floor.

"What time ought we get here Thursday night?"

"Oh — eight."

"Eight! I was planning to get here, with my supper, at about six."

The young actor to whom she was speaking looked at her amusedly.

"You'll get bravely over that. Eats?"

The last word was an invitation to a late luncheon; it was almost four o'clock. Fanny accepted it with an equally brief "Oke," and they walked away together.

At the corner they paused, and Fanny thought that she would not lunch at all, ordinarily, for dinner at Mrs. Behrmann's was early and hearty. She would drift into a movie and wait. But since this nice young man was so hospitable . . .

"What sounds good to you?" he asked.

"Chicken salad," Fanny said promptly. It was the meal of meals for a wet, muggy May afternoon.

"That's an idea, too. Well, then Morton's is the place," he said. They had been walking north, now he turned south.

Long afterward Fanny wondered what the difference in her life might have been had she said, "I want a drug store milk shake," or "Let's go to Enrico's and have spaghetti." In that case they would not have gone into Morton's famous restaurant, and Larry Knowles, finishing his own little lunch there, would not have come past the little white tables and twisted chairs and recalled himself to her acquantance.

"But it's been so long since I've seen you," Fanny apologized for her having almost forgotten him. He had been an intimate of Chris during his days with the law firm. She had met him once or twice since, and upon an occassion they . . . Chris, herself, and Larry . . . had spent a Sunday at Coney Island.

"It's six months. More I guess."

"It seems ages."

"I phoned once to Mrs. Brown's but she didn't know where you were I was after Chris's address; thought you might know."

"Oh. Madge and I left Mrs. Brown's. It was too expensive. I'm living with a darling old family now. It's a boarding house."

"And how's Miss . . . I've forgotten."

"Madge? She's probably Mrs. Wise by now, living in California. I had a long letter from her at Christmas, all about the wedding plans."

Larry Knowles was looking at her oddly; now he spoke in a low, almost a different tone.

"You knew Chris was sick?"

The blood left Fanny's cheeks; she stared at him, unable to speak.

"I don't know how sick," Larry said hastily. "I only know he was sick."

"Is . . . I didn't know he was back in New York!" Fanny laid a quick impulsive hand on the man's wrist. "Is he back at the office?"

"Arnold, Overman and Carnot have gone out of business, you know."

"I didn't know it. Then where is Chris?"

"Well, I don't know. I know where he was: he was at a little hotel in Twenty-fourth Street when he first got back. But I telephoned there after I met him . . ."

"You met him?"

"In the street about a week ago. And he looked so — so rotten," Mr. Knowles said simply, "that I felt kind of worried about the old boy. But for a fool I took it for granted he was still at the Twenty-fourth Street place — or I didn't think of it at all, maybe, and I didn't get his address. Later I telephoned the hotel, thinking he might come dine with me, or my father might do something for him, or something, and they said he had left ten days ago."

Fanny was scribbling busily.

"If he telephones you . . . if you get in touch with him in any way, will you tell him I'm there — that's the telephone number, and that I must see him? Or would you telephone me, if you get any news? He may have gone to a hospital—but there are so many hospitals, darn it!" Fanny said businesslike, unemotional, anxious. "At home, now, there's one, and a few private sanatoriums. But her — you might as well say you lived in a brownstone house!"

She put away her pen, snapped her bag. Chris here, and sick! Fanny was but vaguely aware of parting from the two men; she went on her way possessed of but one desperate need — she must find Chris!

60 U.S. Trucks Roll to Berlin With Supplies

Berlin, July 13 — (AP) — An American Army convoy of 60 trucks, loaded with supplies for the United States military post in Berlin, rolled toward the Soviet - zone frontier today in a test of Russian policy.

Unarmed, but with American military police escorts, the convoy is scheduled to appear at the Russian's Helmstedt checkpoint on the main Berlin autobahn Thursday morning.

British military police at Helmstedt reported today that several hundred Berlin - bound German trucks were stalled there in a continuation of the tieup which the Russians began Sunday.

The military police said that Soviet guards had allowed as many as six trucks an hour to pass in the early morning but were now cutting back to as few as three.

Since the formal lifting of the Berlin blockade May 12, Allied vehicles have travelled the Soviet zone autobahn without hindrance.

All other border points were closed by Soviet guards last Friday and Saturday to Berlin - bound truck cargoes.

Remove Patients Endangered by Second War Bomb

London, July 13 — (AP) — Ambulances today removed 360 patients from a hospital endangered by a Second World War bomb buried across the street.

The bomb, dropped by a German plane in 1941, burrowed 25 feet in the ground without exploding. A disposal unit found it Monday.

Patients evacuated were taken home or to other hospitals.

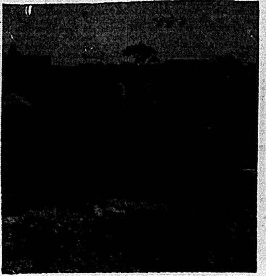
The disposal unit will decide Thursday whether to dig the bomb out or try to defuse it on the spot.

Before the dare-devil experts go to work the neighborhood will be cleared, subway trains will be diverted and gas will be cut off in the area.

Optimistic workmen went ahead today putting new glass in basement windows of the hospital, less than 50 feet from the bomb.

THROWN FROM CYCLE

Kingston, July 12 — (CP) — Thrown from the pillion seat of a motorcycle, 13-year-old Glenda Herrington, of Napanee, is in hospital here with a broken leg and other injuries. She was riding on a motorcycle driven by William Davey. The machine collided with an automobile which police said was operated by Mrs. Marion



LIFE SAVINGS FEARED LOST IN HOUSING FAILURE

A hole in the ground is all that many would-be owners of homes have to show for investment of their life-savings in the Palma Park, Weston, Ont., housing project. The contractor has stopped work on 48 houses and, though an appeal has been made to the provincial government, investors fear total loss of their savings.—Central Press Canadian.

Historit Woollen Mill Destroyed

Alexandria, Ont., July 13—(CP)—A 123-year-old woollen mill, a historic Eastern Ontario landmark which formed the background of a novel by Canadian author Dorothy Dumbrille, was destroyed Tuesday in a flash fire.

Frank McCormick, owner of the mill and whose family has operated it since 1826, estimated the loss at $80,000. The fire was discovered by his son, who reported that the three-storey frame building was levelled within 10 minutes of the outbreak.

The mill, which produced blankets an dother woollen goods, was Glengarry County's oldest industry. It formed the background of the novel "All This Difference" by Miss Dumbrille.

Hunt Wildcat, Shoot Raccoon

St. Catharines, July 13—(CP)—Police combed the wooded slopes of the Niagara escarpment just south of here early Tuesday night after a motorist reported a wildcat had crossed the Merrittville highway in front of his car.

The animal was said to be almost six feet long, with yellow and black markings. At one point themen spotted a long stretch of fur on a lofty limb and, taking no chances, opened fire. A raccoon fell and two others scampered away.

No sign of a wildcat was found.

RECEIPT FOR LONG LIFE

Windlesham, Surrey, England, July 13 — (CP)—Joe Lawrence, last of the chimney boys, died Tuesday age 104. He claimed to be the oldest man in England.

"I went up and down those chimneys stark naked," he said recently on his birthday. "Sometimes I did 20 in one day. And some were no more than a few inches square."

His recipe to live to 104: plenty of work, plenty of games and a drop of whisky now and again

MENTAL HEALTH

At Sydney and Yarmouth, N.S., two mental health clinics are being established where psychiatrists will consult with local physicians, court and school officials.

Will Investigate Death of 11 Cattle

Lindsay, July 13 — (CP) — Agriculture officials have been asked to investigate the death Tuesday of 11 head of cattle belonging to farmers near here. The cattle died shortly after drinking water from a pond covered with a blue green scum.

A similar outbreak of poisoning occurred along the lake shore last year with several head of cattle being poisoned.

Agriculture representatives examining the dead cattle said they apparently died quickly after drinking the poison water. They said some of the stronger cattle drinking from the lake were able to shake off the effects of the poison.

Brighteners

Pittsburgh — So you think jobs aren't hard to get?

An estimated 1,500 applicants descended on a north-side food processing firm Tuesday in response to a help-wanted ad offering "good, clean factory work."

Five openings were available. Interviews were called off and police were called to handle the crowd.

—Philadelphia — Here's something new in labor relations.—

Ben Winn, a lumber merchant, has installed a television set so the carpenters, plumbers and others may watch baseball games while working on his new home.

He reports it hasn't slowed the work at all. On the contrary, he says, the men seem inspired to work harder after they watch an inning or two at his expense.

Twickenham, Middlesex, England — Tobacconist Arthur Ferris complained of indigestion every time he made himself a cup of tea behind his store.

One day he found a box of matches in the kettle.

"They had been boiled and reboiled into a mass of pulp," he said.

Canterbury, Kent, England — Customers at the Riding Gate public house are often startled by the whistling of a falling bomb in the saloon bar.

The whistle comes from Polly, an African grey parrot, who has not yet forgotten the noises of the blitz.

Fire of Unknown Origin Destroys Three Buildings

Espanola July 13 (CP)— Fire of unknown origin destroyed a combined confectionery, grocery and butcher store, owned by O. K. Antoine, on the Little Current Road, Espanola South, early this morning. Damage is estimated at several thousand dollars.

Mrs. Antoine, wife of the proprietor, awoke about 4 o'clock to find the building full of smoke. She roused her husband and they managed to escape unhurt from the burning building. Only a few articles of clothing, snatched up in the escape, were saved.

When the Espanola fire department arrived at the scene, the fire was already beyond control.

This was the second fire on the same street during the last few months. About four months ago a clothing store was burned to the ground.

KENTUCKIAN SENTENCED

Detroit, July 14—(AP)— Earl Connors, the 42-year-old marrying Kentuckian, Tuesday was sentenced to a year in jail. Judge Ira W. Jayne sentenced Connors for failing to pay $2,210 in back alimony to Flor Montie of Belleville Mich., wife No. 2. Police said Connors admittd marrying six women—four of them 14-year-olds.

200 Questioned As Police Search Child's Attacker

Ottawa, July 14 (CP)—Marie Giselle Lechance would be dead today if she had been left hanging another five minutes to the rafters of a ramshackle shed.

Now the 28-month-old girl would be ready to leave hospital "if it were not for the fear of exposing her to the public until the notoriety has died down," Dr. J. Edward Maloney, her doctor, said Wednesday night.

Police were frankly baffled in their search for the person who stripped and raped the girl and left her bruised, lacerated and naked body hanging from the rafters of the shed in Ottawa's Lowertown, a scant half-mile from the parliament buildings.

"We have been checking every lead and questioning everyone even remotely suspected of the crime," said Inspector Ubald Sauve, head of the police morality squad, "but we are no farther ahead than when we started."

They have questioned more than 200 persons since Monday when a barking dog drew a seven-year-old boy to the shed where he found Marie Giselle, trussed up by heavy fishing line and a man's necktie.

Child Was Raped

Dr. Maloney said she "would not be alive today if five more minutes had elapsed before she was found."

Medical examination confirmed that she had been raped before she was left hanging from the rafters. Earlier, Inspector Sauve had expressed the theory that her attacker had hung her up to make it "easier to commit the crime."

Police also discarded the theory that neighborhood children were responsible.

In hospital Tuesday, the little girl told her mother that "some bad little boys" had hurt her. But police said she was too young and impressionable to be of any great help. She gave an affirmative answer to every question, they said.

They continued their search for an adult sex maniac and said they believed the person lived in the neighborhood.

WOOLER

Fire Destroys Frame Home Of Bruce Mallory

Wooler—Fire destroyed the large farm home of Mr. Bruce Mallory on Tuesday evening.

This house was the oldest house in this community. The original owner was Mr. Abel Scott, a pioneer settler in this locality. Later it passed to the Teal family and was the home of Mr. David Teal and family until three years ago when it was sold to Mr. Mallory, a war veteran.

The fire had gained considerable headway before being discovered so very little of the contents was saved.

Neighbors gathred for miles around, and while nothing could be done to save the fine old house, the barn and garage were saved; also the grandstand on the fairgrounds.

SHANNONVILLE

Shannonville—Mrs. Fred Neelin of Toronto, was a recent caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFarlane en route on a visit to the east coast.

Miss Mary Vivian and Miss Dorothy Wiltse are spending a week at Geneva Park, Lake Couchiching, at the Y.M.C.A. camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sine and daughter Geneva, of Detroit, Michigan, were weekend guests of Mrs. Sine's mother, Mrs. Edith LaRone.

Miss Betty Mastin was a visitor in Watertown, New York, on Sunday last.

Mrs. Harry Murphy of Belleville, was a Monday over-night guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Elliott, 2nd concession where she attended the monthly meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church and renewed old acquaintances in this district.

The local Orange Lodge participated in the Twelfth of July parade in Belleville. A number from the vicinity also attended and reported an enjoyable outing.

Mrs. Thomas W. Elliott of Hamilton, has returned home after spending the past 10 days with her daughter, Mrs. Currie and Mr. Currie and Sheila.

Owing to ill-health, Mr. Stanley MacDonald is closing his store at 7 p.m. during the summer months.

The Reverend and Mrs. L. Scott and daughter, Audrey, left Tuesday for Orr Lake near Havelock. The Scotts have been holidaying in this vicinity for some years. Audrey returned home on Monday evening to accompany them on their vacation.

Miss Edith Thompson and Mrs. Robert Olive, and son Ronald, of Toronto, were recent visitors of the former's sister, Mrs. Ross Shetler and Mr. Shetler.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kent were Sunday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFarlane.

Miss Bernice Houston has returned home after spending a few days with the Uens relatives, north of Napanee.

Women's Association

A large number were present at the monthly meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church which was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Sam Elliott, on Monday evening. The president presided.

Mrs. Claude Clarke was the group leader in charge of the meeting. She was assisted by Mrs. Lorne Uens who read the scripture reading, and Mrs. Robert McFarlane who read the "Lesson Thought." Rev. L. Scott led in prayer. A sing-song of old familiar hymns preceded the regular meeting.

Sunshine Girls' Club

The Sunshine Girls' Club sang their theme song and then favored the group with the hymn "Tell Me the Story of Jesus." Two of their members also rendered an enjoyable duet. Their secretary, Miss Beartice Uens, outlined their present project which consisted of the sale of names on an autographed quilt and received a generous response.

Mrs. Elliott read the duties of the Woman's Association and the Reverend L. Scott spoke briefly to the gathering.

Mrs. Stanley MacDonald and Mrs. Damon Hinchey members of the parsonage committee gave a summary of improvements needed on the parsonage, and mentioned the fact, that nothing had been done in the past few years as regards to renovating. Their suggestions met with the full approval of the meeting. Refreshments were served by the convener and her assistants. The next meeting to be held the second Thursday evening in August at the home of Mrs. Stanley MacDonald.

Mr. Hilliard Rowe of Toronto, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Shetler.

Mrs. Robert McFarlane visited her cousin in Belleville during the past weekend.

Distaff Dominates Council's Lone Man

Bishop Itchington, Warwickshire, England. (CP)—It's a dog's life for Fred Marlow, only male member of Bishop's Itchington's parish council.

"Stand up", shouted Mrs. Edith Chappie-Hyam, one of the six women members of the council, when Marlow ventured to make a suggestion.

Marlow stood up. But it didn't help much.

"I think you are very petty in insisting on this," said Mrs. Chappie-Hyam to Marlow's request that seven days' notice of council meetings be given.

Mrs. Adeline Jenkins said the proposal should be ignored. The "good old fashioned methods" of using word of mouth to call meetings was good enough.

COAL OUTPUT RISES

New Delhi — (CP) — India's coal output for the first six months of 1949 was 15,500,000 tons — 500,000 tons more than in the record first half of 1947. Greater efficiency and better labor relations are credited for the increase output.

IF BABY IS CROSS
FIND OUT WHY

HEALTHY BABIES are not cross. Your baby should not be cross. If he is, then something in his little system is "out of order." Probably Baby's Own Tablets can promptly "put it right." Mrs. H——, of Fenelon Falls, had the experience. She writes: "My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick at her stomach—what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was."

Sweet-tasting—easily crushed to a powder, if desired. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Promptly effective in simple fevers, constipation, teething troubles, upset stomach and other minor ills.

Never be without a full box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 15 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

McCarthy Says Boston Red Sox Team to Beat for Flag In the American League

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The major league pennant races are going to wind up in two triple ties for first place.

At least that's the conclusion one draws after listening to Casey Stengel, Burt Shotton, Joe McCarthy, Connie Mack and other optimistic pilots.

The latest skipper to look into the future through rose - colored glasses is Joe McCarthy, the usually reticent leader of Boston Red Sox.

Although weighted down in 4th place, 8½ games off the pace at the half-way mark, McCarthy insists that his club "from here in is the team to beat" in the American League race.

"We're heading into the part of the schedule where the going gets tough — and things will be a little different," says McCarthy. "I know my team is ready to start moving. Then we'll see what happens."

Casey Stengel, who's done such an amazing job with the front-running New York Yankees, does not share McCarthy's opinion.

Says Boston Finished

"I had been inclined to think that the Red Sox would provide us with the toughest competition," Stengel said. "I felt that way even when they languished in the second division. But when we knocked them off five times in a row recently, that finished them. I don't think they can recover."

A week ago Stengel picked the Athletics as the only team that could stop his Yankees, who currently hold a 5½ - game bulge over the second - place Cleveland Indians. At the time the A's were in second place, only 4½ games behind.

Connie Mack, Philadelphia's venerable 86-year-old manager, said that "our boys, although in third place today, feel they still can win and I, as their manager, have to go along with them, naturally. Don't count us out. We still have a good chance."

Cleveland's Lou Boudreau did not talk much but grinned knowingly when asked whether he thought he would repeat.

"We're still the champions," he said. "It's up to the others to beat us. And it's not going to be easy, I promise you that."

The Indians, with Bob Feller sailing along on a five - game winning streak and Boudreau hitting as he did in '48, have won eight of their last nine games.

Atkins, Hi Lee Looks Like Hot Bout Come Fri.

It looks like the arena management went all out when they secured Hi Lee as the opponent for Fred Atkins for Friday night's wrestling feature.

The "beat Atkins" campaign could not get a stronger hoist than the bringing in of the punishing, huge, lambasting Lee for the task.

Meantime, the prospect of tangling with the crushing, crunching hillbilly is far from disturbing the ever-arrogant Atkins.

"The bigger they are the harder they fall," exclaimed the rock-ribbed Aussie. "He'll go down like one of those timbers I used to chop down in my teens in the bush back home."

Be that as it may, the outlook definitely appears to be that the spectators are in for the most exciting and thumping night of the season.

The semi-final has Tommy Rice, a highly - rated newcomer, tangling with Ben Sharpe, the pride of Hamilton. Rice is reported to be big, strong, goes 240 pounds and hails from San Francisco. They say he takes cities by storm wherever he wrestles.

Bill Stack, the young Oshawa star, will try to down Tom Collins (not a bad idea, eh?) in the opener.

Better Golf

By Sam Snead

The dotted line in today's picture is to emphasize that at impact, your left shoulder is moving up, your right shoulder is moving down and your left arm and club shaft form a straight line to the ball. At the same time, your left hip is sort of thrusting upward which puts your weight behind the ball. This is the sway to get leverage in your shot smoothly. In the position pictured, the wrist-throw is complete at impact, which means that the power the wrist-throw adds to the swing delivers your maximum force to the ball. Now, imagine that with the body in the position pictured the hands had already started cocking upward toward the green further than you see them here and you'll see why it is obvious that if you start your hand-lash or wrist-throw, call it what you will, too soon, the maximum power the hand-lash adds to the clubhead is expended in the air before clubhead reaches ball. That costs you yardage and it will probably mean that you will either "top" your shot or shoot it off-line to the left. Study the picture again. Strive for results in the way shown.—Copyright 1949, John F. Dille Co.)

START TRAINING EARLY

Galt, July 14 — (CP)— The Black Hawks, Galt's entry into the Ontario Hockey Association's junior loop for the 1949-50 season, will begin training early in September. Two Galt front lines will be used by Chicago Black Hawks in an exhibition game between Chicago and Kansas City Pla-Mors on the 29th of the month. Uniforms, a duplicate of those of the National Hockey League Chicago Cubs, have been ordered for the O. H. A. entry.

Gibbardville Crew Takes Electrics By 14 to 2 Count

The five-game winning streak put together by Northern Electric received a rude setback last evening as the league leading Napanee Atheletics trounced the Planters 14-2 in a Belleville District League fixture under the lights at Exhibition Park.

The Gibbardville gang were never in trouble as McTaggart coasted to a three-hit victory. The two Electric runs were unearned.

Napanee blasted three Northern hurlers and took advantage of 11 walks and nine miscues to pile up their lop-sided victory. Seven of their 14 runs were unearned.

Bob Bunton started on the hill for the homesters and was in trouble for the one and two-thirds innings he worked. Napanee left two stranded in the first but pushed over five counters in the second on three walks, three singles, and the first of Jack Wardhaugh's three errors.

Lefty "Cuffer" Noakes came in to relieve and was nicked for three hits, seven walks, and six runs as his mates committed three errors behind him. Fitzpatrick tolled the final three frames giving up one hit for three runs as shoddy support gave up three more errors.

McTaggart Works Easily.. .. ..

McTaggart worked easily on the firing line for Napanee striking out ten, walking two, and scattering three singles for two runs.

The Electric squad, in a vain attempt to halt the carnage, shuffled their players around like a cabbage salad. The shifts served only to promote more havoc as the players, unfamiliar with their new posts, booted the ball in outrageous fashion.

A fair crowd saw the contest with most of the vocal support going to the visitors who were accompanied by a sizeable portion of their loyal following.

Line up: Napanee—V. Green 2b; Scarlett cf; Gerow 1b; Jocko 3b; E. Green ss; Hayes c; Currie lf; Vick rf, replaced by Munroe in 8th, who was replaced by Markle in 9th, McTaggart p.

Buffalo Trainer Barred From All Tracks in Ont.

(By The Canadian Press)

Directors of the Incorporated Racing Association Wednesday barred a Buffalo owner-trainer from Ontario tracks, one of them said at Buffalo Wednesday night.

The director, who asked not to be named, said the action was taken against J. B. Hardison during an all-day closed meeting at which "nothing much else transpired."

Hardison was suspended at Fort Erie, Ont., July 5 after an I.C.R.A. analyst said saliva tests on High Air, owned by Mrs. Hardison, were positive. The investigation followed the fifth race July 2 at Fort Erie. A purse won by High Air was redistributed.

The I.C.R.A. director said today's action probably will have the effect of keeping Hardison horses off tracks in other Canadian provinces.

The battle for Ontario's mythical three-year-old pacing championship is still a wide open affair. Dillion the Great, a brilliant youngster sired by the Great Dillon Mac and owned by George Sherman of Rodney, captured the three-year-old Supertest pace at Tillsonbury Wednesday in the featured event of a meet which drew more than 5,000 fans.

The colt won only one heat—the last whirl—but he was second in the first two trips and captured top money and the trophy. Barry Herbert, Bill Herbert's steady-going youngster, won the first heat and Little Bill, owned and driven by Dunc Campbell of Ailsa Craig, took the middletrip.

Fastest racing of the day was turned in by the 2.22 pacers. Lucy Lester, owned and driven by A. Corcoran of Kingston, a veteran of many years of the racing wars, copped every heat, and in the first trip was clocked in 2.09 1/5.

Moe Norman of Kitchener, took the first St. Thomas Invitation Tournament with a 67, three under par, at the St. Thomas Golf Club, Wednesday.

Nick Weslock, of Hamilton, took second spot with Yon followed by Jack Nash, London and E. Eggleston, with 71. Gil Walker, of London made the course in 72.

More than 180 golfers entered the tourney, coming from Detroit, Cleveland, London, Windsor, Hamilton, Sarnia, Woodstock, ed St. Andrews 4-1 at Toronto Ontario points.

At Peterborough, Jack Hatch and Peter Locke Wednesday won the liftlock gold trophy at the fifth annual doubles lawn bowling tournament here. The Madoc team's score was three wins, 54 plus seven.

Hamilton Westinghouse defeate St. Andrews 4-1 at Toronto Wednesday night to enter the Ontario soccer final of the Dominion Cup. The Mountain City squad now will meet Windsor Sterlings with the first game at Toronto Saturday night.

DEFENDS YORK COUNCIL

Toronto, July 14 — (CP)—Leon Offman, president of Beth Sholom Synagogue, defended suburban York township council against a charge made Monday of anti-Semitism.

Toronto Labor Council made the charge after council rejected a by-law amendment to permit construction of another synagogue in the township.

Mr. Offman said: "A more cooperative council would be hard to find. Ever since our congregation was formed almost three years ago, the council has given us every encouragement in building our synagogue."

Toronto Leafs Down Montreal By 16 to 4 Score

(By The Associated Press)

Russ Derry, Rochester's lean flychaser with the fluid swing, has a distinct liking for International League pitching.

The six-foot, left-handed power swinger hit his 21st home run of the season Wednesday night to help the Red Wings down the league-leading Buffalo Bisons.

Actually, it was Don Thompson's two-run homer in the 10 innings that turned the trick for Rochester, but the 12,409 fans at Red Wing Stadium nevertheless enjoyed Derry's 21st International League home run.

Derry who plodded through the New York Yankee farm chain in the early 40s and later played three seasons under the big tent, is one of the main reasons why the fifth-place Wings today are only two games out of second place.

Johnny Yuhas, third Rochester hurler worked the 10th inning and received credit for his fifth victory.

Ray Coleman smacked his 12th and 13th home runs for the losers, who lead the league by four games.

Toronto Maple Leafs erupted for 16 runs in the last three innings to route the Montreal Royals 16-4. Trailing 4-0 entering the seventh, the Leafs scored five runs in that inning and added 3 more in the eighth and eight in the ninth.

Oscar Judd, the 35-year-old lefthander, picked up his eighth win.

Baltimore Orioles and the Jersey City Giants split a doubleheader. The Orioles winning the first 3-1 and the 'Lil Giants the second 6-4. Both games went seven innings, the second being called because of the Baltimore curfew law.

Baltimore's Jim Wilson set the Little Giants down with six hits in the opener. George Bamberger notched his 11th victory in the nightcap.

Scoring five unearned runs in the eighth inning, Syracuse Chiefs defeated Newark Bears 9-4.

Charles L. Hyde And Garn Dobbs Win Tourney

Ald. Charles Hyde with his partner, Garn Dobbs, won the Robertson Cup, emblematic of the district doubles championship, at the local bowling greens on Wednesday afternoon. The pair won all three games played and finished with a score of 53 plus five. The win gave Belleville two wins in the first three for Austin Watkin and Jerry Hyde won the third prize with three wins. Charlie Smart of Kingston, with George Hanson was able to squeeze in second. Fred Harper and Gordon Watkin were the two-game high winners nosing out Claude Tice and Ken Ashley. Fred Thorne and his partner J. Murdoff, a first-year bowler won the one game high. Beautiful prizes were given all the winners, the top pair receiving motor rugs.

There were 26 rinks from all sections of the district but other tournaments at Peterborough and Cobourg took away many players who had entered but went to the other towns. The greens were in excellent condition and some keen play was witnessed by a large gallery. Before the tournment opened the bowlers were welcomed by A. E. Wonnacott and the games committee of Austin Watkin and Jerry Hyde kept the draw moving along smoothly. At the conclusion of the tournament the president thanked all for their attendance stating the club was well pleased with the turnout and hoped that all had had an enjoyable day of bowling.

Rinks Present

The rinks present were:

Some Would Like Depression Says The President

Washington, July 14 — CP). — President Truman Wednesday night lashed out at economy advocates, linking them with "selfish interests" who, he said, will drive the United States "into a ditch," if they get their way.

But he said that even though many people "would like to have a depresion for political reasons," the United States is not now in a depression nor does it face the prospect of one if the "selfish interests" are thwarted.

"The tools are at hand for continued economic expansions," Truman added. "All we need is the courage to use them."

He made plain he felt the tools were provided in the economic kit he handed Monday to Congress in a special message. They provide for expanded social welfare programs, government aid to spur lagging business and steps to ease the unemployment program.

In a special "fireside chat" with the American people — via the radio and television — the President defended his controversial plan for temporary period of deficit financing to stem the recession.

1. The 42,000,000,000 outlay he has budgeted for the current fiscal year is not a "waste of money" as the "cut federal spending" advocates charged. Rather, it is an "investment in the future of America" which will pay "untold dividends in human happiness."

2. If those expenditures are slashed "we will decrease employment, cut down investment, weaken our defences and injure our effort for peace."

McGill Research on Gas Turbines Will Aid Aviation

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Montreal — (AP) — Improved flying is foreseen at McGill University from new research on the unusual things done by gas turbine engines.

Among the McGill studies is the fact that these engines must heat their fuel before burning it. Another is use of air to cool the hot gases so that they will not melt the turbine blades.

A turbine engine is a scientific version of the old mill wheel. It has many small blades, instead of a few big ones. Instead of water, gas is used to push the blades, and the gas has to be very hot.

This hot gas is produced by a giant blow torch, in which fuel is burned with aid of air that is scooped up from the atmosphere and compressed. The turbine is not particular about what kind of gas is burned, so that many different fuels are possible. But the hot gas never flows smoothly. The flaming particles shoot about in all directions, like a fireworks bomb.

This turbulent burning might be controlled satisfactorily if the gas turbine engine stayed on the ground. But it rises to 40,000 feet and higher, with air pressures dropping close to nothing, temperatures so low that the air has to be heated before it will burn well, and troubles in getting oxygen.

The difficulties may prevent the engine from running above certain altitudes, or the turbine will run at some speeds but not at others.

Military Origin

Nevertheless, these planes are important for aviation. Only rockets are more compact or lighter in weight than gas turbines. England, the United States and Germany all developed them for military use during the Second World War. Each country evolved its turbine engines independently, but the three are similar.

These turbine war birds were made without benefit of adequate scientific studies. The research that had to be overlooked is one of the projects of McGill's mechanical engineering and gas dynamics laboratory, under direction of Associate Professor Donald L. Mordell.

In this laboratory, apparatus is set up to do separately each job of the gas drive, so that each can be analyzed. An iron pipe about the size of a short man's leg roars like low-pitched thunder merely from the turbulent bubbling of the flaming gases it contains. In other apparatus the gas screams so loudly that the tests are made out in the country.

The blow torch heat is used twice. First to heat the gas to drive the turbine, and second to heat the incoming air and fuel to make sure it will burn fast enough. Professor Mordell reports to the Royal Society of Canada that unless the mixture of incoming fuel and air is heated, it may not ignite. He finds the amount of preliminary heating is the same regardless of the kind of fuel used.

To prevent the rapid combustion from melting turbine blades part of the air is used for cooling.

Young Harry Truman Helped Republican

Washington — (CP) — Accidental discovery of old files in a civil service commission storeroom has added a new anecdote to the long list of stories about President Truman.

It was before the First World War. A 28-year-old Missouri farmer named Harry Truman was postmaster at the town of Grandview. But he never actually held office, the records show.

He waived his rights to the $530 annual salary so that a Republican postmistress, widow of a Civil War veteran, could have the money. He signed official papers when necessary; but the "substitute" collected the $530.

NORTHPORT

Northport— A very successful ice cream social was held in the W.A. hall on Wednesday evening, the hall being filled to capacity. Mr. C. Duquette, the new minister, was chairman and opened the program with a sing-song. Piano solos by the Misses Lorraine Barker, Elmbrook; Bernice Lindsay and Billy Potter; duet by Misses Ferne Lindsay and Pauline MacDermald; little Lorraine and Carol Hackett, Bethesda; quartet, by Misses Donna and Marlyn MacDermaid, Elaine Chipswick and Connie Christie; vocal solos by Mrs. D. Folkard, Mrs. M. Foster, and Miss Carol Sallans; chorus by the young people of Northport Church; reading by Miss Marie Foster; movie pictures were put on by Mr. H. Filby, of Penn, and the bag pipes by Mr. Fraser, Toronto.

Refreshments were served. Proceeds amounted to nearly $60.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Badwin, have returned home after an enjoyable visit with their son Capt. George Baldwin, and family, of Petawawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilliland, Toronto, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Greenwell.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson, Toronto were weekend guests of Mrs. Hazel Lambert.

Mrs. Lillian Kennedy, and son, Donald, Toronto, spent a few days with the former's sisters, Miss Mae Weatherall, Mrs. Ray Simpson, and Mr. Simpson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paynter (nee Mrion Clow) are spending some time with Mrs. Paynter's parents, Mr and Mrs. Ross Clow.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Duquette, and Mr. and Mrs. Paynter are conducting a vocational Bible School this week.

Miss Isabel Petrie, Picton, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. G Hough.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Collier visited their daughters, Mrs. C. and S. Broadbridge, Wellington, over the weekend.

Mr John Delong, Picton, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kotchepaw, and Colin.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Smith are improving their home by the addition of a lovely sun porch.

Mr. Mervin Smith, London, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Mallett and family during his vacation.

Mr. Duquette is conducting an open air meeting at Northport on Friday evening. There will be special music. Everyone welcome.

Miss Canada III To Make Assault On World Mark

Picton, July 14 —An assault of the world record for the measured mile for Unlimited Class hydroplanes is planned by Harold Wilson of Ingersoll, with his new craft, Miss Canada III. Plans for the trials are now being arranged by Prince Edward Yacht Club under whose colors Wilson will also race for the Harmsworth trophy. The local club filed the entry for the Harmsworth trophy on Wilson's behalf.

Picton aBy will be the scene of the attempts to smash the record of 141.47 miles per hour set by Campbell on August 19, 1938. The trail would be over a measured miles, run both ways with the speeds of each trial averaged. Wilson has requested the Prince Edward Club to arrange for surveying of a course for the trials.

Both Harold Wilson and his father, Ernest Wilson are life members of Prince Edward Yacht Club. Last August in Picton, Wilson set an official world record for Gold Cup class speedboats, travelling the measured mile at an average speed of 119,009 miles per hour. This record is recognized by the American Power Boat Association.

Both father and son express the belief that the Picton course is the finest in Canada, and that they have every reason to believe that a new record can be established.

Date of the trial has not been announced but will be well before the Harmsworth trophy race at Detroit on July 30.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

New York, July 14 (AP) — It isn't surprising to hear Bill McKechnie come out with optimistic words about Cleveland Indians, especially since they've climbed to second place . . . Bill never was one to knock a club he worked for . . . "We're hitting better now and we're really coming along," McKechnie says, and he really seems to mean it . . . "Lou Boudreau is really hitting now and Doby has brought his average up a lot. Lou is playing a lot since Ken Keltner was hurt, and Ray Boone is going to be a good shortstop. He's over his nervousness now . . . It was our pitching that was carrying us for a while, but we're hitting now."

Last Word

After the All-star baseball game in Brooklyn Tuesday, someone asked Charley Segar, National League publicitor: "Is this game supposed to be played for or by old-time ball players?" . . . Maybe the answer should have been that it was a benefit for the fresh error fund . . . Anyway, the National Leaguers wanted to win in the worst way; instead they lost in the worst way.

One-minute Sports Page

Top price for the Ezzard Charles - Gus Lesnevich fight in New York will be $16.50. In Philadelphia Robinson and Gavilan fought for a $12.50 top . . . Maybe they're charging by the pound . . . Looks like the Red Sox figure they may need help in a hurry later in the season. They shifted pitcher Windy McCall to Louisville and persuaded Seattle to deliver Sammy White, the $75,000 rookie catcher, ahead of schedule so he could go to the same club . . . When a Chicago writer heard the White Sox were sending pitcher Al Gettel to Washington via the waiver route, he commented: "We have enough waiver players now." . . . But maybe a guy in the doghouse will just fit in that club.

PICTON

Sturgeon Taken Weighs 88 Pounds

Picton, July 14. —A sturgeon weighing 88 pounds was taken from the waters of Lake Ontario, off Indian Point, Prince Edward County yesterday by Albert Cooper, of Picton. He discovered the prize when he lifted his nets. It is the second sturgeon which Mr. Cooper has landed this year, the first weighing 32 pounds. The fish was sold to the Jarvis market here and will be shipped to New York city, where the market price is around a dollar a pound.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Few players see a squeeze situation at trick one. Too many cards to remember. If they get a picture of it at all, it is in the final few cards. Then they may see the concluding combination.

South was declarer at a slam in hearts and took the first nine tricks. At the end of the ninth trick he landed in dummy. By this time, of course, each hand held only four cards.

The four remaining cards in each hand will be seen here:

NORTH

WEST

♣ 8 7 6

EAST

♣ Q J 9

SOUTH

♣ A 5 2

There was dummy with the top trump and his three original clubs. Notice that declarer in south is out of trumps. So is east. Although west has a trump, it is smaller than the one held by dummy.

East has clung to the spade queen to prevent south from making his small spade. He has also kept his three highest clubs to prevent declarer and dummy from taking three club tricks.

At this moment dummy leads the last trump that picks up heart ten from west. South will sluff a small club. But take a look at the position in which the east player finds himself.

The final trump lead from dummy catches east in the pressure of a squeeze. What will east shed on this trick? Not the spade queen. Certainly not the spade queen. You can see why.

If east chucks spade queen, it will give south a good spade and two top clubs will polish off the last tricks. The only alternative for east is to throw one of his three clubs.

Should east let go of a club? Certainly not. If he does, dummy leads a small club that is won with the south ace. The suit is then returned and dummy takes the last two tricks with clubs.

Did I say east should not give up either his spade or a club? Let me take that back. He must do one or the other. Or go home.

Watch a player who puts on the pressure. On his face is a look like a cheshire.

Dig Up Money The Hard Way

Oakville, Ont. (CP) — James and Ethel Holliday have dug a $50,000 business near this Halton county town—the hard way. It all started when they began excavating for their modest home in 1946.

Since Jim left the army after the Second World War with a little cash from sale of the family home and from service gratuities he has managed to buy a bulldozer, several tractors, a steamshovel and a trailer for transporting the vehicles.

Last year business started to boom for the Hollidays. They hired extra help and began the excavation business in earnest.

Today they —including their two small children—are kept busy tending payroll, books, the house and various other chores.

Mrs. Holliday sums up the success story thus: "We have done everything the hard way, that is the best way."

The Movie Column

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, July 14—(AP)—At one time or another you have seen leg pictures of most movie stars. But not Shirley Temple.

"I don't like cheesecake pictures and I don't think they are necessary," she explains. She sniffed at the idea she might not have a photogenic figure.

"Besides my personal dislike for it (leg art), it's against the policy of my boss, David Selznick," she added. "You don't see any of his stars—Ingrid Bergman, Joan Fontaine, Jennifer Jones, Dorothy McGuire — posing for sexy pictures.

"If I had a choice between having sex appeal and being an actress, I'd rather be an actress."

Movie Musicals

Betty Hutton has already routined all the numbers for "Annie Get Your Gun," so that should end the rumors that Judy Garland might get the role back. Betty says she's practically doing two pictures at once — "Annie" and "Let's Dance".

Anne Jeffrey is a sensation in "Kiss Me, Kate," which opened its road company at the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera. The bright Cole Porter hit goes to San Francisco and then for a year in Chicago, but the studios should be luring Miss Jeffreys back bebefore long. She's a brilliant soprano and comedienne.

Other Notes

Barbara Stanwyck still isn't fully recovered from her illness But she reported back to "The Lie" because her scenes were in a hospital bed. . .

Producer Alan Lamay was stuck for a casting of Robert Preston's buddy in "Thunder In The Dust," so he's playing the role himself. . .

John Ford says he'll make "The Quiet Man" in Ireland next fall. The cast will include Maureen O'Hara, John Wayne and Victor McLaglen.

Student's Challenge Led Doctor to India

Winnipeg, (CP)— A challenge from a fellow university student in 1920 decided 22 years of the life of Dr. Dorothy Jefferson, head of the department of physiology at Vellore College, South India. Dr. Jefferson recently returned from India to visit her mother, Mrs. Sara Jefferson, in Winnipeg.

"It was when I first began the University of Manitoba in the faculty of Arts that a Chinese boy challenged me with the fact that we English people shunned the great need of the people in the Far East. The stories he told me of conditions in East Asia presented such a challenge to me that in 1927, I entered the field of medicine," Dr. Jefferson said in an interview.

She graduated in medicine in 1933 and in the same year went to India. In 1938 she returned to Canada for a brief visit before going to England for post graduate study in physiology at the University of Manchester. Following her graduation in 1942, when she received her master of science degree, she returned to India, where she spent the last seven years.

"The medical course in India," Dr. Jefferson said, "was merely a high school course until 1938. Upon graduation, the student received a licence instead of a degree. Now it has reached the standard of a full university course."

Due to the purdas system in India, it was difficult to encourage women to enter the medical profession. It was more difficult to interest women in nursing courses because the profession commanded little respect.

Dr. Jefferson, anxious to acquaint herself with Canada again, plans to spend the next year in Winnipeg. Her plans for the distant future are indefinite.

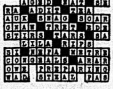
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:



Little Benny's Note Book

Ma drove the car downtown today, and after supper she said to pop, After all, William, traffic officers are really big children.

Yes, big tiger's childern, pop said, and ma said, Now for instance, have you ever noticed the big traffic officer just this side of City Hall?

Indeed I have, and he's noticed me once or twice, pop said. I neerly shrivelled up in the heet of his glare, he said, and ma said, Now that's just where you misjudge him. He's really nothing but a child at hart, and like any other child if you set him a good example, he'll follow it, and this afternoon I proved it, she said.

This I have to hear, pop said, and ma said, Well, to start at the beginning, what happened was probably my own fault.

What happened? pop said, and ma said, I drove through a red signal. To be perfectly fair to myself I think it was a lighter shade of red than usual, but I thawt it best not to bring that up when the officer put his head into my car and opened his big square jaws with the obvious intention of telling me a few things to my disadvantage, she said.

Do you mean to say you interrupted him? pop said, and ma said Of course. I advized him in a nice, calm voice not to get excited, and I told him that he was making me late for an important engagement so I had even more reason to get excited than he did, but I was keeping calm and unruffled, so why couldn't he do the same? Well, my dear, you wouldn't believe a man's face could get that red from imbarrissment. He felt so apologetic he meerly waved me on without a werd, so you'll have to admit, William, they're all childern at hart, ma said.

I'll admit nuthing except that it's a woman's werld, pop said.

Being what he always claims.

French Vaults Overflow, Place Archives on Microfilm

By ODETTE LAGUERRE

Paris—(Reuters)—The French national archives, world's richest collection of historical records, are being reorganized to keep step with modern times.

Microfilm reproduction of precious documents is gradually being made to save storage space. The old vaults have been overflowing.

The buildings in Rue Vieille du Temple — in the heart of old Paris where the city's archives are stored — were equipped in 1944 with a microfilm laboratory. Only lack of money now impedes complete reorganization of recording methods.

The need for microfilm reproduction is made urgent because of the poor quality of paper used in France. Archivists say contemporary archives will last only about 10 years whereas microfilm reproductions are expected to last indefinitely.

Charles Braibant, director of the archives, said "billions of dollars could not build up another collection" similar to the French archives.

They are the world's biggest repository of notaries' minutes. Since March 1928, all these minutes have been centralized in the national archives and 75,000,000 of them are stored there today.

The French national archives have a long and varied history dating back to the beginning of the Middle Ages.

Began by Saint Louis

At that time, the archives followed the court round in travellers' bags. It was only at the end of the 12th century that Saint Louis, king of France, deposited what became known as the treasury of the charters in the Sainte Chapelle in Paris, where it remained until the Revolution.

One of many of Napoleon's huge schemes was to group in Paris all the great political archives of Europe.

The imperial archives of Vienna and royal archives of Spain, as well as the Vatican archives, found their way to Paris. After Napoleon's fall, however, they were recovered by their respective governments.

The French national archives became really well organized in the middle of the 19th century. The French historian Michelet was then in charge of the historical section and he worked there for 22 years, writing his history of France.

Since then, the archives increased in volume. During the war part of the archives were evacuated, then brought back by the Germans, who made considerable use of them. A number of documents pertaining to Spanish history were given to General Franco's government as a token of "German-Spanish friendship."

When Allied bombings started, the archives were again moved, but this time only into the cellars of hotels.

The future plans of Charles Braibant are aimed at accelerating the work of cataloguing begun a century ago and adapting the archives to modern conditions.

BISHOP URGES SPORTS

Exeter, England — (CP) — Dr. R. C. Mortimer, new Anglican Bishop of Exeter, wants his clergy to become sports-conscious. He says: "Neighboring dioceses have clerical golfing societies. It seems intolerable that they should strut upon their links unchallenged."

FOXBORO

Welcome Given New Canadians By Shower of Gifts

Foxboro—A large number assembled at the home of Mr. John Herbertson on Tuesday evening when a welcome was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boreski and a miscellaneous shower was given them.

Many valued and useful gifts were received including flannelette blankets, pillows, towels, set of dishes and many cooking utensils, as well as a sum of money. The recipients expressed sincere thanks for the kindness extended to them while in Canada.

Rev. F. A. Gilbert delivered an impromptu address and music was furnished by Mrs. Rombough and Miss Annie Boisvert as well as community singing. The serving of refreshments closed a most pleasant evening.

Mother Knew Best Paddy Keeps Curls

Barsted, England—(CP)—Few people have ever seen Paddy Levin with his cap off, but everyone for miles around this Kent county town admires his corkscrew curls.

Twelve flaxen curls trained down over his forehead surprise most people when they first see this unique coiffure. But Paddy, a true-born Irishman, does not think there is anything out of the ordinary about it "at all, at all."

"Sure and wasn't that the way my mother sent me off to school," he says. "Who's goin' to tell me she was wrong and why should I be arguing with what she thought was best? And if it's arguing with men I am, it'll be with my fists."

Paddy has three brothers in Belfast who have stayed with the same hair style all their lives.

"What mother thought best is still good enough for us," Paddy says.

Old Manhattan Fort Lost For 98 Years

New York — (CP) — An old fort, unknown to New Yorkers and practically forgotten by historians, has been found by workmen building a city market in lower Manhattan.

Construction crews discovered Fort Gansevoort, built in 1812, when they were sinking pilings for the market's foundation.

The fort was built during the war of 1812 when the British fleet was blockading New York harbor and the town's citizenry feared direct attack.

The market, like the fort, will be named for Gen. Peter Gansevoort, former commander of a New York artillery regiment which once garrisoned the fort.

One of the few descriptions found in reference books pictures the fort as an oblong building made of red sandstone which was kept whitewashed. Like forts of its day, it had a stone battery, arsenal, barracks and furnaces for heating cannon balls.

The bay on the Hudson River on which the fort was built no longer exists. It was filled in in 1851 after the fort was razed.

TRAVELLING TRICYCLE

John O'Groats, Scotland —(CP) —Herbert Parks, Eccles, Lancashire, arrived here from Land's End by tricycle. He broke the record for the 900-mile trip — three days 19 hours and 56 minutes — by more than six hours.

IVANHOE

Ivanhoe—Mr. and Mrs. Murney Sine of Port Hope, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Sidmer Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shaw spent Sunday in Picton visiting Mrs. John Shaw.

Mrs. Keith Bray and Miss Deneyse Vandome spent the weekend in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Retzlaff, North Dakota, and Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Cooney of Stirling, visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clements, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Keeble were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lovibond.

Miss Marilyn Rowe of Hoard's Station, spent the past week with her cousins, Larry and David McMaster.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of the late George Francis Reid, whose death occurred Saturday evening, July 9th.

Mr. Reid spent his entire life on the farm in the home established by his parents the late Mr. and Mrs. Sidmed Reid. This home has always been noted for its neighborliness and hospitality. His genial disposition and keen sense of humor endeared him to his many friends, who deeply regret his passing.

IT CAN'T BE!

These rollicking paraders in gaudy costumes are some of Toronto's most respected citizens, paying their respects to the west at the Calgary Stampede. Eye-openers in crimson, yellow and green, the easterners stole the show in the opening-day parade. Naturally the "angelic" beauty heading the parade symbolizes "Toronto the Good."—(CP Photo.)

FARMER IN THANKSGIVING POSE

John Longo, New Jersey farmer, casts an appreciative eye heavenward as rain falls on his New Jersey lettuce garden. Like many parts of Canada the New England states suffered drought, had a heavy rainfall Saturday. It was too late to guarantee a good crop, but it saved thousands of acres of garden crops from absolute ruin.—Central Press Canadian.

IVANHOE

Community Honors Bride and Groom With Gift Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given in Ivanhoe Town Hall on Friday evening in honor of Mr. Ross Lain and his bride.

Chairman, Mr. Harry Lovibond, called the gathering to order, and Mr. Carl Rollins read an address expressing the best wishes of the community for a long and happy married life.

Mr. Lain expressed thanks and appreciation for the lovely and useful gifts, and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

A pleasant hour was spent in community singing with Mrs Reg Haggerty at the piano, and later, delicious refreshments were served

BURR'S

Burrs—Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry were Wednesday dinner guests at the Hotel Quinte, Belleville, of Mr. and Mrs. G. Elgie, and Mr. Bob Elgie of Toronto, and were entertained on a cruise on the Bay of Quinte on Mr. Elgie's beautiful yacht during the afternoon.

The Elgie family continued their journey the following day via water, visiting Kingston, and the Thousand Islands, returning to Belleville Saturday night.

On Sunday they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jessop and Lois, Picton, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ray Humphrey and Rosswell Sunday. The occasion marking Mrs. Humphrey's natal day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Dempsey, Mr. and Mrs. Will Soble, and Elsie, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Burr, were Saturday tea and evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Gibson were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Gibson.

Mrs. Tony Howard and Peter, of Toronto, were recent guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall, Sharon and Barbara, Christian Street, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willet Cross, of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thomas, Wellington, with Mr. and Mrs. Oran Thomas, of Orion, Mich., called on Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry on Sunday evening.

Silver Treasure Feature Exhibit

New York, (CP)—A collection of silver and gold treasures, textiles and jewelry worth more than $500,000 is on display under the supervision of Miss Faith Dennis at the Metropolitan Museum of Art here.

The collection, donated last year by Mrs. Catherine D. Wentworth of Santa Barbara, Calif., will be shown until Autumn.

Miss Dennis, associate curator of renaissance and modern art, says the collection of French silver is particularly important. Much of the finest French silver was melted down during the reigns of Louis XIII, XIV and XV to pay for court extravagances, she says. Consequently, comparatively little has found its way into museum collections.

One large room in the gallery is devoted to French provincial silver, which closely follows the Parish designs.

Earliest pieces in the silver group are two deep, plain dishes dating from 1560. In contrast to them is a large, ornate tureen bearing the arms of the House of Orleans.

Most of the silver, representing the work of the most distinguished French silversmiths, dates from the 17th and 18th centuries.

Of particular interest in the gold showcase is a group of snuff boxes and containers for sealing wax. Many of these combine different-colored gold.

The showing of textiles and lace is small, comprising mostly Italian brocades from the 18th century. They are rich silks in brilliant colors, some featuring gold or silver threads. Flemish, Italian and French laces are also included.

Had Headaches, Backache; Felt Fatigued and Rundown

Food Soured in Stomach and Caused Heartburn, Acidity and Headaches. Tells How Syntona Helped Him.

"My system was rundown, I couldn't sleep well and felt terribly tired and nervous," said Mr. James Miller, a well known citizen of Freelton, Ontario, in a recent statement.

"Food soured in my stomach, giving me a bloated feeling, with heartburn and shortness of breath. I seemed to be always needing something for constipation and I was subject to headaches and backache

"Several weeks ago I started taking Syntona and I began to improve steadily. Even in a few days I noticed I was having less and less distress from sour acid risings and heartburn. Now, my appetite has picked up so that I relish my meals once more. Syntona relieved my constipation, along with that troublesome suffering with backaches and headaches and my nerves are relaxed, so I sleep more soundly at night and get up mornings feeling more rested and refreshed.

"I gladly give my experience for the benefit of others who may be suffering in this same way."

If you, who read this, suffer as Mr. Miller did, get a bottle of Syntona today and find out how it can also help you. It is made from the pure liquid extracts of 12 of Nature's Finest Herbal plants and roots and acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Aids in the elimination of excess acids and impurities from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST.

Buy Bonds For Stability and Safety

A First Mortgage bond is a secured contract to assure you a definite income each year and the return of your money in a definite number of years at maturity or earlier by operation of the sinking fund.

New Offering

Within a few days we will be making an attractive offering of First Mortgage bonds having the following features:

- 5½% interest per year payable June 1st and December 1st.
- For a great many years this business has been earning several times the interest on the new bonds, in fact, for more than the last twenty, even through the "depression years", this business unfailingly earned more than enough to pay this interest.
- These bonds are secured by a First Mortgage on all present and future land, buildings, plant and equipment.
- Each $1,000 bond is secured by over $2,000 of assets.
- Sinking Fund requires the company to buy in enough bonds each year to pay them all off by maturity.
- No other bonds can be issued to rank with or ahead of these bonds.
- These bonds are legal for investment by Canadian Life Insurance companies.
- A bonus of Common shares is given at the rate of 20 shares per $1,000 bond. Bonds with bonus are also available in $500 denominations.
- Bonus shares provide opportunity for additional income and profit through appreciation.
  When your bonds are paid off, you still retain your bonus shares unless you have already realized a profit by selling these.

It is Easy to Buy Bonds by Mail

White House Puts Secret Mask Over Mystery Parley

Truman Meets Top Military, Atomic, Diplomatic Leaders

Washington, July 15 (AP)—A White House shield of secrecy today threw a tight cover over a mysterious conference which brought President Truman together with top military, atomic, diplomatic and congressional leaders.

For two hours and 33 minutes these men—the list was impressive—were together behind closed doors Thursday night in Blair House, the President's temporary home.

There was no announcement of what went on. However, the identity of the participants pointed strongly toward some development in the atomic weapons field on an international level.

(The New York Herald Tribune says in a Washington dispatch that the meeting concerned "the advisibility of continuing to exchange classified atomic energy data with Britain and Canada.)

The 16 men who conferred with Truman were close-mouthed as they left. What little they did reply to reporters' questions could be summed up:

"If anything is going to be said, the President will say it."

President Isn't Talking

Truman wasn't talking. There was no sign that he would later.

The conference threw open the doors to wide areas of speculation.

This was true because of the secrecy that surrounded everything, even though it could be that nothing sensational was involved.

Those at the meeting included Vice President Alben Barkley, State Secretary Dean Acheson, Defence Secretary Louis Johnson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been presiding as chairman of the Joint Military Chiefs of Staff; Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep. Mich.), Republican Foreign Policy spokesman and member of both the Foreign Relations and Joint Atomic Committees; Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (Rep. Iowa), a member of both groups who made the "incredible mismanagement" charges against the Atomic Energy Commission; and Chairman David E. Lillienthal of the A.E.C.

Enchanced by Facts

The mystery was enhanced by an accumulating number of facts.

1. That the conference itself was never announced officially, but only acknowledged by Truman at his press conference after the news already had seeped out.

2. That the conference was held in the evening at Blair House, instead of during the day at the White House.

3. That the White House imposed a "no pictures" ban and the White House Press office declared there was no statement to be forthcoming.

4. That the usual jovial Vice President Barkley was grim-faced, and Senator Tydings was cryptic to an unusual extent.

5. That, as it was disclosed eventually, there was a "gentlemen's agreement" that no one but the President would say anything.

BRITISH DOLLAR CUTS WILL MEAN LOSS TO CANADA

Decreased Imports May Total Between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000

Ottawa, July 15 — (CP)—Canada may lose from $60,000,000 to $80,000,000 this year as a result of decreased British imports from dollar areas.

That estimate was made by an informed official Thursday after Sir Stafford Cripps announced in London that the United Kingdom will cut imports from dollar countries by 25 per cent this year.

There was no official comment from the Canadian government—Trade Minister Howe said he wanted to think the announcement over and Finance Minister Abbott, in London for talks with Commonwealth finance ministers, withheld comment.

But Canada had expected to sell the U. K. merchandise worth $680.000,000 this year. That figure now may fall to $600,000,000.

Sir Stafford singled out these commodities for the cuts: newsprint, timber, tobacco and non-ferrous metals. Canada is a big supplier of all of them.

The Anglo - Canadian wheat agreement — worth $380,000,000 to Canada in 1949-50 — will not be affected. Neither will other contracts calling for the sale of 160,000,000 pounds of bacon, 50,000,000 pounds of cheese and 1,500,000 cases of eggs.

May Cause Reduction

The cut in British imports came as Canada was running into increasing resistance to sales of manufactured goods overseas. A government official said the British move might force some Canadian manufacturers to curtail activity and possibly reduce their staffs.

Canada was left with the alternative of finding new markets or reducing production. The Dominion already has started investigating the possibility of new markets in South America.

Sir Stafford said buying of non-ferrous metals would be decreased one-quarter and pulp and paper imports would be sliced by one-third.

Last year Canada sold the U. K. $131,600,000 worth of non-ferrous metals and products and approximately $70,000,000 worth of pulp and paper products.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer did not say whether cuts would be made in purchases of Canada tobacco. Canada had expected to sell $8,000,000 worth of tobacco to Britain during the year.

106 Bottles Plasma Supplied By Red Cross

Toronto, July 15 — (CP)—Responding to emergency appeals, the Canadian Red Cross and Toronto General Hospital today supplied 106 bottles of blood plasma for physicians fighting to keep alive four men burned critically in a flash fire and explosion yesterday at Brantford.

The Red Cross provided 90 bottles and the hospital 16 for Brantford doctors treating the four men: Bill Ritchie, Harold Glenholme, Donald McKay and Jack Wood. At least two are understood to be dying.

The requests, coming quickly in a search for the life-saving fluid, were received through the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board. Some of the plasma was rushed to Brantford by Compensation Board officials and some was speeded there by a Red Cross ambulance.

The bottles contain about a pint of plasma each.

The explosion occurred in the mixing room of the Canadian Durex abrasives plant.

BERAN SITS TIGHT WAITING FOR NEXT MOVE BY GOVT.

All Sorts of Charges Made Against Church

Prague, July 15 (AP)—Gagged and literally under lock and key, defiant Archbishop Joseph Beran sat tight in his palace today waiting for the Communist government to make the next move against him and the Roman Catholic Church.

All sorts of charges have been made against Beran and his bishops by government officials and the controlled press—charges such as incitement to insurrection and "espionage for unfriendly foreign powers."

Would the Communists dare now to arrest the country's primate when Slovak Catholics have demonstrated they will rise with primitive weapons in defence of village priests?

Catholic and diplomatic quarters appeared convinced that the government would not deviate from its aim of crushing and shackling the church. The question was when and by what measures it now would proceed.

Informed diplomatic sources took this view of the situation:

1. The government by sheer power won the first round of the state-church fight by isolating Beran and his bishops, placing them in semi-captivity and cutting them off from the faithful

2. The Government is pushing its Separatist organizations, such as a Communist- sponsored Catholic Action Movement. But the general view is that these are not doing as well as expected.

3. There seems now to be a period of "marking time" in which the Communists are producing daily a series of charges in their press against the bishops.

4. This period of trying to build up a case was prompted by strong resistance encountered especially in volatile and strongly-Catholic Slovakia against repression of the church.

So far as is known, Beran has not emerged from his palace since June 19 when Communist hecklers shouted him down in St. Vitus Cathedral.

Church sources say the Communists would like to get him to leave on a Summer holiday—then lock him out.

Police Seeking Missing Girl

St. Catharines, July 15 (CP)—Police throughout this area are seeking a young girl who disappeared Thursday from her home.

Eighteen - year - old Josephine Chmay who is about five feet three inches in height, with hazel eyes and reddish brown hair left her home Thursday morning wearing black and white checked slacks, yellow and brown sleeveless sweater and white sandals.

The girl, who, according to her young brother, looked "rather sick and sad", told her mother she was going for a walk. She had had no breakfast or lunch. As evening approached and she did not return, the parents became worried and phoned the police. Family and friends are joining in the search.

Abbott Expects Other Sterling Area Members to Follow Britain's Lead

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 15—(CP)—Other members of the sterling area "unquestionably" will follow Britain's lead in reducing imports from dollar countries, Finance Minister Douglas Abbott of Canada said today.

"They haven't got what you have to use for money," he told newspaper men tersely.

The Canadian Minister made his comments at a press conference called to discuss the significance for Canada of the announcement by Britain that 1949-50 purchases from dollar areas will be cut by 25 per cent.

Abbott said he doubts whether these cuts—which he stressed are provisional—will have any immediate adverse effect on Canada's trade All existing contracts will be honored. But in the long run, the Dominion "will feel it, there's no question about that."

In reply to a question whether other sterling area countries will follow suit in reducing their expenditures in Canada, Abbott said the answer is "undoubtedly in the affirmative."

He said he sometimes is "stunned and astonished" by the high regard in which Canada is held by some sterling countries He mentioned specifically Ceylon and India.

"They all want to buy all they can from Canada, there's no doubt about that," he said, "but they haven't got the wherewithal."

Throughout the conference, the Canadian Minister made it clear that Britain's new austerities are projected and provisional.

The problem was as simple as this The United Kingdom had to face the "brutal fact" that in case of countries as well as individuals "you must produce enough to pay for what you consume."

"What we are trying to do is help the United Kingdom find a way of living within her means," said Abbott.

Bethlehem Steel to Go Along With President's Peace Plan Proposal

Washington, July 15 — (AP)—The "big-three" stand against accepting President Truman's peace plan for the steel industry cracked today. Bethlehem announced it would go along.

This change of heart by the country's second biggest steel company raised hopes of government officials that they would ward off the steel strike set to begin at midnight tonight.

In Pittsburgh, officials of United States Steel Corporation, the No. 1 producer, were in a huddle over a refusal by Truman to modify his plan and a renewed request from him that they accept it.

Truman's plan calls for a three-member board, to be appointed by him, to study the steel industry's wage-pension dispute with the United Steelworkers (C.I.O.) and make recommendations for a settlement.

Not Asked of Unions

In accepting it, after first balking, Bethlehem said it would not be bound by the board's recommendations. Truman had not asked that the companies, or the union, be bound by the recommendations.

The other of the "big three" producers is Republic Steel Corporation. Its officials were understood to be drafting a reply to the President.

Many of the smaller steel companies already had taken up the President's proposal.

One of the bigger ones—Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company—announced its acceptance about the same time as Bethlehem. It, too, emphasized that it would not be bound by the Board's recommendations.

United States Steel, which had asked the President to modify his plan, got a flat refusal from Truman.

Wants Factual Reports

United States Steel, producer of more than twice as much of the metal as its nearest competitor, asked Thursday night for a board empowered only to make a factual report on the wage-pension dispute with the United Steelworkers (C.I.O.).

The 1,000,000-member union was poised for a walkout against all steel firms refusing to go along with the President's plan.

But only a maximum of about 315,000 workers were due to leave their jobs tonight in the first wave of the scheduled strike.

Union locals had their strike orders from C I.O. President Philip Murray. One major instruction was that no Communists were to be allowed to capitalize on the strike. Murray is fighting "Reds" in his own Steelworkers Union and in the C.I.O.

If the President could bring about a settlement before midnight, the strike orders could be revoked, and blast furnaces stoked up again.

Won't Hurt Production

Two of the six major companies, Jones and Laughlin and Wheeling Steel, agreed to go along with the Truman proposal.

The consequences of a long steel strike could be far-reaching, but auto production was expected to continue high, at least for a time, in event of a walkout.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association recently said their industry has its biggest steel stockpile since before the war—enough to go three weeks without feeling it, and for six weeks before closing auto production lines.

Murray wants a wage increase and most of the discussion to date has been about a 20 - cent hourly boost. (United States Steel says workers now average $1.69 an hour). Murray's main objective according to Vice President John A. Stephens, chief negotiator for United States Steel, is a $150 monthly pension for his steel workers.

That would put Murray far ahead of John L. Lewis' $100 pension for coal miners.

1,600 Employees Of National Steel Return to Jobs

Toronto July 15. (CP)—An immediate return to work by 1,600 employees of National Steel Car Company of Hamilton is provided for under terms settling the wages strike which started last May 27.

Main issue in the strike called by the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) was a demand for a general pay increase of 10 cents an hour. Alan Wright, a Union spokesman, said Thursday that settlement terms provided for an increase of six cents an hour for piece workers and for four per cent plus four cents an hour for hourly-rated workers. The basic rate was not given. Hours of work were reduced from 47 to 45 a week and the number of paid statutory holidays was increased to eight a year from six.

Army Worms Infest Huron County District

London, Ont., July 15 — (CP)—Hungry army worms were camped in increasing numbers across the centre of southwestern Ontario today. No end to their crop-damage cycle was foreseen by agricultural experts, who recommend the use of poison bait to curtail the onslaught.

Between 800 and 900 acres of Huron county were added to the Western Ontario area invaded by the caterpillars. The worms are reported still advancing in Perth, and isolated reports have been received from points in Waterloo, Grey, Hastings, Dufferin and Simcoe counties.

Earlier reports included areas near Chatham and Windsor, and damage from the worms has been recorded in districts north of Toronto.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, July 15 (CP)—Synopsis: Cooler air covers Northern Ontario and is moving very slowly southward. Along its leading edge in the White River and Kirkland Lake regions scattered showers and thundershowers are occurring. South of this boundary the weather is sunny and seasonably warm.

Seymour Farmer Loses Valuable Barn in Fire

Campbellford, July 15 (CP) — Warrington Hay, farmer of the eleventh concession of Seymour Township, near Stanwood, suffered a heavy loss Thursday when the large barn on his property was destroyed by fire. The barn and its contents were valued at around $10,000, partly covered by insurance. Cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that it might have been caused by a spark from the gasoline motor which operated the milking machine.

Lost in the fire were a brand new tractor, a sow and litter of small pigs, 20 tons of hay, 350 bushels of grain, 75 hens and the milking machine. Mr. Hay attempted to salvage the tractor and sustained painful burns about the head.

A brooder house containing between 200 and 300 chickens was saved through the efforts of a group of neighboring farmers who moved the building bodily down the field beyond reach of the flames.

Children Are Expected to Live

Montreal, July 15 — (CP) — Barbara Ann Barry, 10, and her two-year-old brother, John, are expected to live.

Barbara Ann risked her life Wednesday when she attempted to pull her young brother from the path of an onrushing train at nearby Mackayville. She was not able to do so in time and the children were hurtled 15 feet into some weeds.

Both children were operated on Thursday, Barbara Ann's operation taking four hours and John's, one. The girl is the more seriously injured. At first, neither child was expected to live.

NAMED TO HIGH OFFICE

Belfast, July 15 (CP)—Lt.-Col. T. Ashmore Kidd, a native of Kingston, today was named president of the World Council of Orangemen at a session attended by 80 edelegates from many parts of the Commonwealth.

W. E. HAMILTON NAMED MINISTER OF INSTITUTIONS

Wellington S. Member Succeeds Geo. Dunbar

Toronto, July 15 (CP)—W. E. Hamilton of Guelph, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Wellington South, was appointed today as Minister of Reform Institutions in the Ontario cabinet.

He was sworn in by Hon. Ray Lawson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Premier Frost and other cabinet ministers attended.

Mr. Hamilton, 47, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Wellington South, succeeds Hon. George Dunbar, Minister for Municipal Affairs, who has been holding the Reform portfolio in an acting capacity since the provincial election last June.

Appointed to Board

With his entry into the Cabinet, Mr. Hamilton also will be appointed a member of the Provincial Treasury Board.

His Cabinet appointment leaves only one vacancy now remaining in the council—the post of Minister of Education. It now is held in an acting capacity by Attorney-General Dana Porter.

Premier Frost was Education Minister before he became head of the government.

Mr. Dunbar had been minister of Reform Institutions before last year's provincial election.

Mr. Hamilton first entered the legislature in the 1945 provincial election and was re-elected last year. He contested the 1943 provincial contest, but was defeated.

He is branch manager at Guelph for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada and long has been prominent in civic affairs there. A native of Guelph, he was educated at Guelph public school, Guelph collegiate and the Ontario Agricultural College.

"Puerile" Says Keays of Report

Toronto, July 15. (CP)—J. E. Keays of Belleville, described today as "puerile" the Royal Commission report which recommended his dismissal as a provincial police constable following charges of misconduct against fellow-officers.

"I am only starting to fight," said Keays, discharged Thursday with the release of the report. "I still believe in British justice and I am only trying to clear my name."

Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay, the Royal Commissioner who investigated the charges in 26 days of public hearings at Belleville earlier this year, recommended that Keays be dismissed and two other officers be retired.

Dentists Frown on Thumb-Sucking But Many a Beauty Did Just That

Take a child of, say, six months to three years, let it stick a thumb into its mouth and—

The Canadian Dental Association is disturbed. The Federal Department of Health, concerned with a nation's welfare and touched in a tender spot, is disturbed. Mothers are disturbed. In fact, the only ones undisturbed in what seems to be developing into a national controversy are the children.

The Dental Association's concern is with a pamphlet recently put out by the department which, the dentists think, favors thumb-sucking by infants. At a meeting in Toronto this week they urged that it be withdrawn. The department declined, explaining that the booklet says only that the practice of thumb - sucking should be viewed with concern only if it is prolonged past the age of one year. That, it says, means trouble — something is wrong with the baby.

To get the views of those directly concerned in what seemed to be a country - wide problem, the Canadian Press Thursday night asked mothers what they thought. Those with daughters favored with good looks and frequently in the news were selected. Obviously, these girls hadn't buck teeth and underslung jaws, defects which many dentists say are the result of sucking their thumbs as babies. Had they sucked their thumbs?

The result was inconclusive. Mrs. R. A. Ferguson, mother of beauteous Betty Jean Ferguson who was Miss Halifax of 1948 and went on to become Miss Canada, said no, her daughter had never sucked a thumb. On the other hand, Mrs. C. A. Kane, whose daughter, Bette, is Miss Halifax of 1949, said Bette sucked her thumb until she was three years of age. So did another Kane child, in fact. with no ill effects. No gains there.

A point for the anti - thumb - sucking forces came from Mrs. William Ferriman, mother of Diddy Ferriman who was Miss Toronto of 1948. Diddi, said Mrs. Ferriman, certainly never stuck a thumb in her mouth and hasn't she a nice set of teeth?

Canvass of a number of Toronto mothers whose children, so far, haven't become prominent, produced some pithy comment, all of it in favor of thumb-sucking. Harvey Dobey, father of 8-months-old Caroline who keeps "stuffing it back in again" each time her thumb is taken out of her mouth, perhaps summed it up for most parents when he said:

"We're at a sort of a disadvantage there, because she has nothing else on her mind and her mother and I have other things to do."

Freight Derailment Being Investigated By Railway Police

Two of Train Crew Hurt In Owen Sound Accident

Owen Sound, July 15 (CP)—Railway police are investigating the derailment of a locomotive and three boxcars of a freight train on the outskirts of Owen Sound early today which injured three members of the train crew.

Railway officials said that a preliminary investigation showed that the train plowed through an open switch.

But they said they could not understand why the switch was open since all railway workers in the vicinity denied turning it.

Leap For Safety

The locomotive's three-man crew leaped from the cab as the engine crashed over a small embankment. The engine ended up on its side in a ditch, with clouds of scalding steam gushing from its smashed boiler.

The three boxcars telescoped, tearing up about 25 yards of rails and ties and came to rest across the right of way.

Engineer William Vasey, 58, of Owen Sound, and fireman M. E. Platten of Toronto, leaped from one side of the cab when the locomotive began to leave the rails. Brakeman . B. Standing, Toronto, followed closely behind.

Taken to Hospital

Vasey suffered a fractured knee and Standing a dislocated shoulder. Both were taken to hospital in Owen Sound.

Early reports said one of the derailed cars was filled with dynamite. It was later learned it contained matches.

Bell Telephone Seeks Authority To Increase Rates

Montreal, July 15. (CP)—The Bell Telephone Company announced Thursday that it "will be compelled to seek authority to increase its rates for service."

The company, in a prepared statement, released a copy of a letter from Frederick Johnson, president, to shareholders in which he referred to previous advices that "the high level of operating expenses and the increased cost of new plant and equipment would eventually compel us to seek authority to increase our rates for service."

The proposed rate increase would affect Quebec and Ontario where the company operates.

The company, because it has a federal charter, will seek authority for the increase from the Transport Board.

EXPORT CARGOES BEING LOADED BY GOVERNMENT

6,000 Troops Assigned as 14,419 Strikers Remain Idle

London, July 15 — (CP) — Troops today started loading export cargoes for the first time on the Thames River docks where a wildcat strike has paralyzed shipping for 19 days and made 14,419 stevedores idle.

Some of the 6,000 troops assigned to the government-seized docks went to work on 10,000 tons of waiting automobiles, steel, pianos and other freight.

Others continued unloading food shipments from 17 more of the 134 ships tied up by the stoppage.

Pickets at the docks distributed leaflets urging the strikers to join a demonstration march from the waterfront to downtown Trafalgar Square Sunday.

Meanwhile, leaders of the two unions representing the idle dockers met with Labor Ministry Conciliator Sir Robert Gould for new efforts to settle the whole dispute.

After the meeting, the unions summoned their full executive committee to meet Sir Robert late today.

Statement Issued.

The leaders issued a statement Thursday night after a three-hour session with an unofficial committee of the wildcat strikers. They said they would "explore all avenues to effect a settlement" of the crippling strike.

Meanwhile, service men continued to go into the miles of wharves to bring off food and other perishables.

Officials, running the docks under a state of emergency declared by the King, said that by today there would be some 7,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen manning the docks.

Britain's motor industry said the stoppage was crippling its export of some 5,000 cars, trucks and tractors weekly through the London waterfront.

Both government members and Conservatives in Parliament have condemned the stoppage.

Prevented by Board

The strikers say they are being prevented from working by the Dock Labor Board which insisted no ships could be unloaded until the men removed the cargoes from two Canadian ships involved in a strike of Canadian seamen.

The longshoremen have refused to work those ships.

First reinforcements to arrive today were a group of 1,500 R.A.F. personnel who moved into the dockland area shortly after dawn. The service men today were working about 55 ships — 10 more than Thursday.

Meanwhile, leaders of the stevedores and lightermen's unions representing the majority of the men now idle, arrived at the Ministry of Labor for discussions in a new effort to end the dispute.

Found in House Four Sentenced To Two Weeks

Pleading guilty to a charge of being found in a dwelling house by night, four local men were given two weeks in the county jail when they appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in city magistrate's court today.

The men, Harold McKnight, Arnold Ridley, Lorne Sanford and Percy Badgley, were apprehended earlier in the week when they were found sleeping in the back room of the former Devault grocery store on Bridge Street, West.

In addition to the above charge Sanford was also convicted on a second offence drunk charge and was sentenced to one month in jail. The two weeks term will be served concurrently.

James Russell, no given address, was remanded for one week when arraigned on a charge of house breaking, while a 19-year-old Odessa girl appearing on a morals charge, was also remanded.

New Fire Station Officially Opened by Civic Officials; Firemen Prepare Fine Banquet

Belleville's new fire station on Moira Street, West, built at a cost of approximately $68,000, was officially declared open Thursday evening, when in conjunction with an informal dinner party the keys of the new hall were turned over by Mayor D. L. Storey to Alderman Claude D. Tice, acting chairman of the fire committee.

It was possibly a "thank you" gesture on the part of Fire Chief Gerald Vance and members of his department, but firemen and their chief as hosts for the evening went all out to make the dinner party complete.

Members of city council and other city officials, as well as fire fighting officials from neighboring centres and representatives of fire equipment manufacturers were guests at the dinner party and were high in their praise of the new fire station.

Praises New Hall

Mr. Ed Beavis, Chief Fire Service Ontario Fire Marshal's Department, declared the new fire station was the finest new hall he had seen in the province.

"The hall is remarkably well planned, both for the convenience of getting equipment out in a hurry, and for the comfort of the fire-fighting personnel," he said.

Mr. Beavis was particularly struck with the comfort of the living accommodations at the fire station. He said he had seen nothing like the fine lounge and separate recreation room provided at the hall.

"I agree that the station is the best in Canada and the fire marshal's department rejoices in the establishment of a second fire hall in Belleville. The increased morale in the department made possible by this fine building will be reflected in increased efficiency of the department," he said.

Proud of Achievement

Alderman Orliff "Boiler" Lloyd as chairman of the city property committee, was in good form as master of ceremonies for the evening and after welcoming the guests assured he was proud of his committee's achievement in getting the fine new fire hall constructed.

"People have told me that any alderman who recommends the spending of money in Belleville will be criticised, but I have been complimented by residents who have inspected the new fire station," he said.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance said he was one of the happiest men in the city to see the new fire hall officially opened. It was one of the best in either the province or the Dominion and its construction proved that the city was aggressive.

"There is nothing that will make for a better fire department than for the personnel to have happy surroundings," he said. "Then they will go out and do a good job."

Expresses Appreciation

The fire chief expressed his appreciation for the co-operation of the fire committee in leaving no stone unturned to make the new fire hall the best. He then introduced visiting fire fighting personnel, while Alderman Lloyd introduced city officials and contractors who had part in constructing and providing equipment and services for the structure.

Frank S. Follwell, recently elected member for Hastings South, paid tribute to city council and to Mayor Storey and members of the fire committee in their accomplishment. He referred to former fire chief William Lynch who, he said, had fought for years to have a new fire hall.

Former member of Hastings South George Stokes added his compliments stating the new fire hall was indicative of the progress of the city. "It is a building of which the city can be justly proud," he said.

Recalls Early Days

Ex-Fire Chief Lynch recalled early days of the local fire department noting the permanent force was organized back in 1916. At that time there were but eight men who worked a 24-hour day.

He said the present platoon system was inaugurated in 1921 and the following year saw the purchase of two motor trucks while the hook and ladder truck was purchased in 1926. The first pumper was procured in 1935 with the purchase of an additional pumper and aerial ladder being recently made.

"I am happy indeed to see the boys in the new fire hall which I advocated years ago" he said.

Mayor Storey complimented the fire committee on the new fire hall noting that they had spent considerable money but they had achieved results. He trusted that a second new fire hall would soon be built in the city.

The Mayor turned the keys of the new fire hall over to Alderman Tice who said it was a great honor and pleasure to receive the keys on behalf of the firemen. "I hope soon there will be a second new fire hall in the city as well as a new city police station," he said.

Other persons to be heard included Police Chief Walter Probert, Inspector W. A. Page of the O.P.P., and the following members of city council: Don Thomas, Jack Allin, Everett Liddle; Charles Hyde, Newton Wilbur, "Sandy" Lummiss and Harold Armstrong.

Jimmy Corradi, local pianist, added life to the party with the rendition of numerous popular numbers, including his own interpretation of "My Buddy", dedicated to the late J. Arnold Thomson, architect for the new fire hall.

Everyone present at the dinner had a good word for Paul Haggis, local chef, whose prowess in the culinary art was ably demonstrated by the venison dinner which was "done to a turn."

Section One Of Tennis Club In First Place

Section One of the Quinte Tennis Club vaulted into first place in the Bay of Quinte Tennis League Wednesday night when they swept five matches from the Holloway Street Church Club without the loss of a set. The clean sweep gave Section 1 of the Quinte Club 16 points, one more than the runner up Point Anne Club. Trenton is third in the league standings with 13 points, followed by Quinte 2, with five points, and Holloway Street with one point.

The results of Wednesday's tournament are as follows: Men's Doubles: Con Moolenburgh and Gerry Wagar, Quinte I, defeated Gord Moynes and H. J. Rouse, Holloway, 6-0, 6-0.

Mixed Doubles: Alec Cunningham and Madge Cowley, Quinte 1, downed Ross Green and Dorothy Blow, Holloway, 6-1, 6-0.

George Wishart and Caroline Morden, Quinte 1, defeated Ken Woodley, and J. Woodley, Holloway. 6-2, 6-3.

Ladies' Doubles: Jean Green and Phyllis Coles, Quinte 1, defeated Dorothy Blow and A. Orser, Holloway, 6-2, 7-5.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Thompson Funeral Home

Our new Funeral Chapel and other alterations to our Funeral Home are nearing completion and will be finished as soon as possible without interfering in carrying on our funeral business.

Our Funeral Chapel will be the finest in the city, if not in Central Ontario. The air-conditioning which has already been installed is most complete with independent air ducts going to each room as well as the chapel and return ducts, thus assuring fresh air every few minutes. More details will follow later.

IN MEMORIAM

BURRELL — In loving memory of a dear mother, Abigail Burrell, who passed away on July 16th., 1946.

Three years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.

Ever remembered by daughter Kathleen, son-in-law James and children.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, July 15—(CP)—Prices weakened slowly under mild selling pressure here today. Current financial discussions in London tended to depress the market as losses slowly increased and widened as the session progressed. Industrials and base metals showed the sharpest declines while golds barely moved to edge lower.

An opening burst of selling pressures sent industrial issues sliding downwards as they more than lost Thursday's late advances. Losses ranged from fractions to a point over a steadily widening list. Some issues went against the trend in early dealings, chalking up gains that were lost in mid-session.

Consolidated Smelters held against early pressure in base metals, but dipped 1½ at the half-way mark. A wide list of issues were down as the group became jittery over the United Kingdom's planned cuts in imports of non-ferrous metals.

Junior gold producers showed declines ranging up to five cents. Central Porcupine mines featured following drill results. Thursday the stock climber strongly but realizing sales tended to reduce the advantage.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, July 15—(CP)—Produce prices quoted on the spot market here this morning follow: churning cream, No. 1, 58 cents FOB, 62 delivered.

The egg market is firm at unchanged prices. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: Grade A large, 65-66; A medium, 63-64; A pullet 51-52; Grade B 44½-46; Grade C 37-38. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large 68-69; A medium 66-67; A pullet 55-60, Grade B 48-49; Grade C 41-42.

Butter solids: First grade tenderable solids, 58; other first grades 57.

HOGS

Toronto, July 15—(CP)— Hog prices at Stratford today were unchanged. Grade A were $32.85 from farmers and $33 from truckers.

At Hull, Que., Grade A hogs were unchanged. Grade A were $33.75 delivered.

DOGS KILL TURKEYS

Peterborough, July 15 — (CP) —Two stray dogs killed 14 turkeys in the flock of John Brown, elderly Dummer township farmer, on Thursday. Mr. Brown who is crippled was sitting on the veranda when the two dogs entered the orchard where the turkeys were feeding. He was alone at the time and his calls for help could not be heard by the neighbors. When the dogs left 14 turkeys were dead and the remaining two severely injured.

Two Arrested For Car Theft, Stealing Gas

It was a case of killing two birds with one stone early this morning when provincial police of Belleville arrested two Montreal youths at the outskirts of the city.

A few minutes earlier the proprietor of a Marysville service station had called to say that the strangers had obtained gasoline and had driven away without paying for it.

Provincial Police Constables J. Thompson and J. Hurrie waited outside the city and when the car passed gave chase, and quickly overtook the men and placed them under arrest.

A check of the car the two men were driving revealed the vehicle to have been stolen.

The two men who gave their names as Joseph Carver, 19, and James Weldon Dier, 23, both of Montreal, will be charged with theft of gasoline by local police, while Brockville police will prefer a charge of car theft.

Wheatland Meeting Held at Foxboro

A new feature on the part of the Hastings County Crop Improvement Association was a wheatland meeting which took the form of a twilight meeting at the farm of Harry Coulter, northwest of Foxboro on No. 14 highway, on Monday evening.

The meeting opened with a draw for two bushels of Cornell wheat which was won by Gordon Stalker, Foxboro. Mr. Clem Ketcheson, president of the association, addressed the meeting and expressed the appreciation of the association to those who had co-operated in the past in making the association's activities possible.

Outlines Projects

Mr. Dalrymple, agricultural representative, briefly outlined the various projects being conducted by the Crop Improvement Association in co-operation with Kemptville Agricultural School and urged that the farmers of the area visit these plots from time to time.

Mr. Gordon Whiteside, Dominion Cerealist from Ottawa, was the guest speaker and in his remarks discussed the four varieties of wheat grown on Mr. Coulter's farm, namely, Dawson's Golden Chaff, Cornell 595, Rideau, and Egyptian Amber. He pointed out that the first three varieties were all highly recommended by the Dominion seed specialists, while the fourth variety which was a very old variety is not as well adapted to some areas as the other varieties.

Soil Testing Service

After going over the plots and discussing the various varieties the crowd moved to the lawn of Mr. Fred Campbell where Mr. W. B. George, soil specialist from Kemptville Agricultural School, briefly outlined the soil testing service and then showed a very interesting film entitled "This is our soil."

Those in charge felt that in view of the fact that there was in the neighborhood of 100 in attendance that the evening had been well spent as many questions were asked and answered by the guest speaker.

Plans are now under way for a twilight corn meeting later in the fall.

COSTLY UPRISING

THE MACKAY REPORT

The findings of the Royal Commission as reported yesterday by the presiding Commissioner, Mr. Justice J. Mackay, will have the aproval of a large prportion of the public. It is good to learn that the good name of the Ontario Provincial Police and Crown officials named in the charges has been cleared of the shadow of doubt brought about by the inquiry.

Had the charges been substantiated, and the honor of the men involved dragged into the dust, the effectiveness of the law enforcement officers would have suffered an incalculable set-back. These men, like Caesar's wife, should be above reproach if they are to have the respect and trust of the public. Indiscretions, even of a minor nature, have no place in the work of our law-enforcement bodies for there is the danger of arousing unfavorable comment. For that reason, alone, police and Crown officials must always be on their guard against careless and thoughtless conduct.

The fact that Constable Keays made sixty charges against the group of police officials and law officers, and was unable to prove any of them to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, is a strong indication of the weakness of his case. His act, too, in dragging names of others who had no direct connection with his charges, earned him considerable censure in the minds of right-thinking people. A sense of fair-play should always govern the action of any person no matter how anxious he may be to prove his point. Over-zealousness, unless it is backed by good judgment, can do more to bring a person in conflict with others than almost any other fault. Mr. Keays should know whether this is true or not.

We strongly commend the Commissioner's suggestion that the Belleville unit of the Ontario Provincial Police be re-organized. He recognized the fact that "antagonism, prejudice, misdirect impulse, inflamed passions had arisen prior to and during the inquiry and these conditions would be corrected by the re-organization." It is regrettable that Inspector Page's retirement is shadowed by the recent trouble. No man likes to have a blemish on his record, no matter how blameless he may be. Tribute was paid the Inspector by the Commissioner for his many years of effective service. However, we are sure that the Inspector will be the first to recognize the good sense of the recommendation for re-organization. Conflicting personalities must be separated for the good of the force as a whole.

His Lordship, also, condemned in the strongest language, the charge against Sgt. Stringer that he lied to newspaper men about the way he shot John Miki. He says in his report, "Sgt. Stringer showed courage and sound judgment and the award of the King's Medal to him for his action was fully justified. The charge is unsupported by any reliable witness." His observation will meet with the unqualified approval of everyone who read the proceedings. The motive of any courageous act should never be misconstrued except only with the strongest proof and this Mr. Keays did not present.

We feel that former Attorney-General Blackwell used good judgment in ordering the Royal Commission. It sets at rest any mistrust in our police force of the province. Had he not done so rumors and wild stories would have circulated for a long time to the detriment of everyone involved. The air has been cleared by the fair hearing given by a competent and favorably-known officer of the Supreme Court of Ontario. The integrity of the Ontario Provincial Police and Crown officials remains unsullied. May it always be so.

NOT ENOUGH FLAGS

A look at the streets of Vancouver on July 1 forced some people to believe that about the only persons who care realy about the meaning of Dominion Day are editorial writers and a few thoughtful politicians and school teachers.

The reason? The lack of flags on display. Go to any American city on July 4 and you will see festoons of flags. Just like it used to be in Canada, years ago, when not only did everyone have at least one flag flying from home or store, but nearly everyone had a flag in his lapel, and the day was further solemnized with oratory and parades.

Does anyone care any more? And if not, why? — (Vancouver Sun.)

CONVENTION DEMAND

Government survey at Washington reveals that half the men wear night-gowns, though delegates with the convention habit probably keep a pair of pyjamas around. —(Toronto Telegram.)

JUST FOLKS

POTS AND PANS

An apron thrown about me
My Nellie neatly tied.
For years (let no one doubt me)
The dishes I have dried.
Sometimes we'd toss a penny,
(How swiftly time goes by!)
As good a way as any,
For who to wash or dry.

When 'twas my turn to wash them,
Beside the sink I stood,
And round about I'd slosh them,
A way that's not so good.
The knives and forks were easy,
But scorning Nellie's plans,
I wouldn't do the greasy,
Well-blackened pots and pans,

I didn't mind the glasses.
The cups I took in stride.
The platters, where amasses
The gravy, waxen-dried,
I scraped the while she waited
'Til gone were all the spots,
But bitterly I hated
To do the pans and pots.

Fate alters lief for many
And makes all wishing vain.
We'll never toss a penny
To wash or dry again.
Today the task that tried me
Is one the good Lord bans,
But could she stand beside me
I'd do the pots and pans.

INSIDE AND OUTSIDE

We often hear people complain about modern architecture. They accuse it of being awkward and ugly, plain and without decoration, undignified and shapeless. They miss the columns, arches, spires, porticoes and other such features of conventional formal buildings.

But there is something to be said for good modern architecture; at least it is honest. It looks like what it is. It is without false appearances. We do not find a handsome marble facade with a cheap brick structure behind it. We do not find the interior of an office building masquerading in the exterior of a Greek temple, full of windowless room and corridors going nowhere—an inconvenient, impractical building because the architect was concerned with outside appearances, not with real functional purposes.

Whether in buildings or in people, we admire genuineness and honesty; we scorn a false front. Naturally we like a building to look fine, but it should be fine, too. Similarly, we all like to have a reputation as good, honest, generous people, but it is more important that we should be so. Seeming without being worthless. If we begin to work on what we are, what we seem to be will take care of itself. As Socrates said, "The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you desire to appear."

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

Dunking is generally supposed to be an American tradition. When we see our American summer visitors languidly dunking doughnuts in their coffee, we sit back to observe, with that air of curiosity we adopt when watching any quaint native custom.

But it is not native and dunking came to America from Mediterranean Europe. The Spanish, French and Italians have the ancient habit of dunking bread in their wine The boys who fought in Sicily and Italy are all familiar with the sight of Italians pouring themselves a big goblet of red vino and then taking chunks of bread and tearing it into golf ball sized gobbets which they dip in the wine.

One of the familiar sights of Paris is the melancholy Parisian sitting at breakfast at the outdoor wicker table in front of a restaurant. Before him is a large mug or even a bowl of astringent, bitter black coffee, well sugared. Over the edge of the mug hangs a croissant. A croissant is a rolly, made of pastry flour in the shape of a crescent.

Humped up, pallid, bilious, the far from gay Parisian dangles the croissant into the hot, bitter coffee. He is the king of dunkers. Stooping low, he lifts the softened horn of the croissant and slurps it. He shudders. He is a Parisian waking himself up. That coffee and that croissant are all he can bear for breakfast.

The croissant is a very ancient form of roll. Legend has it that when the knights of Vienna beat back the Turks in the sixteenth century, the bakers of Vienna created the crescent roll in honor of the victory.

But when you think of all the countless centuries women have been baking, it stands to reason some cave woman or other got tired of making plain buns Curly buns must have occurred very early to the feminine mind. Likely the ancient Egyptians dunked croissants in whatever embalming fruit they drank.

Letters to the Editor

Protests Against Filth in Harbor

Editor
Ontario Intelligencer,

I see by Wednesday's paper a report concerning polio. Why put notices in papers or tack up signs when dirt and filth are left in the harbor to create germs and a breeding bed for flies and mosyuitoes? Also why have garbage pick-up when residents dump the garbage in the harbor?

They all complain about the dirt, but yet help to make it by not putting out garbage. At present we have plenty of dead fish and other filth floating about. Men started to clean the harbor but might better have left it as it was instead of piling it up as they have under the railroad bridge and walking off and leaving it. Surely germs start in refuse of the things which are left to rot and decay.

If polio struck any of the children living near the harbor or any that go swimming in the harbor and there are plenty from all parts of the city, would the council or whoever is responsible for keeping harbor clean, pay the doctor and hospital bill?

Several U.S. tourists stopped at the park to have lunch but when they saw the condition and got a whiff of odor they quickly put lunch baskets in cars and left for other cleaner spots. If men can be kept to keep streets clean, grass cut in parks why cannot a man be kept steady to see that one of the (could be) beauty spots of our fair city, be kept in a condition that would be a drawing card for tourists and anyone who liked to go boating?

Thanks for allowing space in our paper for these questions.

Lover of health and beauty.

TRICK PONY BURNED

Windsor, July 15 — (CP)—A Shetland pony which had been taught tricks by his young master, died Thursday night in a fire that razed the stable of Jack Lucier. Lucier's son, Bobby. 12, had spent several years teaching the pony to put forward its hoof to "shake hand.," and nod its head for a yes or no answer.

Mackenzie's Column

No Compromise In Religious Phase Of The Cold War

By James D. White
Associated Press News Analyst
(For Dewitt MacKenzie)

Suppose a Polish Catholic peasant has a pig for sale.

Suppose he takes this pig to market, and while there happens to read some notice or pamphlet issued by the Polish Government.

Where does this peasant stand under the Vatican's order of major excommunication?

The translated text says it looks as if the peasant is not subject to excommunication. That is reserved for Catholics who persist in being or supporting Communists.

But it does look as if he might be denied the Holy Sacrament of his church if somebody should get technical enough to decide that he had read something that "set forth the doctrine or activity of Communists."

In The Middle

This imaginary peasant suggests the plight of millions of Catholics since the Vatican's order was published Wednesday. They are caught squarely between two systems of supreme authority and neither system admits there is any higher than itself in its claimed province of human affairs.

What about his children, for example? In a country such as Czechoslovakia these days, if they go to school, they go to Communist schools. Are their souls doomed to purgatory because they learn from Communist teachers, or teachers using Communist textbooks?

One Choice

To good Catholics, this can be a matter of spiritual life or death. To citizens of Communist countries, it can be simply life or death.

The Vatican has unsheathed its supreme weapon—and the Communists have asked for it. They have attacked the church in all the countries of Eastern Europe, and even in northern Korea.

Widespread rebellion may already have begun in Czechoslovakia, for instance, as Catholic peasants support their priest who are victims of Communist campaigns against them. It may spread, weaken the Communist hold in such countries, and alter the political face of eastern Europe.

On the other hand, if Communist control is strong enough, local church groups may have to adjust themselves if they are to live.

In any case, the Vatican's order seems to mean that as far as it is concerned there is to be no compromise in the religious phase of the cold war.

PRAIRIE FORESTS

Regina—(CP)— A government forest survey indicates there are some 550,000,000 feet of old growth spruce timber commercially available in the central "prairie" province. The forest belt, about 150 miles wide, lies north of Prince Albert.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE BEATEN TRACK

Too many of us love the beaten track, too timid to branch out and make a new path to new scenes and new discoveries. It's by a new discovery that we gain new incentive, and are inspired to speculate. The inventor, the pioneer, and the scientist boldly set out to discover new ways, new methods and new formulas. This is what keeps the mind of each active and alert.

So inspired was Edison by his many revelations that he found very little time in which even to sleep, snatching it now and then, but returning to his work with renewed enthusiasm and zest . And he kept spreading out. He touched an almost endless number of new ideas, and was the father of inventions that many another adopted as his own. The beaten track had no fascination for him.

Much is written about the lack of opportunities at the present time. They are greater than ever! You just have to hunt ttem out, for they are hidden. New enterprises are cropping up everywhere, for those with an alert eye and keen brain. Advancement in medicine, and in all branches of the sciences, is really remarkable. Something new is forever being touched off, and to the benefit of millions. This means new opportunities. But all these advances do not come from the beaten track.

Said Lowell: "New occasions teach new duties". So, as new paths are entered, new thoughts, new ways of life, are discovered. And all this means opportunities for discovery and growth. I recently visited the Ford motor plant, and stood in a great room where hundreds of designers and draughtsmen were busy at work for future cars. The public is forever craving the new!

The beaten track is only for cows and laggards. Progress is made only by those who seek out new paths, who like to speculate and learn. There were no beaten tracks for those who left all to enter the wastes and forests of the Western lands of Canada and the United States. Those pioneers had eyes that saw afar. They saw what millions now enjoy.

There was no beaten track across the Atlantic when Col. Lindbergh decided that he could span that great distance with his "Spirit of St. Louis". It's routine now!

VARICOSE ULCER

Ulcer is a raw sore on the surface left by necrosis or death or destruction of the tissues and loss of the covering epithelium (skin or mucous membrane).

Most ulcers on the leg are due to varicose veins. Some thifling injury which would heal spontaneously if the circulation in the leg were good, appears to be the beginning of varicose ulcer in most instances.

Varicose ulcer may occur at any age but only rarely in the 'teens, most frequently in persons past middle age.

Women are more frequently subject to varicose veins and varicose ulcers than men, and occupations requiring long standing predispose to the trouble.

Varicose ulcer is usually located in the lower part of the leg near the ankle, as an insignificant bruise or scratch of the skin, which, if neglected, insidiously increases in extent until an area as large or larger than the hand becomes raw, ulcerated, an open sore.

Generally varicose ulcer, small or large, is much more painful than a simple ulcer (such as that produced by a burn). The pain is particularly troublesome at night, depriving the patient of needed sleep. The pain is due primarily to pressure of the stagnant blood in the veins upon the delicate network of sensory nerves surrounding the veins; secondarily to the low grade inflammation, congestion, swelling, induration and edema in the tissues of the leg. Prolonged elevation of the leg at a comfortable angle above the level of the body, preferably in what some doctors still know as Hodgen's suspension — the ideal treatment for fractured femur or thigh bone, shaft or neck (fractured hip). If the trouble is not sufficiently serious to warrant such support for, say, a week or two, then at least the sufferer should lie down and rest the leg in a similar position on pillows for a few minutes several times a day.

Nearly always varicose ulcer is infected, discharges pus ("running sore") and presents more or less "proud flesh" — exuberant granulation tissue—nature's vain attempt at healing. All ulcers or open wounds that heal without benefit of surgery do so by granulating — forming a mass of red, glistening, velvety new tissue to fill the gap so that new skin or mucous membrane can grow over the area to complete the healing process. If the granulations form too rapidly or pile up above the level of the surface new skin or mucous membrane cannot grow uphill and healing proceeds no further — the ulcer becomes chronic.

This granulation tissue itself is without sensation — it has no nerves. Therefore the doctor with knowledge and skill can control its growth—he can encourage it to form at normal or natural rate unhampered by interference or he can retard its growth or he can remove exuberant granulations painlessly and, of course, aseptically, greatly promoting the healing of the ulcer.

Maybe some of you saleswomen, house maids or home makers suffer from varicose ulcer. If so, I ask just one little favor of you. If or when you send a stamped self addressed envelope for the pamphlet on Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcer, don't, oh, please don't begin your letter by saying "I am writing...55 or "I have never before written to a newspaper doctor or a quack ..." or "You have helped others, maybe you can help me." Why clutter things up with such stereotyped copy-book stuff? Say it as you would if every word over ten words cost you seven cents.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Breakfast

Some of us contend breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Others just don't feel hungry on rising and have no appetite until noon. I am one of the latter, and breakfast-eating friends keep telling me I will suffer dire consequences. (Miss M. E. G.)

Answer—As long as you eat one substantial meal a day, built on the dinner pattern in the basic health diet described in the Seven Keys to Vite, it is of little importance whether you eat any breakfast or not. For copy of the booklet send twenty-five cents and stamped self-addressed envelope.

Varicose Veins

Have you any information or advice about varicose veins? (K. H. W.)

Answer—Send stamped self addressed envelope for pamphlet on Varicose Veins.

Rotarians Invade Moira Lake Camp For Annual Visit

Bright skies greeted Rotarians and their families to add to the pleasure of their annual visit to Moira Lake Camp on Wednesday afternoon and evening. From early in the afternoon until "lights out" sent the last tired camper to dreamland the camp was astir with water sports, athletic events, music pageantry and the happy laughter of 125 visitors and campers who found the time all too short for them to participate in the numerous events that had been arranged.

The beautiful site was at its best as the result of preparation made by campers to give the camp a carnival appearance.

Early arrivals hastened to the call of the waterfront to view canoe races and other aquatic events, with the various cabin members as the performers. In this connection the fine new swimming and boating dock the gift to the camp by the Rotary Club came into its first official use. The dock, financed and erected by the Rotary Club, projects into the lake some 75 feet and is built of heavy 2 inch spruce and 6 inch timbers. The dock is 5 feet wide and is one of the finest in the nearby waters.

Formal Presentation

President Fred H. Deacon of the Rotary Club made a formal presentation of the dock to the camp and Mrs. Fred Deacon poured gingerale on the two canoes, which have also been presented by the club. In a beautiful ceremony and to the tune of Indian war drums the two canoes piloted by Indian braves and with torches burning, were brought to the dock and the christening was performed to the loud "How! How!" of the on-looking tribe.

In a traditional softball game the campers reversed the tables on the Rotary Club and this year defeated the Rotarians to the tune of 18 to 10. Joe Kennedy had some difficult times as umpire settling the many and varied disputes. Nearly everyone, campers and Rotarians alike were called into action.

Stan Back at Old Spot

Outstanding among the adult performers were Stan Hagerman who performed as of old behind the bat to catch the slants of Dr. Wilkes, Stu Riley, Freeman Burrows, Gil Scott, Dr. Jack Marshall, Enos David, Russ Hachborn, Brewer Hunt, Harold Mott (and family) and George Campbell. All of the campers were stars.

In the crowded dining room guests and campers alike were the winners. Added to the meal of banquet proportions provided by Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Marshall was the special ice cream treat of Harry W. Ackerman and the popcorn of Russell Hachborn. Virgil James' contribution to the serving of the meal was also appreciated.

The toastmaster for the occasion was James Croll. The program was livened by the sing song led by program director Paul Sweetman accompanied by camp director Frank Styles.

Fred Deacon on behalf of the Rotary Club proposed a toast to the camp, reminding the campers that the Rotary Club, along with the Y's Men, Kiwanis, Optimists and other service clubs and generous individual citizens had shared in providing the camp. He hoped that it gave to them the most in their fond hopes and desires.

Praises Rotarians

He gave great praise to those individual Rotarians who had worked so willingly to build the dock. Included in the long list were Rotarians, Griffiths, Scott, Marshall, Davis, Campbell, David, Hagerman, Hart, Houston, Hunt, Ireland, James, McGuire, Mott, Riley and Young. David Scott replied on behalf of the camp. John W. Deacon, President of the Y.M.C.A., spoke in praise of the high standards being encouraged for the camp in its staff, equipment and program. It was doubtful if any camp of like size had the leadership of the Moira Lake camp. These same standards he said were a demand of the general secretary Al. J. Davis for the Y.M.C.A. program in the city or at camp.

He praised the staff for their work in the camp. The general secretary added words of praise and appreciation to the Rotary Club and individual Rotarians as well as to Y's men and other Service Club members and individual citizens, who had done so much for the camp. He said it was a challenge for the campers to make the best of these years and in their turn to take their place in the years to come in rendering a service of appreciation to the younger generation who will be looking to them for guidance.

The camp director who also delighted the audience with a piano solo, spoke in appreciation of all those who had assisted him in his work as director. He singled out the club in general and Dr. Jack Marshall and Al. J. Davis for their planning and carrying out in a business like way the many matters connected with the camp operation.

Paul Sweetman's amusing solo was well received. He later directed the entire camp in a pageant on Hiawatha. The spectacle of tribes of Indians with torches glowing descending on the council ring to later change war-like intentions into peaceful living was most impressive.

Gilroy United Church Dedicated

(By Miss Gertrude Gunter)

Coe Hill, Special—Last Sunday marked the realization of the dreams of the good Christian folk at Gilroy of the Coe Hill charge of the United Church of Canada, when after two years of much planning honest endeavor and devotion their church was dedicated.

A large crowd gathered from near and far, many who had formerly lived there but now at a distance, journeyed north to unite in this special dedication service. The many flowers in the church and all nature surrounding, mingled and breathed a benediction of blessing. The Coe Hill United Church choir led in the service of song with Miss Marguerite Hanthorn organist. Mrs. Andy Campbell and Miss Marguerite Hanthorn gave a pleasing duet and the choir rendered an appropriate anthem.

Gave History of Building

Mr. W. N. Gilroy gave an historical outline of the building, which until two years ago had been a school for over sixty years, and also used each Sunday for worship Now after much renovation and an addition of a kitchen it is being dedicated as a church. Mr. and Mrs. Gilroy had each lived in this community and attended this school. He recalled many interesting events, Miss Tena Guffin of Madoc being the first teacher. Later she was married to Rev. John Connell Both have passed to their reward Mr. Gilroy commended the people of Gilroy who shouldered the responsibility of converting this school into a church.

The service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. Edwin Hancock. Rev. M. S. Lehigh, a former pastor assisted. The special speaker was Rev. Dr. J. I. Mackay, Superintendent of Missions of the United Church for Montreal and Ottawa and Bay of Quinte Conferences of the church. The service of dedication by Dr. Mackay was sacred to all hearts bowed in the presence of the Master. The sermon was challenging and inspiring from the text, "He steadfastly set Himself to go to Jerusalem." He pictured Jesus, like we, beset by many temptations, trials and difficulties but He never swered from the path chosen for Him.

Urged to Continue Service

Dr Mackay also commended the people for their accomplishments but challenged them to continue on in greater service following the Christ, then this church would be a blessing to the people. The whole service seemed to be a spiritual approval of their united efforts which God will surely bless and sanctify.

During the service Mr. Hancock on behalf of the congregation thanked all those who had helped in any way to make the dedication service possible. To Mr. Wm. Garrett and Mr. Chas. Vicks for their labor in building the kitchen and painting; to the congregation of the Wolf Island United Church for their kind donation of the pews, to Mr. Gilroy for the stove in the kitchen; to Mr. Howard Gunter for the loan of his jeep; to Mr. Lloyd Hancock, Bowmanville, for the use of his spray painter, to the ladies of the W.A. for their cash donation and many hours of work; to all the men of the community who helped in the numerous bees, and to any others who helped in any way to prepare the building for this service.

Govt. May Order Aussie Miners Back to Pits

Sydney, Australia, July 15 — (CP) — The government may declare a state of emergency and order miners back to the pits if other methods fail to end the country-wide coal strike, authoritative sources said today.

This possibility came after the government had ordered troops into the New South Wales coal fields to work open-cut mines.

The New South Wales government began moving coal by rail today from the northern fields to Sydney despite the protests of striking miners.

Some 300 police were on hand when the first coal train pulled out of Cessnock, 120 miles north of Sydney. There was no disorder.

The coal will be used to keep up Sydney's rationed supply of gas and electricity. The coal strike, now in its 19th day, has left most Australians without sufficient heat, light and gas, and has reduced transportation services to a minimum.

The coal being moved consists of about 20,000 tons mined before 24,000 miners went out on strike.

May Withdraw Safety Men

A Miner's Federation spokesman said that the union might carry out its threat to withdraw the safety men," he said.

Four miners officials were fined £100 ($325) each in the Federal Arbitration Court here today. The officials had refused to pay into court money which they were said to have withdrawn from banks to help the strike.

Laurence Sharkey, general secretary of the Australian Communist party, today denied in the Federal Arbitration Court that Communists were directing the strike.

Field Crop Survey Indicates Lower Yield Than 1948

Ottawa, July 15 (CP)—Field crops in Canada were in worse condition at the end of June than they were at the same time last year.

But the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which issued that report Thursday, said it doesn't necessarily mean yields will be lower. It's considered certain, however, that western grain yields will fall below last year's figure.

Only in the Maritime provinces were crop conditions better than last year. Manitoba's crop compared "favorably" with last year but in all other provinces conditions were worse.

Wheat Hard Hit

Wheat was one of the hardest-hit crops. The wheat conditions—expressed as a percentage of the long-term average—stood at 72, compared with 95 at the same time last year.

Drought and high temperatures were blamed for damage to crops.

Over wide sections of Central Alberta, stretching east and south of Edmonton to the Saskatchewan border, wheat was rated at less than 50 per cent of average. The same rating was given for a wide stretch of southeastern Alberta and southwestern Saskatchewan.

Earlier this week, the bureau reported that many districts in these areas expected yields of less than 10 bushels to the acre.

Percentage Yields

Condition futures for principal field crops, with figures for the same time last year in brackets, were: Oats 81 (80), barley 76 (78), rye 54 (78), peas 81 (90), beans 89 (96), buckwheat 86 (96), mixed grains 76 (96), flaxseed 80 (83), corn for husking 90 (94), potatoes 89 (95), turnips 83 (93), hay and clover 86 (94), alfalfa 68 (92), fodder corn 88 (94), sugar beets 98 (90), pastures 80 (97).

Prospects for feed grains, fodder and pasture crops are "not good" in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Quebec and British Columbia crops were rated slightly below those at the end of June in 1948 while the condition of crops in central and western Ontario—except sugar beets—dropped sharply from last year. Sugar beets were rated higher.

Deadly Algae Not Dangerous To Humans

Toronto, July 15. (CP)—Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, said today the deadly anabaena algae which for the second year has killed prize cattle on the shores of Lake Sturgeon, near Fenelon Falls is not dangerous to human beings.

Dispersed throughout the water, the algae is not even dangerous to cattle, he said. Only in concentrated form in the shore shallows where it ferments in the sun and is drunk by animals does the blue-green algae cause almost instantaneous death to animals.

Diligenti Quints To Celebrate Sixth Birthday

Buenos Aires, July 15 (AP)—The Diligenti's "five young imps"—as their father calls the quintuplets—are six today—six years old, that is.

Their household will realize it better Saturday because they are in school today. Franco Diligenti's parental boss of the two boys and three girls, postponed their sixth anniversary party so the hilarity would not interfere with their education.

Franco Jr., Carlos Albert, Maria Fernanda, Maria Esther and Maria Cristina Diligenti — the prococious and peppy youngsters—are expected to keep a large staff of servants on the go, when they celebrate. Papa Diligenti says they really tear the house apart when they get started.

They all speak English and French and their mother's native tongue, Italian, in addition to Spanish. But they are not bookworms.

They will be separated for schooling next year—the boys attending one school and the girls another.

"I couldn't inflict those five young imps on one boarding school," says Diligenti, wealthy textile manufacturer. "They all would be packed home within a couple of days."

IVANHOE

Bride-To-Be Receives Many Useful Gifts

Ivanhoe—A delightful kitchen shower, in honor of the bride-to-be, Miss Marion Kellar, was held at the home of the Misses Honora and Agnes McAvoy, Ivanhoe, on Monday evening. The rooms were beautifully decorated with streamers and summer flowers for the occasion.

After the reading of an appropriate address, Marion was presented with many lovely and useful gifts, for which she expressed her appreciation, thanking each donor individually for the tangible evidence of good will, and wishes for her future happiness.

Following the admiring of the gifts, dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, and the remainder of the evening passed in visiting, and in a general happy time together.

All were cordially invited by the bride-elect to visit her in her future home.

WEDDINGS

COFFEY—SHANNON

Lucy Geraldine Shannon, daughter of Thomas H. Shannon, Plainfield, became the bride of Francis Ronald Coffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Coffey, Read, on Saturday, June 25th., in St. Charles Borromeo Church, Read.

Rev. J. J. Shannon, Carleton Place, uncle of the bride, officiated at the ceremony, and Wm. Hanley presided at the organ, while Arthur Shannon, Patrick McAdams and William Hanley acted as soloists.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin and lace. Her full length embroidered veil was held in place by a satin headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Wm. Hanley, sister of the bride, gowned in lime green organza with matching headdress, and carrying a cascade bouquet of yellow gladioli, was her only attendant.

Charles Coffey, brother of the groom, was groomsman, while Austin Coffey and Patrick Shannon acted as ushers.

BEWARE OF PERSPIRATION ODOR

This is the season of the year when a girl should look as fresh as a daisy, as crisp as a lettuce leaf. She must soft pedal on vivid make-up so she will not have a feverish appearance and she must look dainty. Look it, and be it. Even though she may not be troubled with perspiration odor she must take protective measures against it. To carry even the slightest suggestion of this odor is not to score, is to be side-stepped and avoided.

Only a brush and elbow grease will renovate completely.

The daily bath is supposed to be an established institution in Uncle Sam's domain, but it is suspected that some individuals are not faithful to the precepts of scrupulous cleanliness. Nice individuals, too, well-dressed and good-looking! Corset fitters claim that one would be surprised to know how many women are negligent about grooming, the presence of some of the cash customers being an offense to the olfactory organs.

Excessive perspiration has caused many girls to lose their jobs, many to lose their suitors. The sad part is that there is no excuse for it. There may be a case now and then when the condition is caused by glandular disturbances, in which event the services of a physician should be sought. A thorough physical check-up will discover the cause and the case can be treated professionally.

The use of an anti-perspirant is necessary because the effects of the bath may last for only a few hours, especially if one exercises and the weather is warm. The sweat glands may exude as much as a pint of moisture a day. It may not be visible at all; one may be scarcely conscious of it.

These exulations deposit chemicals upon the skin surface. Dead skin cells form perfect tenements for odorous deposits. That is why the daily bath should be thorough. Soak in warm water for several minutes to loosen the scales. Scrub the entire body surface with a brush of heavy, firm bristles that carry plenty of rich suds. The wash cloth is not the right medium. Only a brush and elbow grease will renovate completely.

Finish with a warm shower, cooling the water gradually. Have a brisk rubdown; apply a bath tonic that has an alcoholic content. Once a week have a salt glow. Stand in the tub, rub moistened table salt into the flesh, removing it with a cold shower.

Apply a deodorant or deterrent to the armpits, where the sweat glands are extra active. These preparations come in various forms—liquids, creams, powders—and you will find them at any cosmetic counter.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

Homesick Souls

By ROY L. SMITH

A famous Frenchman once said that "man in incurably religious." Scientists and travellers have searched the world over in their efforts to find a tribe or people completely without a religious faith, but none such have been found. Atheism is abnormal.

Deep within the soul of man there is a persistent longing for something that will answer this instinctive search for God. The fact that much religion is primitive is no indictment of intelligent religion. For that matter much music is savage and flavored with the spirit of the jungle, but we do not condemn the great operas and symphonies for that reason.

Subtracting Religion from Art

It is highly significant that art owes its most powerful and creative inspirations to religion. Suppose, for instance, that we should undertake to subtract the religious instinct from music. What would we have left? The greatest musical instruments we have—the organ, the flute, the harp, and the violin—were originally designed as aids to worship. The loveliest architecture we know was originally planned for houses of worship. Painting and sculpture—who can estimate what they would be except for the powerful urges furnished to them by religion.

As for poetry, the loss of the poems which owe their existence to spiritual longings would be utterly disastrous. It is almost true that as soon as a poet gets into a field unaffected by religious and spiritual motives his writing becomes utterly trival.

The Lost Word

Henry Van Dyck, some years ago, wrote a fascinating story which was also a profound study of the human spirit, under the title "The Lost Word." It was the tale of an ancient Greek nobleman who was converted to Christianity during his young manhood, and then sold his faith to a magician for honor, wealth, and power.

> The Sunday School lesson for July 17: "Songs of the Temple," Psalms 24: 84; 95:1-7b.

At the height of his success, however, he came face to face with tragedy, and as he stood helpless beside the bed of his dying son he made the terrifying discovery that he had no one and no thing to whom to pray. In the hour of his greatest triumph he felt a mighty impulse to give thanks, but there was no one and no thing to whom to express his gratitude.

There is infinite pathos in the sight of the indivdual who has no contact wth Deity in the great hours of his life.

The Temple and Life

The ancient Hebrew Temple was intimately related to the most profound aspects of the life of the people. Inside its walls they experienced their highest joys, and their most revealing searchings of the heart. In the midst of their worship services, under the leadership of their great psalms, they discovered their inner selves and saw their own souls for what they really were.

The music one hears in a church, even though it may be amateurish in its rendition, and unsatisfactory in its artistry, has a quality about it that makes it superior to any music heard anywhere else. This is because it answers to some deep cry of the human heart. Even the great operas, with their magnificent choruses and wistful melodies, do not go as deep into the human soul as some of the simple old gospel hymns which deal with the eternal concerns of the human spirit. One may find superior entertainment elsewhere, but one will never find keener spiritual insight and understanding anywhere than in a church.

The Hebrew Songs

The greatest songs of the people are not associated with the races, the night clubs, the theatre, or the stadium. They cluster around the home, the family circle, the good man who loves a pure woman, and a citizen's devotion to the land of his birth.

It is not surprising, therefore, to find that a long list of the greatest songs of the ancient Hebrews (of which this week's lesson contains samples) are closely associated with the Temple and its religious services. There is something in them that calls to the deepest instincts of the human spirit. Perhaps that is the reason why some superficial folk do not appreciate them. The deeps call to the shallow and the shallow do not hear because they are shallow.

Women's Institute

ELDORADO W.I.

Eldorado—The July meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oscar Wannamaker, with 16 members and one visitor answering the roll call.

In the absence of the President, Mrs. Hugh Barker, presided.

Correspondence was dealt with and business was discussed on hot lunches for the different schools; delegates fees to the District Annual were paid. It was decided that each new baby of paid members be given a gift amounting to $2.00.

Plans were made and committee named to look after the field day which is to be held on September 5th.

It was also decided to visit the new Dutch family in the community and to welcome them and take them a can of fruit or vegetables on Thursday, July 14th.

Mrs. Beryl Bateman, convener for community activities then took charge and opened with a sing-song.

Mrs. Ed. Blakely gave a paper entitled "World is Full of Beauty"; Deacon Brown's Courtship" was also read by Mrs. Frank Chambers. Mrs. Beryl Carman then gave a very interesting paper on "Newfoundland".

Several members gave highlights on the District Annual.

A very humorous reading was given by Mrs. Beryl Bateman, entitled "So Was I".

Mrs. Wannamaker and her assistant served refreshments and an enjoyable half hour was spent together.

Low Male Neckline An Editor's Dream?

Washington, July 15—(CP) — When will men get really smart and enjoy the cool, relaxing informality of the plunging neckline?

Now that summer heat is here, The Washington Times-Herald says, why not do something about "the misery of the starched collar, strangling necktie, smothering coat, cinching belt, cutting garter, wilted neckband and large areas of perspiration?"

"When will men get really smart? . . All it needs is a little nerve. I had some."

TWEED

"Salad Tea" Held On Spacious Lawn Honors Bride-Elect

Tweed—A salad tea held on the spacious lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Connor, with a background of roses and other bloom, was the setting of a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Audrey Dales, bride-elect, daughter of Dr. M. G. Dales and Mrs. Dales.

The bride's chair was arranged under a trellis which was prettily decorated with flowers and foliage. Carol Ann Connor and Mary Lou Porritt presented Audrey with a pink trimmed basket containing many useful gifts for which Audrey graciously thanked her many friends. About forty guests were present.

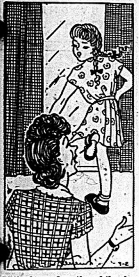
Start Your Child Along The Good-Looks Road

Countless women are tormented with foot ills because of neglect in childhood. Chiropodists say that a child's health begins at the toes, that it is vitally important that the feet be kept in a normal state during the early years. Surveys show that many grade school pupils have feet in such condition that good posture is impossible. The cause is usually in the fit or the kind of shoes that are worn.

Mothers may get a picture of the condition of their children's feet by examining their shoes. Look at the bottoms first. If the wear covers the entire sole area, with greater wear evident along the margin of the sole, chances are that the shoes fit correctly. The heels should show heavier wear along the outer side. These are the areas that receive the greatest force of body weight under normal conditions.

If the forward portion of the shoe shows excessive wear, it is too short. The poor little toes are sent into a huddle, and that's bad.



If the forward portion of the shoe shows excessive wear, it is too short.

Walking may be painful; the child may have little desire for excercise or outdoor games. In later life cramped toes often produce back pains and grouches. No telling how many family battles may be due to ill-fitting shoes and twinging toes.

Is the wear especially marked on the inner border of the heel and the inner margin of the sole? If so, the upper portion of the shoe will be thrown out of its origional pattern, with the inner side bulging. This state of affairs may be a forerunner of flat feet. Again, the reason is found in shoes that have not the correct last, that do not give proper support. If the child suffers discomfort, there should be a visit to the podiatrist to set matters right. He may suggest shoes of a certain design made especially to correct such conditions.

Up to the age of seven a child outgrows shoes before they are even half worn out. Therefore, there should be a frequent checkup made by the mother to see that the toes have wiggling room.

For the school and general wear, specialists advise that oxfords be worn with soft uppers and flexible leather soles. There should be firm counters at the heels. The length should exceed the length of the foot by a full inch and the lacings should be pulled fairly tight to provide support.

Authorities caution against the practice of a youngster wearing hand-me-downs. Even when the size seems right, a different shape of foot may make an old shoe a health hazard. Experts condemn sneakers for everyday wear, pointing ont that leather soles are required for proper ventilation through the natural 'pores' of the cowhide.

Courageous Cripple Wins Goal on Stage

Blackpool, England (CP)—Courage has won the day for pretty singer Lilian Gates.

Handicapped by after-effects of poliomyelitis, she fought back for years and has now gained her life's ambition—to appear on the stage in a big show.

Probably Britain's only crippled chorus girl she is singing in Noel Coward's "Bitter Sweet" at Blackpool's Grand Theatre. The lavish stage spectacle is expected to reach London's' West End later this year.

Lilian, born in Newcastle-on-Tyne, was stricken with the illness before she was two years old. Her mother gave her every care and attention, but Lillian realized if she wanted to be cured she must help herself.

At 17 she took up singing and developed an attractive soprano voice. After the war she went to London, but, being still lame, was turned down by West End theatre managers. She managed, however, to obtain engagements as a solo variety turn. Then . . . .

"The musical director of "Bitter Sweet" heard me sing and invited me to attend an audition, which I passed. To be in the chorus of a show that will probably reach the West End is the biggest thrill of my life."

Attractive Model Is Mother of Four

Montreal, (CP) — Having a husband and four boys to look after just wasn't enough for Mrs. Florence Kay. She likes clothes and she wanted a job so she went out and got one. Now she is becoming one of Montreal's better known models.

Mrs. Kay is 36, a blue-eyed brunette who is a perfect size 14, five feet eight inches tall.

Fashion writers have described her as "not the pretty type, nor a classic beauty but decidedly attractive."

Her boys, Gary 17, Robert 16, David, seven, and Teddy, six, are proud of their model mother. So is her bank accountant husband.

"When I sarted working last fall I planned to have a working housekeeper come in to look after the family but the boys would not hear of it," she said. "The two older boys took over and looked after the younger ones and the assistance and co-operation I get from my family enables me to do this seasonal work—I love it."

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

ATTENTION, ALL GUESTS! When you are a guest, for a short visit or for longer, take your leave at the time arranged for your leave-taking. Your hostess may feel that it is the way of gracious hosptitality for her to say (or perhaps just to murmur!) "I wish you would stay" . . . but be wise, dear guest, and don't do it. Undoubtedly your hostess has her definite plans . . . and you should have yours, and stick to them.

All-White Is Also Deep Mourning

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am in mourning for my mother, who passed on three weeks ago. For the month of August we have rented a house in a small village where we used to go with Mother some years ago. I have been told by a friend in whose judgment I have always had faith that it is absolutely correct for me to wear all-white clothes during the summer, that all-white is as "deep" mourning as all-black. Is this really correct, or if I wear all-white clothes (as I would certainly like to), might I be criticized by the friends who knew and loved Mother?

Martha S.

Your friend is absolutely right . . . all-white clothes are considered deep mourning, just as are all-black clothes. Provided, of course, that the materials are not shiny, and that the accessories worn are appropriate. This is, as you feel, a great relief and comfort for mourning to be worn in the summer.

A Present as Well as a Tip to the Maid

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have been invited to spend a weekend next month in the home of my former college roommate and her husband. She has a part-time maid, a general houseworker and cook, a woman whom my friend's family used to have as chambermaid in their much larger establishment, where I used to visit during our college days. I am wondering whether it would be better to give her a tip when we leave, or to take her a present when we go to visit. What would you suggest?

Marcia M.

Under these exceptional circumstances, I suggest that you do both: that is, take an attractive present with you (perhaps one or two nice, sheer white handkerchiefs or white handkerchiefs embroidered with her first name or the initial of her first name, or perhaps a scarf or a purse), and either give her the present with a tip as you leave, or give her the present when you arrive, and the tip when you leave, with warm words of "remembering" friendliness and of appreciation.

Unkind to Their Relatives and Intimate Friends

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We wanted to have our engagement announced in the simplest possible way, no fuss, no engagement-announcement party, and so my parents simply sent an announcement of the engagement to the two local newspapers. Since then we have been severely criticized by my relatives and my fiance's relatives, and by close friends—his friends, my friends, our mutual friends. We have been told that it was incorrect for us not to tell them personally, that it seemed so 'cold' to be informed by reading the news in the newspapers first. Was what we did so incorrect?

Nancy L.

Indeed what you did was incorrect, and unkind, and very inconsiderate. An engagement announcement is a very personal item, and naturally, most naturally relatives and intimate friends expect to be informed personally (by word of mouth or by telephone or, more customarily, by note) of the engagement. They can't feel honored or complimented by receiving this important news through the newspaper announcement.

Advised Spinsters, Now Deserting Them

Washington, (CP)—Pretty, red-haired Jean Van Evera, the girl who wrote "How to be Happy While Single," is going to be married, her friends say.

Miss Van Evera, a former Kansas City newspaper woman and now a free-lance writer here, wouldn't say yes and she wouldn't say no. But friends say she'll say yes before long.

The day her book was published, Miss Van Evera told reporters: "I have nothing against marriage."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Another Teenage Marriage on the Rocks

Those teen-agers who are constantly writing to tell me how wrong I am in thinking it unwise for girls of their age to marry, would do well to consider the case of a 19-year-old girl named Sue, who tells me the following story:

She says that she was married at the age of 15½, but very soon found herself extremely unhappy, as she missed the companionship of young people of her own age. Nearly a year ago, she came to the point where she couldn't stand it an ylonger, and left her husband.

"I am very happy now," she writes, "and find myself very content, especially since I have been going around with a crowd of boys and girls my own age. But I must say that when I see my husband, there is still a feeling I can't ignore."

Her husband, she says, has asked her several times to come back to him, but now that she has found how nice it is to be free to go about with young people as she pleases, she doesn't want to give up her freedom again.

This first part of Sue's letter illustrates very clearly one of the reasons why I think it unwise for girls to marry too young. When they marry in their teens, their new responsibilities force them to give up the kind of companionship with other boys and girls that is normal for teen-agers, and, except in very unusual cases, they miss it and are unhappy.

The second part of this girl's letter points up another important reason for the way I feel about teen-age marriages. This has to do with the fact that too-early marriage prevents girls and boys from getting to know enough other young people so that they become competent to evaluate, not only people themselves, but their own feelings about them. For unless they can do this, they are very apt to find, after marriage, that the appearance of a new and attractive girl or man cools their so-called love fo rthe one they married. That's what happened to Sue.

Greatly attracted to a man she met after her marriage, who married soon after she met him, she kept on thinking about him and secretly hoping that some day she would hear that he had left his wife and was a free man once more. After she left her husband and returned to her own family, she heard that this other man had broken up his own marriage.

"I have gotten in touch with this man now," she writes me, "and since we can see a lot of each other, we do. Each of us has separation papers but neither has a divorce as yet. I do think a lot of him. Shall I go with him and wait the time out, which will be eighteen months, or if not, what should I do?"

I assume what this girl actually means is, should she wait the required time until she gets a final divorse from her husband and then marry this other man, or should she give him up and return to her husband, who seems to want her back?

All she has against her husband seems to be that he was unwilling fo rher to go out much. That being the case, if he realized that this made her so happy, he might now be ready to take a different attitude. It seems to me it would be well worthwhile for her to discuss this matter with him before deciding to put a permanent end to her marriage, especially since she admits she still has feeling for him she "can't ignore." If her husband was ready to do his might yet find it more possible than she now believes to make her first marriage work. Then, if the marriage fails a second time, through no fault of her own, and after she has given it a fair chance, it might be reasonable to consider putting an end to it. But just because she has taken a fancy to another man does not seem to be a sufficient reason at this time for carrying through divorce proceedinge. After all, if she marries this man, she might find living with him no more satisfactory than living with her first husband.

Bobby-Soxers Tagged "Rats"

By

JACQUES ARMAND-PREVOST

Paris, (AP) — French bobby-soxers are called "existionalists" not because they follow Jean Paul Sartre's philosophical doctrine, but because they first met in the Saint-Germain-des-Pres district where Sartre has his headquarters.

In this old-fashioned part of Paris you can see young boys and girls dressed in corduroy jackets. They wear long hair and plaid skirts. The girls have little make-up and wear their hair either in pigtails or long and straight.

It is mostly at night that you meet them because most of them work in daytime. They are students, artists and some girls are mannequins. But all of them have a joint and distinctive feature, their love for the jitterbug and the be-bop. They meet at night in cellars. These stuffy and smoke-filled hide-outs have been turned into clubs. The main clubs are the "Club de Saint-Germain-des-Pres", the "Club du Vieux-Colombier" and the "Rose Rouge" (the red nose).

In the first one, Boris Vian is operating. Vian plays a jazz trumpet and also is a writer.

"Petits Rats"

His dancers, all of them amateurs, are so good that they have been asked to give exhibitions at charity affairs. They call themselves the "pétits rats of Saint-Germain-des-Pres". In French a "petit rat" (a small rat) has nothing to do with this animal, it is only the nickname of the young ballerinas in the beginning class of the opera ballet.

Tourists pack the clubs to see them dance, and it is a sight. The dancers are young and they swing their girls over their heads while the band plays the latest be-hop.

At the Vieux-Colombier, Claude Luter plays first trumpet and rivals Vian. The employees and members of these two spots each insist theirs is the best. Sometimes members belong to both just to make a comparison.

Their main purpose, of course, is having fun. As they say in French they are "Mordus' (bitten) by the jazz music.

The clubs are not so wild as some people think they are. They close at 2 a.m.

The Experts Say . . . Whipped Cream With Fruit Makes Delicious Desserts

By KAY REX

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, July 14. (CP)—Whipped cream, combined with fresh or canned fruits, makes delicious summer-time desserts.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion department of agriculture, say that when whipped cream is required, whipping cream is required, whipping cream—that which tests at least 30 per cent butterfat—should always be used.

Cream should be at least 24 hour old; cream and utensils should be cold; only a small amount of cream should be whipped at one time; if cream is whipped until stiff and dry it will stay whipped for several hours; sweetening, salt or flavoring should be added to cream after it is well whipped.

Frozen fruit pudding fits the menu whether it be luncheon or dinner. And it is bound to become a favorite with the family.

Ingredients: one egg white; one-quarter cup honey; one cup whipping cream; one cup diced fruit (fresh or canned).

Beat egg white and honey to a stiff meringue (about seven minutes). Whip cream and fold in, then fold in fruit. Pour into the freezing tray of the refrigerator and freeze until firm. Yield: six servings.

Ice cream cake is another refreshing dessert in these hot weather days.

Ingredients: light cake, one inch in thickness; one cream brick; three egg whites.

Halve the cake and cutting ice cream lenthwise place on one of the halves. Cover with the other half of the cake. Beat the three egg whites until dry and add six tablespoons of white sugar. Cover the cake top and sides with egg white and brown in the oven as for a pie.

Honey may be used as a substitute for sugar in many a recipe, and with delightful results. Here are a few rules which should be followed when using honey in a dish which calls for sugar:

Measure honey in liquid form. For every cup of honey used, reduce the liquid called for in the recipe by one-fifth. One cup honey is as great in sweetening power as one cup of sugar. Use one-quarter to one-half teaspoon soda to each cup of honey. Increase the amount of salt by one-eighth to one-quarter teaspoon. When substituting honey for sugar in cake, reduce the liquid of the recipe by one-fifth and use half honey and half sugar. In pie filling add the honey with the thickening agent.

Honey Cream Filling—Ingredients: one-half cup honey; 1 1-4 cups milk; one-eighth teaspoon salt; one-quarter teaspoon vanilla; three tablespoons cornstarch; one tablespoon milk.

Combine honey and milk and bring to a boil. Combine other ingredients and beat until smooth, add to first mixture and cook over hot water for ten minutes.

Fashion Flashes

LATE AFTERNOON cottons are the thing this Summer, and what beauties they are! White organdie, all over dotted with tiny black circles, makes up into a charming frock with a Pierrot ruff collar standing high around the throat, a sleeveless, very fitted top, and a black velvet tie sash.

LAZY DAYS at the beach bring out outfits that are both pretty and practical. A useful three-piecer is of white cotton plaided in thick black and fine red lines. It consists of a nightshirt coat and a bra, both trimmed with red, and full shorts.

A GENEROUS ARRAY of fine fashions mark the suit and coat fashions prepared for the new season. Many coats are belted but are full above and below the belt Suits have hip flaps to suggest a curved, cutaway effect. The fur-lined topper is more important than ever, and camel's hair appears for smart casual suits as well as for sports and general wear coats.

WELL HANDLED felts that compromise nicely between the very sportsy and every day hat, are nice, especially for the traveler. White felt, a cloche type—trimmed with cinnamon brown ribbon, the brim allover, closely stitched, with a veil of silk mesh that ties and trails in back—adds up to a useful and pretty hat.

NOTHING LIKE LEATHER, say those that go in for suede coats and skirts. Something new and very good looking is a suit of gold colored suede with green snakeskin inlay on the collar and outlining the pockets, with snakeskin covered buttons for the tabbed detail at pockets and cuffs.

A UNIVERSAL FAVORITE, flowerd chiffon, is well represented in mid Summer fashions. Pale gray silk chiffon, with clusters of yellow and pink flowers and green leaves outlined in black, is used for an ankle-length dinner gown with deep neckline and a coller that rises softly to a point in back.

Vocational Guidance For Junior Students

Toronto, July 15—(CP)—Evelyn Reynolds is a school teacher whose job it is to prepare public school students for future careers. While this is a fundamental aim of all teachers Miss Reynolds does nothing else.

As teacher in the guidance room of Toronto's Bedford Park school, she helps grade seven and eight students plan future study for the various fields they hope to enter. She directs them into proper courses and helps their choice of suitable schools to forward their ambitions.

The list of topics in her course is extensive. Manners, citizenship, good grooming, how to study, values of various school subjects, stories of outstanding Canadians, wise use of leisure time, value of hobbies, how to apply for a job, how to consider various occupations, control of emotions and how to get along with others are all included.

"We try to get the pupils thinking of their future and investigating the kinds of jobs they might best be suited for," says tall, blonde Evelyn.

"Our job is to help them to a wise decision. The pupils meet in groups informally for some programs and they also have individual interviews. We use films and sometimes have speakers from various industries to outline the types of employment that would be given.

South Africa will soon hear about her work along these lines. A Durban teacher, at Bedford Park on exchange, is enthusiastic over the guidance course, and will take back details when he returns.

Indian Woman Wins Accolade as Editor

Vancouver, (CP) — A Salish tribe Indian woman here has received a silver tray from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and the U.S. President's widow has cited her as one of this continent's distinguished women.

The Indian woman is Mrs. Ruth Smith. She has been honored for her work as editor of The Native Voice, a monthly Indian paper, in 1947 and 1948.

The paper has a circulation of 3,000, is published here and sent as far away as the United Kingdom and India. Mrs. Smith has since retired as editor and is working in a Vancouver Indian centre.

EXCITED ABOUT ATLANTIC PACT

Republican Senator Robert A. Taft is shown excitedly talking to reporters after he announced in a senate speech that he would vote against the North Atlantic pact because in his opinion it obligates the United States to arm western Europe and "will promote war rather than peace." Taft, who heads the Republican policy committee, said the treaty is a defensive military alliance and "by no stretch of the imagination" can be said to strengthen the United Nations.—Central Press Canadian.

Manhattan Love Song

By Kathleen Norris

Seven million or seventy million, she must search him out. Poor and sick and heart-broken, in this immense city, and not likely to have his name in the directory, much less a telephone book — but she would find him!

She walked to the hotel where Chris had been, talked earnestly to an admiring clerk. The conversation had been going on for ten minutes when a call-boy, loitering interestedly near, observed that he thought the gentleman had sent three collars to the laundry, and would probably call for them there.

"Which laundry?" Fanny asked eagerly. Well, the agency was around the corner and up the block, halfway, at a newspaper and cigar stand. The clock behind the hotel desk stood at just half-past five; she all but ran to the newspaper stand, breathlessly entered the little shop that smelt of ink and glue and peppermint and newspapers and cigars.

Sure, a yawning clerk assured her, the Eureka Laundry Service had an office there, but the man went home at five. He would be back at seven. Well-then, might —might the lady look over those little pink-paper bundles of collars. No, she wouldn't take any; she just wanted to see if a certain name was there.

The shop clerk could do nothing about it and was plainly a prey to the darkest suspicions, but he finally suggested that she come back at seven, the Eureka man would let her see them.

At seven she came back and was allowed to inspect the pitiful little packages that held just those parts of his wardrobe that the poorest man may not launder in a hotel room. And there it was, in the firm angled hand she remembered: "C. Thring

Fanny had her half-dollar ready. When the gentleman came for his collars he was to be given this note—here, please fasten the note to the collars. She wanted his address, if the man could possibly get it. He must get it! And here—this was for him.

That night was all fear, confusion, broken dreams in which Chris needed her; anxious awakenings with a hammering heart. And the next afternoon, on an impulse, she went to the newspaper stand again.

The laundry man, with an air of efficiency, returned her note.

"He sent a girl in for the collars lady, and I didn't know whether you'd want her to have it. She came in about ten minutes after you was here."

Fanny had been in New York almost a year. Complete stupidity in small matters from obscure officials she now took as a matter of course. She said patiently:

"You got the address?"

"Well, say, I never thought of it," responded the clerk.

"That girl comes in for the paper every night," the other clerk now volunteered. The stupor of dispair into which Fanny had fallen lightened a little, and she asked simply, with an air of dealing with a child:

"When she comes tonight, will you ask her where this gentleman is?"

"Sure I will. Want her to take the note?"

Fanny considered, looking at it in her hand.

"He may be laying low," suggested the laundry clerk, with interest.

"Yes, I think I wouldn't send the note," Fanny agreed absently. "But get me the address, if you can. If I knew exactly when she would be here I'd wait."

"If you come at five-thirty like you did yesterday, and wait, she'll be here." Fanny went off to walk the streets stupidly, filling time.

The girl, duly appearing at quarter to six, turned out to be a high-school scholar, with rich dark curls on her neck, reddened lips, and carefully blackened eyelashes. Fanny was ready for her with disarming friendliness: did Mr. Thring live at her house?

"Sure he does," the girl responded willingly. "He don't board, but he has a room. But he's awful sick."

"Sick?"

"He hasn't been out of his room for a week hardly," said Miss Varsi unemotionally. "Mama just sent for his collars with the other boys'. I haven't taken them upstairs yet. He only came about ten days ago, and Mama says she doesn't know what to goodness he's living on."

This information was imparted while they walked through the dingy street and mounted the battered steps of an old building once a residence of some pretensions; now caught in among tenements and cheap basement shops. The flat-fronted cheap buildings showed an unending display of those signs that taken all together spell poverty: "Rooms. Meals. Midwife. Modes. Violin. Housekeeping Apartment. Rooms. Meals."

"He's way on the top, at 'the back,'" said Miss Varsi, parting from Fanny in the entrance hall. "I'd go up with you, but I have to do my English."

Fanny mounted alone the great with an elegant sweep; mounted stairway that left the first floor the second flight that was wide and handsomely balustrated, and still covered with rags of a fine old carpet, and the broken survivors of brass stair rods. Many of the forlorn doors she passed sagged open. and from them came the odors that in their turn spelled poverty, too; odors of dust and decay, mice, defective plumbing and boiling onions, rotting wood, burning grease; wet wash hung in dark kitchens.

The third stairway was narrow; it had been built only for servants in a day when discomfort was the end and aim of all architects. Tonight it was dark, too; There was no light here, and but for the reassuring answer, "Sure, he's up there . . . someone's up there . . he was talking." that had been given by a slatternly woman in the hall below to her timid inquiry, Fanny would never have dared penetrate into its forbidding secrets at all.

As it was she bent carefully, keeping one hand on the wall, feeling for the boards beneath her feet. At the top there was dim twilight in an angled bit of hall; one or two doors opened upon it, and showed empty storage space beyond; unfurnished attic rooms. One door only was closed, and after a gingerly and frightened inspection of the rest, Fanny went to it, and softly tried it.

It opened under her hand, she could see the room beyond it by the dulling light that was coming in through an uncurtained mansard window. There was no light in the room, the floor was bare except for a strip of colorless carpet; there was a bare table, a chair with a broken leg, a litter of books. A man's suitcase was open on the floor, with various odds and ends of wearing apparel scattered about it, and a white iron bed with one of its brass knobs missing, and its visible mattress and tumble of dirty covers all at the last stage af age and shabbiness was in a corner.

Fanny was to assimilate these details later. Now she only saw, and with a hard-beating, frightened heart, that Chris lay in the bed, and that he was very ill. He was alone.

"Chris!" she said in a whisper. She went to the bed, and stooped over it and laid her hand gently on his hot wrist. He flung it off, turned over in bed, began muttering again. She realized now that she had heard his low murmur while she had been investigating the hall. It had reached her with all the other blended noises of the house: a feverish distressed babble . . . words and words in Chris's beautiful voice, and no meaning to them and no consciousness.

"George . . . that's yours. George . . . George . . . George . . . I'll see you, George. My head, sir; I hit it when I fell. It had rotted through, sir, it was a rotten rope, sir. All right, the ace bets . /the ace bets . . ."

This in almost indistinguishable syllables, all said fast, with an air of hurry and pain, and then politely:

"I wonder if I could trouble you for some of that iced pineapple . . ice . . ice . . ice . . he giveth his beloved ice . . will you please send that letter to Mrs. Richard Thring . . Thring . . . Thring . . my God, if I could have a drink!"

Arms Program for West Europe Faces Tougher Going Than Atlantic Treaty it Complements

By GEORGE RONALD
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, July 15 — (CP) — The government's $1,130,000,000 arms program for Western Europe faces tougher going than the North Atlantic Treaty it complements.

That fact stands out after the Senate's debate on the pact itself. Individual senators returned time and again to the bothersome question of whether support of the treaty commits them to vote for the arms program.

The best answer they got was that there need be nothing "automatic" about it. But, in the words of State Secretary Dean Acheson, "if you ratify the pact, it cannot be said that there is no obligation to help. There is an obligation to help, but the extent, the manner and the timing is up to the honest judgment of the parties."

Psychological Factor

So the Senate accepted the subtle difference between "commitment" and "obligation" and some who support the treaty made it abundantly clear they will not give the same backing to the follow - up military aid—"obligation" or not.

Under the pact, the United States, Canadian and 10 Western European countries promise that an attack against one will be regarded as an attack against all. But the treaty leaves each country free to take whatever action it considers necessary.

Most senators string along with the government to this extent:—The treaty is powerful psychologically; it is a strong deterrent to any potential aggressor. Many, in fact, say privately that they think the United States would go to the aid of Western Europe — treaty or not — if only to preserve its own security.

But the government and a big part of the Senate think in different terms when it comes to the next step. The government argues that stronger European defences would be an even greater deterrent. Some senators contend it would be better to conserve United States military strength at home.

Money Angle

Many a law-maker is starting to wonder how long the United States can go on helping Europe without injuring its own economy.

That points also to the fact that the arms program, as a money matter must be approved by the House of Representatives as well as by the Senate. The 435 - member House is doing its utmost to cut expenditures to the bone.

Few observers see any likelihood that the arms plan will be killed. But there are persistent reports that the $1,130,000,000 first - year figure may be scaled down as a means of curbing opposition.

Chichester, England, July 15 — The World Council of Churches issued a militant call Thursday for all Christians to resist totalitarianism.

It reminded those who may be subject to persecution that "the liberty they receive from their Lord cannot be taken away by violence...or destroyed by suffering."

"A totalitarian doctrine is a false dictrine," said a resolution adopted by the 44-country organization of Protestant churches. The council concluded a six-day policy making meeting here.

Principal speaker at the session was Dr. Joseph L. Hromadka of Prague. In Czechoslovakia the Roman Catholic Church is engaged in a bitter struggle with the Communist government.

Hromadka told the council the Protestants had so far managed to stay out of the church-state war, but "we will have to say 'no' if theer should be any attempt to interfere with the substance of our church."

Protestants would resist readjusting their preaching to conform with Markist ideology, he said. But so far they have managed to achieve a way of living with the government.

The council also denounced reported instances of churches using totalitarianism for their own ends, criticizing "any church which seeks to use the power of the state to enforce religious conformity."

The action was taken after a British Baptist clergyman cited what he termed "oppression" of Protestants in Spain.

"We resist all endeavors to spread a system of thought or of economics by unscrupulous intolerance, suppression of persecution," said a resolution defining the council's position.

16 Canadians In Second Stage Of King's Prize

Bisley Camp, Surrey, England, July 15 — (CP) — Sixteen Canadians, 15 of them members of the Dominion's official 18-man team to the 80th Commonwealth rifle shoot, today move into the second stage of the King's Prize competition.

Three of them qualified Thursday in a shoot - off with 90 other competitors. They were Sgt. William Hall of Ottawa and Sgt. Godfrey Kay of Hamilton, each with 24s out of a possible 25, and Sgt. Earl Jamieson of Vancouver, an unofficial competitor, with 22.

The 16 other Canadian marksmen in the second stage towards the coveted trophy qualified Wednesday. Saturday, the last day of the two - week shoot, the final stage towards the King's Prize will be held.

In the grand aggregate event, Sgt. Frederick H. B. Wallace of Toronto finished in a tie for third place with other marksmen on the basis of unofficial results.

Two of the Canadian contingents — Officer Cadet Gilmour Boa of Toronto and Capt. George J. Gamble of Winnipeg — tied for sixth place on the basis of unofficial results in the all comers' aggregate.

BOY SAVED, PANTS SUFFER

St. Catharines, Ont.—(CP)—Bill St. Amand, 10, was thrown from his bicycle and rolled beneath the entire length of a car. But his only injury — apart from brush burns—was a huge tear on the seat of his pants.

Vienna Courier Women's Editor Cites Problems

New York, July 14 (CP) — "Austrian women are, so swimming in their own difficulties, they have no time for politics."

The author of these words should know of what she speaks—she is women's editor of the United States-operated Vienna Courier and only Austrian woman delegate to the American Press Institute's seminar at Columbia University.

Inge Santner, Ph.D., not only writes women's and children's pages but also works as political reporter. "There are so few women journalists in my country," she explains.

Readers' problems in Austria are different from those of United States and Canadian women.

"Here a lot of women's pages are taken up with recipes and how to care for the home. But Austrian women know how to do these things," declares Miss Santner. "In fact, that's just the trouble with them—that's all they know!"

She thinks Austrian women don't take sufficient interest in affairs outside their homes.

"I get letters about this," says Miss Santner, who also runs a public opinion column on marriage problems. "The husband writes he would rather have a little dust on the furniture than a wife with no interest in his work or in world affairs."

The wife's attitude?

"Well, she says she can't understand him because she's just doing what her mother and her grandmother did before her."

Miss Santner claims a lot of the younger women who had to get out into offices and factories during the war don't want to go back to housework. "But there just aren't enough jobs for returning soldiers and women, too. There are openings for dressmakers and housekeepers and our job is to make these seem as attractive as possible."

Many Austrian women don't know whether their war-prisoner husbands are dead or alive in Russia. These present many problems to Miss Santner in her column which are difficult to solve.

The raising of the airlift helped the morale of the Viennese almost as much as the Germans, Miss Santner says, and there isn't the tension in the country that once existed.

"One can be afraid of something that will happen tomorrow, next week, a year away. But when you've worried for four years and nothing happens, you become numb."

SHOOTS PERFECT SCORE

Man Who Hacked Trail of Slaughter Dies on Gallows

Walla Walla, Wash., July 15 — (AP) — Jake Bird, who hacked a trail of slaughter across the country, died on the gallows of the Washington State Penitentiary today. He was hanged for the axe murder of Mrs. Bertha Kludt, Oct. 30, 1947, in Tacoma, Wash.

Bird appeared to be fairly calm as he walked the 10 feet from his cell to the gallows. Cell and gallows are on the same level. The Negro was accompanied by two guards, but needed little help.

He said nothing to the 100 to 125 spectators in the room, but addressed an unintelligible remark to one of the guards.

Rev. Arvid Ahrnell, who had been Bird's spiritual adviser during his final days, read a note written by the condemned slayer in which he said he bears no malice toward anyone and seeks forgiveness.

The trap was sprung while the minister was reading the note.

Bird talked to his lawyer, Murray Taggert, about two hours before the execution. Taggert said the conversation dealt mostly with the Kludt slaying. In an earlier conversation with Taggert, Bird said: He could be a good loser as long as he felt everything possible had been done to save his life.

The Supreme Court, which twice before refused to review Bird's case, Thursday declined for the third time to do so. Aside from an act of executive clemency on the part of Governor Arthur B. Langlie, this had been the last hope for Bird who since his conviction had confessed knowledge of or participation in 44 murders throughout the country.

Ken Heintzelman Pitching Best Ball in National Loop; Tied for Most Wins With 11

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Boston's Billy Southworth could not see Ken Heintzelman when he selected his National League All-star pitchers. He has nothing on the batters. They can't see him either.

The 33-year-old southpaw, who is making a contender of the once-feeble Philadelphia Phillies, is pitching the best ball in the National League. He is tied for most victories with 11. He has lost only three.

Heintzelman Thursday night pitched the Phils to a 1-0 victory over Max Lanier and the Cardinals.

His 11th victory, which incidentally tied his best previous winning total, resulted when outfielder Del Ennis crashed his 13th home run with one out in the last half of the ninth. The victory advanced the Phils to within one game of the Braves, who were beaten by the Cubs, 3-2.

Heintzelman scattered eight hits in extending his latest winning streak to seven. Lanier gave up only five in absorbing his first decision since his reinstatement.

Redbirds Drop

The defeat dropped the Redbirds a game and half behind the Dodgers, who nosed out the Cincinnati Reds 6-5 in a 10-inning struggle after tying the score in the ninth with two runs. A single by Marv Rockley and a double by Billy Cox, both off relief pitcher Ewell Blackwell, gave the Dodgers their seventh straight triumph over the Reds at Ebbets Field.

Dutch Leonard, the Cubs' hard-luck knuckleballer, who in five of his 11 defeats gave up two or less runs, finally won a close one. At that, he had to bat in the winning run himself with a single in the eighth. The blow scored Frank Gustine and broke a 2-2 tie. Vern Buckford, trying for his 12th victory for the Braves, was charged with his 5th defeat.

Johnny Mize clouted his 14th home run with one on in the 1st inning to lead New York Giants to a 4-3 triumph over Pittsburgh Pirates.

Larry Jansen, except for one lapse when he threw a home run ball to Johnny Hopp with two mates aboard, pitched airtight ball, allowing four hits. He fanned seven for his ninth victory. Bill Werle was the loser.

Top Teams Win

New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox won their games as the Yankees retained their American League lead of 5½ games over the Indians.

Allie Reynolds shut out St. Louis Browns 5-0. He allowed 3 hits and fanned 10 as the Yankees collected nine off three Brownie flingers. It was Reynolds' 10th win against one defeat. Carl Drews was the loser.

Bob Lemon won his 10th game for the Indians and rookie shortstop Ray Boone drove in three runs with a home run and a long fly as the tribe won its ninth game in the last 10 starts with a 7-1 victory over Philadelphia Athletics. Rookie Alex Kellner was charged with his fifth defeat as the slumping A's dropped their sixth in a row. Kellner has won 12.

Joe Dobson pitched the Red Sox to their eighth straight victory as Joe McCarthy's forces turned back Detroit Tigers 5-2. Al Zarilla cracked a two-run homer for the victors.

Three bases on balls, an error by Eddie Robinson and George Metkovich's bases-loaded single gave Chicago White Sox four runs in the third inning and helped them defeat Washington Senators 6-2.

Billy Pierce was the winner and Sid Hudson was the loser.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15 (AP)—The Dapper Dan Club, a "pernickety" organization that started from a line in Al Abrams' sports column, has turned over $128,070 to charity. All that money represented profits from various sports events.

The Dapper Dans stage a $16,500 Open tournament, fights, professional and high school football games, even an open-air operetta. And not one of their promotions ever has lost money.

The numerous and enthusiastic D.D.'s are sure of a profit before the event starts.

"We always give the spectators something for their money," Abrams explained.

"We don't have to slug people and make them take tickets; they like to buy them."

Abrams, founder of the outfit, wasn't judged dapper enough to become a member until he was elected president of it two years ago. No wonder he says the Dapper Dans are pernickety.

Putting it Bluntly

Sammy Snead, who blew that crucial putt last week was perturbed about the activities of amateur photographers at the Dapper Dan tournament here yesterday . . . Pittsburgh baseball writers say Dino Restelli, the sensational pirate rookie slugger, is troubled by the fact that they made him an overnight sensation . . . Doc Nardiello, who supervised Ray Robinson's training to bring him down to 147 pounds without damage, says the welter champion could build up to 154 and still be strong and fast. When Frank Lane, Chicago White Sox general manager, visited the Pacific Coast League recently, folks began wondering if he was shopping for new talent or a new manager.

SPORTS POURRI WITH SPECIAL EMPHASIS ON THE KIWANIS CLUB REGATTA:-

A grand show. . . It was hot, brother, and we're not foolin' . . . Ted Schwab our partner in broadcasting crime-public address that is. Bill Stovan can vouch for that. . . Chairman Taylor Franklin deserves a well-earned pat on the back for a job splendidly done. . . And we really mean that. At least the Kiwanis boss of the water derby took time out to pay a bit of a tribute to the press, which was greatly appreciated. . . As we said, in a moment of verbal opportunity, for every twelve kicks in the pants, we get a slap on the back. . . Thanks, Taylor. We repeat it was appreciated. . . More power to you and your grand committee. . . The regatta in itself was a grand success. . . But only through the fine co-operation of those Kiwanians who had a job to do. . . Rotary, Kinsmen, Y'men and other service clubs can well take a lesson from what Kiwanis did in their first venture into th speedboat regatta realm.

True, they were tyros insofar as speedboat regattas are concerned. . . They took over from the Rotary Club, which felt that it could not carry on with the venture. . . We could make some comments about that but there is more important news at hand. . . As a neutral observer, a press representative, and a member of a service club, we strolled over to Massassaga as early as 10 o'clock Wed. . . . If it had not been for the press card in the family jalopy's windshield, we would have been held up by Kiwanian John White at the first payoff out-post. . . (These Kiwanians weren't fooling.)

Sez John, "you are the first paying customer, but after all, since you are a newspaperman, we'll let you in, gratis". . . We flashed the lone buck, which we chiselled off the wife a few minutes previous, and in a grand gesture, offered to make the payment. . . But White was adamant. . . "No siree" he chortled "get goin' before I call George Wallbridge who has developed a yen for shootin' wild animals. . . We agreed and shoved the crate through the fence-split aperture. . .

The natural stage setting was perfect. . . Brilliant sunshine flashed down over Massassaga Bay. . Across sun-tinted water, the opposite coastline (North shore, Schwabby) was a tree-fringed picture. . . Churning up a bit of foam, a lone boat sped over the bay . . At the pits everything was just a matter of busy business . . . Proud speedcraft hugged close to accompanying automobiles, gently slithered down to the waterline for launching. . . A spluttering derrick swung gaunt arms aloft as more fastidious drivers sought water entry. And by the way, at this point, we would like to pay tribute to the Kiwanis Club dock management or committee for a grand job. . . They got themselves a few boards, grabbed a hammer or two, produced nails from somewhere; The result a grand T-shaped pier that stretches out into Massassaga water at least 50 yards. . . Nuff sed. . The real tribute came from the drivers. . . And they should know whereof they speak. . . Kiwanis members should be proud of this job. . . It was something sadly lacking and vitally needed. . . And well done. . .

Further tribute should be paid to the service club race committee. The sequence of events, as laid down in the Kiwanis Club program was "straight to the letter." . . In other words the fifteen-minute lapse between races innovation met with the general approval of the drivers. . . Kiwanis experimented. It worked successfully. . . And as a result, the Jones and Janes of Spectator Row got home within a few minutes of what was advertised by the sponsoring club. . . .

To repeat it was a grand show. . . True, some of the mighty minions of the top 225 Division I did not live up to advance notices, but this was purely because of mechanical trouble. . . After all, if you conk a hole in the hull of a delicate 225 hydroplane, "sumpin' busts". . .

* * *

However, to Sid Street, rotund owner of a chain of service stations in Kansas City, Missouri, goes the columnar orchid. . . A grand fellow and a fine sportsman and an outstanding family man (so Mrs. Street says). Sid dabbles a bit with his favorite guns and a-hunting he goes. Quail, partridge and ducks are his favorite quarries.

"Nothin' to it mah fren" drawled Sid in his rich Missourian brogue (or is it dialect?)

What the genial Missourian meant by "nuthin' to it" was this. . . And we got it from a bosom boating pal. . . "Sid, when the huntin' urge comes on, hops into his private plane and hightails it, plus guns and pals to a spot 300 miles away" said the mechanic.

* * *

And that's it. . . We as a newspaperman was a bit proud to cover the job and being a self-styled speedboat critic (thanks to the tutelage of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hicks, now of Ottawa) found that the initial speedboat effort of the Belleville Kiwanis Club was a grand success. . . Kiwanis made no mistake in picking the threads left by Rotary. . . We do not know what the financial set-up is, as yet, but we do know that Kiwanis has once again established itself in the hearts and minds of sport-lovers here through its grand, and we hope, financially successful venture into a popular realm of sport.

* * *

Point Anne will furnish the opposition to Northen Electric at Exhibition Grounds tonight in a scheduled Belleville District Baseball League fixture. Northern is crowding the loop-leading Napanee Club and they need a win tonight to make the top-slot race more interesting. By the same token, the Ox-Pointers after two setbacks are desperately determined to grab some victory laurels at the expense of the plant team.

Andy Tomasic Gains Recognition As Star Pitcher

(By The Associated Press)

Andy Tomasic, who gained renown as a halfback with Temple University, is winning recognition as a star pitcher for Jersey City Giants of the International League.

The 29-year-old righthander who advanced to the Giants last season after two excellent years in lower company, sports one of the best records in the league, a 9-2 slate.

Tomasic, who won 11 and lost 16 for the Giants last year when he led the league in serving up home run balls, 36, still is bothered by a gopher pitch.

He has lost one game as a result of a home run and has been deprived of three shutouts for the same reason.

Tomasic turned in his ninth victory Thursday night as he pitched the Giants to a 14-1 victory over Newark Bears. Fat Pat Seerey homered in the sixth for the lone Newark run. The homer was the 10th yielded by Tomasic this season.

The Giants walloped four Newark pitchers for 16 hits with Ray Noble and Pete Milne collecting three apiece. Noble and Rudy Rufer chimed in with homers.

Another gopher-ball artist, 19-year-old Tom Poholosky of Rochester Red Wings, pitched the Wings to a 7-6 triumph over Montreal Royals.

Poholosky, who has allowed 20 four-baggers, didn't give up one to the Royals. The Wings' Russ Derry clouted his 22nd four-master of the season to highlight a three-run fourth inning rally that gave the Wings the lead for keeps.

The victory allowed the Wings to take over fourth place from Toronto Maple Leafs by one percentage point. The Leafs and Buffalo Bisons were idle. A scheduled game between Syracuse Chiefs and Baltimore Orioles was rained out.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By TREVOR ICETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, July 15. (CP)—Get one hefty, well-conditioned athlete swinging hardwood, two-pound bat. Add one hard, leather-covered ball-pitched at a speed exceeding 90 miles an hour. Throw in as many as 12 men, three of whom are running their fastest around a prescribed diamond-shaped course.

Mix in another one or two men racing after a soaring ball and you have an exciting baseball game. You also have the ingredients for some of the most surprising oddities that could happen in any sport.

George (Belleville Intelligencer) Carver, passed on some baseball anecdotes collected by Arthur Daly, sports editor of the New York Times. One concerns a baseball which defied the law of gravity and won the National League pennant for Brooklyn in 1916.

"Cutshaw rifled a shot to right field and the ball rolled to the base of the Ebbets Field fence. As soon as it reached the fence, it began to climb the surface as though pulled upward by a string. Lazily it crawled up the barrier, teetered on the top, and rolled over for a game-winning home run."

Another Pennant Lost

The Yankees lost a pennant by a freak misfortune in 1933, notes George.

"Lou Gehrig held up at second to see if Tony Lazzari's long drive would be caught by Dixie Walker, just behind him on the base paths. Walker didn't hesitate and they slid home with the throw almost simultaneously. Catcher Luke Sewell acrobatically tagged Gehrig on one side of the plate and Walker on the other side for one of baseball's most remarkable double plays."

Triple plays don't come with extraordinary frequency, but Carver tells of the triple play that stands out above them all.

"The bases were full with none out when Joe Cronin teed off on a juicy pitch. The ball handcuffed Sammy Hale at third base, whisking between his outstretched hands and cracking him on the forehead. Then it caromed into the waiting glove of shortstop Billy Knickbocker, who discovered all base runners in motion for a simple triple play. Hale got an assist on the play."

OVERSIZE MOTH

Ottawa— (CP) — A catch by Paulette Ducharme, 10, seems to substantiate reports of an invasion of Ottawa by oversize moths. Near her home she caught a brown-colored specimen with white, red and cream markings and a wing span measuring 6¼ inches.

Canada's Athletes Will be Nattily Attired for Games

(By The Canadian Press)

Canada's Olympic athletes last year were about the nattiest-dressed of the 62-nation show with their blue blazers, flannels (the girls were issued white pleated skirts) and red, white and blue ties. But, brother, that's nothing compared to the uniform designed for the Dominion British Empire games competitors going to New Zealand.

Jack Davis of Montreal, honorary secretary of Canada's B. E. Games Association, held a private showing for The Canadian Press of Toronto Thursday. He came up with:

The same uniform (blazers and flannels) but this time the tie is: blue (for lakes), white (for snow), green (for forest) and red (for the Maple Leaf). The red and white Olympic "Canada" crest also has been slicked up with an additional blue and green colors.

To top it all, the athletes—men and women—will wear panama hats with the outside band dressed up in blue, white, green and red colors.

Another addition is a lapel crest, in the shape of a maple leaf, and in you-know-what colors.

Manitoba and Alberta will be matched in the opening game of the Dominion cricket championships in Edmonton July 24, the Alberta Cricket Association announced at Edmonton Thursday. On the same day Ontario, Dominion champions, will meet British Columbia.

Games will continue in Edmonton July 25 and 26 before the teams move to Calgary to complete play on July 28, 29 and 30.

Each team is to play six games and the province amassing the most points will be declared the winner.

The Ontario Lacrosse Association senior schedule may have to be shortened in order to take in the Mann Cup finals in western Canada, Secretary Chuck Rowan announced at Toronto Thursday night. Finals are slated to start Sept. 18.

He said an emergency meeting will be held in Mimico Sunday to discuss possibility of shortening the Ontario playoffs by at least a week, and cramming remaining games into the time left.

Two postponed games have been rescheduled, Rowan said. Mimico will play in Brampton July 28 and Hamilton moves to St. Catharines July 25.

Both Ezzard Charles and Gus Lesnevich, will be suspended by the Cincinnati Boxing Commission if they go through with their scheduled heavyweight boxing bout in New York Aug. 10.

The commission, which is affiliated with the National Boxing Commission, made the announcement at Cincinnati Thursday night. It said letters will be sent to the New York State Athletic Commission and the N.B.A.

Lesnevich, former lightheavyweight champion, signed a contract recently to box Joe Maxim of Cleveland here Sept. 19 in a return match for the N.B.A. American 175-pound title.

In the contract Lesnevich and Joe Vella, his manager, signed, they agreed that the New Jersey boxer would not engage in any other bout or exhibition before the contest with Maxim.

Harold Eidsvig, pro at Winnipeg's assiniboine course Thursday won top honors in the Manitoba open golf championship played at Winnipeg.

Eidsvig carded scores of 72-70 for 142 in the 36-hole tournament.

Ponderous Hi Lee Clashes With Atkins Tonight

FRED ATKINS

Towering Hi Lee, the "Ozark Ike" of the maul, mayhem and mash 'em game, will unlimber his stupendous frame in Memorial Arena tonight and attempt to curb if not cure the mayhemic tendencies of one Fred Atkins, British Empire wrestling champion of Australia. Atkins, a champion far removed from the gentlemanly mien of his predecessors, has discovered the only way to stop these upstarts desirous of removing the Empire bauble from his brown locks, is to treat 'em rough. And thus far he hasn't been kidding them. But he'll run up against a rockbound, muscled giant from the hillbilly mountains who can play rough, too. So that means a tidy battle of crash 'em, bash 'em and mash 'em tonight. Tom Rice, a newcomer, clashes with handsome Ben Sharpe with Pat Flanagan meeting Abe Zvonkin, former Queen's gridiron star, in the opener.

When to Fish or Hunt SOLUNAR TABLES by John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration. This week is for July 16 to July 24, E.D.T.

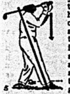
Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD



Here is an excellent picture of a good golf swing shown from the back. I asked the artist to picture the shot this way, so that you could see the height of the hands at the top of the backswing and observe that the right elbow is close into the side. Both hands are under the shaft. Never let that right elbow get away from your body and point out to the back. The right elbow should be close in to your side and under the shaft. The grip with both hands must be closed and maintained this way throughout the back and down swings. The tendency to let go with your left hand at the top of the swing in the position pictured is strong. You must resist that tendency and cultivate keeping that left hand closed until this is a firmly grounded habit. The distance which our pictured player has swung this club head below the horizontal is the maximum any player should use. In a mistaken effort to get power some players swing further below the horizontal than shown. But it is almost inevitably at the expense of accuracy. Strive for accuracy always rather than power.

Czech Top Tennis Stars Reject Order To Return Home

Gstaad, Switzerland, July 15—(AP) — Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, Czechoslovakia's top tennis stars, rejected today a Czech government order to return to Prague. They announced they were going into exile and hoped to reach the United States.

The two players had withdrawn from the Swiss International Tennis Tournament Thursday after the Czech government withdrew permission to play here because two Germans and a Spaniard were competing.

This morning they announced they would play out the remainder of the tournament.

In a statement issued on behalf of the two Czech players and in the presence of Ernst Scherz, head of the tournament organizing committee, the papers said:

"We wish to state that we are sportsmen completely devoted to tennis and in no way connected with politics. We therefore have decided to respect Swiss hospitality and shall play to the end of the Swiss championship tournament at Gstaad. Nobody can prevent us from following our sporting ambitions, all less so because we have decided to go to the United States."

Drobny, his country's top player and one of the best in the world, had advanced to the semi-finals and Cernik had been slated to oppose Yugoslavia's Franjo Puncec in a quarter-finals match. Puncec thus advanced all the way to the finals.

Earl Cochell of San Francisco and Spain's ace, Pedro Massip, who yesterday vanquished Fritz Weisz of Austria, 6-4, 6-4, are to clash to determine the finals opponent for Puncec.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

My lecture series in each city covers opening three bids. First the audience is taught the requirements. Then they are advised not to use them except with coached partners.

Why? Because each new partner seems to have a different idea as to what such an opening promises. And most players disagree as to what their responses must show.

This confusion comes from experts, the source of all bridge evil. One year they use it for strength. Two years later for weakness. Two years later for either (two-way-three bids). Then back to the start.

Three bidders who learned in 1933 do not know the responses to 1937 three bidders. And vices versus curses. Or just when you use a three bid, partner knows nothing about them.

There is now a wave of three bids that are betwixt and between. It does not show a strong hand. It does not show a weak hand. It is employed with a long suit in a near-strong hand.

This fad covers a type of hand that is missing something from the needs of a one bid; is missing something from solidarity in suit; is missing something from the true three-bid requirements.

Bridgegorically speaking, three bids in a major are like four in a minor. They are in that class of bids known as one-less-than-game openings. That is, if true rule is considered.

Typically, such a hand should promise eight tricks. The suit should be practically solid with seven or more cards in it. A sure trick outside of trumps is somewhere in the hand.

You see such a hand here:

♠A 2
♥A Q J 10 7 6 5
♦K 8 4 2
♣None

Mark this hand well as a true opening that your new partner will probably misunderstand. Now that you know it you can forget it. Or at least know when to avoid it.

Fifteen-hit Barrage by Shell Chills Repairmen

A fifteen hit barrage by Shell Oil of the Commercial Softball eague, chilled a challenging 6RD squad from Trenton 11-7 in an exhibition softball contest played Wednesday evening at the Alemite Field.

Shell blasted out four hits and took two walks for four runs in the first frame. Pat Blacker clouted a homer in the fourth with no one on for a single run and the Oilers sewed up the game in the eighth with six more tallies.

The Repairmen pushed over a single run in the second on a walk and two singles. They were held in check until the sixth when the airmen counted two more on a triple, two walks, and a single. They poured over their final four counters in a belated rally in the ninth.

Al Vickers was big man at the plate for the winners with twa doubles, a single, and four runs in four trips. Foley, with a double and a single in four tries, led the losers.

Jack Reid claimed the victory for Shell giving up one run in five innings. Art Empy relieved in the fifth being nicked for the remaining six runs. Zinck was the losing pitcher for airforce.

Score by innings:

Madoc Bowlers Capture Liftlock Gold Trophy

Ontario Provincial Police Constable Jack Hatch and Percy Locke of Madoc won a convincing bowling victory at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club on Wednesday taking the Liftlock Gold Trophy from a large field of competitors.

Runners-up were Dr. Johnson and Mr. K. MacDonald of Toronto. The winners were presented with the trophy and Gruen wrist watches while the runners-up received Kenwood overcoats.

Two other Toronto doubles teams finished in third and fourth places.

The fifth annual doubles tournament of the Peterborough club attracted over 96 rinks representing 25 clubs in the province. Twenty-five entries were refused.

The Liftlock Trophy put up by Mr. and Mrs. Chris Graham, of Peterborough in memory of the late George Graham, was presented to Messrs. Hatch and Locke by the club president Bob Gamble following the tournament.

Large crowds witnessed the competition as the bowlers went in six draws for three games. One of the many features was the possible eight-end scored by Charles Renaud an dD. Wright of Peterborough.

E. Lockwood and G. Brown of Trenton were among the prize winners from this immediate district.

Hazard Blankets Pacific Northwest Of Canada, U.S.

Vancouver, July 15 — (CP)—A fire hazard, more critical with every day of fine weather, blankets the Pacific northwest area of Canada and the United States today.

Blazes throughout the rainless areas are under control. Most are small. But for harassed forest service workers and logging employees there can be no rest while the timber stands surrounding them are potential disaster plots awaiting merely a chance spark or lightning strike.

It's the annual period throughout the vast forest areas of Washington, Oregon and B. C. when the timber stands are powder-dry and when operations, if they proceed at all, are confined to the cool of the day.

80 Fires Burning

For British Columbia — where 80 fires burn under control — there is no indication that the year's hottest spell will lessen today at least. A blanket of cool air is promised for the northern portion of Vancouver Island only.

The B. C. Forest Service already has clamped partial restrictions on the extensive Vancouver forest area which includes much of B. C.'s lower mainland and all of Vancouver Island. Some 400 men are employed in fighting fires throughout that area, the interior Nelson forest area and the northern central Prince George area.

There is no estimate yet of the damage done already nor of the acreage of green or felled timber destroyed. The largest fire to date, and which still is burning although under control, is in the Cowichan Lake region of Central Vancouver Island. A new one breaking out Thursday night in the same area has been confined there, some 500 acres of bucked and felled timber — fir, cedar and hemlock — has been destroyed.

Electrics Score Eighth Victory In Succession

Northern Electric ran their undefeated string to eight games last evening as they ganged up on Howe and Hagerman for two big innings to take a 9-2 contest. In the nightcap Houston's "Knotholers" swamped the Energetic Club 16-4 to pull into a tie for second place with the idle Corby squad.

Northern Electric loaded the bases in the first frame on a single and two walks with one away and failed to score. They went down in order in the second but loaded the bases in the third on three bunts. Locke singled to score Barriage. Halsey flied out to deep left field to score Whiting and Wood. Henn struck out, and Wannamaker fouled out to first.

A walk, five hits, including doubles by Carson and Halsey, netted the Electric crew six runs in the bottom of the fourth as ten men batted.

Al Adams came in to relieve Cook in the fifth and toiled the last 2 frames giving up 1 walk, and no hits for no runs.

Howe and Hagerman scored single runs in the fourth and 5th frames.

Cook started on the firing line for Howe and Hagerman and in four innings walked three, struck out two, and gave up eight hits for nine runs and the ball game.

Carson went all the way for the winners, striking out nine, walking three, and scattering seven hits for two runs.

..Line Ups:

Howe and Hagerman: Cross ss; Doyle 3b, replaced by Rogers in 5th; Amo cf; V. Murray lf; Donovan rf; Callaghan 1b; M. Fitzgibbon 2b; W. Fitzgibbon c. replaced by Grey in 4th; Cook p, replaced by Adams in 5th.

Easy Win for Houstons

Houston "Knotholers" had little difficulty disposing of the Energetic Club in the nightcap. They took advantage of a fourteen-hit attack, eight errors, and four walks to pile up a lopsided 16-4 score.

Three errors, a walk, a sacrifice, and a single netted the "Knotholers" three tallies in the bottom of the second frame. They ran over seven more in the third on homers by Adams and Blaind and five singles as thirteen men came to the plate. A double, a triple, and an error counted two more in the fifth and they finished their scoring in the sixth counting four more on singles by Watkins and Adams, and doubles by Burshaw and Spafford.

Energetic scored a lone run in the third stanza when shortstop Stickle hammered one into right field for four bases. They pushed over a second marker in the sixth on a walk, a single and an error and finished off with two tallies in the seventh on two walks, a single and an error.

Hopkins toiled vainly on the firing line for Energetics walking four, striking out five, and giving up 14 hits for 16 runs and the ball game. Burshaw worked easily for the winners, walking five, striking out seven, and being nicked for four hits and four runs.

Best man at the plate was pitcher Burshaw with a single, and two doubles in four trips.

Lineups:

Energetic Club: Oram lf; McMillan cf; McNevin 3b; Hopkins p; Outingdyke 1b; White rf; Stickle ss; Scriven c; Middleton 2b.

Houstons: Wood lf; Adams c; Spafford ss: Rollins 2b: Blaind cf; Taylor rf; Temple 1b, Watkins 3b; Burshaw p.

The Movie Column

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, July 15. (AP)—Ah, there's good news tonight for the garter makers. Clarke Cable is going to give them a boost.

A studio drum-beater breathlessly announced the news: King Gable was working in a Little Lord Fauntelroy costume. So I hastened to the "Key to the City" set to view the historic event.

Sure enough, there was the king in his costume-ball get-up, looking sheepish as a boy who had to play an elf in a high school version of "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Lace collar, velvet knee-pants and all. But what interested me most were the garters on his exposed calves.

Movies' Influence

Movie historians are fond of recalling a famous instance of filmdom's influence. It happened in the "Walls of Jericho" sequence of "It Happened One Night". Gable started to doff his shirt and —horrors!—revealed his bare chest. Undershirt makers were said to have taken a severe beating of this one scene.

I now predict a sharp upswing in garter stock—provided the scene on Clarke's curvy calves is not cut or reshot.

The abashed actor confessed in his dressing room: "As you get older, you'll do anything for an honest buck."

Wrestling Romeo

Memo: Don't try to kid with Gorgeous George.

The marcelled wrestler is playing himself in "Pardon my Toehold". He gave me a glassy stare when I asked if wrestling were good training for acting.

"I don't understand you," he answered icily. "I have added showmanship to wrestling but once a match starts it is a real fight".

The garish grappler was introduced as George Wagner, but quickly corrected: "It's Georgeous George; the name was legalized in 1942."

AT THE BELLE — It's not the call that has Ann Sothern perturbed in this scene from "A Letter to Three Wives," the new 20th. Century-Fox comedy drama which stars her with Jeanne Crain and Linda Darnell, now playing at the Belle Theatre. She's wondering where her wandering husband, Kirk Douglas, can be. Seems that the town's most eligible bachelor-girl has threatened to run off with him.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was doing the bridge problem and pop was shaking his head at the financial page, and I was thinking to myself mad, saying, Aw cramberries, gosh shang it, why does all the bad luck always have to happen to me?

Sutch a statement, ma said, and pop said, Dont ixaggerate, Benny. We all have our fair share of bad luck. That's one of the things that makes life so werth while and intristing in a domocratic country as compared to a dictatership, where all the bad luck is invariably handed out to the over privilidged majority, he said.

Well anyways why did I have to go and lose my rubber hand ball? I said. It had more than 300 rubber bands in it, and it took me pritty near a munth to get that many, and just when I got it all made swell, I went and lost it. G roozalem, that's a heck of a note, I said, and ma said. Now stop fretting, it's sure to tern up somewhere, sutch as under your bed or in some forgotten pockit.

I bet it wont, it's nowheres in the house, I said, and pop said, Then one of your little frends will pick it up somewhere and hand it over to you, so along with the thrill of recovering it you'll have the sattisfaction of discovering that 95 per cent of people are honest, and most of the remaining 5 per cent are alreddy in jail.

I bet I wont, it's not in anybody's house or in the street either, I said. I was bountcing it upstairs, and it went out the 2nd floor window and I ran and looked out just in time to see it take 2 bountces, and the end of the 2nd bountce it landed rite in a truck going passed, and I yelled out the window after the guy driving it, but he either didn't hear me or elts he didn't give a darn. So how can I find it under my bed or any place elts? I said.

Which how can I?

Manitoba C.C.F. Party Expels Two Members

Winnipeg, July 15—(CP)—The Manitoba section of the C.C.F. Thursday night expelled from the party two of its ranking members for public utterances at variance with C.C.F. policy.

A closed session of the section's 14th annual convention took the action against B. R. Richards and W. Doneleyko who made speeches criticizing the North Atlantic Security Pact after it was endorsed by the C.C.F. national convention. Both are members of the Manitoba Legislature, Mr. Richards for The Pas, and Mr. Doneleyko for St. Clements.

A brief statement after the meeting said the two members "by public pronouncements and by the wholesale circulation of letters. . . had attmpted to cast discredit on the national convention, the national council, the national caucus, the provincial council and the C.C.F. movement in General."

It added that the national convention of the party had given its approval to the plan for European recovery, called for extension of the principle of Western Economic Union and approved the signing by Canada of the North Atlantic Pact.

The expulsion — proposed by Stanley Knowles, member of parliament for Winninpeg North centre—was in line with predictions by informed sources that the party was prepared to make all members toe the line with respect to policy matters.

However, the post - meeting statement gave no indication of any action against several lesser party members in Manitoba who last spring lent their names to a document criticizing the North Atlantic Pact.

BEFORE THE FATAL CRASH

AGROUND AT LAST

Skipper of the last wind-driven three-masted schooner under Canadian registry, 68-year-old Captain Archie Croft of the Queens County port of Brooklyn, N.S., is landlocked in a Halifax hospital where he is convalescing after an operation. His ship, the Frederick P. Elkin, is headed for the scrap heap, steam and diesel ships having pushed her kind off the sea. Capt. Croft sailed in wind-driven ships since he was 13—(CP Photo)

HARVEST PREPARATIONS

Brandon, Man.—(CP) — Employment officials are already busy lining up a force of workers for prairie harvesting. They have asked farmers to apply for harvest help by mid-July so that their needs be known in advance.

NO FISHING, NO FISH

Montreal—(CP)—Fish, if any, in the Lachine canal by which shipping bypasses the Lachine rapids, are safe from anglers. The courts made it official when John Underwood, 19, was fined $2 for fishing there. He didn't catch anything.

SOON PUT UP BARN

London, Ont., July 15 (CP)—It didn't take long to erect C. G. (Clare) Lewis' barn. The Elginfield farmer prepared the foundation and main floor himself, then asked his neighbors to help with the superstructure. More than 75 friends responded and Thursday erected the structure, 96 feet long and 32 feet wide.

EFFECTIVE ROAD BLOCK

Chatham, July 15 — (CP) — Provincial police Wednesday night used their car and a huge threshing machine to form an effective blockade of No. 2 highway near Thamesville and arrested seven Toronto young people in a stolen car. They are wanted by the police in Toronto. Earlier in the evening the car ran a provincial police car off the road near Ingersoll. A radio dragnet was spread across southwestern Ontario as the car sped through Middlesex county. Constable Brooks picked up the car near Wardsville and trailed it at high speed until it ran into the roadblock.

CULTIVATED PLANT

The wheat plant is nowhere found in a wild condition.

IT'S HARD TO EXPLAIN TO FRANK

Children in the emergency housing community at Uplands, Ottawa, have been ordered to get rid of their pets to prevent spread of diphtheria that has already caused two deaths. Frank Bernadoes, shown here, is one of the many children who do not understand why it is necessary that their dogs must be sent away or destroyed.—Central Press Canadian.

DUMPED INTO CHUTE

Limbour, Que., July 15 (CP)—A sixteen - year - old girl fell into a pulpwood - filled log chute Thursday and was carried down the chute for nearly a quarter of a mile and dumped into the swirling waters of the Gatineau River.

Alice Carriere was pulled from the river by 39-year-old Gaston Joanette of Hull as she clutched a log of pulpwood in the river.

The girl's hand was blistered from trying to clutch the sides of the chute. Her arms and feet were bruised where logs bumped into her, but she was not seriously injured.

COYOTE'S TRAGEDY

Craigmyle, Alta.—(CP)—Farm glimpses of one of nature's tragedies—a coyotte with a tin can wedged firmly over its muzzle. First seen several days ago, farmers are trying to shoot the coyote to save it from a starvation death.

PICTON

Driver Puts Car Into Ditch to Prevent Crash

Picton—In attempting to avoid a head-on collision, Leslie Lang, 17, drove his car into a ditch on East Main Street yesterday. The vehicle rolled over on its top coming to rest beside a maple tree and was badly damaged. Lang escaped with a shaking up. The car was owned by J. Strath of Green Point.

Lang was attempting to pass a tractor driven by Lorne Young and took to the ditch to avoid a collision with a car driven by A. D. Way of Bethel which was also about to pass the tractor. Provincial Constable Harry Caldwell investigated.

Oshawa in Debt On 25th Anniversary

Oshawa, July 14 — (CP) — Alderman Hayward Murdock, secretary of Old Home Week committee, said Wednesday about $2,000 was required to pay off debts incurred during Oshawa's recent 25th anniversary celebration.

He blamed the public who "did not come through in buying our programs and buttons. Registrations fell down because the $1 fee was too much for many visitors," he said.

Czech Communist Govt. Declares Fight to Finish

Will Attempt to Smash Influence of the Vatican

Prague, July 16 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist government today had declared a fight to the finish to throttle the Roman Catholic Church here and smash the influence of the Vatican.

Red spokesmen had:

1. Publicly accused the Catholic hierarchy led by Archbishop Joseph Beran of treason against the state.

2. Threatened that anyone who tries to carry out in this countrty the Pope's orders for excommunication of Communists will be prosecuted for treason.

3. Announced the drafting of a bill for control of churches which will give the government a stranglehold rule over all denominations, including prior approval of any pastor or high church official, on political grounds. The bill would make any pastor, priest or high church official as much a government employee as any bureaucrat.

After a few weeks of resting on their oars while the controlled press blasted Catholic leadership in the embittered state-church fight, government spokesmen unleashed several broadsides Friday.

Charged With Treason

The heaviest blast was fired by Justice Minister Alexei Cepicka. In a fiery address he charged Beran and his bishops with treason, and trying to provoke revolt in Czechoslovakia.

Cepicka accused the Vatican's diplomatic representation here with masterminding plots against Czechoslovakia and called Pope Pius the "chief enemy of our state".

Cepicka gave no indication if or when the government might jail Archbishop Beran. The primate has been under close police watch in his palace for nearly a month since Communist hecklers hooted him out of St. Vitus Cathedral during a sermon criticizing the government.

Other priests and laymen, however, have been jailed, the Justice Minister said, when "caught in punishable activities".

In dealing with the Pope's orders for major excommunication of militant Communists, Cericka said:

"Let no one have the slightest doubt that anyone who in any way attempts to carry out this directive of the Vatican perpetrates treason."

CANADA ON WAY TO SELL MORE GOODS TO U.S.

Follows Up Biggest Trade Year in the Country's History

Ottawa, July 16. (CP)—In the wake of its biggest peace time trading year, Canada is away on a campaign to sell more goods to the United States.

A sales-promotion staff is being sent to major American cities to help bring Canadian products before American buyers.

A trade department spokesman told of the move Friday—the day after Sir Stafford Cripps announced in London that British imports from dollar areas—including Canada—will be cut 25 per cent this year. Earlier this week, Trade Minister Howe said the adverse balance of trade with the United States was the only "disturbing aspect" of Canadian trade.

A Dominion Bureau of Statistics trade survey Friday showed 1948 was the biggest peace time trading year in the Dominion's history.

In 1938 Canada exported goods worth $849,000,000 and imported $678,000,000. In 1948 exports rose to $1,464,000,000 and imports to $1,223,000,000 in terms of 1938 prices—an increase of 73 per cent in the volume of exports and an increase of 81 per cent in the volume of imports.

Exports Worth More

But the war-inspired rise in prices meant the value of imports and exports increased a lot more quickly than the actual volume of goods. So in terms of 1948 prices, 1948 exports were worth $3,110,000,000—an increase of 267 per cent over 1938—and imports were worth $2,635,000,000—an increase of 290 per cent over 1938.

Last year also saw an "unprecedented increase" in trade and 68.5 per cent of all Canadian imports came from there.

Those figures, however, leave the Dominion with a deficit on trade with the U.S. and the sales campaign is designed to overcome it.

At the same time, the Dominion will try to cut purchases in the U.S. by reimposing import controls that have gradually been relaxed in the last ten months. The controls went on in November 1947 when Canadian reserves of gold and U.S. dollars sunk to less than $500,000,000.

Truck Driver Freed Of Raping His Wife

Leeds, Yorkshire, England, July 16 (AP) — A British jury Friday freed a truck driver of a charge of raping his own wife. Edward Clarke, 35, was acquitted after a two-day trial. The prosecution's case was based on a magistrate's separation order which said the wife, Mrs. Mary Clarke, is "no longer bound to cohabit with her husband" because of cruelty. They lived apart. Mrs. Clarke complained that Clarke lured her to an out-of-the-way place March 12 and was intimate with her despite her struggles. Clarke admitted making love to her, but said she was willing.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, July 16 (CP)—Synopsis: The weather is clear over Ontario. Temperatures are slightly lower than yesterday in Central and northern sections of the province, but continue seasonably warm over southern sections.

Sunny and warm weather will prevail over all except northern sections of the province on Sunday.

Trucker Convicted Of Cruelty to Cattle

Newmarket, July 16 (CP) Harold Gauthier, who kept 13 head of cattle in a space 10-by-7 feet in the back of his truck, was fined $75 and costs Friday for "conveying cattle in a manner causing them unnecessary suffering." The policeman who stopped Gauthier's truck said he found seven head of cattle standing on the bodies of six others, including 3 calves.

TWO YOUNG BOYS STRIP AND BEAT 5-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Tied to Fence, Beaten With Sticks for Hours

Toronto, July 16 (CP) — Two boys, aged eight and 13, who allegedly tied a five-year-old girl to a downtown fence and beat her with sticks for three hours, will appear in juvenile court here today.

Police arrested them Friday night, a few hours after five-year-old Carol Surge was found in bed by her mother, Mrs. Frank Surge, who had just come home after searching the streets for 5 hours for the tot. Carol disappeared around 5 p.m.

Carol's back was raw; she had heavy bruises on her legs and arms, a bright red welt across her chest and her knees were cut open. She was covered with dirt from head to foot.

Mrs. Surge took the child to hospital, where doctors put stitches in her knees and treated the cuts and abrasions. Hospital nurses said the girl had not been criminally attacked.

Child's Story

Carol's story, as pieced together by police, was this:

She went out from her Gerrard Street West home to play. On a nearby street two boys grabbed her and hustled her behind a brewery. There they stripped her clothes off, tied her to a fence and beat her for hours with sticks.

She said the boys tried to make her swallow stones. When they untied her, they put her clothes back on, then pushed her in a mudhole and left her crying.

An unidentified woman found the child and took her home.

Carol is one of six children. Her father, a painter who works out of town, said "If I could only get hold of one of these people myself, I'd really show them."

Suffers Back Injuries When Car Crashes Into Ditch

Anthony Ritch, 24, of 365 North Charles Street, suffered back injuries Friday afternoon and was admitted to hospital following a motor accident on the four-lane highway near the Point Anne lane.

Ritch was passenger in a car driven by Ray Nolan, Foxboro Road, which was proceeding west on the south side of the north lane. The car went out of control and took a wide arc to the north crossing the ditch and crashing through the fence before coming to rest on its left side.

The injured man was taken to hospital where he was attended by Dr. E. MacDonald. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Harding.

FIVE OF CREW KILLED

Berlin, July 16 (AP) — A British air-lift plane crashed and burned while taking off from Tegel Airfield in Berlin today, killing five crew members.

Fay Gives up 'Harvey' for 'Hamlet' As Performance Ends Five-Year Run

Vancouver, July 16. (CP)—Elwood P. Dowd, an amiable lush, and "Harvey", a big white rabbit who took Broadway by storm, will wander down to Charley's Place tonight for their last drink together. This is one of the most beautiful friendships in show business. Tonight's stage performance here will be their last.

"I'm sending Harvey back to his family for a while," Fay said today. "And I hope he doesn't go Hollywood."

After nearly five year of warming millions of hearts with Mary Chase's Pulitzer prize-winning play, Fay is giving up Harvey for "Hamlet".

Nearly everyone knows the story of Elwood P. Dowd and Harvey. Harvey is an easygoing alcoholic's dream of a perfect world—boozy acceptance of reality without complaint, bitterness, envy or ill-feeling. It is a penetrating criticism of all too-proper and responsible conduct.

Harvey is an invisible Rabbit (6' 1 1-2" tall) who is seen only by Dowd, a small town tippler. Harvey helps Dowd find good in his fellow men.

For fabulous Frank Fay, a bland and garrulous elf of 51, his association with Harvey has been a profitable one. He owns a chunk of the play, which since it opened in October 1944, has taken in $14,000,000.

"I've played the role about 2,000 times and I get the same old kick out it every time I do it."

He says Harvey will be filmed in 1950. A Hollywood studio has bought the movie rights for $1,000,000.

Four Burned As Gasoline Stove Explodes

Sutton, July 16 (CP) — Four persons were burned Friday, 3 seriously, when a gasoline stove exploded in a Summer cottage at Mossington Park, near this Lake Simcoe village, 40 miles north of Toronto.

Admitted to hospital in Toronto were: Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cox, of Long Branch, Ont., and Mrs. Ethel Slottery, of Toronto. Mr. Slottery was allowed to leave after treatment. Hospital authorities said the condition of the three others was "satisfactory."

The blast blew furniture about the kitchen and lifted a few shingles off the roof of the cottage. Police said some one placed a small gasoline stove on top of the kitchen range, which was burning, and the tank on the small stove exploded.

B.C. Fire Hazard Remains the Same

Vancouver, July 15 (CP)—The annual fire hazard in British Columbia's vast forest areas remained virtually unchanged today as only scattered showers appeared to assist fire fighters watching for or battling blazes throughout the province.

Sporadic showers Friday provided little aid and the lightning accompanying them seemed sure to add new fires to the last count of more than 80 already burning in B.C.

One whipped out of control Friday before a raging wind, sending 125 loggers scurrying as flames ran through tree tops. Some 5,000,000 board feet of lumber has been run over and 200 acres blackened in the Cowichan Lake area of central-south Vancouver Island where last week another major fire roared.

Fighters expected to control the latest break today.

Elsewhere, continued dry and hot weather kept fire potential high.

Alberta listed 17 fires Friday night—eight of them out of control—while Manitoba forestry officials said an alarming situation there exists with two major fires on the Lake Winnipeg narrows and Long Lake while a Beaver Creek fire also is serious.

LUCIANO BARRED FROM ROME

Rome, July 16—(AP)—Charles (Lucky) Luciano won his freedom Friday, but Italian police barred him permanently from Rome. After a week in jail, the former New York vice king was cleared of complicity in a vast, international ring believed smuggling narcotics into New York from Europe. However, Oreste Barranco, chief of Rome's mobile police, said Luciano would be expelled from Rome and forbidden to return.

Blind Official Wants Eye Bank In Every Hospital

Toronto, July 16 (CP)—An eye bank in every hospital, where the sight of those who have just died may be transferred to the eyes of the blind, is the dream of Col. E. A. Baker.

Col. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, outlined some of the difficulties in the transplanting of corneas in an address to the institute's national conference here.

He said the cornea of an eye could be used a few hours after death but it was difficult to get authority from relatives of the deceased. Eyes left in wills were not usually available until some time after death and they could not be preserved for more than three or four days.

The sale of poor glasses was criticized by R. V. Hewlett of Calgary. The availability of such glasses "has caused great detriment to the eyesight of Canadians," he said.

Col. Baker said cheap glasses were often made from discards from commercial products, but their sale was legal.

"They cause little harm to middle-aged people who need them for reading," he said. "But they are dangerous with glaucoma, especially when it is painless".

DID NOT FIND WILDCAT

St. Catharines, July 16 (CP)—A posse of local men who set out Friday to hunt a big wildcat seen recently in the district, found: 1. two deer, 2. a fox, 3. an owl. Police Chief Norman Fach, who joined the men in the hunt said: "Next time we'll go out with dogs. We'll track the animal until we find it."

CIGARETTE BUTT CAUSES FIELD FIRE

A small area of a hayfield on the farm of Charlie Branton, 6th concession Sidney township, was burned over Friday when a dropped cigarette is believed to have touched off the dried hay.

Men were in the field loading hay onto a truck when the blaze was noticed. Farmers turned their efforts from hay pitching to fire fighting and had the blaze nearly under control when members of the Belleville fire department arrived. Firemen then dampened the burning area to make sure the blaze was extinguished.

PIONEER 104 YEARS OLD

Gananoque, July 16 — (CP) — Severe Dorey, whose father once owned the land on which Canada's parliament buildings now stand, Friday observed his 104th birthday. He was born at Ottawa which was then known as Bytown, later moved to Montreal and then to Gananoque.

FIERY LEADER OF RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD DIES

Whitney Often Foe Of President's Policies

Cleveland, July 16. (AP)—Alexander Fell Whitney, 76, fiery labor leader who was the friend and sometimes bitter opponent of presidents of the United States, died at his home early today of a heart attack.

The peppery president of the 215,000-man Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was stricken after spending a full day at his office and an evening with friends at his home.

It was in recent years in relations with President Truman, however, that Whitney came into breakfast-table view of the American public.

Called by Truman

The crippling railway strike of May, 1946, was in full swing. All but 100 of 17,500 of the scheduled passenger trains in the United States and 240 of 24,000 freight trains were out of operation for a 48-hour period.

President Truman called Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers, to the White House for a closed conference.

The labor chiefs called their men back to work, but soon after Whitney shouted "double cross."

He said they were induced by the President to postpone the strike for five days on the promise that an agreement would be forthcoming from railroad management.

Instead, he said, the Brotherhood officials were given the run-around.

President Truman asked Congress for an automatic draft for striking railroaders.

Reconciliation Followed

Whitney soon after announced plans to use the $47,000,000 Brotherhood treasury to defeat "Truman in the election of 1948."

A reconciliation between the Labor leader and the President followed, however.

The Brotherhood's President since 1928, Whitney was last elected to a four-year term in Oct. 1946.

SURGEON KNOCKED OUT

Wayland, N. Y., July 16—(AP)—A Surgeon was injured critically Friday when he was struck by a patient coming out of an anaesthesia. The blow knocked Dr. Joseph J. Zone, 36, off balance and he struck his head against a table in the Wayland Hospital operating room. Attendants said he suffered a skull fracture.

Believed Motor Backfired, Some Thrown Overboard

Party of Seven Out for Ride In River When Blast Occurs

Sorel, Que., July 16 — (CP) — Five members of a family of seven were killed when a motor boat exploded in the St. Lawrence River near here late last night.

All seven were in the boating party.

The Dead:

Herve Cournoyer, 27.
Marcel Cournoyer, 17.
Lucienne Cournoyer, 29.
Giselle Cournoyer, 20.
Therese Cournoyer, 21.

The Survivors:

Yvan Charboneau, 24.
Lucien Cournoyer, 30.

All were from Sorel.

The explosion occurred about 15 feet from Ste. Anne de Sorel, one of the many islands in the region.

Some of the bodies had been recovered early today, but which ones were not specified.

Police said the five killed died either in the explosion or were thrown overboard and drowned.

Details Lacking

Hours after the accident details were still lacking but police said the party of seven set out Friday night for a motor-boat ride in the island-dotted region, a favorite rendezvous for many seeking a summer evening's pleasure.

When the boat was about 150 feet from the island there was suddenly a back-fire from the motor which appeared to touch off the explosion.

A sheet of flame and black smoke shot into the air.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately known.

A search for bodies went on throughout the night. This morning "several" had been found but identification was still vague, it was reported.

Later it was said two bodies had not been found, those of Lucienne and Therese Cournoyer.

TO TEAR UP ROAD

Oakville, July 16 — (CP)—The oldest paved road in Ontario, Dundas Street, laid here in 1914, is to be torn up. It was at one time the main road for Malton county farmers, delivering produce to lake boats in Sixteen-Mile Creek. Before the road was built, Oakville council went to Detroit to confer with engineers on the construction of the highway. The road will be repaved.

Cross From Calvary Meets With Mass Fervor on Journey Around World

London, uly 16 (CP)—A 10-foot cross which last Good Friday was hoisted above Mount Calvary in Jerusalem is being transported around the world by Roman Catholics to draw attention to the plight of Palestine refugees.

Since leaving Palestine after Easter it has travelled more than 2,000 miles on the shoulders of pilgrims who have passed it from diocese to diocese and country to country. Now in England, it is heading by daily 10-mile stages from Preston, Lancashire, from where it will be taken across by boat to the Republic of Ireland.

In September, Father Thomas Becquet, a Belgian friar who has accompanied the cross on the trip from Jerusalem, will take it to North America. Whether it will be taken to Canada during its journey to the United States Pacific Coast is not known.

The idea originated with Msgr. Louis Kerkhoss, Roman Catholic bishop of Liegem, Belgium, who suggested it as a means of "awakening Christian conscience to the present dangers to holy places in Jerusalem and to the problem of Palestine refugees."

Vatican and Jerusalem authorities supported the idea "in the hope it would stimulate prayer for peaceful settlement of these issues." The cross was made in a Jerusalem monastery and blessed by the Pope en route through Rome.

Father Becquet, claims to be a descendant of the brother of martyred Thomas A. Becket of Canterbury.

The cross has been evoking mass fervor on its way. More than 8,000 jammed London's Westminster cathedral last weekend for services when it passed through the capital. En route from Dover, pilgrims plodding behind numbered as many as 3,000 at one time.

Many persons in Britain have followed the cross on its journey during their summer vacations.

Volunteers ranging in age from 18 to 60 carry it. Twenty men who accepted the cross from French pilgrims at Dover gave up their holidays to take turns carrying it. They pause overnight in whatever accommodation is available —parish hall floors, farmers' barns and even outdoors. They are relieved along the way by others who arranged to take holidays covering the latter part of it's English tour.

They and the crowds following the procession recite the rosary en route. They halt at the roadside two or three times daily for a brief service of hymns and other devotions.

The cross is borne upright on the shoulders of four men at all times except when carried indoors where it is lowered onto the shoulders of one man.

Lad Gets Lost When Trying To Get Home

Robert Walsh, aged 11, R.R. 1, Corbyville, will remember his last movie for some time.

Yesterday he came to the city to attend a show and after the show became lost while trying to find his way out of the city. Finally he ended up at the home of a resident near the Corbin Lock Co. with result that police were called after midnight. Later the lad was taken home none the worse for his being out at a late hour.

Govt. Calls in Leaders of Two Waterfront Unions

London, July 16 (CP) — The government called in leaders of two waterfront unions today to try and end London's 20-day dock strike.

There was some optimism that an agreement might be reached to get the 14,638 idle stevedores back to work this weekend.

Sir Robert Gould, the Labor Ministry's top negotiator, bet with executive committees of the light-executive committee of the Lightermen's Union and the Stevedores and Dockers Union.

More than 6,000 troops are at work on 50 to 60 of the 170 ships now tied up along the miles of London docks. Ninety-one ships are idle. Others are being worked by the 10,000 union dockers still on the job.

The dock workers quit work three weeks ago rather than unload two Canadian ships involved in a strike of merchant sailors.

Negotiations for a settlement broke down, at least temporarily, Friday night.

Trenton Airman Included in Group

Ottawa, July 16 (CP) — The Navy announced Friday that 35 officers flying as pilots and observers with the 18th Air Carrier Group have begun a three-month tour of training and manoeuvres with the U.S. Navy. The group, two squadrons of Firefly anti-submarine aircraft, flew from the naval air station at Dartmouth, N.S. to the U.S. Naval Air Base at Quonset Point, Rhode Island, July 7. Among the group is William J. Spencer, Trenton.

Czech Communist Govt. Declares Fight to Finish

Will Attempt to Smash Influence of the Vatican

Prague, July 16 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist government today had declared a fight to the finish to throttle the Roman Catholic Church here and smash the influence of the Vatican.

Red spokesmen had:

1. Publicly accused the Catholic hierarchy led by Archbishop Joseph Beran of treason against the state.

2. Threatened that anyone who tries to carry out in this countrty the Pope's orders for excommunication of Communists will be prosecuted for treason.

3. Announced the drafting of a bill for control of churches which will give the government a stranglehold rule over all denominations, including prior approval of any pastor or high church official, on political grounds. The bill would make any pastor, priest or high church official as much a government employee as any bureaucrat.

After a few weeks of resting on their oars while the controlled press blasted Catholic leadership in the embittered state-church fight, government spokesmen unleashed several broadsides Friday.

Charged With Treason

The heaviest blast was fired by Justice Minister Alexei Cepicka. In a fiery address he charged Beran and his bishops with treason, and trying to provoke revolt in Czechoslovakia.

Cepicka accused the Vatican's diplomatic representation here with masterminding plots against Czechoslovakia and called Pope Pius the "chief enemy of our state".

Cepicka gave no indication if or when the government might jail Archbishop Beran. The primate has been under close police watch in his palace for nearly a month since Communist hecklers hooted him out of St. Vitus Cathedral during a sermon criticizing the government.

Other priests and laymen, however, have been jailed, the Justice Minister said, when "caught in punishable activities".

In dealing with the Pope's orders for major excommunication of militant Communists, Cericka said:

"Let no one have the slightest doubt that anyone who in any way attempts to carry out this directive of the Vatican perpetrates treason."

CANADA ON WAY TO SELL MORE GOODS TO U.S.

Follows Up Biggest Trade Year in the Country's History

Ottawa, July 16. (CP)—In the wake of its biggest peace time trading year, Canada is away on a campaign to sell more goods to the United States.

A sales-promotion staff is being sent to major American cities to help bring Canadian products before American buyers.

A trade department spokesman told of the move Friday—the day after Sir Stafford Cripps announced in London that British imports from dollar areas—including Canada—will be cut 25 per cent this year. Earlier this week, Trade Minister Howe said the adverse balance of trade with the United States was the only "disturbing aspect" of Canadian trade.

A Dominion Bureau of Statistics trade survey Friday showed 1948 was the biggest peace time trading year in the Dominion's history.

In 1938 Canada exported goods worth $849,000,000 and imported $678,000,000. In 1948 exports rose to $1,464,000,000 and imports to $1,223,000,000 in terms of 1938 prices—an increase of 73 per cent in the volume of exports and an increase of 81 per cent in the volume of imports.

Exports Worth More

But the war-inspired rise in prices meant the value of imports and exports increased a lot more quickly than the actual volume of goods. So in terms of 1948 prices, 1948 exports were worth $3,110,000,000—an increase of 267 per cent over 1938—and imports were worth $2,635,000,000—an increase of 290 per cent over 1938.

Last year also saw an "unprecedented increase" in trade and 68.5 per cent of all Canadian imports came from there.

Those figures, however, leave the Dominion with a deficit on trade with the U.S. and the sales campaign is designed to overcome it.

At the same time, the Dominion will try to cut purchases in the U.S. by reimposing import controls that have gradually been relaxed in the last ten months. The controls went on in November 1947 when Canadian reserves of gold and U.S. dollars sunk to less than $500,000,000.

Truck Driver Freed Of Raping His Wife

Leeds, Yorkshire, England, July 16 (AP) — A British jury Friday freed a truck driver of a charge of raping his own wife. Edward Clarke, 35, was acquitted after a two-day trial. The prosecution's case was based on a magistrate's separation order which said the wife, Mrs. Mary Clarke, is "no longer bound to cohabit with her husband" because of cruelty. They lived apart. Mrs. Clarke complained that Clarke lured her to an out-of-the-way place March 12 and was intimate with her despite her struggles. Clarke admitted making love to her, but said she was willing.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, July 16 (CP)—Synopsis: The weather is clear over Ontario. Temperatures are slightly lower than yesterday in Central and northern sections of the province, but continue seasonably warm over southern sections.

Sunny and warm weather will prevail over all except northern sections of the province on Sunday.

Trucker Convicted Of Cruelty to Cattle

Newmarket, July 16 (CP) Harold Gauthier, who kept 13 head of cattle in a space 10-by-7 feet in the back of his truck, was fined $75 and costs Friday for "conveying cattle in a manner causing them unnecessary suffering." The policeman who stopped Gauthier's truck said he found seven head of cattle standing on the bodies of six others, including 3 calves.

Fay Gives up 'Harvey' for 'Hamlet' As Performance Ends Five-Year Run

Vancouver, July 16. (CP)—Elwood P. Dowd, an amiable lush, and "Harvey", a big white rabbit who took Broadway by storm, will wander down to Charley's Place tonight for their last drink together. This is one of the most beautiful friendships in show business. Tonight's stage performance here will be their last.

"I'm sending Harvey back to his family for a while," Fay said today. "And I hope he doesn't go Hollywood."

After nearly five year of warming millions of hearts with Mary Chase's Pulitzer prize-winning play, Fay is giving up Harvey for "Hamlet".

Nearly everyone knows the story of Elwood P. Dowd and Harvey. Harvey is an easygoing alcoholic's dream of a perfect world—boozy acceptance of reality without complaint, bitterness, envy or ill-feeling. It is a penetrating criticism of all too-proper and responsible conduct.

Harvey is an invisible Rabbit (6' 1 1-2" tall) who is seen only by Dowd, a small town tippler. Harvey helps Dowd find good in his fellow men.

For fabulous Frank Fay, a bland and garrulous elf of 51, his association with Harvey has been a profitable one. He owns a chunk of the play, which since it opened in October 1944, has taken in $14,000,000.

"I've played the role about 2,000 times and I get the same old kick out it every time I do it."

He says Harvey will be filmed in 1950. A Hollywood studio has bought the movie rights for $1,000,000.

TWO YOUNG BOYS STRIP AND BEAT 5-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Tied to Fence, Beaten With Sticks for Hours

Toronto, July 16 (CP) — Two boys, aged eight and 13, who allegedly tied a five-year-old girl to a downtown fence and beat her with sticks for three hours, will appear in juvenile court here today.

Police arrested them Friday night, a few hours after five-year-old Carol Surge was found in bed by her mother, Mrs. Frank Surge, who had just come home after searching the streets for 5 hours for the tot. Carol disappeared around 5 p.m.

Carol's back was raw; she had heavy bruises on her legs and arms, a bright red welt across her chest and her knees were cut open. She was covered with dirt from head to foot.

Mrs. Surge took the child to hospital, where doctors put stitches in her knees and treated the cuts and abrasions. Hospital nurses said the girl had not been criminally attacked.

Child's Story

Carol's story, as pieced together by police, was this:

She went out from her Gerrard Street West home to play. On a nearby street two boys grabbed her and hustled her behind a brewery. There they stripped her clothes off, tied her to a fence and beat her for hours with sticks.

She said the boys tried to make her swallow stones. When they untied her, they put her clothes back on, then pushed her in a mudhole and left her crying.

An unidentified woman found the child and took her home.

Carol is one of six children. Her father, a painter who works out of town, said "If I could only get hold of one of these people myself, I'd really show them."

Suffers Back Injuries When Car Crashes Into Ditch

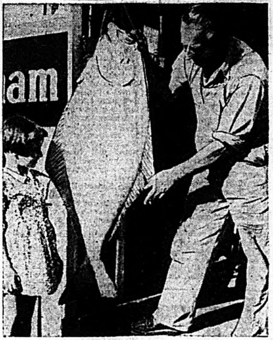
Anthony Ritch, 24, of 365 North Charles Street, suffered back injuries Friday afternoon and was admitted to hospital following a motor accident on the four-lane highway near the Point Anne lane.

Ritch was passenger in a car driven by Ray Nolan, Foxboro Road, which was proceeding west on the south side of the north laye. The car went out of control and took a wide arc to the north crossing the ditch and crashing through the fence before coming to rest on its left side.

The injured man was taken to hospital where he was attended by Dr. E. MacDonald. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Harding.

FIVE OF CREW KILLED

Berlin, July 16 (AP) — A British air-lift plane crashed and burned while taking off from Tegel Airfield in Berlin today, killing five crew members.



BIG FELLOW

Four Burned As Gasoline Stove Explodes

Sutton, July 16 (CP) — Four persons were burned Friday, 3 seriously, when a gasoline stove exploded in a Summer cottage at Mossington Park, near this Lake Simcoe village, 40 miles north of Toronto.

Admitted to hospital in Toronto were: Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cox, of Long Branch, Ont., and Mrs. Ethel Slottery, of Toronto. Mr. Slottery was allowed to leave after treatment. Hospital authorities said the condition of the three others was "satisfactory."

The blast blew furniture about the kitchen and lifted a few shingles off the roof of the cottage. Police said some one placed a small gasoline stove on top of the kitchen range, which was burning, and the tank on the small stove exploded.

B.C. Fire Hazard Remains the Same

Vancouver, July 15 (CP)—The annual fire hazard in British Columbia's vast forest areas remained virtually unchanged today as only scattered showers appeared to assist fire fighters watching for or battling blazes throughout the province.

Sporadic showers Friday provided little aid and the lightning accompanying them seemed sure to add new fires to the last count of more than 80 already burning in B.C.

One whipped out of control Friday before a raging wind, sending 125 loggers scurrying as flames ran through tree tops. Some 5,000,000 board feet of lumber has been run over and 200 acres blackened in the Cowichan Lake area of central-south Vancouver Island where last week another major fire roared.

Fighters expected to control the latest break today.

Elsewhere, continued dry and hot weather kept fire potential high.

Alberta listed 17 fires Friday night—eight of them out of control—while Manitoba forestry officials said an alarming situation there exists with two major fires on the Lake Winnipeg narrows and Long Lake while a Beaver Creek fire also is serious.

LUCIANO BARRED FROM ROME

Rome, July 16—(AP)—Charles (Lucky) Luciano won his freedom Friday, but Italian police barred him permanently from Rome. After a week in jail, the former New York vice king was cleared of complicity in a vast, international ring believed smuggling narcotics into New York from Europe. However, Oreste Barranco, chief of Rome's mobile police, said Luciano would be expelled from Rome and forbidden to return.

Blind Official Wants Eye Bank In Every Hospital

Toronto, July 16 (CP)—An eye bank in every hospital, where the sight of those who have just died may be transferred to the eyes of the blind, is the dream of Col. E. A. Baker.

Col. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, outlined some of the difficulties in the transplanting of corneas in an address to the institute's national conference here.

He said the cornea of an eye could be used a few hours after death but it was difficult to get authority from relatives of the deceased. Eyes left in wills were not usually available until some time after death and they could not be preserved for more than three or four days.

The sale of poor glasses was criticized by R. V. Hewlett of Calgary. The availability of such glasses "has caused great detriment to the eyesight of Canadians," he said.

Col. Baker said cheap glasses were often made from discards from commercial products, but their sale was legal.

"They cause little harm to middle-aged people who need them for reading," he said. "But they are "dangerous with glaucoma, especially when it is painless".

DID NOT FIND WILDCAT

St. Catharines, July 16 (CP)—A posse of local men who set out Friday to hunt a big wildcat seen recently in the district, found: 1. two deer, 2. a fox, 3. an owl. Police Chief Norman Fach, who joined the men in the hunt said: "Next time we'll go out with dogs. We'll track the animal until we find it."

CIGARETTE BUTT CAUSES FIELD FIRE

A small area of a hayfield on the farm of Charlie Branton, 6th concession Sidney township, was burned over Friday when a dropped cigarette is believed to have touched off the dried hay.

Men were in the field loading hay onto a truck when the blaze was noticed. Farmers turned their efforts from hay pitching to fire fighting and had the blaze nearly under control when members of the Belleville fire department arrived. Firemen then dampened the burning area to make sure the blaze was extinguished.

PIONEER 104 YEARS OLD

Gananoque, July 16 — (CP) — Severe Dorey, whose father once owned the land on which Canada's parliament buildings now stand, Friday observed his 104th birthday. He was born at Ottawa which was then known as Bytown, later moved to Montreal and then to Gananoque.

FIERY LEADER OF RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD DIES

Whitney Often Foe Of President's Policies

Cleveland, July 16. (AP)—Alexander Fell Whitney, 76, fiery labor leader who was the friend and sometimes bitter opponent of presidents of the United States, died at his home early today of a heart attack.

The peppery president of the 215,000-man Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was stricken after spending a full day at his office and an evening with friends at his home.

It was in recent years in relations with President Truman, however, that Whitney came into breakfast-table view of the American public.

Called by Truman

The crippling railway strike of May, 1946, was in full swing. All but 100 of 17,500 of the scheduled passenger trains in the United States and 240 of 24,000 freight trains were out of operation for a 48-hour period.

President Truman called Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers, to the White House for a closed conference.

The labor chiefs called their men back to work, but soon after Whitney shouted "double cross."

He said they were induced by the President to postpone the strike for five days on the promise that an agreement would be forthcoming from railroad management.

Instead, he said, the Brotherhood officials were given the run-around.

President Truman asked Congress for an automatic draft for striking railroaders.

Reconciliation Followed

Whitney soon after announced plans to use the $47,000,000 Brotherhood treasury to defeat "Truman in the election of 1948."

A reconciliation between the Labor leader and the President followed, however.

The Brotherhood's President since 1928, Whitney was last elected to a four-year term in Oct. 1946.

SURGEON KNOCKED OUT

Wayland, N. Y., July 16—(AP)—A Surgeon was injured critically Friday when he was struck by a patient coming out of an anaethesia. The blow knocked Dr. Joseph J. Zone, 36, off balance and he struck his head against a table in the Wayland Hospital operating room. Attendants said he suffered a skull fracture.

Cross From Calvary Meets With Mass Fervor on Journey Around World

London, uly 16 (CP)—A 10-foot cross which last Good Friday was hoisted above Mount Calvary in Jerusalem is being transported around the world by Roman Catholics to draw attention to the plight of Palestine refugees.

Since leaving Palestine after Easter it has travelled more than 2,000 miles on the shoulders of pilgrims who have passed it from diocese to diocese and country to country. Now in England, it is heading by daily 10-mile stages from Preston, Lancashire, from where it will be taken across by boat to the Republic of Ireland.

In September, Father Thomas Becquet, a Belgian friar who has accompanied the cross on the trip from Jerusalem, will take it to North America. Whether it will be taken to Canada during its journey to the United States Pacific Coast is not known.

The idea originated with Msgr. Louis Kerkhoss, Roman Catholic bishop of Liegem, Belgium, who suggested it as a means of "awakening Christian conscience to the present dangers to holy places in Jerusalem and to the problem of Palestine refugees."

Vatican and Jerusalem authorities supported the idea "in the hope it would stimulate prayer for peaceful settlement of these issues." The cross was made in a Jerusalem monastery and blessed by the Pope en route through Rome.

Father Becquet, claims to be a descendant of the brother of martyred Thomas A. Becket of Canterbury.

The cross has been evoking mass fervor on its way. More than 8,000 jammed London's Westminster cathedral last weekend for services when it passed through the capital. En route from Dover, pilgrims plodding behind numbered as many as 3,000 at one time.

Many persons in Britain have followed the cross on its journey during their summer vacations.

Volunteers ranging in age from 18 to 60 carry it. Twenty men who accepted the cross from French pilgrims at Dover gave up their holidays to take turns carrying it. They pause overnight in whatever accommodation is available—parish hall floors, farmers' barns and even outdoors. They are relieved along the way by others who arranged to take holidays covering the latter part of it's English tour.

They and the crowds following the procession recite the rosary en route. They halt at the roadside two or three times daily for a brief service of hymns and other devotions.

The cross is borne upright on the shoulders of four men at all times except when carried indoors where it is lowered onto the shoulders of one man.

Believed Motor Backfired, Some Thrown Overboard

Party of Seven Out for Ride In River When Blast Occurs

Sorel, Que., July 16 — (CP) — Five members of a family of seven were killed when a motor boat exploded in the St. Lawrence River near here late last night.

All seven were in the boating party.

The Dead:

Herve Cournoyer, 27.
Marcel Cournoyer, 17.
Lucienne Cournoyer, 29.
Giselle Cournoyer, 20.
Therese Cournoyer, 21.

The Survivors:

Yvan Charboneau, 24.
Lucien Cournoyer, 30.

All were from Sorel.

The explosion occurred about 15 feet from Ste. Anne de Sorel, one of the many islands in the region.

Some of the bodies had been recovered early today, but which ones were not specified.

Police said the five killed died either in the explosion or were thrown overboard and drowned.

Details Lacking

Hours after the accident details were still lacking but police said the party of seven set out Friday night for a motor-boat ride in the island-dotted region, a favorite rendezvous for many seeking a summer evening's pleasure.

When the boat was about 150 feet from the island there was suddenly a back-fire from the motor which appeared to touch off the explosion.

A sheet of flame and black smoke shot into the air.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately known.

A search for bodies went on throughout the night. This morning "several" had been found but identification was still vague, it was reported.

Later it was said two bodies had not been found, those of Lucienne and Therese Cournoyer.

TO TEAR UP ROAD

Oakville, July 16 — (CP)—The oldest paved road in Ontario, Dundas Street, laid here in 1914, is to be torn up. It was at one time the main road for Malton county farmers, delivering produce to lake boats in Sixteen-Mile Creek. Before the road was built, Oakville council went to Detroit to confer with engineers on the construction of the highway. The road will be repaved.

Rotarians Attend District Assembly

President Fred H. Deacon and Secretary Alfred J. Davis represented the Belleville club at the District Assembly of Rotary International held in Whitby this week.

Impressing on the delegates the importance of the basis of selection for membership vocations, Past District Governor Thomas Rogers of Toronto emphasized the worth to society of all useful occupations. Because Rotarians represent their classification in this great service organization, it is obligatory to them that they love their business and do business only on the highest ethical standards.

The need for extended Community Service was given prominence in the proceedings. Commendation was given to individuals and clubs, who had given sponsorship and support to community welfare work, community recreation, Y.M.C.A. service and camps.

Past District Governor Ed Simmons of Trenton, introduced the new District Governor John Gouch of Toronto who presided.

MRS. MARY BRADSHAW
(Point Anne)

Mrs. Mary Bradshaw, wife of Mr. Laurie Bradshaw, Point Anne, died in the Belleville General Hospital early Saturday morning after an illness of five months' duration.

Born in Owen Sound 45 years ago the late Mrs. Bradshaw was a daughter of Peter Hart and his wife the late Elizabeth Levequc. For the past thirty-six years she made her home at Point Anne. She was a member of St. Michael's Church and in connection with the parish she was a member of the Catholic Women's League.

Surviving her are her husband; her father; two sons, Lawrence of Trenton, and Garth of Belleville; one brother, Jack Hart. Point Anne; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Roseberry and Mrs. Mavis Gaulin, both of Belleville, and Mrs. Bernice Bowler, Point Anne.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

ARTHUR B. GORDONIER
(Stirling)

Trenton, July 16. (Special)—Arthur B. Gordonier died at his home in Stirling on Thursday. He was in failing health for the past seven months.

The late Mr. Gordonier, who was in his 76th year, was born in Thurlow township and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Gordonier. For the past eighteen years he resided in Stirling and prior to that time he had lived in Detroit, Mich., and Belleville. During his active years he was engaged as a carpenter. He was a member of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling and was highly esteemed in the community.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Florence Rodgers; one daughter Mrs. George (Helena) Emslie, Windsor, Ont.; one sister, Mrs. John Shaw, Belleville; also seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

During the First Great War Mr. Gordonier went overseas with the 155th Battalion. He was a member of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, Belleville.

The bearers were Robert Bastedo, Joseph Whitehead, Harry Francis, Harper Rollins, Roy Eggleton and Charles Vance.

The funeral was held this Saturday afternoon from his late residence to St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, where service was conducted by the minister, the Rev. W. H. V. Walker, who also conducted the committal service at Belleville Cemetery.

LATE MRS. ALICE MAUDE MURDOCK

The funeral of Mrs. Alice Maude (Roberts) Murdock, wife of the Rev. William C. Murdock, Montreal, and mother of Mr. Clarence D. Murdock of this city, was held from the Canadian National Railways Station here Friday afternoon to Belleville Cemetery, where interment took place. The service there was conducted by the Rev. F. R. Harback, minister of the Tabernacle United Church.

The bearers were William Doig, Bernard Punchard, Everett Prescott, Frank Taylor, Patrick Devine and Richard Flagler.

Mrs. Murdock died at her home in Montreal on Wednesday last.

R.C.S.C. "Quinte" Train on Craft

The Ships' Company marched down to the dock and filed aboard the H. C. 311. As each Cadet stepped aboard, he turned and smartly saluted the quarterback, in the age old tradition of the Navy.

The notes of the Bosun's pipe brought all hands to their stations in preparation for leaving harbor, lines were cast off, and the craft started out for Big Bay.

Sub-Lieut. Turner, the officer of the watch, had a number of cadets take turns at the wheel, where they found steering by compass a new and exciting experience. Most of the cadets at the wheel did a very good job, with A/B Cooney taking his trick at the wheel like an old hand.

About 18 cadets were given instructions by Lieut. Maxwell, the Navigation Officer, on how to plot a course, and how safe sailing can be done in strange waters by knowing how to use charts. Different courses were plotted and followed to give the cadets some practical experience.

Given Instruction

The craft anchored in Big Bay where the cadets were shown by O/S Blondin, R.C.N. (R), the correct way to abandon ship. Later he gave them instruction on life saving and rescue methods. All hands enjoyed taking part in this class and the swimming.

With the piping of "Hands to stations," the anchor was weigned and the H. C. 311 got under way. A regular ships routine was followed until the craft arrived back at the dock and was moored. Evening quarters was held aboard ship, and the brief but impressive ceremony was carried out smartly in the proper naval manner.

Education Board Against Ceding East Playgrounds For Permanent Structures

The Belleville Board of Education at a special meeting held Friday night voted against turning over a portion of the East Belleville Playgrounds to the local Kinsmen Club as a site for a proposed community swimming pool.

A special committee from the local service club, headed by its chairman Cleo Colling, had appeared before the board to determine if the property was available as a site for the proposed swimming pool.

In voting to retain control of the playground property, members of the board of education stressed that in no way were they opposed to a community swimming pool in the city. Their reason for voting against sale of the property was that it at some date in the future it may be needed as a site for a new vocational school.

"I think it would be a great mistake for this board to hand over the site for a swimming pool when there is a strong possibility it may be needed as a school site," stated board member Harold Seldon as he introduced the motion turning down the request of the Kinsmen club committee.

Outlines Proposal

In seeking to determine if the property was available as a site for the swimming pool Mr. Colling outlined the proposal of the service club, pointing out there were only three locations available in the city.

These were Zwick's Island, which had been more or less ruled out because of the lack of local services on the island; the local exhibition park which had been decided against as not being sufficiently central, and the East Belleville Playgrounds.

He said that as the city apparently was expanding toward the east, it had been considered by the club that the playground site was the best possible location. He said the object of the club was to determine if the site was available, and if so the club may ask for permission to obtain the property.

Might Help Development

Arnold Campbell, member of the Board of Education, asked if Zwick's Island had been definitely decided against as a site. He said that he became riled every time he thought of Zwick's Island lying idle and thought placement of the swimming pool there might be the first step toward its development.

"I only wish there were 15,000 more people in the city like you," returned Harry Rollins, chairman of the Parks Board. "The trouble is we have too many citizens who are satisfied with their lot and want no additional expense."

He added that it would take at least $150,000 to develop Zwick's Island and before that amount of money was spent it would be necessary for the city to put in a sewage disposal plant as the bay had been ruled out by the Board of Health as a safe place to swim.

"I am afraid if we waited for the development of Zwick's Island before placing the swimming pool there we would not have the pool very soon."

Pool Badly Needed

He said the swimming pool was badly needed in this city but first the matter of location must be decided.

While members of the Kinsmen Club feel that the playgrounds would be an ideal location for the pool, this feeling was not held by residents of the area who presented a petition to the Board of Education asking that approval for the project be not given.

Heading the delegation of residents opposing the swimming pool for the playground area was Court Miller, local druggist, who stated that construction of a swimming pool in the area would materially depreciate property values.

He contended that the project would be too expensive and that the swimming pool would require maintenance which could not be guaranteed.

Residents Not Opposed to Pool

"If the city did not see fit to establish such a project in the area years ago, it would be a confounded shame to drop a swimming pool now in the midst of a residential area," he said.

At the same time Mr. Miller stated that none of the residents in the area were opposed to a swimming pool. In fact they agreed a pool was necessary—providing a suitable location could be found.

The same feeling was set forth by several other members of the delegation who agreed that a swimming pool in the city was badly needed. They felt, however, that the playground site was not the proper location.

The recommendation from Mr. Seldon followed stating that in view of the fact the property may be required for school construction the board could not permit any works of a permanent nature on the location. The recommendation was carried unanimously.

Cpl. Sam Ervine Transferred To Perth in O.P.P. Shift

As part of the complete re-organization of the Belleville headquarters of the Ontario Provincial Police recommended in the Royal Commission report on the Keays investigation, Cpl. Sam Ervine, for many years traffic officer here, has been transferred to Perth district.

Announcement of the transfer was made Friday by Police Commissioner W. H. Stringer who at the same time stated that Sgt. John Kay, former traffic officer at Belleville, would be transferred to this city from Perth.

Part of Re-Organization

The transfer of Cpl. Ervine to Perth is part of the re-organization of the local district police headquarters recommended by Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay in presenting his report on the Royal Commission investigation into charges by former Constable J. E. Keays.

The report recommended the dismissal of Keays and the retirement of Inspector W. A. Page and Sgt. E. F. Hartleib.

The recommendation for his retirement came as a surprise to 58-year-old Sgt. Hartleib, who normally would have seven years to go before going on pension.

"I cannot understand the reason for the recommendation," the sergeant stated yesterday. "There were no charges against me. I was called only as a witness."

On Force 26 Years

A member of the provincial police for the past 26 years, Sgt. Hartleib came to Belleville seven years ago from Toronto. He is a veteran of the First World War and served for several years with the R.C.M.P. before joining the provincial police. The 58-year-old sergeant normally would have seven years to go before retirement.

Asked regarding his plans for the future, the sergeant stated he had had no time to consider plans. However, he said he could return to his former trade as a tinsmith, while he also had considerable experience as a woodworker. The sergeant has three children, a son and two daughters, both of whom are still in high school.

Veteran of Two Wars

Corporal Ervine also is a veteran of both world wars. During the last war he was granted leave of absence from the Ontario Provincial Police to join the Canadian Army. He served as an instructional officer at Camp Borden and rose to the rank of Major. On his discharge he returned to Belleville with the provincial police.

Nickel Found in Birthday Cake Nearly Swallowed by Finder

Feeling none the worst today after a brief but terrifying ordeal of trying to swallow a nickel, three-year-old Billy Stovin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stovin, George street, will long remember the five cent piece which he found in a birthday cake.

Thursday Billy had found a nickel in a birthday cake at a party which he attended and Friday afternoon was all set to spend it on gum.

So with his mother he went to the new Woolworth's five and dime store which was opened this week. While his mother was examining some other merchandise Billy began to cough and choke. A nearby lady said she thought he had swallowed a nickel.

"Did you swallow the nickel, Billy?" asked his mother. "Yes," was the reply. "It has gone down."

A crowd quickly gathered with each person offering different advice. The manager of the store wanted to call an ambulance.

Billy didn't want to spit on the new floor "because it was too clean." But he did take his mother's advice and shoved his fingers down his throat. He gagged and up came the nickel.

So that is how Billy nearly lost his nickel but today he is happily chewing on the gum bought with the nickel he won at the birthday party.

Parks Board Given Permission To Develop East Playgrounds

The Belleville Parks Board at a special meeting of the local Board of Education held last evening were granted permission to develop the East Belleville Playgrounds for park purposes subject to cancellation of the privilege by the Board.

The move by the Board of Education was made at the request of W. Harry Rollins, chairman of the Parks Board, who appeared before the members of the Board stating the proposal of the parks board.

Mr. Rollins pointed out that the Parks Board had little money to go ahead this year but he indicated they would see that the grass was cut and suggested there

In previous years it has been the practice of the Board of Education to operate the playgrounds in some years in conjunction with the YMCA, but it was felt this year there was not sufficient money available for proper supervision.

However, the Board has certain funds from the Ritchie Estate which may be used only for supervision of the East and West Belleville playgrounds, and these monies were voted to be made available to the Parks Board to be used for supervision.

While the Parks Board asked only for the privilege of developing in East Belleville Playground for park purposes, the same privilege will be granted by the

Const. C. Siple Resigns Office As of July 21

Member of the Ontario Provincial Police since 1940, Constable Charles Siple with the investigations branch of the local district headquarters. has tendered his resignation effective on July 21st. Constable Siple will return to his farm outside St. Thomas.

Prior to joining the Ontario Provincial Police in August, 1940, Constable Siple served two years as a guard at the Ontario Hospital at St. Thomas, later being transferred to Kingston in the same capacity.

After receiving his preliminary training as a member of the O. P. P. he came to Belleville on highway patrol and later was transferred to Port Hope and Lindsay. He returned to Belleville in 1944 and has since been stationed here as an investigator.

Married with two children. Constable Siple purchased a farm in Elgin county in the St. Thomas district in 1947, the farm since having been operated by his two brothers.

His resignation from the provincial police force was accepted prior to the release of the Royal Commission report on the Keays investigation.

Motorists Injured In Car Accident Charge to be Laid

Mr. and Mrs. George Keegan, 164 James Street, were admitted to hospital early this morning suffering from undetermined injuries sustained in a motor accident which occurred on Station Street.

Police stated that Mr. and Mrs. Keegan were riding in a car driven by Frederick McGuire, Golfdale Road, which is said to have rounded a curve on Station Street near Pinnacle Street with result that it crashed into a parked truck owned by Robert Thompson of Bloomfield.

McGuire is stated to have left the scene of the accident prior to the arrival of police and he was located at the home of his father. He will be charged with careless driving and possibly with leaving the scene of an acident and driving without a permit.

Both vehicles were heavily

Half-Penny Token Minted In 1842 Found in Excavation

A Bank of Montreal half-penny token minted in 1842 which apparently had lain buried for the better part of a century was dug up at the corner of Front and Dundas Streets this week by a laborer digging for an excavation.

Gilbert Ketcheson, city, employee of the Tatham Construction Company, which is excavating for the foundation of a new service station at Jack Bonn's, turned up the penny when he uncovered it with his shovel. The penny was buried about four feet beneath the surface.

The half-penny token now 107 years old was in remarkable state of preservation and after a bit of buffing was "like new". The coin is slightly larger than a large Canadian cent. On one side is the engraving of a three-storey building, while the other side shows the coin was a Bank of Montreal half-penny token minted for the "Province of Canada."

By an odd coincidence 1842, the year the token was minted, was the year which the first Bank of Montreal branch was opened in Belleville.

Although offered considerably more than its value, Mr. Ketcheson is keeping the coin as a souvenir.

Anti-Aircraft Battery Holds Second Reunion

Picton, July 16—The 4th Anti-Aircraft Battery held its second annual reunion here last night with former members from all parts of Canada in attendance. This unit was training at Point Petre, Prince Edward County when war broke out and served for a short time on Canada's east coast before going overseas. The unit took part in the defense of Britain and later a part of it served on the continent. It originally was from Kingston.

The original Commanding Officer, Col. C. S. Craig, D.S.O., M.C., of Ottawa, was among those present last night. The visitors were welcomed by Col. R. J. Fisher, M.B.E., E.D., Officer Commanding the Royal Canadian School of Artillery where the reunion was held.

Among those taking part in the program were Capt. J. M. Reynolds of Ottawa and Halifax, Capt. R. B. Mallory, Cobourg, Capt. J. Eggleton, Kingston, Capt. R. W. Desrosiers, Montreal, Col. E. M. Counsell of Montreal, Major F. J. Irwin, Kingston, the original B.S.M., W.O.1 J. C. Murray of Kingston, Capt. S. Belsey of Ottawa, Lieut. Clifford Bowering, Kingston, Capt. R. King, Toronto.

Following the supper, a social time was spent with many reminiscences of days spent together with this unit. Bdr. Bob Dale was in charge of arrangements.

New Tomatoes Seen

First field-grown tomatoes of the season are reported by Arthur Cahoon who resides just west of Picton. He picked several fully-ripened specimens from a field. One of them measured over ten inches in circumference.

Meet on Labor Day

The Canadian International Motorcycle racing championships are to be held in Picton, it was announced last night. They will be held on Labor Day, the date which had been chosen for similar races by Post 78 of the Canadian Legion which will sponsor the event. The championships were to have been decided in Quebec but difficulties arose and Picton was chosen. The track at the Fair Grounds here is considered an excellent one for such racing. Members of the Legion meet Monday night with members of Kingston Motorcycle Racing Club to arrange details.

Caught Pike By Hand

Not only did Norman Rudman of Rochester, N.Y., catch an eight-pound Northern Pike by hand but at the same time he recovered a line and bait he had earlier lost. He was fishing in Smith's Bay with Perch as the expected fish. There was a sudden strong jerk and in an attempt to land the fish, the line broke. A moment later the Pike came to the surface and Mr. Rudman reached out and grabbed it. The Rudmans are staying at Iva Emorey's cottages.

Women Put Out Fire

A group of women wielding brooms got a grass fire under control by the time firemen arrived yesterday. A small area on the R.C. Reotory lawn was burned over, the outbreak starting when papers were being burned.

Herb Daubney, with his sailing yacht, Sea-Bird left to attend the eastern yachting circuit races at Kingston which began Thursday.

Members of Orange Lodges in Prince Edward County took part in the walk at Belleville on Tuesday.

In the high school entrance results for Prince Edward County, highest honors went to Helen Gould of Picton Public School, second to Mary Lou Blakely, Picton, and third to Dorothy Thompson, Black Creek. They receive the Old Boys' Entrance Medals. Miss Gould, highest in the Picton school, also won the Martha McGowan scholarship.

The hot weather has created an unusual demand for ice and dealers are rationing it carefully. Less

Memorial Gates At RCAF Station Now Being Built

Presented by the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand, as a memorial tribute to Canada for the part this country played in the war in connection with the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, beautiful memorial gates are now in the course of construction at the Trenton Air Station.

Some time during the month of September it is expected the gates will be completed and a colorful dedication ceremony is planned.

The gates themselves which are of wrought iron will be shipped to Canada and will be erected on foundations now in course of construction almost opposite the administration building and facing on the highway.

Present at the dedication, it is understood, will be distinguished guests from Britain and other parts of the Commonwealth. All branches of the RAF and the RCAF will be represented. Complete details of the program are now being arranged.

The gates have been designed in consultation with air force authorities in Canada and the Royal Fine Arts Commission in the United Kingdom.

Eggs up 5 Cents On City Market

Egg prices took another five cent increase in price on the local produce market as vendors asked 65 cents the dozen for firsts. Mediums were quoted at 63 cents the dozen.

Fowl was fairly plentiful at 45 cents for mature birds with spring chickens ranging up to 55 cents the pound.

Large Berry Offering

There was a large offering of raspberries on the outside market with vendors asking a general price of 45 cents per quart box, both red and blue varieties.

Huckleberries sold at 50 cents the quart of $2.50 per six-quart basket; cherries were $1.50 per basket; English black currants 50 cents the box; Missouri currants 40 cents and red currants 25 cents. Gooseberries were 25 cents.

The first of the current season's home grown tomatoes were offered with quart boxes retailing at 50 cents.

Some Corn at 60c

New potatoes were quoted at 60 cents the small basket, while a few vendors offered corn at from 50 to 60 cents the dozen ears. Bunched vegetables sold at a dime with the exception of radishes which were a nickel. String beans were 15 cents per box and cauliflower up to 25 cents. Cucumbers were a dime each. Beans sold at 15 cents per box.

Young pigs were plentiful with farmers asking from $12 to $13 each.

POLICE BLOTTER

Two houses in the East Hill district were entered during the night, entrance in both cases apparently having been made with a skeleton key.

Nothing was reported missing from the one house from which the owners were away on holidays, but in the other instance, $17 in cash was missing from a woman's purse, while a black lady's overnight bag and a canvas suitcase had also disappeared.

Robert Byrne, 45 Purdy Street, reported that his 1936 Olds coach had been stolen some time yesterday from where it was parked in front of the Belle Cleaners on Coleman St.

Camp on Lake Consecon. David Ewald of the 1st Belleville (St. Thomas) Pack passed his knotting and was awarded his First Star.

A SCOUTER'S NOTEBOOK

The Scout Slogan: "Do a good turn every day."

The first thing I wish to stress is that the Good Turn is not a job around home that we are expected to do nor is it something that we are asked to do. A Good Turn is something a person does on his own free will. This may, at times, mean an expenditure of considerable time and energy — (and even money). It is considered the duty of every Scout to show this unselfish and generous self-sacrifice in being friendly to others and assisting them in every way possible. Scouting through the teachings of Lord Baden - Powell endeavors to show each and every boy the true path to honesty, loyalty, and kindliness so that he will be able to carry out his various duties in life in an honorable upright way.

THE QUESTION BOX

Q. What is the Local Association and what does it do?

A. A Local Association is made up of the leaders of the various groups along with representatives from each group committee and anyone duly elected by the association. The main qualification is that the person should show a genuine interest in Scout work. The association shapes and maintains the over-all policies in its area concerning groups, church parades, combined camping and financing. It co-ordinates the district activities and generally keeps the whole district scouting family working harmoniously together and with other organizations. The Local Association also endeavors to bring about the organization of new Scout groups.

Q. Why should my boy become a Scout?

A. The best way to answer this question is to quote directly from a pamphlet provided by The Boy Scouts Association. Ottawa.

"1. Scouting fills a boys' spare time with healthy occupations in healthy company.

2. Scouting gives a boy character which is essential to success in any career.

3. Scouting is training in citizenship. We are out to make good individual citizens.

4. Scouting gives a boy opportunities of service for God and His neighbor. This is the basis of religion.

5. Scouting makes a boy handy, his hobbies are useful at home as well as interesting to himself.

6. Scouting gives a boy a sense of honor and loyalty, he will not let you down or tell a lie.

7. Scouting teaches a boy self reliance so that he can fend for himself and help other people.

8. Scouting gives a boy health through open - air exercise and self care, he gains a sound mind in a healthy body.

9. Scouting finds out a boy's natural gifts and so helps to find "square holes for square pegs" in the choice of a career.

10. Scouting gives a boy happiness through cheery comradeship and the enjoyment of nature.

11. Scouting widens a boy's outlook by correspondence and direct contact it develops association with boys of other countries.

12. Scouting will make a man of your boy and the sort of a man you wish him to be."

Posse Seeks Strange Animal

St. Catharines, July 15. (CP) —A posse of more than 30 men are combing the rugged Niagara escarpment today in search of the mysterious animal which has been reported roaming the area south of the city for the past three days. People who claim to have seen the animal say it looks like a wild-cat, a tiger and a lion.

Two women and a number of small children reported seeing the animal on the brush-covered bank of Twelve Mile creek near the centre of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, tourists from Detroit, stopped for a drink at a spring on the Merrittville Highway halfway down the escarpment. As they got out of their car, a vicious-looking animal sprang around and faced them.

KIRSTEN FLAGSTAD BANNED

San Francisco, July 15 (AP)—Trustees of the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House late on Thursday banned the scheduled autumn appearances of Wagnerian Soprano Kirsten Flagstad.

In a resolution the trustees said the action was taken "because of the controversial character of her public appearances elsewhere in the United States."

At a public hearing before the board, Judge Milton D. Sapiro representing the American Legion opposed the soprano's singing in the opera house because of her activities during the war. She flew to Norway via Germany in the fall of 1941 to be with her husband, Henry Johansen, a wealthy lumberman.

Mid-Morning Drink Impresses MacKinnon

Sydney, Australia, July 15—(CP)—Senator James A. MacKinnon, former Canadian Trade and Commerce Minister, today said at a civic reception that he is impressed by the size and type of building in Sydney—and by the mid-morning drink at the reception.

MacKinnon was representing the Canadian government on the occasion of the Canadian Pacific Airlines' first flight to Sydney.

Lord Mayor Ernest O'Dea welcomed the visitors and apologized for the inconveniences caused by the coal strike. But at least it was a sunny day, he added.

McKinnon said:

"Never in Canada at a reception like this would you be served with a drink. You might get a cup of tea. I don't believe our Mayors would get away with it."

OUR UNUSED PLAYGROUNDS

This Summer, apparently, children in the city are not going to enjoy their usual playground facilities that they have in other years. At least that is the only interpretation one can put on the sight of bare grounds that are usually in use at this time. It may be that the activities of the energetic men and women who have converted vacant lots into small neighborhood playgrounds for their own youngsters, have lulled to sleep some of the people who should, otherwise be alert to the needs of our future citizens.

It cannot be lack of equipment for the Kiwanis Club some years ago donated several thousands of dollars worth of nearly everything required to make children happy in their holidays. This has been used each year until now, but so far the swings, teeters and whatnot collect dust in storage places. Meanwhile, children play on streets, in drab backyards and some other unsuitable places. Busy mothers get no respite from heavy demands by unoccupied children, and can anything be more tiring for a worn parent than groups of young fry who do not know what to do with themselves?

The Board of Education has certain sums from the Ritchie estate for playground use. If the amount is not sufficient then more should be obtained from the council. A little planning between the Board and the Council during the Winter would produce the funds for the Summer functioning of playgrounds and the cost would be met cheerfully by taxpayers. There seems to be money set aside for everything else and few protests are raised, yet this rather important need is overlooked by two of our most important civic bodies.

It is not too late yet to remedy the situation, but prompt action is needed, for the school holidays are one-quarter over. Nor should it be too difficult to get the supervisors for the work. Let these playgrounds be put to the use they were intended. Other cities and villages in the province provide these recreation areas. Belleville cannot afford to be left out of the parade.

GREATEST ALLY AGAINST INSECTS

Everyone should find time enough to keep watch for half an hour or so on a wild bird's nest which contains fledglings. Not only does the incredible industry of the parents impress one, but the equally incredible quantities of food transported to the young ones give us subject for thought.

A naturalist recently pointed out, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, that if unmolested by their natural enemies and man, potato bugs would speedily put an end to the problem of potato surpluses, replacing them with critical shortages. One potato bug in a single season is capable of producing sixty million hungry descendants. And some plant lice do even better, with females of the species producing only about fifty young at a time, but due to a short life cycle there may be as many as thirteen generations in a season. Under ideal conditions (for the plant lice, that is) there would be something like ten sextillion lice in the thirteenth generation.

Man's greatest ally in his campaign against these food-destroying pests is the birds. The crop of a flicker has been found to contain a thousand chinch bugs at a time. A night hawk may catch as many as five hundred mosquitoes for a single meal.

A wren has been known to feed its young 1,200 times between dawn and dusk. We can well believe it; we've often watched the wren who has raised two broods in a backyard post. She and her mate are on the go constantly — and still find time for chattering, chirping and burbling a few notes of song.

OBESE SPUDS IN VOGUE

Housewives in Ontario with an eye to girth will be intrigued by an announcement from the Fruit and Vegetable Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture that, as of July 1 and irrevocably until September 1, potatoes are required to be larger.

Whereas the minimum size was formerly set at one inch and a half, the law now stipulates that, on pain of a severe penalty, no spud which is less than one and seven-eighths inches shall be offered for sale.

Unfortunately, states the Toronto Telegram, the Department omits to state where the additional three-eighths of an inch may be expected of a legitimate potato, whether on its horizontal axis or on its vertical axis, or on either. Failure to be specific means that housewives have no idea where they are entitled to place the tape measure.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE CHRISTIAN WAY

The Chinese government some years ago gave orders that all opium addicts found after a certain date were to be executed. Just today, in glancing through an old copy of the life of Li Hung Chang, the famous Chinese statesman of a generation ago, I came across a notation in his diary in which he said that in fulfillment of his orders, twelve hundred addicts had been decapitated the day before. He also remarked casually that he had just given orders for a Chinese officer to be put to death by being cut to bits because he had sold opium to the soldiers. Incidentally, he remarked that General Gordon, the well known Christain soldier, whose life was an inspiration to so many, flew into a rage over the whole situation and denounced Li unmercifully.

And well he might, for Gordon represented the Christian way of handling an evil rather than the pagan way. It was John Woolman, the Quaker, who on one occasion prayed that he might be baptized into a living sense of all human conditions. Christianity does just that thing. It makes men conscious of the poignant suffering, the sin, the misery of human life.

Christ is the answer to the world's sin — not wholesale slaying, not cruel punishment, but Christ.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

A porcupine's quills are hollow, sealed and full of air. When the quills are slapped into a dog's face, the air in them expands. The more the dog fights the quills, the hotter they get, the firmer the barbs grip with the expanding air, and the deeper they creep ahead.

The thing to do when attempting to remove quills from a dog is to clip them with scissors, leaving enough to catch hold of with pliers. When clipped, the quills are deflated and come out much more easily and with far less suffering for the dog.

The ingenuity of nature is a matter of endless wonder. The contrast between the stupidity efficiency of its quills is a sample of what nature can think up for its own. Certainly the porcupine could never have devised anything so thoroughly competent as its own air-filled quills, calculated to create heat in the first instance, and then to utilize that heat for greater efficiency. That took an engineer. And nature is Engineer Number One.

The more ingenious the protection nature provides its creatures, the more stupid it seems to make them in all other respects. A turtle is pretty nearly bullet-proof in animal sense, yet conversationally a turtle is one of the characters that might be put on the same bridge table might be seated as partner to the turtle. And who would make the fourth hand as partner for the porcupine? My nomination would be the big black and yellow bumble bee. He has a sting like orange fire. He lives in a hole in the ground. If he makes honey, it's his. Nobody can get at it. He is important and knows it. countless other plants would not be pollinated. But having, on a recent nature-loving ramble, set my open hand inadvertently over a hole full of bumble bees, I

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TIMELESS WORDS

The gift of language is man's greatest heritage, for it is by this that he can make himself felt and understood. It is unfortunate, however, that there was not created a universal language by which all peoples all over the world might be understood.

That beloved dog of yours can only look up into your eyes and speculate upon what you are thinking, and you can only guess as to what he is thinking. With the animal it is a silent language. We humans have words by which we may become known, by which we can spread our influence, and through which we may be able to inspire and uplift others. And these words that we utter from time to time may become timeless in their effect upon others and upon all time.

Just think of the simple language used in the Bible and in Shakespeare — words clothed in thoughts that are remembered when read and stamped upon the mind. Timeless words. Kind words, and words with deep meaning, that creep silently into the heart, and which inspire and teach, are timeless words. They have an eternity about them.

There is eternal youth to some words, clothed in beauty—ageless. I read such words in the poetry of the Chinese, expressed thousands of years ago. Exquisite expressions, forged from the heart. In millions of books are housed these timeless words that are the heritage of all, generation after generation.

In the Psalms of David, and in the "Sermon on the Mount" are words, not only timeless, but words that give hope and faith, and which nourish our spiritual nature. We read them and they become part of us. Words are like the brick or stones that the builder uses for his structure. So, likewise, words are used to build ideas and expressions that become a part of the movement of the world. They build character as well.

We remember the words of those whom we have loved, but who have gone from our earthly association, because they are timeless. They are the living part that remain to comfort and to inspire us on our way to the end of our mortal life. How very wonderful are words, when they have this timelessness about them!

SIX ARRESTED

Toronto, uly 15 (CP)—Three youths and three girls who, police said, started a disturbance at Ward two business men's carnival here Thursday were arrested and charged with obstructing police.

They are said to have attempted to prevent arrest of Jack Trimble, 17, of Toronto who police said had been involved in a fight with another youth.

Two of the girls, 15-year-old juveniles, from Stanley Barracks emergency housing centre, shouted and spat at police officers.

KNOWLEDGE COMES BUT WISDOM LINGERS

I find it takes about five years of constant repetition — tiresome though it may be to some laymen some physicians and myself — to impress a new idea, a new method or a bit of knowledge on the popular mind. Not only must one keep hammering away at it but also one must carry on a constant battle with the old timers, lay and professional, who resent and employ every means at their disposal to repudiate the "radical" idea and discredit the man or woman who promotes it.

I have had to take a good deal of punishment in the past twenty years as the price of appreciable success in popularizing (1) ambulant treatment of hernia, (2) office injection treatment of internal piles, and (3) diathermy (electro - coagulation) treatment of infected tonsils.

The last — tonsil diathermy — has made the least progress and advocacy of method has brought the hardest criticism upon me The criticism doesn't dampen my enthusiasm, because, for one thing I feel confident that eventually tonsillectomy, the attempt to remove every bit of tonsil tissue from the throat, will be restricted to cases of malignancy, and diathermy (electro-coagulation) will become the standard procedure, the method of choice, in the treatment of infected tonsils. For another reason, I believe most of the criticism against my recommendation of this modern, conservative treatment of infected tonsils is insincere.

For still another reason, the criticism of the brass surgeons of Yankeeland has not deterred me from promoting twentieth century treatment for tonsil infection. Tonsillectomy is in every instance a major operation with a deathrate that surely must be terribly hard to explain to parents when in spite of everythng the doctors, nurses and others can do . . .

On the other hand the chief reason why tonsil diathermy has made slow progress is, I think, because the technique of this scientific treatment is too difficult for the ordinary operator to learn. Indeed, one might say it is practically impossible to acquire at the hands of the salesman who offers instructions with the purchase of the necessary implements. Such is the character of the ever-ready operator that he or she just can't acknowledge that a colleague, a doctor practising in the same community perhaps, can teach him or her anything, even though the colleague may be a master of the technique.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Symptons of Tuberculosis

What are the symptoms of tuberculosis? Excluding . . ., that is. If you will please elaborate on home cure. (R.M.S.)

Answer — I know of no symptoms that warrant the diagnosis without medical examination. Get in touch with your local Tuberculosis Association — conducting the popular chest X-ray campaign — or with the National Tuberculosis Association, 1790 Broadway, New York, N. Y. At least give yourself the benefit of the doubt if your health is below par: Visit a physician for physical or health examination.

Puritis

Suffered from puritis for four or five years. Unable to clear up this itching, despite countless salves. (L.M.)

Answer — It is as insane to try "countless salves" for puritus ani as it is to try salves and suppositories for piles, if the nature of the trouble is not first ascertained by careful examination. The "puritus" often proves to be hemorrhoids, fissure or fistula, and the "piles" as often prove to be something which "pile remedies" will never in the world relieve. Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing (clipping will not suffice) for the pamphlet Puritus.

Hygienist Doubles as Physician

Have pus coming from the gum at one tooth. My dentist's hygienist tells me I can do nothing about it except to rinse my mouth with . . . (Mrs. C.G.A.) — She said pyorrhea is inevitable because of the irregularity of my teeth . . .

Answer — In your place I'd consult a dentist.

Vitamin B Complex for Weak Heart

Noticed the report from your reader of the fine effect he had obtained from vitamin B complex for his weak heart. Have tried it out and it works decidedly. After a long period of irregularity and dancing my heart began to steady after a couple weeks, and it has behaved ever since. Naturally I am delighted for I had had the trouble for years. (J. W. N.)

Answer — Read all about it in the booklet C V D. For copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope.

TRACTOR KILLS LAD

Windsor, July 15. (CP)—Percy Laporte, 15, of nearbly Comber, died in hospital late Thursday of injuries suffered when he was run over by a tractor-drawn wagon of wheat.

It is believed the boy slipped while crossing from the wagon to the tractor. Albert Renaud, 16, driving the tractor, said the front left wheel of the wagon ran over the lower part of Laporte's face and upper chest.

Manhattan Love Song

By Kathleen Norris

Fanny had stood there for a long minute rooted to the floor in fright and horror. The house terrified her, the dreadful poor room with its strip of worn carpet and its bare high window over the city terrified her; most of all it terrified her to be alone with this fevered madman in the swift-gathering dusk.

One long minute and then she tore off her coat and tossed her hat with it to a chair. She sank to her knees beside the bed.

"Chris, my darling, it's Fanny! I'm going to get you into a nice cool hospital bed, my darling . . you're all right. I'll get you . . . wait! I'll get you something to drink."

She snatched a cup from the little iron sink that occupied one corner of the room, rushed into the hall. There was an iron hopper here with a faucet; this had been only toilet accommodation of the maids of two generations ago. Fanny turned the tap, spilled the water on Chris's pajamas . . worn into gray strings . . as she leaned over him.

She glanced about her desperately; no hot-water bottle, and for all that his face was a fearful scarlet, his feet were freezing, and his teeth chattered. No milk, no ice, no clean linen, no hot water; she clasped her fingers together frantically, grasping the full horror of it, and realized, even at this moment, and with wonder, that she was wringing her hands. People did wring their hands, then, Fanny thought, running downstairs, running into a hot kitchen in the basement where a great many persons, most of them children, were milling about in a atmosphere off steam and smoke and the fumes of food and cigarettes.

Mrs. Varsi in response to a vigorous hint from her daughter, silently produced a tin basin. Pio went with Fanny up the stairs. Chris was still muttering and tossing; the room was quite dark now, and Fanny looked about bewildered.

"No lights here?" . . ..

Pio silently scratched a match reached for a candle that stood in a battered tin stick. In the flickering sickly light the room looked more completely desolate than ever.

"If the doctor is not here in fifteen minutes, Pio, telephone again will you?" She hunted out a nickle and a tip. If the Varsis were to do anything at all for her, she must please them. Left alone she cracked ice with one of Chris's boot heels. He started up at the sound muttering; the troubled flow of words began again: "George--George!" And once in the confusion she heard her own name, said quite simply, on a long sigh: "Oh,Fan! Fan!"

She sponged his face; kept bits of cracked ice on his split dark tongue--oh, he was very sick! Her eyes, her mind, her whole being were concentrated on the door, on the creaking stairs up which the doctor must come. Fanny combed Chris's dark rich hair, found a clean pajama-top and somehow pulled off the ragged worn one over his head, made him look trifle more respectable. She smoothed the bed; all the time breathing hard with fright, with a sense of urgency, danger

Chris looked very thin;! he had not shaved for many days. His hands were dark, like black claws his mouth was cracked, his swollen tongue cracked. The dark gray eyes she loved, the eyes that had always been so sane, so intelligent so pleasant when Chris smiled, were drawn deep into his head; his skin looked tight on the cheek bones and was a deep red.

The doctor at last--a fat, prosperous, middle-aged doctor. He was in a hurry; he and his wife were going to the theatre tonight; anyway, there was not much to say about Chris.

"We'll you've got a pretty sick man here," he repeated more than once; he did not take his temperature; there was no need. Whatever it was, it was all wrong.

"Should he be in the hospital, doctor?"

"Yes, he ought to have gone to a hospital the minute this thing got to his lungs. No, I wouldn't move him now--it wouldn't do any good to move him now. The change, and the exposure--much better as he is. Your husband?"

"My--cousin. I only found him today."

"I see." There were prescriptions, direcions. Fanny at a gesture from the fat hand, went out into the hall. The doctor was shaking his head as she turned to him, her hand behind her on the closed door. "Keep him quiet, keep up the ice, and what I've given you there," Dr. Murray said. "Anyone to sit with you? He ought not be left tonight."

Fanny was pale; her eyes, her mouth determined.

"No; no one. But I'll stay with him. Doctor is he very ill?"

"I don't think," the doctor answered, after a look, "that he'll get through the night. I don't think so. I think he'll go into a sleep. Here, I'll come in on my way home I'll be in about half-past eleven. My wife's taking me to an opening tonight, No Parking Day or Night."

Fanny had not heard him. With a final nod, she had turned, had noiselessly gone back to Christopher.

During the slow quiet hours of the night she remmembered the play. Sure enough, it was to have opened this evening--last evening. It seemed something infinitely removed from her own life already; her life was here, only here. This attic room, with its gabled windows and its bare floor, its unutterable poverty, its young strong tenant lying dying on his ugly bed--this was her world.

Fanny hung over the window sill and drew in great breathes of the sweet spring dark. She felt infinitely strong, capable, sure of herself. This was the place where she belonged; caring for Chris, if never any others.

Once she ran downstairs; telephoned. Half an hour later Mama Behrmann panted up the stairs with a suitcase. Otto had been out, Rudy had been out; only Mama could come, and so she came.

Fanny kissed her, thanked her, clung to the square, strong old form when at eleven Mama had to go away. But she made no explanation; she asked no sanction. Chris was desperately ill; he could not be moved. She had to take care of him.

At half past eleven the doctor came in to say that Chris was better, seemed cooler. Chris's brown thin hand hung limp in the doctor's fat white one; Chris muttered, "Fanny!"

"Are you Fanny?"

"I'm Fanny."

"Well Fanny he's still a terribly sick boy. But he's cooler--he's resting easier. Are you going to get any sleep?"

"I've fixed up this chair for myself. I'll be comfortable enough."

"Had dinner?"

"I forgot about it."

"I'll be in in the morning. He may--well, I don't know!"

Dr. Murray went away and presently, just at midnight, Mrs. Varsi came up with a bowl of mineestrone, and bread and butter. Fanny thought she had never tasted such food. When the old woman had gone and she was alone again, she gave a deep satisfied sigh. This was where she wanted to be--where any woman would want to be, taking care of her man.

The hours began to go by. Chris fretted, muttered, was quiter was asleep. This was not death; he was breathing heavily still, he was sleeping. Fanny watched him; shut her eyes; started up to find that only a few minutes had gone by. It was twenty minutes to two ten minutes past three; quarter to four.

"Madge liked Mack, do you see----" Chris babbled, rousing. "Madge liked Mack--and Mack loved Fanny--and Fanny --Fanny--Fanny knew I loved Madge--Excuse me, but there is no air--excuse me, but will you break that window---"

He rose up on his elbow, shouting. Fanny tightened arms about his shoulder. "Lie down Chris, lie down!"

After while the squares of black at the window were gray--were pearl--rose. A big clock had been booming the hours across the city all through the night; now it boomed five.

It was just one week later when Fanny, busy about the room, became aware that Chris was awake and lying quietly watching her His temperature had been normal for lengthening intervals for three days now, but had been sleeping heavily, constantly; drinking obediently when she put a cup to his lips, relapsing immediately into his stupor of sleep again. Now he was awake.

She paid no attention to him; she went on with her work. It was simple enough work; it concerned this one room, and yet it seemed never to be done.

White curtains of dotted net were at the two wide-opened windows and gave a pleasant summery effect to the place. The little table wore a red-checked cloth, and there were pale blue glasses and two blue cups upon it. On another small table was a two burner gas stove, with a small oven, some small blue saucepans, and a glittering coffee pot, Above the table a shelf was covered with blue and white paper and loaded with plates, jars, bowls. There was one comfortable big shabby chair in the room some of Fanny's books were there, she had improvised from a big and a smaller box desk in one of the window ingles, and had set it with pens and paper.

She was preparing a meal now apple sauce was smacking on the little stove; there was brown bread cut and a bowl of something hot was smoking. Fanny disposed of the empty soup can; swept the crumps from the table and went to fling them out into sunshiny space. And through the opened windows came the heavy sweet cry of mourning doves.

"Fanny!" Chris said. His voice came out only in a whisper, but she heard it, and came swiftly across the room, and sank on her knees at his side.

"We'll, you're awake! How d'you fell?"

His feeble, cool, thin hands clutched at her strong young wrists. He was trying to speak.

"Fanny have you been----"

Weakness stopped him, and he shut his eyes and let the tears run unchecked down his face.

"Have you been taking care of me?" he asked, in a whisper.

"A little," Fanny said, in a whisper, too, for his tears had made her own eyelids prick.

The gray eyes were Chris's eyes again now; they were alive with his own keenness, his own kindly smile. But he was very weak. She saw him try to speak again, but he gave it up, faintly shaking his head, his fingers still holding tight to her hand.

"I'm having my lunch, and then you'll have yours," Fanny said pleasantly busy. She went back to the table, settled down to her tomato soup, her bread and fruit. Before propping her book up on the clock she glanced at him encouragingly, and found him watching her steadily with eyes like those of a dog or a baby--unsmiling interested eyes, wide and content.

3RD SIDNEY

3rd Sidney—Mrs. Bonter of Chatterton, a former resident of this community, was taken to the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday suffering from a fractured hip and arm, the result of a fall when coming out of a local restaurant in Belleville.

Her many friends here were shocked to hear of her misfortune and hope for her a speedy and complete recovery. Latest reports concerning her condition are very satisfactory.

A good many farmers have finished their hay harvest and wheat is now being cut. Most reports indicate a fair crop in spite of the hot dry weather in June. The local pea-viner is closing this week after a short season of peas due to weather conditions.

Saturday's rain proved very beneficial to the raspberries and other fruits and to pasture lands and crops in general.

Books Delivered

Mr. and Mrs. Selburn Westover, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Grills and Gerald, spent a day recently, motoring through the northern part of Hastings county. While at Maynooth, they called at the parsonage home of Miss Agatha Coultes, and Miss Mabel Willows and delivered the parcel of books that had been donated by the members of Aikens' W.M.S. as their allocation for the White Gift to be sent to the missionaries at Maynooth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bailey, 2nd Line, were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mrs. N. Morton and Mrs. N. Wescott at their summer home, Oak Lake.

Aikens' W A

Several ladies of the Aikens' Woman's Association were in attendance at a special meeting of the Johnstown W.A. held at their church on Wednesday afternoon. Members of the White's, Grace Church, Trenton, and Frankford W.A., were also guests at this enjoyable affair.

A solo by Mrs. Ross Marshall accompanied by Mrs. Lee Grills, and a piano duet by the Misses Diane and Sandra Kenny were Aikens' contribution toward the program. A delicious salad plate supper was served by the ladies of the Johnstown Association and a social hour enjoyed.

Miss Frances Hinchliffe and Mr. T. A. Hinchliffe spent the Dominion Day weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. K. H Hubble and family.

Mrs. D. B. Bowerman, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Jack Fanning, and Mrs. Jack Gillespie of Peterborough, Mrs. Ken Anderson of Toronto and Mrs. Lee Grills, spent a day recently with the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Bailey at their home, 2nd Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Rutt, of Saginaw, Mich., have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Irvan Perry.

Miss Joan Jeffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Jeffrey has been confined to her home suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker an Percy: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pound, and Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Casey, Third of Thurlow; Miss Joyce Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Mifflin and Kenny of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tummon; Diane and Wayne, Fourth of Thurlow and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Grills, Carl and Bernice, Fourth of Sidney, were guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Denike and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Denike.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Grills and Betty, spent Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. Allan MacDonald at her home in Shannonville.

Four Successful Students

Congratulations are extended to the four university students in this neighborhood, all having been successful in their examinations.

Miss Jewell Bailey, Reg. N., completed a special course in advanced nursing at the Western University and having received her graduation diploma, is now at the Belleville General Hospital;

Gordon Grills, a first year Arts student, at Queen's is assisting with farm work at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Grills;

Gordon Spafford, third year in civil engineering at Queen's, has a responsible position with a construction company, and Donald Hubble, third year in engineering physics, at University of Toronto, is taking a summer course in training at the R.C.A.F. station in Trenton.

The Sunday School picnic held on Thursday at Presqu'Ile Point was well attended.

The Aikens' Mission Band picnic was held the last day of school on the school grounds. Special invitations were sent to the Baby Band members and their mothers and they were also joined by the members of the Woman's Missionary Society, who held their regular July meeting during the afternoon.

Rochester Excursion

Several members of the Centenary-Aikens' Y.P.U. took in the excursion trip by bus and boat to Rochester on Saturday last, which was sponsored by the District Young People's Union.

Mr. and Mrs. George Denike and Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Wright, 4th of Sidney, spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. John Ritz and family, at their home 4th of Thurlow.

Mrs. A. Saylor and Mrs. Palmer, Front of Sidney, visited last week at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Selburn Westover, and Mrs. Harley Hubble and family.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

FAMILY RESIDENCE

No one is apt to forget the first time he had a good view of an Osprey catching his dinner. A grand looking bird, eagle-like in appearance, this is the odd member of the Hawk clan. Differing from the rest in its choice of food necessitates other differences, as oily, overlapping plumage and special toe structure. Also nesting in colonies is unusual, but this species sometimes does.

Probably the Osprey is the easiest Hawk to identify. Our only large bird of prey with a general coloration of blackish above and pure white underneath, its wingspread is from 4½ to 6 feet, although its body weighs under 3 pounds. Looking up at it, we notice a decided crook in the long, pointed wings, and a dark daub at the spot known as the wrist: the forward-pointing part of the curve. Naturally, the loose crest, the dark streak through the eye, the hooked beak, and the spiny projections on the feet cannot then be seen.

Our attention may first be attracted by a wiry whistle—almost a squeak, as the Fish Hawk soars high over the water. What eyesight it must have, to be able to spy a fish swimming near the surface! The experienced fisherman spirals down until about 100 feet from its prey; then plunges, feet first. The long legs are attached to the centre of its body, an arrangement which puts the whole weight behind the "strike". For a moment spray hides all but the wings, folded high above the back. Then up comes the Osprey, with the fish held firmly in its long, sharp claws. As the big Hawk flies homeward we see, as always, that the head of the fish points forward.

Even a new Osprey nest is a big affair, built of coarse sticks or seaweed, sometimes high in a tree, sometimes on the ground; but after many years of use it becomes quite enormous. If not interfered with, the same bird repairs the home each season, and there lays from two to four eggs; then a descendant takes over, adding to it here and there as it gets worn down.

Man is the Fish Hawk's enemy No. 1, though this should not be, because it catches very few fish of any value to us. Enemy No. 2 is the Bald Eagle, which attacks the Osprey, forces the smaller bird to drop the prey, flies underneath it, and grabs the fish as it is falling.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma left me at pop's office so she could keep on shopping by herself in peace, and pop looked at my hair and noticed I had forgotten to go to the barber shop again, saying, Now, young fellow, I've got you cornered, and I mean cornered. I want you to go around the corner to the barber shop and have that shocking jungle of hair unshocked, he said.

And he gave me a doller, saying, When I was your age I could of got my hair cut and had enough change left out of a doller to buy 2 loaves of bread, an armfull of soupmeat and a necktie. If I remember correctly, a haircut only used to cost me 15 cents, he said.

And I went around to the barber shop and got up in the barber chair, saying to the barber, Do you have any old fashion 15 cent haircuts?

Well no, I dont have any personally, but the boootblack can take care of you, the barber said. He goes to barber college at nite, and he'll be glad to have 15 cents werth of practice. Hey, Ambrose, come over here with your clippers, he said.

Meening a short colored man with glasses, and he came over and cut my hair in about 5 minutes, and I went back to pop's office, and pop said, It didn't take you long. Take your cap off and let me feast my eyes, he said.

I'll give you your change ferst, I said.

And I gave him the 85 cents change and told him who cut my hair, and he grabbed my cap off and looked as if he wished he had left it on, saying, Yee gods, your mother will never trust me with you again, and I hope she doesn't.

And on the way home we went to our reguler barber, and he made my hair still shorter but more even.

Tells Modern Bride To Disregard Dust

Washington (CP)—A woman who makes brides her business says grandma was a babe-in-the-woods compared with the modern young missus.

"She's a pretty wonderful girl, you know," says Mrs. Marjorie Binford Woods, editor-in-chief of a magazine for brides. "She is smart, sensible and capable, and she is prepared to play a dual role in marriage—that of breadwinner and housewife.

"At 20 years of age, she is ready to cope with a mode of marriage that her mother or grandmother, at an older age, would not have dared to try."

Therefore, says Mrs. Woods, today's dewy-eyed bride should not attempt to be the kind of housekeeper that grandma was. By learning "intelligent neglect," she can be casual about her housework, do as much as she is able, and let a little dust fall where it may.

Still with us, men?—Mrs. Woods has more advice for that sweet young thing you married last month:

1. Talk husband into helping around the house.
2. Let the laundry darn his socks.
3. Learn the joys of frozen foods, and don't worry if you cannot cook a cherry pie—you can always call on the corner bakery.

Ace Writer Says News Life Tough

Vancouver (CP)—In the opinion of a top-flight newspaper woman journalism is no occupation for a woman "unless she is prepared to stand the gaff."

Dorothy Howarth of Toronto, winner of this year's Memorial Award from the Canadian Women's Press Club for a series of articles on Newfoundland, warned in an interview that newspaper life is tough.

"The important thing in a newspaper," she said, "is the good, all-round reporter, not the columnist or commentator. It's hard for a woman to break in.

"A woman has to work twice as hard and to be twice as conscientious as a man to hold her own on the city staff. My advice to aspiring women journalists is to get married as soon as possible and stay out of the game—unless she's prepared to stand the gaff."

A good reporter should have an omnivorous appetite for reading everything from pulps to the classics, a tremendous curiosity and a real feeling for people.

Miss Howarth started in the classified advertising section of the Regina Leader-Post, but "kept petering for night assignments until I was taken on the editorial staff."

British Women More Critical Now That Rationing Over

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 16 — (CP) —Now that clothes rationing is over, British women are looking around the shops more closely — and finding fault.

Dress racks are jammed but housewives question whether manufacturers are producing the sort of clothes women really want.

"To get a dress is easy, but to get one in the size, color and material you have set your heart on is next to impossible," one shopper said.

Here are a few of the items many women want to buy but have trouble finding:

Cotton frocks for five-year-olds at less than £1 ($4) and size-24 cotton frocks with matching panties.

Light-weight black skirts at less than £3.

Little boys' white shirts.

Furnishing fabrics in soft grey-green at less than £4 a yard.

Light-colored cleanable raincoats.

Hat Prices High

Another hard-to-swallow pill is hat prices. One example is the "eggshell" cap designed last February by Christian Dior. It can be bought today in New York for $5 but will not be sold in Britain till August and then will cost £6 17s.

Many women ask: "What is the manufacturers' answer to all this?

"When it's a question of high prices they push 'quality' on us. Then they talk of imported materials, and finally say 'well, we sell everything we make'."

Take Best You Can

"No doubt they do," agreed one overwrought shopper, "but there is vast difference between an immediate sale to an overjoyed customer and the prevalent "oh well, I suppose I'll have to take it'."

"It's this dispirited aftermath of rationing, this 'take the best you can get' attitude that is responsible for half the trouble," said a buyer for a big London store.

"When women once more stand up for what they really want and refuse to take 'the next best thing' the manufacturers will start producing according to the demand."

Solves Problem Of Where to Pin Brooch

(By DORTHY ROE)

New York, July 15. (AP)—Designer Pauline Trigere has solved the problem of where to pin your brooch when your dress is mostly neckline.

In her fall fashion showing, Trigere's models wear jewelry pinned to their bras, showing discreetly through a neckline that plunges all the way to the belt. The glittering pin also serves to cover the part of the bra that might otherwise show, as well as to create the dramatic illusion that the brooch is pinned to the skin.

It's just another of the tricks of fashion that keep the public wondering what the resourceful designers will pull out of their sleeves next.

Plenty of Drama

Trigere's collection climaxed the fourth of five hectic days of fall fashion previews viewed by fashion editors of newspapers throughout the country as well as a few foreign correspondents. And the dynamic Frenchwoman, who opened her New York showroom during the war, provided plenty of drama for her audience.

A curtain-raiser was her steamer costume, planned for Transatlantic commuters and consisting of a long cape in rough tweed woven in wide stripes ranging from black to light gray, with a matching skirt.

Buttoned-back recers are used in various ways on coats and suits, and capes are all over the place. Trigere likes pastel hats, shawls and gloves in pink, pale blue or mauve with slim black dresses. often edges the small triangular shawls in jet or braid fringe.

Revives Cocoon Cape

She revives the cocoon cape and jacket this season—little hip-hugging affairs that are wrapped around the wearer like a cocoon.

Unexpected combinations of fabrics are used, such as a circular full length cape of rough green tweed with a lining of lustrous green brocaded satin matching the restaurant dress beneath.

Flattering Chambray

By ALICE ALDEN

THE COOL cotton dress is ideal for seeing the wearer through a busy day in town, or for a round of country duties. Ladycraft does an attractive spectator sports dress designed for those that wear half sizes. Of soft purple chambray it features a deep plunging neckline, and a triple inverted pleat in the skirt front. The deeper purple applique extends from the shoulders to the hip pockets and gives a slimming effect.

Fashion Flashes

MATCHMAKERS, in denim, available in many lovely colors, add up to smart budget buying and a good choice for the travel-light wayfarer. A halter weskit with a sun-back; a short, lined topper; slacks, pedal pushers and a skirt make up the group.

THIS YEAR it is the volume fashions that have the greatest acceptance even in the high price brackets. The slim bodice; the full, easy skirt with pockets; crisp fabrics such as surah, rayon or pure silk — ditto for taffeta; is typical of the favored frock. Suits are trim, skirts of sensible length, cut on slim lines, even for dressmaker suits. Jackets are easy but not fussy, and may have set-in self belts. Coming in is the ribbon trim for hats in lieu of flowers.

FOLLOWING the classic suit in two-toned woolens, we have a similar, if modified, version in linen for summer. Pink linen is used for a single-breasted tailored jacket, and navy linen for the slim skirt. Nice, too. in eggshell and black. Jacket has classic lapels, slanted flapped pockets.

FAVORED AGAIN is faille for smart town suits. Faille in a soft-coffee-cream brown makes a handsome suit. The jacket, spiced with amber buttons, has a peplum that is slit at either side and is button-trimmed. The skirt, with a companion slit at either side, is slim.

PICK COTTON for smart detail and looks as well as for cool comfort. A good daytime dress is in lilac-pink cotton with a woven dot. It has a deep neckline, rolling shawl collar, short sleeves and an all-around stitched, pleated skirt.

ON ITS WAY BACK is the twin-skin fur scarf of silver fox. The new fur scarfs, so nice with suits, and prints, are of pearl platinum fox, or the light silver fox shadings, rather than the dark silvers once so popular.

quently in clothes designed for back-to-school young teen-agers. A smart suit is made up of a deep royal blue flannel blazer bound in white with a novelty breast pocket. The skirt is of pleated wool plaided in royal blue, white, red and pale blue.

ALL-OUT ASSAULT

GOOD MANNERS

Being a Bridal Attendant Means a Financial Responsibility

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For the first time in my life I have been asked to be a bridesmaid . . . by a girl with whom I attended high school, but whom I rarely see now. However, I did not feel that I could refuse, but I am confused as to my responsibilities. For example: (1) I have always believed that the bride-to-be pays for her attendants' gowns, headdresses, and flowers. But my parents say I am wrong, that I am expected to pay for my gown and headdress, that the bride pays only for my flowers. If I am right that the bride pays for my gown, should I offer to pay myself? Also (2): I have reason to believe that her other attendants, one her younger sister and the other the groom's sister who is such a busy person that she never seems to have any time to spare, will not be giving the bride a shower. So if I can't get together with them to give the shower, will it be very wrong under the circumstances not to give one? You see, I am the only attendant outside the family, and I do not know the friends of the bride. This whole thing has put me in a very difficult position, and I do hope you can help me. R. S.

It isn't easy to advise you, for nothing you tell me reveals the reason why you "did not feel you could refuse" this girl's invitation. I imagine you were, at the time, influenced by what you thought would be a glamorous experience . . . is this true? (1) Your parents are right . . . although the bride plans every detail of your costume, you are expected to pay for your own gown and all accessories except your flowers, which are supplied by the bride or her family (2) It is not, or at least it should not be, expected that an attendant gives a shower in honor of bride-to-be. (My advice is that if the wedding is not very soon, and if you are as troubled as I believe you are about your financial responsibilities, you explain this to the bride-to-be and tell her that you feel you must withdraw.)

Correct Name for Divorcee to Use on Marriage Announcements

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I was given my divorce last year, and since then have used the form of name 'Mrs. Mary Brown.' Now I am going to marry again soon, and we want to send out formal announcements in our names. Is this form of name the correct one for me to use on the announcements of our marriage? M.

This form of name . . . 'Mrs. Mary Brown' . . . was never the correct form of name for you to use socially. The correct form of name for you to use on the marriage announcements is your maiden surname prefixed to your divorced husband's surname. For example:

Mr. George Winchester and Mrs. Robinson Brown announce their marriage etc.

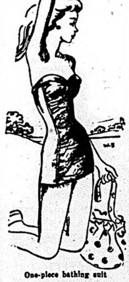
Two Items in the Dessert Course

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

As the dessert course of a more or less informal dinner (say, for six or eight guests), is it correct to serve a simple dessert, such as fruit cooked in wine or a mold jelly with whipped cream, and with this serve cake? Or should only one or the other be served? Anne S.

With the simpler desserts, such as you mention, it is correct and customary to serve any kind of cake as an accomplishment. And the general custom is: the simpler the dessert, the richer the cake!

Sheath Suit



One-piece bathing suit

DARLING daughter looks lovely this season, whether she plunges into the briny or just drapes herself prettily on the beach. After a period of "anything goes" for swim togs, back we come to the graceful one-piecer, but all done up in new figure-flattering charm. This one is a lastex sheath, shirred in front for prettiness and ease. The top is strapless (a halter string detachable if desired). There is a cuff over the bra top, and the suit is zipped in back.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON
(Mme. Qui Vive)

Long May the Permanent Wave!

To have a permanent and fancy that you are going to get your hair off your mind is a mistake, just a dream. It is up to you to take care of the precious undulations and ringlets. They cannot very well take care of themselves.

The permanent is a grand comfort to one, helps one to stop envying the naturally curly darling who seems to be blessed beyond all mortals.

The wave purchased at the beauty shop saves time. It makes thin hair appear more abundant. But it promises nothing in the way of preservation of the glorious mop. So don't let the fear of weakening the finger wave lead you to discard the hair brush or to fail to give the five minute friction to the scalp every night that means so much in the way of lustre, good appearance and the very health of the hair.

Have three oil treatments, a week apart, before getting a wave. They will relax the shafts so that the new treatment will be more satisfactory, the coil quality more resilient and elastic.

You Must Take Care of Your Permanent Wave

A woman should recognize the permanent as a decorative element, not as a remedy for hair that is in poor condition. Make-up does not preserve the health and beauty of the complexion; it just puts on the highlights. We have to apply creams, massage the flesh lightly to brisk up circulation and to promote normal glandular functioning. So with the permanent. The healthier the hair and the more abundant the growth, the lovelier the wave.

If you have just subjected your head to the waving treatment, make a vow to do your best by your locks, to make a real effort to preserve the nice lines of the wave.

The shampoo must be thorough. We must repeat what we have said many times before; the slightest suggestion of soap deposits left on the silky threads will weaken the curl quality. After the shampoo, the hair, if clean, will stand up away from the scalp in a mass of ringlets. If it doesn't, it is because the growth is filmed with soap scum. Even the cream mediums must be completely removed.

On short hair, two latherings are necessary; if it is shoulder length there should be three, each application followed by a rousing rinsing with a strong current of water. A bath spray is better than the shower, because it can be passed along the hair lines, front, back and sides. During the rinsing, keep lifting the hair so the water will flow over the entire area.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

Letters and Answers

Don't Brush Off One Girl to Rush Another

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 16 years old and have been going steady with a girl named Carol. Now I have met another girl named Jean, with whom I have gone out twice and have also been over at her house a few times.

Carol likes me a lot but I think I like Jean much more than I like Carol. But I don't know whether or not Jean likes me. If I thought she would, I wouldn't bother with Carol any more.

What should I do? S. C.

Dear S. C.:

I think you are worrying far too much over what is really a very minor matter. Of course I know it undoubtedly seems very important to you at 16, but try and remember that in the next few years you are going to change your mind about girls a great many times. I would be willing to bet that by the time you are 18 you will practically have forgotten that you ever knew any girls named Carol and Jean.

If you take my advice, you will date whichever of these girls you happen to feel like going out with at the time, and not try to make up your mind to rush one and brush off the other.

Sensitive Because Her Legs Aren't Pretty

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 18 and pretty good looking, except for my legs. You may think it's silly, but if you were still in school and you knew the boys snickered at yours, I am sure you would feel bad. Up to now I have tried to ignore it, but I can't stand it any longer.

Recently a boy I like very much invited me to visit him for a couple of weeks at his family's summer camp. But I can't go unless I can improve the looks of my legs. They are sort of bow-legged and my knees are sort of knock-kneed and my ankles are too thin. I can never wear a bathing suit unless they improve. I am just too ashamed of them.

Isn't there some kind of booklet that gives exercises for such a case as mine? D.

Dear D.:

It is easy to understand how you feel about your legs not being pretty, but a sunny disposition is much more important than beautiful legs. If you are fun to be with, nobody is going to think about how your legs look. They'll be much too interested in you as a person to worry about such a minor detail.

Moreover, if you ever hear anyone snickering about them, they'll stop it much sooner if you just say something casual like: "Yes, aren't they awful? I don't know what to do about them," and let it go at that. As you grow older, and more experienced in life, you'll discover that if you yourself are not disturbed about a thing, other people are likely to ignore it.

Nevertheless, I will be glad to try and find you a booklet of exercises that may help you, if you will write again and give me your name and address.

Towering Hill-Billy Hi Lee Bows to Empire Champion Atkins in Arena Main Bout

It was a roustabout, rasslin' ragout in Memorial Arena last night when Hi Lee, towering hillbilly pachyderm (in wrestling terms) met the wild, wooly bearer of the British Empire championship one Fred Atkins, of Australia in the main bout of a fine card.

To sum up a bout that was exceptionally brief in both its falls, Atkins and Lee went all out in a sort of prescribed villainous tactics that gave the faithful present plenty of thrills but failed to accomplish anything.

The results, as laid down by Referee Ernie Powers of Hamilton, Ont., were the first fall donated to the handsome Australian after five minutes of "flang" over by-play and the second flip going to the Aussie by virtue of a disqualification when the three parties in the ring got milled around.

Rough, Ready Guys

The main bout was a picture of two rough and ready rasslin' gentry, who did not spare the "hawses" and went all out to give a colorful, villainous display.

The third man in the ring, one Ernie Powers of Hamilton, not only did an excellent bit of arbiting but took severe treatment from the rasslin' gladiators.

In fact, Hi Lee who wears a venetian blind headress scruffed his pageboy hair-do to good advantage. The tall hill billy was just as tough as was his "Empah" opponent for he tossed out of the ring on numerous occasions.

The main bout was a slugging battle. Both men were not averse to climbing out of the ring and smashing and bashing their ideas of what should be.

But it was excellent pastime. There were thrills and a couple of spills that added to the enjoyment of the public.

Fred Atkins, however, appeared to have met his match inasmuch as funny tactics go. He gave everything to defeat this saucy, rugged "upstart" from the roarin' hills of Arkansas.

The final event, after the pair had battled inside and outside of the ring, saw Referee Powers award the fall and bout to the champion after he (the referee) had been subjected to some more or less terrific punishment at the hands of the loser.

Tom Rice, a newcomer to wrestling circles hereabouts, while physically handsome, adopted a villain's role that did not get him too far in the estimation of the faithful. Hailing from San Francisco, the handsome muscle-crusher went on to give good-looking Ben Sharpe a tough grind before the pair wound up scuffling when the gong rang.

In the preliminary, popular Pat Flanagan after taking a lot of punishment held the veteran "Abe" Zvonkin to a draw.

Softball Slants

(By BOYD UPPER)

Activity on the local softball front was rather quiet this past week with the favorites coming up with expected wins in each game. The main development was the two wins nailed down by Houstons "Knotholers" which boosted them into a second place with the Corby crew.

• • •

Tuesday evening the "Knotholers" knocked off Stewart Warner 2-0 in closely fought game dumping the Alemite lads out of a third, place tie with themselves. Thursday evening they unleashed their first hit barrage in several games,—14 safeties, six for extra bases—to snow under the hapless Energetic Club 16-4 to move into the second slot in the standings with Corbys.

Corbys staved off a late rally by McFarlanes, Tuesday evening, to preserve their second place rank and sink the Woodenware nine deeper into ninth place.

Northern Electric continued to thunder along in great style brushing aside Howe and Hagerman 9-2 on Thursday p.m. They pounded out eight hits of plumber starter Cook sending him to the showers in the fifth. The seven hit H. and H. attack was stalled by some clever fielding leaving nine men stranded on the runways.

The game between McFarlanes and Howe and Hogerman, played July 7 and called off for sundry reasons in the top of the seventh, was protested by the Woodenware squad. The league executive, at least part of it, heard the complaint and ruled that the game will stand as a win for Howe and Hagerman unless it affects the playoff chances of either team. If so then it must be replayed at the end of the season. That's what the executive said.

• • •

Another ruling on the same game upheld umpire Bawden's decision and suspended spunky McFarlane catcher, Carl Marsh, for one game for language beyond the limits laid down in the league rule book. This is the first suspension for such a misdemeanor but it is by no means the first time a wrought up player has been to the cooler to consider his grammar while the rest of the squad continued to battle on the field.

Rumor has it that the league executive is promoting an all-star game. The teams will be chosen by a competent observer, or observers, and the fans will be asked to send in their choice for all-star ranking. The fan coming closest to the list picked by the "experts" will be suitably rewarded. The two teams will stage a single nine inning brawl for the edification of the public and the filling of the rapidly depleted league treasury, it is hoped. More about this later.

"It Happens Every Spring" . . . and Ray Milland looks like he doesn't like what Paul Douglas (who's making like Lippy Durocher) is handing out in this scene from the hilarious new Twentieth Century-Fox film. Jean Peters is starred with them in "It Happens Every Spring," which opens next Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre for a 4-day run.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Two heads are said to be better than one, at times, but not when they come into violent collision when the noggin-owners are chasing one and the same baseball. That's what "Mouse" Bush and Dave Lockyer discovered Thursday night when the boys were out for a spot of practice.

The junior master-minds were experimenting with tall David on second base due to the fact that the erstwhile hot-corner player had developed a sore arm. A tall infield fly soared into the air during a batting practice, and Lockyer and Bush dashed for the spot where they figured it would fall. They adhered to the golf adage of "keeping your eye on the ball" with the result they crashed head on into each other.

Lockyer sustained a severe cut on the forehead which will probably keep him out of the game for a while, while the Bushian cranium got a severe dent. Lockyer was whisked away for medical treatment and several stitches were necessary to close the wound. Dave is definitely the hard luck player of the year, what with sore arms, legs and now a bashed-in noggin.

Scouts and coaches of the Philadelphia Phillies and the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball teams will be in Belleville on Friday, August 5, to conduct a one-day baseball school for enterprising players of the age of 17 years upwards to 90, and downwards to the toddling stage. The candidates for the school will be divided into two sections mentioned above for instructional purposes.

Major league and other scouts and coaches will select a team from the eastern part of the province to play one from the western area at Maple Leaf Stadium on Saturday, August 6th. Players, it is stated, will be selected at each school to be held in Oshawa, Barrie and Belleville. The school here is expected to draw players from all parts of Eastern Ontario. Players attending the schools are requested to bring gloves and wear uniforms. The school gets under way here at 10 a.m. till noon and again at 4 p.m. till six or seven o'clock.

Fifteen-year-old Henry Puotinen, links star of the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club led the pack in the morning round of the Ontario Junior Golf Championship at the Weston Golf and Country Club yesterday. Puotinen scored a neat 76, four over par on the course, going out in 35 and scoring a 41 on the home trip. Bill Miller, Jr, another Quinte Club fifteen-year-old was well up in front with a 41 and a 43 for an 84.

Next in line and tied for second place were Ron. McAlpine, Hamilton and Jim Neale, Dunnville who carded 77's. Sherry and Joss of the Bay of Quinte Club were not listed in the morning scores. Highest card of the morning play was that of J McMeekin, who shot a 63 and 57 for 120.

Henry Puotinen, one of the newer players at the Bay of Quinte Club is a coming star of the links. The slim 140 pounder has been playing brilliantly since he joined the club and veteran linksmen of the district predict a brilliant future for him. He is a steady consistent player who should go a long way in his favorite sport.

Lovers of baseball will get a huge "kick" out of the motion picture "It Happens Every Spring" opening at the Capitol Theatre next Wednesday for a four-day run. The film stars Ray Milland, Jean Peters and Paul Douglas in a hilarious story of the diamond. Milland portrays a college professor who turns baseball pitcher, and from that point on the film uncorks a long series of laughable incidents. It is "big league" entertainment and if you like baseball plus plenty of laughs by all means see this picture.

We heard a tall tale relater tell his favorite story of how when on a fishing trip which for the first two hours was a dismal failure as far as piscatorial prizes were concerned, he dunked a juicy fishworm in his bottle of "Highland Dew" with startling results. The hopped-up miniature snake did a couple of body flips and plunged to the bottom. Came a commotion in the water and the angler hauled in his line. He stared in amazement at his hook. The worm was shaking the daylights out of a four-pound bass.

So much for that yarn. Now comes another, stated to be the essence and quintessence of truth. The authority is Dr. Ole C. Nelson, medical superintendent of the Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

Fishing at Egg Harbor, the "doc" was keenly disappointed when no monster attacked his bait. Neither did a minnow, for that matter. The "doc" picks it up from here. "I was tired of waiting for bites so I dipped a crab in benzedrine. When the crab hit the water on the end of the line, he dived down, grabbed a bass by the nose with his claws. From then on, the fishing was good. I got 56 bass."

Dr. Nelson is said to be noted for his veracity.

USEFUL ANIMALS

Regina — (CP) — The provincial government is making use of the dam-building activities of beaver in Saskatchewan. About 110 of the animals have been transplanted from districts where they have caused flood damage to areas where soil and water conservation work is needed.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 16 (CP)—Jack Holden, 1948 Olympic runner at 42 is still Britain's best at long-distance running.

The other day he trotted into Chiswick arena as fresh as if he'd just finished a country walk to win the Windsor-to-Chiswick marathon, a matter of 26 miles plus.

Wiry, laconic Holden, father of two daughters, has won events at every distance from one to 30 miles. But one honor has eluded him—the Olympic marathon.

"My last race," he said, as he dropped out with a blistered foot after 17 miles last year. But he's still at it, running as easily as men half his age.

Good-looking, shock - haired Danny Dunton is on the upgrade in Britain's motorcycle speedway racing. Though still a novice, he's earning a lot of respect from his opponents.

Danny's advent is one of the speedway's fairy tales. On leaving the army he sank his gratuity in a small garage. It did not pay. In desperation, he turned to cycle-racing.

One day last November he turned up at the Rye House training school.

He was an immediate success. After only four practice outings he was given a full contract by the Harringay Club in the first division of the two-division league.

In his first meeting he had two second places and two thirds in four starts. Within two weeks he became a regular member of the team, partnering the best.

Ernie Roderick, former British welterweight and middleweight champion, was just about ready to retire from the ring before he lost his welterweight title on a hotly-disputed decision to Henry Hall, of Sheffield. Now he's determined to get back in the running for championship honors.

Roderick, in his late thirties, is more interested in breeding racing pigeons than in the hurly-burly of the ring.

The boxer who doesn't like boxing any more is going into training for a final eliminaton bout with Eddie Thomas, young Welsh miner-chorister, for the right to challenge Hall.

'A Little Learning' Often Dangerous

By John Alden Knight
..(Noted Sportsman, Author and ..Creator of Solunar Table)

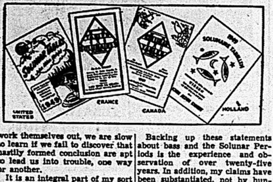
Some wise man said, "A little learning is a very dangerous thing." That man certainly knew whereof he spoke.

As we grow older and have had more time to watch things work themselves out, we are slow to learn if we fail to discover that hastily formed conclusion are apt to lead us into trouble, one way or another.



It is an integral part of my sort of business--if outdoor writing can be called a business--that I receive plenty of mail. Not all of the letters are friendly and, I suppose, that is as it should be because no two people think alike. Most of the time I answer critical letters as politely as possible and let it go at that. Now and then, however, one of them really rubs me the wrong way.

In the course of my regular occupation, I turn out a book now and then. My latest one Black Bass was published by G.P. Putnam's Sons of New York on March 25th, 1949.

Critical Letter

A young man in a midwestern city--at least I should judge him to be young by the tone of his letter--read this book. Then he took his typewriter in hand and wrote me a letter. Therein were several split infinitives--a typical affliction of the young.

He started off stating that the Solunar Theory, and I quote, "is a lot of bellywash....Solunar Tables, horoscopes, water witching and planting by the moon are all a piece of the same cloth End quote. Period.

Incidentally, he amplifies this by informing me that I "write like a grochety old man." This of itself is illuminating and something of which I had not been aware. Perhaps it deserves some introspective thought.

Time was, when the Solunar Theory was new, that critical letter of this sort would have disturbed me no end. With the passage of the years, however, I have learned that acid criticism of this sort is to be expected now and then.

Evidently it is an occupational hazard of sorts and, in the long run it does little harm. Just the same, this one did make me a little bit cross.

Experience Great Teacher

Experience is a great teacher. Black Bass is the eleventh book of mine that has been published. Shortly after I wrote the first one, I learned that it is impossible to use too much care in choosing the material for the book.

A magazine story or a news release is comparatively temporary. It is published, read, possibly criticized, and then thrown away.

A book is more permanent. It lasts for a long time. Errors which may have found their way into its pages are coming to light constantly to the everlasting mortification of the writer. Thus, when I prepare a manuscript for a book each word is chosen with care and I make definitely sure that I can back up the statements I make.

In Black Bass I had no hesitation that black bass, both largemouth and smallmouth, react exceedingly well to the promptings of the Solunar Table. I said that largemouth, in their homes along the shorelines, are more alert and ready to take your lure during Solunar Periods than are at other times.

I said that smallmouth leave the more agreeable temperatures of the deeper waters and cruise about in the shallows in search of food during the Solunar Periods.

Sure of Facts

If I did not know that these things are definitely true, I certainly would not put them in a book. I'd talk about them or put them in magazine articles maybe, even if I weren't definitely sure of them. Naturally I'd label them as "theory" if I weren't sure, but believe me, for the permanent record in the pages of a book I would be dead certain that I was right or I would leave such things unsaid.

Backing up these statements about bass and the Solunar Periods is the experience and observation of over twenty-five years. In addition, my claims have been substantiated, not by hundreds, but by many thousands of able anglers all over the world.

Foreign editions of the Solunar Tables are now published in Canada, France and Holland, not to mention an unauthorized edition in South America. Not only are these foreign editions being published but they are being well received and they show annual increase in sales.

It took a long time--over twenty-five years--and a great deal of thought and hard work to bring the Solunar Tables to their present state of accuracy. It is not easy to start with a known effect and to work back to probable causes. To do so means the inevitable waste of a great deal of time.

However, that is what has been done and today we can and do give you a dependable guide to better sport in the outdoors.

You have my assurance that the Solunar Theory is not, as my critic lables it, "a lot of bellywash."

Take my word for it, if he is one half as intelligent as his letter tries to make me believe he is he will give the Solunar Tables a, open-minded trial. When and if he does, he too will learn that it pays any fisherman or any hunter to keep track of the daily Solunar Periods.

New Junior Ont. Golf Champion From St. Thomas

Toronto, July 16 — (CP) — A member of a family of golfers who thinks he's the poorest player, Don Pullen of St. Thomas, is the new Junior Ontario golf champion.

The 17-year-old St. Thomas lad completed the rout of Toronto 'teen-agers in the 27th annual provincial championships at suburban Weston Friday by annexing the crown with a 36-hole total of 152. His card was made up of a 78 and 74 for the par 71 layout.

His victory in the 17 to 18-year-old age group gave him possession of the Lady Eaton trophy.

Another St. Thomas boy, Bob Dawdy, won in the 14-15 age group, coming in with 78-83—161. In the under-13 class, Norman Thompson of Guelph won out. posting 184.

Don McAlpine of Hamilton finished second to Pullen in the oldest group, with 77-77—154 and a one-stroke edge over Jim Nale of Dunnville.

The 67 who played Friday were survivors of an original entry list of 222 boys who competed in six sectional qualifying rounds three weeks ago.

They came from as far east as Brockville and in the west from Windsor and Sarnia, representing in all some 30 clubs. Despite the number of Toronto district entries, only Bob Pezzack of Scarboro, second in the 14-15 age class won a prize.

The new champion's father was the golf pro at the St. Thomas club for many years and was succeeded by his son, Thomas. A brother of young Pullen finished third in the Ontario junior a couple of years ago, while a fourth brother also is a good golfer.

"I'm the poorest golfer in the family," the new titleholder told reporters. He will represent Ontario in the Canadian Junior Championship at Sain John, N.B., a week from today, nevertheless.

Slammin' Sammy Takes Lead in Open Tourney

(By The Canadian Press)

Sammy Snead shrugged off a storm and a bad hole Friday to shoot his second straight 67 and take the lead in the $16,500 Dapper Dan open golf tournament at Pittsburgh.

Snead's total of 134 for 36 holes put him three strokes ahead of Duck Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., who also had a 67 today.

That 67 is five under par for the 6,850-yard Alcoma Golf Club course, where par is 72.

Delayed by a driving rainstorm, Snead needed five strokes on the par three, 250-yard second hole but from there on he played virtually perfect golf.

Gene Webb, of Clayton, Mo., also had a 67 to enter a three-way tie for third place at 138. Deadlocked with him were Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who finished in the rain for a 71, and Otto Greiner of Baltimore, who came in with 70.

At Chumont, N.Y., Tramp Royal, skippered by Col. L. F. Grant of the Royal Military College, Kingston, won the "big boat" class rave Friday as the annual regatta of the eastern yachting circuit got under way.

Tramp Royal's time for the triangular course in Chaumont Bay was one hour, 28 minutes, 14 seconds. The race was for Division II boats—sloops, cutters, yawls and schooners.

In the lightning class events, a boat piloted by Bob Adams of Watertown won the morning race. Dick George of Watertown was second, and Ted Dalton of Kingston, was third.

Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen have signed nine seniors for the 1949-50 Ontario Hockey Association senior 'A' season, it was announced at Kitchener Friday.

Don Bauer, Mike Dziura, Ted Grasser, Mickey Roth, Billy Flick, Jack Shewchuk, Art Hurst, Bill Walsh and George Blake are all back on the team's roster and Dick Wray, of Stratford, who played forward position in the Maritime League last year may also turn out. Coach Punch Sherer said the Dutchmen need a first-rate defenceman and also a goalie to replace Marcel Pelletier.

Teams from various countries taking part in the 1952 winter Olympic games in Oslo may be asked to come in their own ships and use them as floating hotels.

This plan has been proposed by the Oslo Tourists Association because of a shortage of hotel and other accommodation for the many competitors, reporters and spectators expected.

Teams could also bring with them any special supplies unobtainable in Norway.

Toronto's youthful baseball hopefuls are panting with pride—and hope.

Thirty- three who impressed Cy Morgan, scout for the Philadelphia Phillies, parent club of Toronto Leafs in the International Baseball League, are going to get a tryout before them today. Morgan said their performances during two days of looking them over justified a "second look."

The 33 were selected during trials here.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

With all clubs cultivate the habit of a momentary pause at the top. Pictured is an iron shot. The grip has been firmly and well maintained. Notice that this club has been swung short of horizontal at the top of the backswing and that's correct with iron. Particularly with No. 3, 4 and the more sharply lofted irons. Because your stance with irons brings your heels close together, your right foot nearer to the direction line than your left and is more open, the position of your body naturally limits the length of your backswing. Reaching a horizontal position at the top of the backswing can only be done with the longer shafted, straight-faced clubs and the stance you use with such clubs. And remember that the shorter the shaft, the more perpendicular the swing. With the shorter shafted clubs, the more open is the stance, the closer the heels are together, the closer the right foot is to the direction line, the more you bend over. Therefore, the more perpendicular the swing. It's simple when you understand it, isn't it? And it's more fun, too. Learn to play golf the right way. You'll score better — get more thrill.—(Copyright 1949, John F. Dille Co.)

Rochester Wings Hottest Team In International

(By The Associated Press)

When Bob Hannegan purchased St. Louis Cardinals and its farm clubs in the winter of 1947 he promised to give Rochester's long suffering International League fans a contender.

Hannegan stocked the Wings as best he could for 1948 and the Red Birds finished fourth, then advanced to the final round of the post-season playoffs which they carried to seven games before losing to Montreal. The first-division finish was Rochester's first since 1941.

Hannegan sold out his stock in the Cardinals to his associate Fred Saigh, last winter and the new owner also promised to give the Wings all the Cards could spare to make them an International power once again.

Saigh has kept his word. The Wings are the hottest club in the league at the moment.

Jim Hearn, recently dispatched to Rochester, pitched the Wings to their sixth straight triumph Friday night and into third place.

Hearn defeated the second-place Montreal Royals 5-2. The triumph moved the Wings to within three percentage points of Montreal and to within five games of the league leading Buffalo Bisons.

Hearn gave up five hits in besting Clyde King who suffered his second loss against 12 victories.

Bisons Split

The Bisons split a twin bill with Toronto Maple Leafs, taking the night cap 11-10 after losing the opener 1-0.

Veteran Nick Strincevich blanked the Bisons on five hits in the opener. The Leafs nicked Clem Hausmann for four blows with Bill Glynn singling home Ed Sanicki with the lone run in the fourth.

The Bisons piled up an 11-2 lead for Bob Hooper in the night-cap but the Bisons ace couldn't hold it, the Leafs clipping him for three runs in the seventh and shelling him out with five in the eighth. Hooper, however, received credit for his 11th victory without a loss. Gene Markland paced the Bisons drive by banging out two homers.

Newark's last-place Bears upset the fourth-place Jersey City Giants.

Al Widmar hurled the seventh-place Baltimore Orioles to a 5-2 victory over Syracuse Chiefs, the triumph was Widmar's 14th, top output in the circuit.

SEEK STANDARD SIGNS

Hope, B.C. — (CP) — Standard sign posts for Canada's four western provinces to "make travel less confusing" were proposed here. Harry Anderson, chief engineer of the department of public works, said "the travelling public will benefit . . . They won't be confused by differing signs."

Lefty Howie Pollet Stealing Many National Loop Fans On Pennant Chances of Cards

Howie Pollet, who peddles insurance for skipper Eddie Dyer in the winter, is selling many National League fans a pennant policy on St. Louis Cardinals.

The slim pitcher is helping boss Dyer meet his premiums as Card manager with a fine 12-5 record that makes him top winner in the league.

He lost his first two games this season and readily retired to the bull pen to find his stuff. After four relief jobs he went back on the starting routine May 14 and edged Pittsburgh. Then he lost a heard breaker, 2-0, to Brooklyn.

Since that loss to the Dodgers he has been a whiz, winning 11 of 13, including three shutouts.

With Harry Brecheen still missing fire and Max Lanier needing a little more conditioning before he hits his old peak, Pollet has been forced to carry a heavy load.

Knowing that Brooklyn already had protected its lead by whacking Cincinnati in an afternoon game, 11-5, Pollet took the hill Friday night in Philadelphia. A victory was a must for the Birds.

Pollet and Robin Roberts hooked up in a 0-0 dule. It went down to the seventh with no score until Pollet's single drove home Eddie Kazak, who had walked. Joe Garagiola's single had moved Kazak around into scoring position. That was all the scoring of another 1-0 game.

Newcombe Wins Seventh

Brooklyn's lead remained at 1½ games because the Dodgers helped Don Newcombe hobble home to his seventh win with homers by Tommy Brown, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson to give him an 11-5 decision over Cincinnati. It was the eighth straight victory for the Brooks over the Reds at Ebbets Field.

Newcombe allowed 10 hits, including Walker Cooper's 12th homer, but the big margin his mates piled up on Ken Beffensberger and Bud Lively pulled him through.

Warren Spahn of Boston, victim of four unearned runs in the first inning of Tuesday's All-Star game, had errorless support from the Braves in his 6-1 win over Chicago. Spahn hit a two-run homer in the second off Warren Hacker.

The Pittsburgh-New York game was rained out.

Lopat Blanks Browns

Another shutout pitching job stretched New York Yankees' American League lead to 6½ games. Eddie Lopat blanked the St. Louis Browns, 6-0, while runner-up Cleveland lost to Philadelphia 8-0.

Yogi Berra, who had never hit a home run in his home town of St. Louis, finally made the grade with two blasts while Lopat turned in a five-hitter.

Philadelphia Athletics knocked Cleveland's Bobby Feller out of the box, ruining his five-game win streak. Dick Fowler made the world champs look bad with a seven-hitter that broke a Tribe four-game win string. The A's had lost their last six.

Boston's fancy eight-game win splurge was halted by Detroit on a four-run rally in the ninth inning, 8-7.

Paul Campbell led the 17-hit Tiger attack with two doubles and two singles.

Washington came up with a big eighth inning, scoring six runs to dump Chicago 9-4. Six hits and Luke Appling's throwing error sent Bill Wight down with his seventh loss. Sam Mele knocked in three runs with four singles.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Some slam slice pretty thin. They may look good in the bidding. But the combined partnership holdings may not dovetail. Something in their makeup opens a dangerous spot.

Over the long pull, however, experienced players like to attempt a slam that is reached by rule bidding. In tournament came this deal:

NORTH
♠7
♥A 9 7 3
♦Q 5 3
♣K Q 7 3 2

WEST
♠K J 9 8 6 5 4 3
♥10
♦J
♣A 10 9

EAST
♠Q 10
♥8 5 2
♦K 10 9 8 7
♣J 8 5

SOUTH
♠A 2
♥K Q J 6 4
♦A 6 4 2
♣6 4

At one table the bidding went like this:

South	North
1 H	3 C
3 H	4 H
4 NT	5 H
6 H	Pass

The immediate jump takeout by north promises six tricks, two of which are sure tricks. His four diamond assist shows adequate support. This tells south what will be their trump suit.

South has a count of six tricks. With north showing six, known to be in the pair are 12 tricks. With 12 tricks and trumps decided, investigation of slam chances must naturally follow.

Safety of slam depends on enough aces and kings in the pair. Four no-trump asks about them. In the Horse Sense method, reply of five hearts shows one ace and one king.

With one ace and one king missing, there is no thought of a grand slam by south. Even a small slam may be too high. But this declarer decided it was worth a try.

Inexperienced players should avoid stretch to slam with an ace and a king missing. Some unusual play may be needed. Or a bit of luck coupled with attention to details. As here.

Opening lead from west was diamond jack. Take the 12 tricks needed. Watch your entries, brother.

FIRST TUNA

Wedgeport, N.S. — (CP) — The first fisherman, apart from local guides, to land a tuna this season was Alfred P. Trask of Yarmouth, N.S. After a 40-minute battle he landed a 507-pound bluefin.

Hollywood, July 16 — (AP)— No news might be good news, but not to a Hollywood reporter.

Today nothing newsworthy happened in the movie world. So I'll bask in the sun and make up some news of my own. Any resemblance to the truth is purely accidental. Here goes:

A major studio is planning a new kind of psychological film. It's about a man who gets a psychosis when his analyst tells him he has no psychosis.

This will be denied, but there's a deal on the fire to co-star Olivia De Havilland with Joan Fontaine. The director will be Clyde Beatty. Exclusive ! ! !

The starting date of the Valentino biography, originally slated to be postponed Aug. 2, will now be postponed until Sept. 12. This confirms what you read here June 24.

The whole town is talking about a feud between Trigger and Champion. They are going to different blacksmiths now.

Q. Who was that lady I saw Peter Lawford with last night?

A. That was no lady, that was Lassie. Pete's in the doghouse at M.G.M.

More Exclusive ! ! !

Is it true that film companies are mulling a plan to award bounties to people who turn in television sets at their neighborhood theatres?

My last exclusive — Darry F. Zanuck will receive this year's honorary-award for receiving three more honorary awards than Dore Schary.

Kevin Connors Leading Hitter Of Int. League

New York, July 16 — (AP) — Kevin Connors, Montreal's tall and talented first baseman, is the International League's batting leader with a .350 average.

The six-foot, six-inch Brooklyn born Irishman, who sings about as well as he hits, has carved 78 hits in 223 at bats through games played Wednesday, July 13.

Among his safeties are 14 doubles, two triples and nine home runs. He has driven in 54 runs and has scored 32 times.

Johnny Blatnik of Toronto is second in hitting with a .344 mark. Connor's teammate, Bob Morgan, is third with .336.

Ed Sanicki, Toronto outfielder, paced the league in home runs with 24. Big Steve Bilko, Rochester first baseman, has batted in the most runs, 77.

Righthander Bob Hooper, Buffalo's mound ace, heads the pitchers with a spotless 10-0 record.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 16 (AP)— Walking a few holes in the Dapper Dan Open with Cary Middlecoff, Ted Luther and Johnny Bulla . . . first hole, Middlecoff fires a fine shot to the green and holds up five fingers to show what iron he used . . . second, Cary chips, weakly from the rough and the ball stops six feet short of the pin . . . "It would have been 15 feet past if I'd hit it like I wanted to," he grins. Third. Bulla sinks a 40-foot putt and shouts "I don't believe it; I can't do it." . . .

A 600 - yarder and Middlecoff has to come out of the rough for his par. "This is not my favorite hole," he remarks wryly . . . fifth — Cary's approach doesn't bit and has to ask Bulla what happened . . . Sixth, Luther's putt is weak and Middlecoff whispers "Hurry" . . . Seventh and eighth — no comment; you have to be a mountain goat to cover all the holes on this course . . . ninth green, Middlecoff looks disgusted and comments: "Two puts." . . . P.S.: All the guy had was a three-under-par 69.

Algoma Angles

Because the Dapper Dan tourney is a charity affair, none of the touring pros asked for "appearance money." . . . Sometimes a guy will get more just for turning up at a tourney than if he wins in the event . . . O. Knox Young, the Pittsburgh amateur, who fired a 69 on the first round, won't be around to collect a prize at the end. He doesn't play golf on Sunday . . . Buddy Conn, who was less successful than brother Billy as a fighter, kept following Lloyd Mangrum through yesterday's rain storm. They were in service together and Buddy thinks Lloyd is about tops . . . . Ralph Kiner, the Pirates' slugger, is wearing an aluminum guard over his injured right hand to protect it when he's off the ball field . . . Home Town, Springdale, Pa. . . . Maybe that's the effect of all those night games.

SLOPPY EATERS

Because their young drop things, mothers of young robins, humming birds, wrens and canvasback ducks place the food deep down in baby birds' mouths.

AT THE CAPITOL — Ida Lupino and Cornel Wilde co-star with Monte Wooley in the comedy drama "Life Begins at Eight-Thirty", starting Monday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program the unforgettable drama "Prisoner of Stark Island," starring Warner Baxter. Matinee daily at 2.00 p.m.

AT THE BELLE — Linda Darnell meets—and makes—her match with Paul Douglas (above) in 20th. Century-Fox's hilarious new comedy, "A Letter to Three Wives." Also featured in the play are Ann Sothern with her husband, Kirk Douglass, and Jeanne Crain whose husband is Jeffrey Lynn. Affairs are really involved when one of them runs away with Addie Ross. "A Letter to Three Wives," plays today and Monday at the Belle.

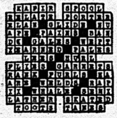
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:



Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking and ma was just thinking, saying, There's no doubt about it, William, a woman is young as long as she's willing to learn.

A man is young as long as he thinks everybody but himself is looking their age, pop said, and ma said I was reeding in the paper about a great grandmother of 60 who enrolled in college to get a diploma.

What's she want with a diploma? pop said and ma said She wants to frame it naturelly. She wants to keep it as a living proof that age is no more hinderance to a man's. And why shouldn't it be just as true in my case? she said.

Are you thinking of going to college for Peet sake? pop said and ma said, No, I'm thinking of learning to smoke cigarettes. I have no particular desire but practically all my women frends smoke, so why should I stand alone on the banks of life's stream and watch the water go by? I'm sure I could learn to smoke as gracefully as anybody elts if you just gave me a few simple instructions she said.

There's really nothing to it, my dear, pop said. After the ferst few weeks you'll get tired of swallowing the smoke, so you'll just naturelly blow it out again, so then you can devote the next few weeks to learning how to keep it out of your eyes, he said, and ma said, It sounds like a lot of bother Oh well, I've got along without should I struggle now? But I'm sure I could master it if I made up my mind she said.

dont let me talk you into it, pop said.

And he kept on blowing his

Canadian Actors and Actresses Making Good on London Stage

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 16 — (CP) —Six Canadians, six Americans and a Briton are drawing large audiences nightly to their spirited performance of "The Male Animal" at the fashionable new theatre near Trafalgar Square.

When this American satire by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent made its West End debut recently, the Trans-Atlantic cast took no less than 10 curtain calls. London theatre critics saluted the performance as a triumpr for producer Henry Sherek, who took a chance on the play after its trial run at the Arts Theatre Club.

Previously no London management would risk money on importing "The Male Animal" into Britain, as it was feared the satirical appeal might not survive the Atlantic crossing.

So far, Sherek's enterprise has been rewarded and he is prepared to back the play for at least three months.

Lively Action

Much of its success is credited to the lively acting of Vancouver's Arthur Hill and Barbara Kelly in the leading roles. Hill plays the Middle West university professor suspected of Communist sympathies.

Blonde, vivacious Barbara Kelly broke into theatreland via CBC drama in Vancouver. Earlier she appeared in an open-air production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Theatre Under the Stars in Stanley Park.

On the stage Barbara is the much-bewildered professor's wife. In private she is married to Canadian broadcaster Bernard Braden. They have three children, Christopher, Kelly and Kim—all living with them in London.

Both Kelly and Hill say they believe the theatre has a future in Canada.

"Eventually," Barbara said, "it will not be necessary for Canadian troupers to migrate to New York or London to make a stage career."

Stage First Love

Jon Farrell, formerly of Vancouver and Toronto, recently quit London journalism to play an eccentric role in "The Male Animal." He was at this same theatre 12 years ago in a production of Shakespeare's "MacBeth."

"The stage was my first love," Farrell said, "but I got sidetracked into radio and newspaper work. Now I'm planning to concentrate on the stage with radio as a sideline."

Aletha Orr of Edmonton, Alta., also gets a large share of the laughs. She began her theatrical career in Toronto 22 years ago. But has been on the London stage most of the time since.

John Drezler, Montreal, and Rych Matthews Toronto, with former American movie star Bessie Love, make full use of their opportunities in a play that has tickled London's funny bone.

MODERN EDUCATION

Meadow Lake, Sask. — (CP) — Speaking nearly flawless English, a young Sudeten settler appeared in court here seeking Canadian citizenship. Said he: "I picked it up from reading the comics." The court recommended his application citizenship.

Canadian Iron, Steel Production Still on Increase

Ottawa, July 16 — (CP)—The Canadian Steel and Iron Industry is producing more this year to meet the growing demands of Canadian industry — especially the railways and building trades.

But production of both steel and pig iron was lower in April than it was in March. the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

The Bureau's figures showed the country's 14 blast furnaces have been operating at more than 80 per cent of capacity during the first four months of this year while the steel mills have been producing nearly 90 per cent of their maximum output.

During the first four months of this year blast furnaces turned out 738,688 tons of pig iron. The country has an annual capacity of some 2,700,000 tons of pig iron and produced 654,625 tons during the same period last year.

Production of steel ingots and castings during the first 4 months was 1,111,928 tons compared with 1,046,664 tons during the same period in 1948. Annual production capacity of ingots and castings is rated at 3,792,000 tons.

Output of steel ingots and castings sagged downwards during April to 269,919 tons compared with 298,461 tons in March. Pig iron production was 180,740 tons in April and 202,130 tons in Mar. In both cases production was higher than in April, 1948.

Ferrosilicion, Silicomanganese, ferro - manganese, ferrochrome, chrome - x and ferrophosphorous — during April compared with 22,457 tons in March. Production for four months this year has been 90,528 tons compared with 57,715 during four months of '48.

Canadian railways continued to be the biggest consumer of steel. So far this year they've used nearly 204,000 tons. Construction industries used 124,746 tons and merchant trade products have used 127,741 tons.

The automotive and farm equipment industries have used nearly 71,000 tons and some 81,000 tons have been exported.

During the four - month period the Dominion imported more than 487,000 tons of basic idon and steel, mostly from the United States.

Treeless Prairies Not so True Now As it Was Three Decades Ago

(Written for the Canadian Press)
By PERCY GHENT

Treeless prairies? That familiar description is rapidly losing its meaning.

It never should have been taken too literally, for the Western provinces where the wheat grows have always had wooded areas, and they are getting more every year.

Prairie farmers in increasing numbers realize the need for, and the benefits of, shelter belts. During the past 26 years many thousands of prairie folk have had expert instruction in the making of these tree shelters.

A substantial percentage of those instructed have planted trees both for beauty and utility around their homesteads. That is why from a speeding train thousands of pleasant farm homes surrounded by healthy trees can be seen and admired while crossing the prairie provinces.

For this development, much of the praise goes to the prairie division of the Canadian Forestry Association. It sponsors an educational railway coach to teach tree planting, a service now in its 27th year. It is from this coach that prairie citizens have received instruction, encouragement and enthusiasm.

That is but part of the story. Association officers have carried the tree-planting, conservation story into the schools of the three prairie provinces, and 70,000 students, farmers, foresters, conservationists of the future have been reached in nearly 400 programs —not mere lectures. Many of them are practical demonstrations of the way to set about conservation efforts for the benefit of future Canadians.

The Association has records of an interest in reforestation, conservation and nature study in general that has grown greater year by year in the West. Radio and press co-operation in the spreading of the conservation ideal and effort has been splendid, officials say.

No reason could be given for the name "Myrtle" which two young naturalists promptly bestowed upon a 20-pound snapping turtle which they found beside Ahmek Lake in Algonquin Park.

Myrtle was placed on exhibition at the park museum for a few days and in no time at all made herself at home. In fact, says the boys, when they returned her to the care of nature by an unceremonious dumping into Ghost Walk Creek, she gave them what is described as a "reproachful" look.

Doubtless it was only the pressing duties of her destiny that kept Myrtle from following them. For on the following day the same lads found her laying eggs right in the middle of one of the park roads.

Apparently Myrtle could assume most eloquent facial expressions on the instant. This time she gave them that "Is nothing sacred?" sort of look so telling that the boys moved off in an embarrassed silence.

Canada's grandest tree is the Douglas fir. Specimens in British Columbia forest have been found 300 feet high with circumferences as generous as 15 feet. Introduced into Britain where climatic factors are similar, this tree is making amazing progress to the delight of British foresters.

Capital Closeups:

New Members Will Not Enjoy Room to Themselves in Ottawa

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, July 16 — (CP) — Woe to the new member of parliament who pictures himself occupying a nice, private office when he comes to the capital for the fall session.

The scene would be more accurate if he pictured himself crowded into an office with at least one and possibly two of his colleagues.

The space shortage is a familiar headache to veteran members of both the Commons and the Senate, but some newcomers have already expressed surprise that the spacious Centre Block does not contain enough rooms to assure everyone an individual office.

The last parliament was composed of 245 members of the Commons and 96 of the Senate. As a result of Newfoundland's entry into Confederation and of the Redistribution Act which became effective with the June 27 general election, there will be 262 members of the Commons and 102 in the Senate, if all 13 vacancies in the Upper House are filled.

So far, said a member of the Commons staff, no action has been taken to provide additional space. He believes that as soon as parliament meets — probably about Sept. 15 — a joint committee of the Commons and the Senate will be appointed to recommend a solution.

There have been various suggestions. One is that additional storeys be built on the Centre Block. There are two inner wings where storeys could be built without harming the architecture of the building.

The wierdest suggestion was that the Senators be moved to a government building in Hull, across the Ottawa River from the capital. The suggestion came from Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) who said during a debate on the space problem:

"Let the Senators go to Hull."

Face-Lifting

The East Block, one of Ottawa's older landmarks, is undergoing an interior face-lifting, but the architects say that as far as they know it is not being done to provide more space for members of parliament. They were told the work was necessary to provide better office accommodation for the Prime Minister and his staff, the Privy Council and the External Affairs Department.

The three-storey, grey and brown stone building was constructed shortly after Confederation and this is the first over-all modernization job to be done to it. Electricians, carpenters and painters are busy renovating the building from top to bottom.

The building located off the eastern end of the Centre Block has provided office space for every one of Canada's prime ministers.

Other painters and cleaners are busy in the Centre Block giving it its annual house cleaning in preparation for the session.

PUBLIC ENEMY

If there's a farmer behind the finger on which the grasshopper is perching in the top photo, the chances are that the insect didn't live long after it was snapped. Grasshoppers are doing millions of dollars worth of damage in western wheat fields as their growing season reaches its peak. In the lower photo, another species of 'hopper demonstrates how they do it.—(CP Photo.)

Army Worms on March In West, North Ontario

Toronto, July 16. (CP)— The army worm, a tiny, crop-chewing caterpillar with a king-sized appetite, is on the march in sections of Western and Northern Ontario.

Friday brought fresh reports of the furless, striped-backed worms invading the farmlands and consuming an increasing amount of grain and vegetable crops.

Agricultural officials say drought conditions have hampered the development of parasites which normally keep the worms under control.

At London, agricultural exports said they saw no end to the worms' crop-damaging cycle. They recommended use of poison to curtail the onsaught.

Between 800 and 900 acres of Huron County were added to the Western Ontario area invaded by the spiral-like insects and a strong Echelon continued to pierce through Perth. Isolated reports from points in Grey, Hastings, Dufferin and Simcoe counties were far from encouraging.

A Kitchener item said the pests were crawling into Waterloo County from the Northwest, not only through the fields but along highways as well.

Up north, Sudbury farmers say the outbreak is reaching serious proportions.

Romeo Leroux, provincial district agricultural representative at Sudbury, reported heavy losses in barley, oats and corn fields.

A Woodstock resident said the first worms moved into that area Friday. Officias are inspecting damage and hope to find a solution to prevent further damage in Oxford County.

The creeping creatures have given rise to an old superstition—based on similar plagues in 1914 and 1938—that the army worm heralds war.

Ford Workers Have Voted Strike Approval

Detroit, July 16 — (AP)—Ford workers across the country have voted strike approval by a 7-1 margin, the United Automobile Workers Union (C. I. O.) reported Friday.

Strike approval does not necessarily mean there will be a walkout. It simply gives union officers authority to call one.

Friday — expiration date for the present Ford contract — was the deadline set by the U. A. W. for filing of strike vote returns by locals at Ford's 49 plants. The company employs 106.000 production workers.

The Ford Company, under a company - union agreement, will be extended on a day-to-day basis from now on. Either side may cancel the agreement on five days notice.

The union is seeking pensions, health insurance and a cost-of-living wage boost at Ford.

Since late May a little war has been going on in a remote corner of Korea.

Northern and Southern Koreans have been killing each other on the Ongjin Peninsula. Most of this tongue of rice-growing land lies in Southern Korea. That is south of the 38th parallel that divides Korea into two separate countries.. The upper, smaller part is north of the line. From this northern region North Korean militia moved across the boundary and tried to take over.

This little war hasn't got very hot—yet. The front is only about 25 miles long.

Just Observing

There is a United Nations commission in Southern Korea which has reported that it can't do much more than observe what is going on.

It has tried recently to get into Russian-dominated Northern Korea. It wanted to verify the withdrawal of Soviet troops last winter. The request was acidly rejected by the Northern Koreans.

American combat troops left Southern Korea July 1. A military advisory mission remains.

The little war on Ongjin is merely the latest clash—more severe than usual—in a long series of border incidents.

Arming Fast

Meanwhile, Dr. Syngman Rhee, head of the southern government, has asked United Nations permission to quadruple her armed forces. That would make them number about 400,000 men. Friday his assembly in Seoul voted two years compulsory military training for all Korean men reaching 20 years of age.

His government was set up under United Nations auspices. It is recognized by the United States and several of its Allies in the cold war as the legal government for all Korea. This government is anti-Communist.

The northern regime was established during the Soviet occupation and is recognized as the legal government for all Korea by the Soviet Union and a number of its satellites. This government is Communist.

For this situation there is not likely diplomatic remedy short of a private understanding between Russia and the United States to sponsor jointly a reunification of Korea. This obviously would be harder now, rather than easier, than it was when the two big powers tried and failed before the country had four years of life under two separate governments.

This is the general background to that warm little war at Ongjin.

CAUSE OF CALIFORNIA AIR CRASH UNVERIFIED

Reason for the crash of this passenger plane on the Santa Susana Mountains, Calif., is still not verified. One of the worst disasters in civil aviation history, 35 persons were killed, 14 injured. The burned-out wreckage of plane still rests on the mountainside, drawing crowds of curious spectators.—Central Press Canadian.

"Master" Kreshna Venta, left, and Fran de Norde, a follower of Venta in his religious cult in the hills near Chatsworth, Calif., are shown as they helped to carry one of the victims of the airliner crash on the Santa Susana mountain.—Central Press Canadian.

Mrs. Judith Frost, 24, of Long Beach, Calif., wife of an airplane pilot, is shown at the hospital where she said that two men fought in the plane at 10,000 feet altitude and caused it to crash near Chatsworth, Calif. She miraculously escaped with a slight concussion and bruises. The airliner, a C-46, plunged to the earth when, according to Mrs. Frost, the co-pilot, who was trying to break up the fight between two men, was pushed into the controls causing them to jam.—Central Press Canadian.

Toronto, July 16 — CP)—Jack (Deacon) Allen, Toronto boxing promoter. has announced plans to conduct a heavyweight "white hope" tournament in September.

The term "white hope" from the fans' angle is hardly appropriate. They would be glad of any hope, white, black or yellow, that might give the boxing world a real champion. Even Ezzard Charles' best friends must surely refrain from looking people in the eye when they refer to Charles as the champion.

It's probably too much to expect another heavyweight champion of Joe Louis' calibre to make an appearance so soon after the bomber's retirement, but in the heart of every ring fan there probably is the hope that one white hope tournament, maybe even this one, might, perhaps, possibly, produce a boxer worthy of the heavyweight crown.

Nonsense, Says Scribe

Michael J. (Kingston Whig - Standard) Rodden calls the tournament "white hope nonsense" and claims they "have never attained their alleged objectives and it is extremely doubtful if they ever will."

As usual, the one man who does benefit from these tournaments is the promoter. "It is not a pretty sight to see inexperienced heavyweights slugging themselves into insensibility, while avaricious promoters become the financial beneficiaries," says Rodden.

More Comment

J. V. McAree, editorial page columnist for the Toronto Globe and Mail, also has seen fit to devote his column to comment on white hope tournaments.

"Never, we suppose, in the history of sport was there a time when there was a more deep-seated desire to see a new champion than when Jack Johnson was cock of the walk," writes McAree.

"In 1910, Jim Jeffries, in response to what seemed a country - wide demand, consented to return to the ring and try to dethrone Johnson. He proved no match for Johnson and the result of the fight was a horrible blow to white prestige and the search for a white hope was pursued with even greater fervor."

Generally speaking though, the public doesn't seem to care about the race or creed of a champion. If he is a fighter, fair, and willing to meet all challengers, he will draw the crowds. As proof, witness the reign of Joe Louis. The Brown Bomber was the hero of black and white alike, never shirking a fight.

One Canadian Record Broken In B.E. Games

Toronto, July 16—(CP)— Canada's track and field athletes had better get cracking on their times or the cinder-track contingent to the 1950 New Zealand British Empire games may be mighty small. They get their last chance today, final of the two-day Dominion championships and B.E. games trials.

Standout of an otherwise dull opening day card was Rich Ferguson, 17-year-old member of the North Toronto Red Devils Track Club who shattered the Canadian native three-mile run with a brilliant effort. His time of 14 minutes, 49.8 seconds, was a good chunk off the 15.05 mark set by Cliff Salmond of Victoria last July 10.

But there's an ironical touch to it. The youngster's time was 4.8 seconds off the B.E. games standard of 14.45—yardstick by which officials determine who will be on the New Zealand-bound ship next December.

It will probably be known tonight whether he is recommended for the free trip to Auckland. The National Track and Field committee of the Amateur Athletic Union makes the recommendations about athletes who should go to the Games Association and it is believed Ferguson's name will be on the list.

Standard Broken Once

The standard was broken once and tied once in the four-hour meet, but some of the winners in the heats and semi-finals in the sprints and middle distances weren't working too hard, resulting in a parade of slow times that would hardly warrant a trip "down under."

Eric Coy of Winnipeg, who competed for Canada in the 1938 B.E. games at Sydney, Australia, and also in the 1948 Olympics in London, came up with the lone better-than-standard figure in the shot put. He tossed the iron 46 feet, 2⅝ inches, against the standard mark of an even 46 feet.

Shirley Gordon of Vancouver, another olympic competitor last year, equalled the five-foot-one-inch standard in Winnipeg in the women's running high jump.

Coy and the Vancouver girl probably will be selected for the Empire Championships.

Joyce Brennan of Hamilton won the women's discus throw with a toss of 30 feet, 2⅜ inches. No standard was set for the event.

Wins Hammer Throw

A likely games competitor is S. Sigfusson of Winnipeg, winner of the men's hammer throw over Canadian champion George Sutherland, 46-year-old farmer from De Winton, Alta. Sigfusson's distance was 147 feet, compared with the Albertan's 145 feet 7¼ inches. The games standard is 155 feet.

Generally, it was a Western "Field Day". With a representation of less than 40 in the 200-athlete meet, the Westerners demonstrated they would be tough to beat.

Five Westerners have qualified for the final of the 100-yard women's dash; four advanced to the finals in the 440-yard men's event and four in the men's 100-yard sprint final. All of these will be raced today.

Shell Oil Rallies To Nip Nationals By 9 to 8 Count

Shell Oil came from behind a five-run deficit in the second inning last evening to nip the C.N.R. Nationals at the wire and take a thrilling 9-8 victory, that boosted them into a playoff spot and dumped the trainmen into the discard. In an agonizingly long nightcap Stewart Warner crushed Anti Tank 26-6 in five innings.

C.N.R. opened the scoring in the top of the first pushing over two runs on an error and three singles. They took a commanding lead in the second frame piling up five more tallies on two walks, three singles and two Shell Oil counted twice in their end of the first on 2 errors and a double.

Jack Reid came in to relieve Shell-starter Art Empy in the third frame with one away and two on and retired the side with no more damage being done. He went the rest of the route walking one, striking out five and giving up one hit for one run.

Shell kept chipping away, counting a single run in the third on an error and a single. They added another in the fourth, were blanked in the fifth, and broke out for four markers in the sixth to take over the lead by one run. Burns opened the sixth with a triple to left field for his third hit of the game. Reid walked and Miller singled in Burns. Simmons and Jones flied out to the infield and Art Empy got a triple on a bad hop into left field that went over Ronsky's head. Ross Empy singled in the fourth run.

Tied in Seventh

C.N.R. tied the game in the seventh when Ronsky, who had walked went to second on a fielder's choice and scored on an error.

Shell won the game in the bottom of the seventh as Burns, who had reached first on a fielder's choice and gone to second on a passed ball raced home on an error to the shortstop.

Art Empy started for the winners and in two and one third innings walked four, struck out one, and gave up eight hits for seven runs. Reid went the rest of the way for the victory.

Demp Young was tagged for the loss over the seven inning route walking three, striking out three, and giving up 11 hits for nine runs.

Line Up: C.N.R. Nationals: W. Bellis c; Carr rf, ss; W. Nichol 2b; Hurrie 1b; Ronsky 3b; Rogers ss, replaced by Galpin, rf, in the 7th; A. Bellis lf; Bolster cf; D. Young p.

Called Whole Thing Off

One hour and forty minutes after the first ball was pitched Anti-Tank called the whole thing off as they went down 26-6 before a pile driving Stewart-Warner attack that took full advantage of 19 hits and 16 walks.

The Alemite had everything their own way scoring almost at will in every inning and never being in trouble at any time. It was their sixth win in eight starts.

Butcher coasted the distance for Alemite, walking six, striking out three and giving up seven hits for six runs.

Wright started for Anti-Tank and in four innings was smashed for 16 hits and 22 runs. He walked 14 to set a new record for the Commercial League and struck out four. Glen Kimmett retired the side in the fifth giving up two walks and three hits for four runs.

Big man at the plate was Gord Booth, Swaco first sacker, with five singles in six trips. Hazard of the losers had a double and two singles in three tries.

Line-ups:

HAPPY ENDING

Mrs. Thora Bydal, 68-year-old North Bay woman, lost for three days in the bush, is seen with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arnold Bydal, shortly after being reunited with her family. She lived on blueberries and rainwater.—Globe and Mail.

Woman, 68, Never Gave Up Hope When Lost in Woods

Kirk, Ont., July 18 (CP)—Lost in the bush 65 hours before stumbling out to a highway, 68-year-old Mrs. Thora Bydal Sunday told of her harrowing experience in the cold, mosquito infested wilderness.

She was picked up by a truck Saturday after being lost since Wednesday while on a blue-berry picking expidition north of this community, 50 miles west of North Bay.

"I got down on my knees and prayed," she said in an interview. "And when I was thirstiest, rain fell. I caught a few drops in a honey pail, enough to wet my throat. It gave me courage, helped me keep alive."

All she had was the honey pail and a small bottle of insect repellant.

She said she ate berries during the ordeal. On Friday she came in sight of a road and saw a bus, but in her hurry became lost again.

All day Friday 40 persons tramped the rugged terrain looking for her, including three carloads of North Bay residents. Relatives feared she was dead.

NINE LOSE LIVES IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

One Killed, Five Injured in Brockville Car Accident

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nine persons lost their lives in Ontario due to week-end accidents.

A double drowning took place at Massey, northern Ontario town, when Joan and Faye Burns, aged 10 and seven, died Sunday while swimming in the Sauble River. They were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Burns of Massey.

There were two other Ontario water deaths, Vera Burianyk, 24, of Toronto, drowning Saturday when a motor boat sank, and Carl Fries, 39, of Bridgeport, Ont., dying of injuries when his motor boat collided at Guelph with another vessel.

Another bad accident was at Brockville Sunday night, when a car left the road and killed Miss Hilda Reynolds, 33, of Brockville and injured five others, one seriously.

Other Ontario accidental deaths: Mrs. Ada Darch, 74, at Lakeview near Toronto when she walked into the path of a bus; Murray Lindsay, 26, of Thorndale, Ont., killed in a Saturday collision north of London; Wilfred Hackney, Kirkton, Ont., killed when his car left the road Saturday; Bruce Till of Niagara Falls, Ont., who died Saturday night of injuries suffered when his car hit a telephone pole.

Short-Sighted Man Nearly Had Last Swim

Darwin, Australia, July 18 (AP).—Edward Arnold, 54, is a little short-sighted, but he loves to swim.

He went for a dip in Darwin Harbor last night and a swift tide carried him out to sea. His glasses were on the beach and he couldn't tell which way it was to shore. So he paddled around for 12 hours, until a police launch picked him up this morning.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Southerly winds will bring warm humid air to most of Ontario today. Skies are clear over the central portion of the province and the cloud over the Lake Erie, Lake Ontario and Niagara regions is already beginning to break up in the western sections and should be clear of these regions by mid-afternoon. Tuesday will see skies clearing throughout Ontario in the morning with the air becoming less humid.

Crime Wave Hits Australian City

Sydney, Australia, July 18 — (CP) — Sydney now is in the midst of its worst crime wave since the end of the war, city police officers said Sunday.

Police attributed the increase in crime to the fact that more than 500,000 persons are jobless as a result of the strike of Australian coal miners.

Police said that many men who deserted a life of crime for steady jobs during a post-war anti-crime drive now are becoming criminals again. They are aided by the lighting restrictions and the fact that 200 of the picked police force of this city of 1,500,000 population now are in the coalfields to guard against violence.

Tension Eases After Mob Attempts To Remove Two Negroes From Jail

Groveland, Fla., July 18 (AP)—Tension gradually eased today after a touchy weekend during which an armed mob tried to take two Negroes out of jail. National Guard troops moved in to maintain order in this central Florida town, but left early today.

A touch of the Ku Klux Klan was here too. Pamphlets titled "Ideals of the Ku Klux Klan" were tossed from a group of about 20 cars which passed through.

Residents said three or four men were in each car; none wore the traditional Klan hoods and robes.

Sheriff W. V. McCall, who quieted the mob of about 100 men that gathered at the county courthouse in Taveres Saturday night, said he wasn't around when the Klan literature was tossed.

The two Negroes had been moved to another jail before the mob arrived, McCall reported because he expected trouble. They were arrested on an open charge in connection with the robbery of a white man and the kidnapping and subsequent rape of his wife Saturday.

Most of the town's 400 Negroes were moved to surrounding towns on trucks a few hours earlier.

About 80 guardsmen patrolled the main street for several hours Sunday night. There was no sign of trouble and they dispersed early today.

TOGLIATTI SAYS COMMIES CAN BE GOOD CATHOLICS

Italian Red Leader Attacks Vatican Decree

Rome, July 18. (AP)—Attacking the Vatican's excommunication decree, Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's leading Communist, Sunday told 2,500 of his followers they could be Communists and good Roman Catholics at the same time.

He labelled the decree a tactic "dragged from the darkest ages of humanity's history".

"We do not enter into the consciences of the militant (Communists) where there can reign faith and the convictions which satisfy them," he said.

The Vatican issued the edict Wednesday, declaring that all Roman Catholics who support Communism would be excommunicated and deprived of the church's sacraments and association with the faithful.

Excommunication would never destroy Communism, Togliatti told the Communist gathering in a Rome Theatre. His speech was the first reaction to the decree by a top Communist leader in Italy.

His suggestion that Communists could be good Catholics followed Communist policy in Italy where strife with the Vatican has been avoided. The Communists voted to accept the Lateran Accord which gave the church certain privileges in Italy.

Togliatti declared that the "new arm" of the excommunication decree was hurled against Communists because "forces of the state, despite constant pressure, have not served" to crush them.

Togliatti silenced with a gesture of his hand shouts from the audience of "we don't care", when he referred to the excommunication decree.

Paris (AP) — French Communist party leaders made clear in week-end speeches they will attempt to persuade Roman Catholics to work with the communists on the political and labor fronts.

France's top communist leader, Maurice Thorez, said the Vatican decree excommunicating communists and forbidding Roman Catholics to expose themselves to communist doctrines would not halt "our efforts for a union of the men of good will."

"We will continue our policy of union," he said in a speech at Grenoble yesterday. "We will continue our policy of the hand extended to the Catholics. We are sure that the hands that were joined in the battles of liberation will not be unclasped.

He Liked Wolves, Said They Were Just Like Humans

Perth, Scotland, July 18 (AP)—The man who said he could talk to wolves is dead.

Announcement was made today of the death in hospital Friday of Douglas Stuart Spens Stuart, 77.

Stuart, a fellow of the Zoological Society, became known as the "wolf man" of the London zoo.

A tall Scot with a beard, he said he could talk to wolves and understand them. He tamed them and owned four himself.

"To me," he once said, "wolves are just like human beings, very intelligent and lovable when you get to know them."

Drank Blood of Nine Slain Persons Statement Quotes Haigh as His Trial Opens

Lewes, Sussex, England, July 18 — (CP) — Handsome John George Haigh was quoted in court today as telling police he killed nine persons, drank some of their blood and then dissolved the bodies in acid.

Haigh pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to a charge of murdering Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon, 69, a wealthy widow, last Feb. 18. The debonair 39-year-old businessman walked jauntily to the bench and answered "not guilty" in a clear, firm voice.

Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe, a prosecutor at the International Nuernberg War Crimes trial, is Haigh's defence counsel. He read in court a statement he said Haigh gave to police admitting the killing of the widow and others. He said Haigh was "insane so as not to be responsible for the act," and thus innocent of premeditated murder.

Lured to Factory

The statement said Haigh lured Mrs. Durand-Deacon to a factory warehouse in nearby Crawley and shot her in the back of the head.

"Then I fetched a drinking glass and made an incision, I think with penknife, in the side of her neck, and collected a glass of blood, which I drank."

The statement also told of the killing of William Donald McSwann, a London youth, in 1944.

"I hit him on the head, then withdrew a glass of blood from his throat and drank it," said the statement.

McSwann, it continued, died within five minutes.

"I put him in a 40-gallon tank and disposed of him with acid," it related.

The statement also said Haigh killed McSwann's parents, Donald and Amy McSwann, in 1946, and Dr. Archibald Henderson and Mrs. Henderson, in 1948.

"In each of the last four cases I had my glass of blood as before," the statment continued.

A second statement introduced by Sir David quoted Haigh as confessing to police the murders of three other persons whose names were not mentioned. All were killed in the same way, the statement said, and their bodies dissolved.

The statement quoted Haigh as relating that the first case was that of a woman about 35 he met in a London suburb.

"She came with me to this flat," the statment said, "where I duly tapped her on the head with a cosh (short club) and tapped her for blood."

The second was "a youngish man about the autumn of the same year," and the third was "a girl who later told me her name was Mary." The statement did not say what year these killings were supposed to have occurred.

The statement added:

"I have had nothing to do with the disappearance of any persons other than those I have already mentioned."

Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross, who is prosecuting the case, told the jury of 11 men and one woman he would show the primary motive for the crime was financial gain.

He said Haigh's earlier statement to the police about drinking the blood was an indication of careful planning for an insanity plea.

Sir Hartley read to the jury Haigh's purported confession admitting all the police charges.

Sir Hartley said in his opening statement Haigh had admitted inducing Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon to visit a factory to discuss a scheme for manufacturing artificial plastic fingernails.

"And there, while she was looking at red paper for the fingernails," Sir Hartley said, "he shot her through the head."

The trial is taking place in the white-walled court here before 81-year-old Mr. Justice Travers Humphreys. Justice Humphreys has been associated with many famous cases. He helped defend Oscar Wilde and helped prosecute Roger Casement, hanged for treason in the First World War. He also tried several members of the Irish Republican Army.

A huge crowd gathered outside the courtroom. For weeks hotel accommodations in this town of 12,000 have been booked. The courtroom is so small that only about 30 spectators can be seated.

'Premeditated Murder'

Sir Hartley told the jury:

"I shall put this to you as a case attended by certain unpleasant, sordid and even nauseating features which is, in reality, an exceedingly simple case of carefully premeditated murder for gain."

Sir Hartley stated that last February Haigh, a dapper well-dressed man, and Mrs. Durand-Deacon were residing in a quiet Kensington hotel.

Haigh, a person apparently without any regular source of income was about $320 overdrawn at the bank and was being pressed for payment of his hotel bill, the attorney-general said.

"On Feb. 18—and I use now the language of the prisoner himself—he inveigled Mrs. Durand-Deacon from the hotel to Crawley (in Sussex) where she was killed, her body being partially dissolved in sulphuric acid."

The next day Haigh, Sir Hartley said, under aliases sought to obtain the money he needed from the sale of the woman's personal belongings.

"Superspeed Jet Aircraft" Feature Russian Air Parade During Aviation Day Show

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, July 18. (AP)—Russia celebrated Aviation Day Sunday by showing off four new planes officially described as "superspeed jet aircraft."

Foreign observers, high Soviet leaders and the general public watched hundreds of fighters and bombers streak across the sky in an impressive display of Soviet air might.

One foreign air attache said the new jets "seemed extraordinarily fast".

Prime Minister Stalin, who appeared in good health and spirits, watched from the club house veranda at Tushino airfield throughout the two-hour show. His son, Lt.-Gen. Vassily Stalin, commanded the military section of the demonstration.

The new jets, three single-engine and one two-engine type, whizzed past the reviewing stand at extremely low levels. The weather was excellent.

The Russians demonstrated a tail-less glider which did loops, turns and spirals as a crowd of almost 1,000,000 watched.

The audience also saw three familiar types of jet fighters, Jakovlev, Mikoyan, and Lavochkin, breezed over the field singly and in formations of three, five and nine.

Among the watchers were the United States Ambassador, Admiral Alan G. Kirk, and other diplomats, with their military, naval and air attache, said it was "a very interesting show."

"Especially noteworthy was the fact that it was restricted completely to modern aircraft. There were absolutely no obsolescent types.

"As usual, the formation and acrobatic flying was magnificent. Such performance comes only after great practice." Stevens has seen two previous aviation day displays here.

Marshal Konstantin A. Vershinin, commander-in-chief of the Soviet Air Forces, said in an aviation day article in Pravda, official Communist Party newspaper, that no single weapon can win a war.

He said Anglo-American warmongers assume wrongly that the Russians and their Allies "will be intimidated by the so-called "atomic' or 'pushbutton' warfare.

Vershinin said British and American aviation leaders exaggerated the importance of air power because the two countries do not have "reliable reserves of manpower" for infantry and other services.

SPEEDY MODEL PLANES

Brantford, Ont., July 18 (CP)—A speed record for model planes is believed to have been set Sunday at the Brantford airport by two Toronto brothers flying as a team, in the Brantford Kloudsters Model Aircraft contest sponsored by Brant County Motors.

So far as members of the Kloudsters know, the previous unofficial world record was 163.4 miles an hour. The mark set by Brian and Gordon Hockins was 163.6.

BOAT EXPLODES PROMPT ACTION SAVES 16 LIVES

Belleville Resident Among Those Injured

Gravenhurst, Ont., July 18 (CP)—Prompt action by rescuers saved 16 lives Saturday when the motor cruiser Sarah Maude blew up and sank in nearby Lake Muskoka within 90 seconds.

Team work among occupants of four rescue boats, who hustled to the scene, had the struggling victims out of the water within a few minutes after the Sarah Maude explosion.

Rescuers included the internationally-known speed boat driver, Harold Wilson, of Ingersoll, Ont., who dived in to help hoist the stunned and burned victims from the water.

The blast occurred during speed trials of Wilson's entry for the Harmsworth Cup race at Detroit later this summer. The Sarah Maude was acting as a marker around which his speedster could cut a trial course. Cause of the explosion is unknown but it is believed a pocket of gas fumes in the engine well may have become ignited by the starter.

Ten injured were taken to Bracebridge, 10 miles north of here and 90 miles north of Toronto. Of these, one, Joy Brown of Toronto, was discharged. Of the others, only one, Mrs. Gerald Richardson, Sr., of Toronto, is considered in critical condition.

The other injured: Mrs. L. K. Coles, Ingersoll, Ont., first and second degree burns; her sons, Roger, three, broken leg, and Bobby, seven, broken leg and broken arm; Mrs. Gerald Richardson, Jr., of Toronto, burns; Miss Mabel Clark, Ingersoll, burns; Miss Margaret Starr, Ingersoll, burns; Mrs. Millicent Myles, 83 Victoria Ave. Belleville, head injuries; Dorothy Uren, 13, Ingersoll, burns to back and legs.

Wilson in his Miss Canada IV had made one circuit of the course at about 90 miles an hour when his wife, in the Sarah Maude, noticed her anchor had broken loose. She switched on the engine starter and the blast followed.

Triplets Doing Well on First Anniversary

London, Ont., July 18 (CP).—Two gurgling little sub-debs and a be-diapered man-about-town celebrated something like their London debut Sunday with a quiet "at home".

It was the first birthday of the first triplets to come out of St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Exactly one year ago Sunday the two girls and a boy were born to Mrs. Kathleen Easdown, pretty 27-year-old wife of Leonard R. Easdown.

The babies have a collective show of nine teeth to satisfy enquiring visitors. Bill leads the field with four. Brenda has three and Blanche tags behind with two.

In the avoidupois department Bill is still away out in front with a scales threatening 23 pounds 10 ounces. Sister Brenda weighs in at 19 and Blanche still tags along with an even 18 pounds.

All three children are fair with blue eyes.

Can they walk yet?

"Well not exactly," Mr. Easdown admitted reluctantly. . . . "Should they be able to?"

Court Asks Home, Understanding For Boy Who Caused Grocer's Death

San Francisco, July 18 (AP)—Juvenile authorities hope someone will come forward today with an offer of a home, love and understanding for a seven-year-old boy who killed a man.

Teddy Moreno, housed in the nursery of the juvenile home, is completely unaware that he killed Fred Throckmorton, 67, his grocer friend, Friday.

Judge Milton D. Sapiro said the shooting was accidental. There is no thought of punishing the boy, he added. The court just wants a new home for him.

"He comes from a disturbed family," the judge said. The eldest of six children, little Teddy lived with his father and stepmother. His mother abandoned him when he was a baby and nearly four years of his life have been spent in foster homes.

Commented Judge Sapiro:

"He's a rejected child. He seeks affection he isn't getting at home. The boy was never a disciplinary problem."

The shooting took place in Throckmorton's store. The boy had been sent there by his stepbrother. While the grocer filled an order, Teddy walked behind the counter and saw the gun. He picked it up, apparently thinking it a toy—like one he had at home—and pulled the trigger.

Toronto Woman Victim of Attack Two Men Sought

$500 Reward Offered For Conviction of Pair

Toronto, July 18 (CP).—A $500 reward was offered by police today for information leading to the arrest and conviction of two men who assaulted and raped a 30-year-old Toronto woman and robbed her of $36.

Acting Inspector James Harper said it was "one of the worst cases of rape in years". A police identification lineup will be held today.

The woman told police she was on her way to visit friends when a green car pulled alongside her and two men forced her inside. She said the car drove to three different spots in the northern part of the city and the men criminally assaulted her each time. The assailants then smashed her glasses, she said, struck her in the face and took $36 from her purse.

Ordered from the car, the woman boarded a street car and travelled north to city limits. She said the green car had followed the street car so she travelled back down to the downtown district and told her story to another passenger.

The victim, an unmarried woman employed in a telegraph office, told police the men called each other "Jack" and "Paul".

Pied Piper Could Make Millions in U.K.

London, July 18 (Reuters)—A "Pied Piper of Hamelin" would make a fortune in Britain today.

Britain's 40,000,000 rats are costing the country £25,000,000 ($100,000,000) in damage a year and their annual food consumption is 2,000,000 tons.

A single rat is estimated to eat 50 pounds of food a year and spoil twice as much.

A new and ugly feature is the increase in the numbers of the particularly destructive black rat. Once it had a 500-year monopoly in this country. It was thought to have been driven out by its brown cousin in the 18th century, but returned about 25 years ago and is now multiplying rapidly.

Parliament takes a serious view of the situation. This month it tightened up its anti-pest regulations. Local authorities throughout the country now have a definite duty to prevent infectation. They have power to enter buildings to perform necessary operations without first serving notice.

Impatient Tourist Wanted His Beer--Now

Cooksville, Ont., July 18 (CP)—A United States tourist left this small community near Toronto yesterday, thirsty and disappointed.

Just before leaving for a tour of Northern Ontario, he called Cooksville police and asked Constable Ed Cavan where he could get a case of beer. When the officer replied that beer was not sold in Ontario on Sundays, the man said: "I don't want it tomorrow, I want it today. I'm thirsty."

Police discovered later that a practical joker had suggested the tourist call headquarters.

QUIET MOVES SEEN TO IMPROVE U.S. LOOKOUT IN NORTH

Increased Emphasis Placed on Need of Safeguards in Polar Areas

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, July 18. (AP)—New indications of quiet moves by the United States to improve its military outlook in the Far North have been disclosed in official quarters.

Among the projects is work on a small naval operating base located in a fiord at Grondal, near the southwest tip of Greenland.

This little-known installation is used to provide limited repair and general supply service to ships operating in that area, the United States Navy says. As far as is known, this is one of the most northern of the Navy's secondary bases in the Atlantic and Arctic regions.

Increasing emphasis is being placed on the possibility of air attack on the United States across the Polar regions. Thus both the United States Navy and Air Force have been intensifying efforts to maintain patrol of those regions.

Build Special Ships

The Navy, since the war has begun building or conversion of ships and submarines into specially-designed radar picket craft. Their mission is to watch for strange planes stealing in across the top of the world. The work of these craft is supplemented by the routine operations of small naval craft operating on ordinary survey mission along the lonely coast lines of the far north. Landing craft and vessels up to 50 tons do much of this coastal survey work.

The U.S.A.F. already has asked Congress for funds to build a network of radar aircraft detection stations along the northern rim of the North American continent. It also is seeking funds to improve aerial navigation of its planes.

The status of United States bases in Greenland is obscure.

Negotiations between Denmark, which Ownser Joznd, and the Uniter States have been under way for about two years. They are directed at substituting some new agreements to replace the wartime understandings which enabled the United States to operate military installations in Greenland.

Denmark Hesitant

Denmark, close to Russia is reported to have been hesitant about making commitments with the United States for defence bases against possible attack by the Russians.

The United States has had no troops in Greenland or Iceland since soon after the war.

Copenhagen, (AP)—The Danish Foreign Ministry today denied any knowledge of a small American naval operating base in a fjord near the southwest tip of Greenland, as reported by official quarters in Washington.

The Greenland administration authority, a government agency also said it knew nothing of the base.

FINED $100 AND COSTS FOR DANGEROUS DRIVING

BLAME YOUNG BOYS FOR TWO BREAKINS

Young boys are blamed by police for two break-ins which were reported early today—one at the Foley Foundry and Machine Company, and the other at Thompson's Crane and Transit office, both on Front Street.

At Foley's the intruders ransacked the office taking two fountain pens, a flashlight; $20 in stamps and the cash from the automatic soft drink vendor. They even secured the key for the vendor and helped themselves to cold cokes.

Nothing was reported missing at the scene of the other break-in.

DRIVER OF TRUCK MAY FACE TWO CHARGES

Wanted for leaving the scene of an accident near Marysville, Donald Lemon of Odessa, driving an army type truck, was apprehended by local police last night.

Alerted by provincial police, local officers stopped the truck on Front Street and later found several bottles of ale in the vehicle. He was charged with having possession of liquor at other than his residence, while Provincial police stated that possibly a second charge would be laid against the driver.

21 Panes Glass Broken in School

If young boys must throw stones there is a certain man in the city who would appreciate very much if the stones were thrown in any direction but the Pine Street public school.

Late last week the caretaker of Queen Victoria School called police to say that eight windows in the north side of the school had been broken, the missile stones and smashed glass being found scattered over a freshly painted floor.

Over the weekend the same thing happened, only this time it was 21 panes of glass which took the count.

Drunk Motorist Chose Middle of Street for Snooze

The old saying that discretion is the better part of valor must have a staunch supporter in the person of a motorist who Sunday night was found sleeping in his parked car — in the middle of Yeomans Street.

Police were informed of a car without lights blocking traffic on Yeomans Street and on investigation found the lone occupant to be asleep. When aroused he showed evident signs of having indulged unwisely and too well and he was promptly booked on a drunk charge.

"By stopping his car and going to sleep he undoubtedly saved himself being picked up on a drunk driving charge," commented police.

Six Fire Calls Over the Weekend

With no less than six calls being turned in local firemen had a rather busy weekend as they answered calls ranging all the way from a false alarm to a run to the hospital with iron lung equipment.

Saturday they were called to Thurlow Township for a grass fire near the C.N.R. coal chute, while the same evening a car was reported afire on Cannifton Road. The car fire was extinguished before serious damage resulted.

Early Sunday morning an awning at the Albert Style Shop on Front street was reported ablaze, the fire being put out by firemen. A small hole was burned in the awning. A carelessly tossed cigarette butt was blamed for the blaze.

Sunday afternoon a bundle of rags was reported afire at Wheeler's Junk Yard on Station street, while Sunday evening they were called to Coulter's store on North Front street, the run turning out to be a false alarm.

A second car fire on Cannifton Road was reported this morning, but here again the trouble was remedied before damage resulted.

PARACHUTE FAILS TO OPEN

Rutland, Vt., July 18 (CP) — Georges Beaudoin, 23, of Stanhope, Que., a member of the United States Army, was killed yesterday when his parachute failed to open, following a jump from an army plane.

Beaudoin, whose parents live in Stanhope, in the Eastern Townships, was tas taking part in exercises of the American Army.

Legion District Picnic, Service Plans Completed

With a record crowd expected to be in attendance, the Annual Drumhead Service and Picnic of the Commander of District "F", Canadian Legion will be held in Cobourg, Ont., on Sunday, July 31, district command headquarters announced today. The District Commander is Frank Threadgold, Whitby, Ont.

Over fifteen hundred Legionnaires attended the drumhead service and picnic last year and it is expected this number will be increased in 1949.

District branches include Ajax, Bowmanville, North Pickering, Port Perry, Sunderland, Oshawa, Whitby, Uxbridge, Highland Creek, Brighton, Campbellford, Deseronto, Madoc, Picton, Stirling, Cobourg, Colborne, Frankford, Port Hope, Trenton, Warkworth, Belleville, Tweed, Wellington, Beaverton, Cannington, Fenelon Falls, Havelock, Lakefield, Marmora, Millbrook, Norwood, Peterborough, Haliburton, Kirkfield, Kinmount, Lindsay, Woodville, Apsley, Bancroft and Hastings.

Work on Section Of North Highway Being Rushed

Modern excavation machinery, heavy trucks and dynamite are gradually rushing work on the new part of the Madoc-Bancroft highway which starts at Bannockburn and connects with the Faulkner highway east of Millbridge.

The right-of-way has been cut through timbered and rocky terrain and excellent views of the construction work are now visible from parts of the old highway.

The new stretch of highway follows a straight line west of the old road from Bannockburn and will connect with the southern tip of the Faulkner highway at Millbridge.

According to travellers returning from that section of the county over the weekend, the work is going rapidly forward.

Pavement work has also been completed on that part of the highway three miles south of Bannockburn.

Young Liberals Enjoy Picnic

Upwards of thirty young people attended the first annual basket picnic of the Belleville Young Liberals Association, held Saturday afternoon at Presqu'Ile Point.

The group spent the afternoon swimming and hiking. After supper an exhibition softball game was staged with "Follwell's Falcons" downing the opposition 9-7 in five innings. Following the ball game Mr. Follwell was escorted to the edge of the Presqu'Ile dock where strong-armed members of the association assisted him into the water with a rousing "Heave Ho."

The group returned to the city after the dance in the evening.

Transportation to and from the Point was by chartered bus and private cars. Refreshments were served.

"Best 1st Year Recruit" Award Won By Pte. Frank Allin, Hasty Pees, Over Rookies From Other Units

A first-year recruit of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment won signal honors for himself and his unit during the regiment's summer training period at Petawawa Military Camp last week.

He is Private Frank Allin, son of Alderman and Mrs. H. J. Allin, 135 North Front Street, who was adjudged the "best first-year recruit" in camp during the training period.

Allin won a gold cup and a $10 cash award when he defeated crack first-year recruits from several other infantry regiments in training during the week period.

The cup was presented to the Belleville reserve army soldier by Lieut. General Gus Vokes while the cash prize donated by the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was presented by its commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. Reg. Abrahams.

Allin took top marks in deportment, knowledge of arms, rifle drill, Bren and Sten gun operation, military law and intelligence and conduct.

The cup will be on display in a window of Lattimer's Drug Store on Tuesday.

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment returned from Petawawa Camp on Saturday after completing the prescribed seven-day summer training period.

Quakers Urge U.S. to Place A-Weapons Under U.N. Seal

Philadelphia, July 18 (AP)—The American Friends Service Committee urges that the United States take the lead in promoting world disarmament by putting its stock of atoric weapons under United Nations seal and halt its concentration of fissionable material.

In a "state of the world" report released during the weekend, the Quaker organization—winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1947—also recommended a resumption of normal exports to Russia and her satellites as a step toward solution of the east-west conflict.

Six-Month Study

The report, based on a six-month study of global conflict, was drafted by 16 persons who conferred regularly with specialists on Russian-American relations. Volumes of history and theory also were studied while experts of all countries were questioned.

The core of the cold war, the report stated, is economic and "economic warfare is a two-edged sword."

The report listed as crippling moves the United States embargo on trade with Russia and the Soviet refusal to participate in the Marshall plan. But it added those moves do not have "any substantial bearing on the retarding of a country's relative war potential."

The committee said the report is tentative and is released for discussion and constructive criticism.

It stated there is no substantial evidence "that economic recovery and further industrialization in the eastern European countries would result in any increased threat to the security of the United States of western Europe.

"On the contrary, recovery and industrialiation are in fact, at least as likely to lead to these countries being able, in the long run, to take a more independent position and play a more mitigating role in the east-west conflict."

Suggests Normal Exports

The committee recommended resumption of "normal exports" to Russia and eastern Europe.

The committee said there is a widespread world desire for peace and concluded:

"The evidence does not justify the conclusion that either the United States or the Soviet Union intends, at the present time in the unforeseeable future, to promote its foreign policy by military aggression."

Father of Three Held on Count Of Rape-Murder

Rochester, N.Y., July 18—(AP)—William Draper, 29-year-old father of three boys, was held today as the man who raped Mrs. Jennie O'Keefe, 73, and beat her to death in a dark field.

Mrs. O'Keefe, the mother of a Rochester policeman, was killed Saturday night as she started a two-week vacation from her job as a department store seamstress.

A mysterious telephone call from a woman yesterday led police to the battered body hidden behind bushes about four miles from the slaying scene. Her clothing was torn.

Draper was arrested last night as he started to drive away from his mother's home with his wife and three children.

Clarence Henry, assistant district attorney, said Draper denied the killing until he viewed Mrs. O'Keefe's body, then broke down and confessed.

Draper was charged with first-degree murder.

Henry said the suspect gave this version of the slaying in a signed statement:

By appointment, he met Mrs. O'Keefe Saturday night in a Rochester tavern where he had seen her several times previously.

He was to drive her to the rooming house where she lived.

When he proposed a longer ride, she agreed, but she resisted his attentions when the car was parked on a roadside.

He dragged her into the field, punched her with his fists, raped her and hauled her back into the car.

For some time he drove around, uncertain that she was dead. Then he hid the body.

Dr. Floyd S. Winslow, a coroner's physician, said it was "one of the worst cases of rape I have ever seen."

THREE YOUTHS ARRESTED AT GUNPOINT AT BARRIE

Barrie, Ont., July 18 (CP) — Provincial Police arrested three Barrie youths at gunpoint today on charges of theft and illegal possession of firearms. Police said the youths, Elmer Wright, 19, Elmer Corbett, 17, and Carl Matthews, 17, were carrying revolvers.

Police said the youths, arrested while trying to steal a car, were found in possession of guns, ammunition and clothing stolen from a Barrie store several days ago.

Kansas Long 'Dry' Will Get Liquor Legally at Stores

Topeka, Kas., July 18—(AP)—Liquor will go on sale l-e-g-a-l-l-y in Kansas this week.

It will mark the end of an era of colorful crusading and a multi-million dollar bootlegging business in this long-time stronghold of prohibition.

For almost 70 years the sale of liquor has been banned in Kansas by the state constitution. And for 32 years the state "bonedry" law made possession of so much as a thimbleful of liquor punishable by a jail sentence.

But, last November Kansans voted 422,294 to 358,310 to repeal prohibition.

After a two months' struggle, mainly to retain local option, the legislature passed a liquor control act. It wiped the bone-dry law from the statue books.

Then followed four months of feverish work to establish a control and licensing set-up.

Late today, the state liquor control office will mail out license for more than 260 privately-owned stores to retail liquor or high per cent beer. Beer of less than 3.2 per cent alcohol was legalized in 1957.

Despite the seemingly radical change for traditionally dry state, no wild binge is in the making.

Saloons and public drinking are barred. Liquor will be sold only in packages at stores licensed soley to sell intoxicants.

DROWNED JUMPING INTO RIVER AS ENGINE AFIRE

Pembroke, Ont., July 18—(CP)—Daniel M. O'Connell, 38, was drowned Saturday when he jumped from his motorboat into the Ottawa River after the boat's gasoline engine caught fire. His two companions put out the fire but could find no trace of O'Connell.

O'Connell was a boat operator for the Upper Ottawa Improvement Company. Michael Smith of Chichester and Ruban Farrel of Renfrew said they heard him say "here goes" and leap into the water when the engine caught fire after he lit a match to investigate an engine failure.

Says Five Could Have Been Saved By Keeping Seats

Sorel, Que., July 18 (CP).—The story of a St. Lawrence River party which ended in tragedy when five persons were drowned after leaping from a flaming motor launch is scheduled to be held here today at an inquest.

Lucien Cournoyer, 21-year-old survivor of the seven-member party, said Sunday that if all had remained in the 18-foot boat after a gasoline explosion flared from the engine cockpit, they would have been saved.

He blamed panic for the accident, near the little island of Ste. Anne de Sorel, nine miles from this south shore city and about 50 miles down-river from Montreal.

The dead, all of Sorel, are Herve 27, and Marcel Cournoyer, 17, brothers; Lucienne, 29, and Gisele Cournoyer, 20, sisters; Therese Cournoyer, 21, a cousin of the others.

Lucien Cournoyer, a brother of four of the dead, and Yvon Charbonneau, 24, a friend, helped each other through the inky blackness of the river to shore.

The accident happened about 11:30 p.m. Later, a resident of the Sorel group of islands put out the fire aboard the launch and towed it to shore. Ironically, it showed little evidence of the fire.

The river excursion in the launch which Odilon Beauchemin had loaned the group followed a gay dinner party. Lucien Cournoyer was at the wheel when the explosion happened.

"There was a terrific bang," he said later. "I knew it was an explosion. Then flames leapt out of the engine.

"I got up from my seat and looked around. There was no one left aboard. Everybody had jumped before I could even get up from the wheel.

"I guess they were all seized with panic. I jumped, too. I heard some of the others screaming for help. It was so dark I couldn't see anything."

Only three members of the party were swimmers. Lucien said he reached for his brother, Marcel, who was sinking in the water. He grabbed his hand, but could not get a proper hold.

Annual Mess Picnic Enjoyed at the Outlet

Approximately 80 members, associate members, their wives and children of the sergeants' mess 9th A/TK Regt. (SP) R.C.A. were present at the fourth annual mess picnic held at Outlet Beach on Sunday.

A well planned sports program under the chairmanship of Sgt. Butler resulted in the following winners being declared:

Girls 6 yrs. and under—Phylis Fritz; boys 6 yrs. and under, Mike Foxan; girls 7-9 yrs., Jackelyn Murphy; boys 7-9 yrs, Freddy Clarke; girls 10-14 yrs. Irene Laney; boys 10-14 yrs., Earnest Laney; ladies three-legged race, Mrs Mcluskie and Mrs. Flindall; wheelbarrow race, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Calleghan; coke race, Mr. and Mrs. Outerkirk.

Mess President B. S. M. Kokesh presented each winner with prizes and members of the Mess gave each child present a sand pail and shovel and water balls.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in a challenge softball game between the associate members and at active members. The old reliable associate members took the younger active into camp to the tune of 18 to 3.

Much credit is due to the committee in charge for one of the most successful picnics to date.

Chairman Frank Butler and transportation Chairman Ernie Dainard did yoeman service and all present congratulated them for their excellent arranged programs.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, July 18 (CP) —Prices slipped slowly as trading slowed to a snails pace here today. Base Metals held against the downward trend following news of increases in the price of zinc. Industrials dipped on steadily widening fractional losses and gold producers weakened from early firmness. Western Oils held firm.

A half-cent increase in zinc by a United States custom smelter and Consolidated Mining and Smelting in Canada tended to tighten the base metal group. Waite Amulet added 40 cents at $9 in active dealings and United Keno Hill, Normetal, Pend Oreille and Falconbridge were moderate

Papers slipped slightly in an easier industrial list. Changes were held to fractions with the slightest bit of pressure tending to depress prices. Liquors eased and a few Utilities were mixed.

Early gains in Golds were cut into and in some cases wiped out as trading progressed. Kerr Addison slipped into the minus column and Junior Produces showed losses ranging up to eight cents. Eldona was in demand early in the day following a report from the property.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, July 18 — (CP) — Produce prices on the spot market here this morning were quoted as follows:

Churning cream, unchanged. No. 1, 58 cents fob; 62 delivered.

Receipts on the egg market are inadequate and all grades have advanced. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: Grade A large 67; Grade A medium 65; Grade A pullet 54-55; Grade B 46; Grade C 38. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large 70-71; Grade A medium 68-69; Grade A pullet 58-59; Grade B 49-50; Grade C 42.

Butter solids are unchanged. Tenderable solids 58; other first grades 57.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, July 18—(CP)—Prices were steady on all grades on the local livestock market up to noon. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 4,200; calves 800; hogs 500; sheep and lambs 600. Left from last week's trading were 200 head.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $22-$22.75 and medium to good light steers were $20.50-$21.50 with good heifers at $20.50-$21. Plain light steers and heifers sold downward to $18. Medium to good cows sold at $14.50-$16 with canners and cutters at 10-$13. Good bulls were $18-$19 with plain kinds downward to $15 and fed yearlings sold at $20-$23.50. A few stockers sold at 16-$17.75.

Calves were steady at $21-$23 for good to choice with plain to mediums at $16-$20. Grass calves sold for slaughter at $13-$15.

Hog prices were unsettled.

Good lambs sold steady at $28.50 for good ewes and wethers with $1 discount on bucks. Good light sheep were $11-$13 with culls downward to $6.

HOGS

Toronto, July 18 (CP)—Hog prices at Stratford are unchanged. Grade A, to farmers $32.85, delivered; to truckers $33. Other markets unreported.

30 Drape-Suited Youths Attack, Rob Lithuanians

Toronto, July 18 — (CP) — A screaming mob of 30 drape-suited youths attacked two Lithuanian couples in Toronto's High Park and robbed them of $53, police said today.

Eight police cars were dispatched to the park minutes after the alleged robbery but none of the assailants were found.

Bleeding from face cuts, the four victims were taken to hospital for treatment and later released. They are: Jonas Sahalasskas, 30, who said he was punched in the face and robbed of $50; Lita Linartae, 19; Algis Cluzas, 23, who was beaten when he went to protect Miss Linartae; and Zena Kirejawate, 19, who was robbed of $3.

Study Proposal To Widen Scope Burnt-out Pension

Ottawa, July 18— (CP) —The government has prepared one amendment to veterans legislation for submission to the fall session of parliament and is considering others, it was learned today.

Top priority among those still under study is being given a proposed widening of the War Veterans Allowance statute—the so-called burnt-out pension—to take in men who served in allied forces during one or both of the Great Wars and who have lived in Canada 20 years.

The amendment the government has accepted is one affecting another bulwark of the Veterans Charter—the Veterans Land Act. A considerable number of men who have settled under its small holdings provisions now find themselves transferred to other cities by their employers.

The amendment would allow them, with certain qualifications, to sell their properties to other veterans.

The maximum allowances are $40 a month for single men and $70 for married men. They are paid to aged or needy veterans and widows of veterans and to a relatively few orphans.

Life is No Cinch For Racing Pigeon

Kitchener, July 18—(CP)—Snowball, a nonchalant and stout-hearted racing pigeon, is back home here after a 500-mile trip in which he evaded death by a tail feather.

Pride of Skee Wicks' pigeon loft, Snowball was sent on a trip to Decatur, Ill. A heavy rainstorm threw the birds off course and the first racers did not return to Kitchener until a day later. Snowball was missing.

Five days later a Brantford pigeon fancier telephoned Wicks. Apparently Snowball was hit by a charge of buckshot outside Brantford. A motorist found him walking down the highway with a damaged wing and took him to a Brantford fire hall. Later the firemen gave him to the man who telephoned Wicks.

Fight Between Young Boys Nearly Ends in Tragedy

Choked almost into insensibility by an enraged playmate, 10-year-old Max Turner, son of Mrs. E. Turner, 19 Murney Street, possibly had his life saved Sunday evening when two women who happened to be nearby intervened.

The incident took place near the rear of the new firehall on Moira Street when the two lads who were returning from a swim, got into an argument which developed into a fight.

The larger 13-year-old boy had the younger lad down and was choking him unmercifully when the fracas was seen by the two women who called the firemen.

Fireman Leo Culhane pulled the larger boy away and applied artificial respiration to the other boy to revive him.

"The fight might very well have had serious consequences if it had not been interrupted," stated Fireman Culhane today. "The younger boy was white in the face and unable to stand when the bigger boy was pulled away."

Like Walking Into Wall of Oatmeal Says Columnist After Hit by Pie

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, July 18 —(AP) — Splat! It was like walking into a wall of oatmeal. Everything went black.—and with good reason.

My eyes were plastered shut with gooey meringue. Chocolate custard plugged my nostrils.

I shook my head and a glob of pie filling splattered to the ground.

This is what it's like to be hit in the face with a pie.

The assailant was funnyman Jack Carson, who performed upon request. It was part of my research into that venerable movie tradition; the tossed pie.

Most features of the motion picture are borrowed from its parent, the legitimate stage. A few are original with the movie medium; they include the western film, which has no counterpart in the theatre, and the tossed pie.

The latter is on the upswing again, now that Hollywood has decided the public wants comedy instead of psychological drama.

One of the most promising of the new comedy crop is "Good Humor Man," which has expended as many as 200 real pies daily during its shooting. Director Lloyd Bacon is veteran of more than 30 years of film pastry hurling, both the sending and receiving end.

Bacon says there are three varieties of this type of comedy:

1. The pushed pie; 2, the thrown pie; 3, (rare) the boomerang pie, which loops back to the sender.

Pies can be thrown with accuracy up to a distance of 10 feet, he said. Accuracy is important, since the pie has to land above the eyes for the full comedy value.

"The more dignified the receiver, the bigger the laugh," he added. "Also, it's important that the victim doesn't blink or otherwise anticipate the pie."

For further insight on the subject, I called on the dean of Hollywood comedy, Mack Sennett himself. He told me how it all started.

It was at Sennett's studio in 1914. About lunch-time one day, a director was trying to get a funny scene out of an uninspired comic.

"For heaven's sake, do something funny," he ranted. "Make a face, stand on your head—anything."

The director started the camera, but still the actor could do nothing funny. The leading lady suddenly lifted a pie from a set worker's lunch and hurled it at the comic.

Sennett recognized the humorous possibilities.

"From then on we used the pie at the slightest provocation," he recalled. "Whenever we were stuck for a gag, we put it in."

His choice as the best pitcher was Del Lord, who still directs shorts in Hollywood. Charlie Chaplin was also expert.

Dockers' Strike Causes Sense Of Frustration Among Workers

By ALAN HARVEY)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 18. (CP—A 65-year-old docker who has been a loyal trade unionist all his working life summed up the current confusion in dockland by one weary sentence.

"You know," he said, "I can't see any solution—maybe the best thing would be to scuttle those two Canadian ships."

The docker was only half in earnest. But his remark underlines the frustration felt by the majority of striking workers at the Port of London in the dispute over whether the Canadian freighters Beaverbrae and Argomont are "black" or "white".

They do not want to injure the government or country. But they have been told the ships are "black" and that they say they will never work them.

Nobody questions the loyalty of the dockers.

"During the war their record was second to none," a government official told The Canadian Press. "They are fine loyal chaps and they want to do what is right. But all their traditions and all their training lead them to believe they must not work a ship which is in dispute."

Meanwhile as issue piles on issue, charge succeeds countercharge and export cargoes accumulate on the docks, the government position is clouded by the fact that the strike had its roots in Canada.

The Labor Ministry is wary about interfering with trade-union interest which it has helped to nurture and there are vaguely understood complications of international marine law.

The result has been confusion among the dockers which the Manchester Guardian called "A miserable example of bewildered loyalties of decent men".

London newspapers have published "heart-break messages" from dockers' wives who say they don't understand what the strike is all about.

Many members of the Labor Party are sick at heart. Some of them have devoted the best part of their lives to fight honestly to help the Trade-Union movement attain the power they believe it deserves. Now, they feel, the principles of Trade-Union solidarity which are good in themselves are being used against the men by outside influences.

Three Days Horse Racing Will be Feature of Fair

Three days of horse racing, instead of the two as previously, will be featured at the Belleville Fair this year it was stated today by the fair secretary Erle S. Denyes.

A total of $1,250 from which there will be no entry fee or deductions made, will be provided for the races, it was stated.

With fair schedule for August 15th to 18th, inclusive, there will be horse racing on each day of the fair but Monday, the opening day.

On Tuesday two classes, the 2:17 trotting or pacing will be staged0, while on Wednesday 2:28 and the 2:24 classes for trotters and pacers will be run off. The final day will see the 2:26 class and the free-for-all for trotters and pacers. With the exception of the 2:28 class, trotters will be allowed three seconds.

Purses are $200 for each race with the exception of the free-for-all, for which the purse is $250.

The committee in charge of the races includes James Barber, as chairman, Dr. H. Welbanks, James Cowan, H. B. Stock, and E. S. Denyes, secretary.

Plan Cutdown Of Berlin Airlift

London, July 18. (AP)—Britain and the United States are planning a sharp cutdown of the Berlin Air Lift early in September.

Diplomatic officials reported that the cabinet approved the proposals today. The details were worked out by British and American officials in Berlin.

The authorities in the German capital were said to have agreed that they should stockpile enough food and coal to support Berlin for three months.

By September, Berlin is expected to have at least a three-month reservoir supplies. Britain already has reduced the number of civil aircraft chartered for the air lift. Thirty-one tanker aircraft and 10 dry cargo planes have been laid off.

The Berlin air lift has been going on for 13 months.

Tweed Fair Names Field Crop Winners

Tweed, July 18 (Special).—The Tweed Agricultural Society sponsored a field crop competition this year in Montcalm variety of barley. There were ten entries. Mr. Harry E. Redner of Ameliasburg judged the crops last Wednesday and his awards were made as follows:

Stanley Bateman, 80 points; Stanley Webb, 79½; William P. Cassidy, 79; Harvey M. Coulter, 78; Frank J. Mulroney, 75½; Francis J. Treacy, 75; Fred Healey, 71; Ambrose J. Hunt, 70; Bernard Hunt, 68; Thomas J. Whalen, 65.

First eight are the prize winners. The seed used in this competition was good certified seed and had it not been for weather conditions the farmers would have had a good crop of barley.

ENGINE FAILURES DELAY CNR TRAINS

Cornwall, Ont., July 18 —(CP) —Two Canadian National Railways trains running from Toronto to Montreal were delayed two hours each Sunday by engine failures between Brockville and Cornwall. Replacement engines were provided from Brockville.

The trains were No. 14, which left Toronto in the morning, and No. 6, the late-afternoon express from Toronto.

Bombs Explode In Barcelona, One Man Killed

Barcelona, Spain July 18—(AP) —Two bombs exploded here Sunday night, one of them killing a man and injuring nine other persons in the city's main square, the Plaza De Cateluna.

Two large bombs were discovered this morning in the largest hotel in Barcelona and removed by artillery officers before any damage was done.

The first bomb Sunday night shattered windows near the square. Two of the nine injured were women who were hurt so critically they were not expected to live.

The second smaller bomb exploded several hours later about three miles from the first. No one was injured. The blast was in a garden near the Pedralbes Palace the resident of Generalissimo Franco when he visited Barcelona last month. There were several bomb blasts during his visit to the city.

Police said the time bombs were of a completely different type from the two bombs exploded, indicating they possibly had been set by different groups.

Field Competition Results Announced

Results of the crop and field competition sponsored by the Belleville Agricultural Society were announced this week by the fair secretary, Erle S. Denyes. Judge for the competition was A. Ayre of Hampton, Ont.

Army Worm Spoiled Field

Army worms which have caused considerable damage to crops in the Western part of the province, were present in the field of one entrant in the crop and field contest, according to the judge. The army worm had attacked the field to the extent that the judge was forced to considerably reduce the number of points scored for the entrant.

Governor-General Reviews 3,000 Boy Scouts

Connaught Rifle Range, South March, Ont., July 18—(CP)—Boy Scouts, nearly 3,000 strong, with traditional Scout uniforms and staves will march past today when Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General reviews the International Scout Jamboree.

The colorful official opening to the week-long jamboree will culminate two years of planning at Canadian Boy Scout Headquarters.

Jamboree camp site is Connaught Rifle Ranges, 14 miles west of Ottawa, which draws sharpshooters from across Canada every year for the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association competition.

American Scouters set up a trading post where they swapped crests, troop flashes and other odds and ends of uniforms and equipment with their Canadian colleagues.

They brought supplies with them to start in business and there was a rush on the trading post most of the afternoon. The trading encouraged by Scout leaders to promote international goodwill —went on under a big marquee tent on the American camp site.

Religious services were observed Sunday, the first full day Scouts have been in camp. Buses rolled up to the Ranges yesterday from morning to late afternoon, transporting Scouts from railway sidings and downtown Ottawa.

Nearly the whole camp—some 2,500 persons—turned out for a combined outdoor service. Most Rev Alexandre Vachon, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Ottawa, officiated at mass for some 400 Roman Catholic Scouts.

MORE TREES SHOULD BE PLANTED

One of the beauties of Belleville, much commented upon by visitors, has been our fine maple trees. They have made archways of shade over our streets which are particularly welcome in summers such as the one we have been experiencing. Unfortunately, time and the elements take their toll of trees just as in other living things. Many of them have had to be cut down because of rot and age. Others are removed for one reason or another. The gaps in the avenues of our trees are becoming increasingly noticeable and many people are wondering whether anything is being done, on a planned program, to ensure future generations the same beauty that has been enjoyed by so many city residents in the past.

When a tree is lost through natural conditions another should be planted at the earliest opportunity. If the Parks Board must depend on property owners to make the request we do not believe that is sufficient. People are notoriously careless sometimes about ordinary things, and will not make the slightest effort to improve their properties. It remains, then, for the Parks Board to make a survey of city streets and note what is needed to replace lost trees.

The new housing area districts should also receive attention and an early start made on providing these areas with their quota of new trees. It may be that the Board has something like this in mind but, if it has, then we have not heard of it. It is probable that with the huge demand for new stock in recent years there may be a shortage of trees for ornamental purposes and we must turn to the old-fashioned way of getting trees from local sources such as farm wood lots and employing a special crew of men to transplant what is needed.

Seeing that Belleville is not blessed with too many parks perhaps the next best thing which can be done is provide our city with the natural adornment that lasts so many years and whose cost of upkeep is practically nil after the original investment is made. It is a project which, we feel, should receive active support of all public-spirited citizens.

RESTAURANT "BEEFS"

A survey was recently made in an Ontario city on pet "beefs" concerning restaurants and restaurant service. It was learned the most common complaint regarding restaur service was waitresses who do not wear hair nets and that many of them were not pleasant in their demeanor. One woman interviewed said she liked vinegar on French fries but she did not appreciate a vinegar expression on the waitress who served her.

One rather large man complained that some waitresses were lacking in common sense. For instance when he dines out with a smaller person, the waitress always gives the small fellow the big steak or other order, and he usually gets the smaller one. Another outstanding complaint was no "nickel cup o' coffee." One man remarked, "If I don't tip the first time, I get no service the next. It's expensive to tip at every meal."

Perhaps we are lacking in observation, but we do not recall having seen a waitress using a hairnet. Generally speaking most people find the girls to be pleasant, neat and courteous. Some are more pleasant than others, but that is true in other walks of life. The work is demanding and arduous and requires considerable tact when unpleasant and critical customers must be served. We have heard people express sympathy, as well, for the waitresses who are required to carry heavily-loaded trays from the kitchen to the serving table. This is work that would be heavy enough for a man and yet the girls go about their labors with no more concern than if they were carrying a small package of merchandise.

A competent waitress can add much to the enjoyment of a meal. While in another city some time ago we were served by a waitress who was most pleasant and efficient. Her attention to the small details of service was particularly notable and we were gratified. The food was no better than could be obtained in many other restaurants but the service this girl gave made one desire to patronize the restaurant again. The girl enjoyed her work and was an asset to the firm who employed her.

The service one gets in restaurants reflects the management which directs it. If prices are unduly high, the service sloppy and the food mediocre then it is not the waitresses to whom complaints should be directed but to the manager. On the other hand it does no harm to hand out praise when it is merited. We imagine few people think of it but it can do much to brighten the day for those who are engaged in an exacting work.

CONCERNING MEANS AND ENDS

People often argue that the end justifies the means. The trouble with this philosophy is that before long the means becomes an end in itself. A selfish, evil means employed to bring about a good end has in itself become the end, with its moral character as bad as ever.

We live in a universe where everything operates according to well-established laws. We observe this in the physical universe, and scientists through the centuries have been able to study some of the laws of nature and become familiar with the way they operate. We are beginning to see that there are definite psychological laws—that the mind does not operate capriciously but as the result of certain well-established patterns. Most people find it hard to realize, however, that there are spiritual laws which are as inflexible as the law of gravitation. If we want to achieve a good end, we must achieve that end through decent and righteous means. We cannot do evil things and cause good to result. A seed brings forth a shrub or a tree after its kind. An act set in motion a series of acts, which result in an end similar to the act in which the series had its origin.

No good end is served by lying or deceit, by dishonesty or compromise, by casting aside the laws of decency and restraint. As we sow, we reap.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

Over the telephone, a commanding voice demanded.

"Iris there?"

There is no Iris in our household. In fact, I don't believe we know any girl named Iris.

"Just a moment, please," I said, setting the receiver down and going ahead with my reading.

After I had read part of the page, I picked the phone up and said:

"Just a moment."

Then I got up and put the kettle on. I got out the tea pot the tea, and a cup and saucer.

To lend a little romance to the situation, I called clearly, for the benefit of the gruff gent waiting on the phone:

"Iris! Oh, Iris!"

Going over to the phone, I said:

"I'll see if I can get her."

An impatient snort came from the receiver.

I went out to the verandah and looked up and down. I went back in and tiddled the tea kettle on the burner.

"Iris!" I yodelled, musically. "I-ris!"

And then having kept the gent a good minute and a bit, I went and took the receiver.

"I'm afraid," I said meekly, "you have the wrong number. There is no Iris here."

The clunk with which the gentleman slammed down his receiver was a pleasure to hear. I hope he cracked it.

For the people who get wrong numbers deserve no sympathy. At this season of the year, maybe because of the heat, wrong numbers are on the increase. Lazy, sloppy people get wrong numbers. It is true this gentleman in quest of Iris did not much disturb me. I was only reading. But suppose I had fallen asleep? or in a dark-room developing films? Or half way up a column of figures I was trying to add? Anyway, from the sound of his voice, I feel sorry for Iris, and am glad I kept her free of him if only for a minute.-

PRE-DAWN PARTY ENDS IN DEATH

Death before dawn was fate of one occupant of small boat that filled with water and sank suddenly about 3 a.m. off Wards Island, Toronto harbor. Two of the three survivors, Alexander Burney and Doreen Arney, are shown with life-saver. The drowned woman, Vera Burianyk, was a good swimmer but sank without warning while the others were swimming to shore.—Central Press Canadian.

Vast New Front In Cold War Opening in Asia

(Editor's Note: This column is presented as an indication of American opinion on major world events.)

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press News Analyst
(For Dewitt MacKenzie)

It isn't the same cold war any more.

Until the Paris Peace Conference, the cold war was treated by both sides largely as a European deadlock. The Berlin Blockade and Air Lift held the spotlight.

Now the conflict in Europe is changing, and a vast new front is opening up in Asia.

In Europe, post-war production is filling war-starved markets. Competition is making the economic phase of the European struggle more important. Also, Communism has stepped up its long crusade against religious organizations. The Roman Catholic Church has answered with a mighty weapon — major ecommunication. In Communist-dominated countries with large Catholic populations, the conflict between church and state has been brought to a head.

There are many links with Europe in the United States which make it fairly easy for the American people to grasp the meaning of what goes on in Europe.

Neither the average American nor the average European is as well prepared to understand what is happening in East Asia. This is where Communism has opened up a whole big new front.

This front shows signs of being co-ordinated, like the drive against religious groups in Europe.

Prods Unrest in Asia

But in Asia it takes another form. It prods the vast unrest prevailing among more than half the people of the world, and its strategy is to marry their various nationalistic movements.

Nationalism is a tide in Asia as her peoples seek a better life. Asiatics want to get away from colonialism. The Communist tactic is to change evolution away from colonialism into revolution. It brands every Western attempt to discourage violence as just more Imperialism—American Imperialism.

In this situation there are some subtly but powerfully dangerous things. They originate in the way the East thinks of the West— and of alien Western thingss like Democracy and Communism.

Some Asiatics were civilized when Europeans were still living in caves, and as "colored" peoples they have a hardy complex about past and present color lines drawn in the West.

This, warmed by the oriental's proud resentment over his colonial experience, produces a strong prejudice that saturates the Orient.

There is little faith in peace.

A third world war seems inevitable to most Asiatics. Judging from their own feudal background and what Russo-American statesmanship they have seen the first hand, they do not believe the two young giants of the world today are capable of living in peace with each other.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A NIGHT AT SEA

I recently spent a night at sea. In clear weather this is always an interesting experience. The vastness of the sea, its mystery and its power, are challenging. As our ship advanced smoothly through the waters I thought of many things, least of which was not of those who managed that fine ship. I thought of many seamen, and of the Captain and the Pilot. They were always on the job, and I knew it, alert to any disturbance.

The sun streamed all about us and people took their comfort upon the decks, apparently never giving much thought to the many things that kept running through my mind.: I looked into the sky as night crept near and saw a single star in the great distance—just one! I wondered how it got there, and the significance of this single star. Billions of them were companions to this one, but not visible to my eye.

I looked into the blue sapphire sea and was inspired. And I meditated upon the construction of this marvelous earth, part water and part land, and I speculated upon the changes that took place before all this separation was made. I thought of the vast solar system, of the moon, the planets, and the endless scattering of stars, many of which can never be known to us. What a piece of construction! what a Creator to have brought all this about!

One feels very humble and insignificant on a ship at sea, but it is an experience that one never forgets. And when one sails for days and days on a long journey, perhaps sighting but one other ship, or none at all, the vastness of the ocean is more appreciated than ever.

One fine thing about an ocean trip is that people are so friendly, as a rule. Their clannishness disappears, and they are one with all. I have many a friend whom I first met at sea. Life on shipboard is a democratic experience. The sea is soothing to the nerves—in fact to the entire body. There is great silence about. The salt air is stimulating and healthful. And there is so much beauty to be gained, inward and outward.

MOTION OR EMOTION?

Anhedonia is what ails a steadily increasing number of us. According to Webster (who, I suspect, had a touch of it himself) anhedonia is insensitiveness to pleasure or incapacity for happiness.

That is all right as far as it goes, but would you mind, Messrs. Merriam, just a wee modification of the definition to this: Incapacity to enjoy life.

If insensitiveness to pleasure or incapacity for happiness is a recognizable state, negative though it be, it seems odd that its opposite, the positive state, hedonia, doesn't rate mention in the big book. I really think Noah must have suffered a mild case of anhedonia. How much good it would have done him to roll a few somersaults (my kind, not his) every morning!

From years of study and cogitation I have been more and more impressed with the belief that the fundamental difference between hedonia or right-mindedness and anhedonia depends essentially upon the substitution of emotion for motion. For example, the book-keeper, clerk or executive in the familiar role of the hysterical fan at the ball game. For the man or woman who does honest work, work with the muscles, for the athlete, the baseball player, the football player, the tennis player, for the farm worker, the gardener, the mechanic, an afternoon or evening at the theatre, the movies, the football game or the fights is by way of being good wholesome recreation.

"High tension" means—cardiovascular degeneration, premature wearing out, breakdown in the circulation, not "nervous exhaustion". The poor sap who devotes himself exclusively to watching the ticker tape, scheming and worrying about the market, keep his adrenal glands working overtime secreting adrenin which sparks the internal combustion—conversion of glycogen (blood sugar) into muscular energy. When all this muscular energy is liberated and there is insufficient muscular activity to use it, the effect is comparable with throwing the belt off the flywheel of a powerful machine. The poor sap's arteries take a bad beating, day after day, till they break down beyond repair.

A tolerate amount of emotion is good for any one who reacts to it a natural way—by emotion, activity, physical work, play, exercise. Too much emotion engendered by the professionals who stage the spectacle, is as harmful to health and happiness of executives and white collar workers as such vicarious excitement is to school children who participate in the cantata between halves at highschools and college football games.

The thing to remember is this: The natural reaction to emotion of any kind, worry, anxiety, fear, anger, joy, pleasure, love, hatred, envy—is motion, physical or muscular action, work, play, exercise. The greater or the more intense the emotion the more vigorous or prolonged action or motion does the body require to protect the heart and arteries from injury.

Speaking of motion, exercise, muscular work or play, for those who can afford it, walking—brisk walking, not just dragging along or lazily strolling—is the best of all ways to protect the body from the killing effects of repressed or unexpressed emotions.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

The Ignorant Neighbors

Up to now (I'm four months along) I have enjoyed working in the garden with my husband, but he thinks I should not do so this summer. So I started painting woodwork in the house to occupy my time, but our neighbors cry horrors and say the smell of turpentine will surely cause disaster. (Mrs. H. J.)

Answer—Keep right on with your painting and whatever other jobs you enjoy. The neighbors are ignorant people. Send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope for booklet Preparing for Maternity. Dr. Grantly Dick Read's book Childbirth Without Fear (some one swiped my copy and I can't remember name of publisher) would be fine for you to read. Your public library should have it.

Hay Fever

Allergy tests show that I am allergic to ragweed, spring grasses and mold and mildew. Could you explain this in your column? I have been advised to take injections of extracts of these to correct my sensitivity. My attack usually begins about August 12th. (C. M. M.)

Answer—Explain allergy? Nobody can. Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet Relief for Allergy. If you would like also a pamphlet on Hay Fever inclose ten cents for it.

Liquor Problem Acute in India

New Delhi, July 18—(AP)—Prohibition is creeping over India, along with bootlegging, home brew and speakeasies. Any decline in drinking has been limited to good liquor.

One trouble is that there is a potential binge in every palm tree, and India has a lot of palm trees. Furthermore, Indians know how to do intoxicating things with rice.

The situation is not orderly. The bootleggers and the police stage dramatic battles. Illegal factories turn out ill-advised beverages.

Liquor Revenue Cut

Princes committed to prohibition have seen liquor-tax revenues dry up faster than their citizens. To top that, more money has had to be spent for special prohibition guards and expand police departments. The result has been new taxes on everyday necessities.

Complete prohibition is still some years away, but as long as the congress party remains in power the movement will spread. To spur it on, the party has the preachings of Mahatma Gandhi, who believed the lot of the impoverished millions would improve if no money were spent on drink. The Brahmins, teachers of the Hindu religion, are not supposed to touch anything alcoholic.

Madras, the only province so far completely dry, figures it will lose 164,000,000 rupees annually in liquor taxes. (A rupee is worth 30 cents).

Other provinces are taking things easy. West Bengal, in which Calcutta is located, is abolishing drinking houses for the poor, cutting tavern hours, boosting liquor taxes and enforcing a weekly "dry day."

Foreigners are not exempt from prohibition measures and hotelmen complain that night business has been ruined and tourist agencies are unhappy.

Will prohibition succeed? To do so, it must have the support of the great majority and experience so far indicates this is lacking. The prohibition minister of Madras acknowledged in the assembly that enforcement was handicapped by public apathy.

Churchill Contributes To German's Defence

London, July 18 (CP)—Winston Churchill Saturday contributed £25 ($100) to a legal defence fund for a former German Field Marshal, Fritz Erich Von Mannstein. Von Mannstein's trial on war-crimes charges opens in Hamburg Aug. 9. Churchill was not available to give reasons why he contributed.

LIFETIME VACATION FROM SUMMER HEAT

Vacation season is here, and hundreds are leaving hot cities and towns to spend a short holiday by some cool lake or river. But here's the way one man tells how he arranged to give his family a LIFETIME vacation from stifling summer heat.

"One Spring," he said, "I had my house insulated with Johns-Manville Rock Wool. That Summer and every Summer since, our home has been up to 15 degrees cooler — from top to bottom. What's more in Winter our house is more comfortable and we use up to 30 per cent less fuel. The money we have saved on fuel has paid off the cost of insulation."

Manhattan Love Song

By Kathleen Norris

She brought her folding cot in from the hall, took the thin mattress from a closet, spread sheets and flung blankets wide. While she was eating her supper he awakened from a light sleep again The room as dark except for the candlelight that made an aureole of Fanny's fair hair, and the exquisite May moonlight streaming in at the window. Quite naturally she began to talk to him about herself Chris, in the exquisite relaxation of new convalescence lay comfortable and warm and fed and listened.

"Do you know where I was today, Chris? I mean from three to six? No, you don't, for you were asleep when I went out and asleep when I came in. I was at a rehearsal," said Fanny.

"Don't try and talk," she went on, after a pause in which she drank her tea and set down her cup. "Yes I'm in a play, Chris. It's called No Parking Day or Night-- It's not a very good play. It was to have opened ten days ago, but Gordon Kenelm--an old man who had an important part, you know--dropped dead, at just eight o'clock the opening night. He was President of the Lambs, so we had to close the show."

"Ha!" Chris said, not caring much, but blissfully content.

"Imagine--so they had to redeem the tickets," Fanny went on, pouring more tea.

"And were you--" His voice was tired, but it was beginning to get the old cadences back. "You were all there ready to begin?"

"Well, no, I wasn't," Fanny said truthfully, with her mouth full. "I'd forgotten it."

Forgotten the opening night! Oh Fan, how like you!" For the first time she heard his weak, his remembered laugh.

"It was Dr. Murray who told me --on the first day I was here. He and his wife had been going and they found the theater dark. So they went to see Sand Man.

I remember seeing Sand Man advertised on the fences, the day we got in."

"Chris, were you sick then?"

"I think so. I don't remember it very well. Yes I'd had a fever I think---everything was noisy and cold and heavy--sounds were terribly loud---

"I stayed a day or two at a place down there on the waterfront, trying to get something to do----"

Fanny was clearing the remains of her meal away; she moved the candle to the sink.

"Wonderful moon tonight."

"And last night, too. After tonight," said Fanny, "I'll go back age yourself now. But I'll be in to again; you're well enough to man- to sleep at Mama Behrmann's have breakfast with you every day about nine, And when there's no matinee I can be here all day."

"I feel like a baby about having you go."

"You'll be getting stronger all the time."

"I'm alright now. I lie here thinning about a job, Fan."

"I wouldn't worry about that yet. It won't seem half so hard, once you're out in the good fresh air."

"We aren't scared a bit?" he asked.

"o-o-o!" said Fanny. "Tomorrow," she went on, "you lose your night nurse. So make up your mind to behave, and sleep all night."

She carried the little blue trash can downstairs; returned in slippers and pajamas, with her belted blue wrapper enveloping her. The candle was blown out; blue moonlight flooded the windows; the city below was swiming in mystical light. Fanny went to bed.

"Come over to the window, just for a minute, Chris, and look down. Here I'll help you. Isn't it marvelous?"

They stared below at the lighted little insignificant streets, the moving eyes of taxis and omnibuses, the spangled arches of the bridges. Boats moved on the river Brooklyn was a wide blur of soft iridenscence.

"Isn't it wonderful to be here Chris, to belong to it?"

Chris said nothing. His wrapped shoulder rested against her; she kept a bracing arm about him. Even this little effort exhausted him; he was breathing hard when he got back into bed. Fanny straightened his covers, shook his pillow, went to her own couch. She slept in her wrapper these nights; she must always be ready to jump up and see to her invalid. Tonight they lay awake for a while, talking from bed to bed.

"Wouldn't we have been puzzled to see this Fanny? Ourselves, I mean, just as we are tonight--say a year ago?"

"A year ago----" she said dreamily. "Hawthorne and flag acia and Japanese quince. And lilies in all the gardens, and ac-sis', somehow, rooming with ny conceded with a laugh, "I never saw myself here at the Var-Christopher Thring!"

"Saving the comparatively worthless life of said Christopher Thring, you mean."

"Says you."

"Says me. And also the doctor and also says Miss Poett."

"Miss Poett takes poetis licence."

"Fanny!"

"Well it was too good a chance Miss Poett and Mrs. Varsi think I'm a trained nurse, and trained nurses do it all the time- - pull people through and nobody thinks much of it. You can pay me two weeks' pay at regular nursing rates some day, if you like."

"I'll owe you a lot more than that. How much money have you sunk in this room?"

"Everything here came from the 'dime," darling. Curtains, coffee pot, and all. The coffee pot came in three pieces, bringing it to the total of thirty cents; all parts sold separately, though what you'd want of the perculator alone," Fanny went on dreamily "I've often wondered. Curtains, ten cent each rods ten cents each Bowls five, napkins ten, glasses five. I assure you!"

"Fanny, some say --if I live----"

"Don't talk Chris; it starts you coughing. We've talked too long, we've lots of time. Goodnight. Go right to sleep."

"You can't put it off forever," he said, in a trembling voice. Fanny elaborately snored.

The little scene that she dreaded came a few days later. The cot that she knew was inevitable had gone downstairs again, the blankets and pillow had gone back to Mama Behrmann, and Fanny climbed the long stairs to the Varsi attic only once or twice a day. She came at nine, with butter and rolls, with fresh eggs, or a rasher of bacon, with a great pale hard heavy grapefruit, or strawberries firm and sweet at five cents the box. At first Chris was always in bed when she came and had his breakfast there; there was a great day when shaking and perspiring, he was moved to the window and could look out on roofs and sky and billowing spring clouds. After that he was always dressed to meet her pathetically slow and broken still, but patiently eager to help with dishes, to keep things as she liked them.

She told him of the theatre; it was always "fun" back stage; it never lost its thrill for her. But the work had settled down to surprising routine; she went there at eight, waited, gossiped, walked into her part, said her few audible lines, and babbled her share of the studio babble that had received so much favorable comment from the critics, and then she was done. The players went home one by one, as soon as their parts were finished; quietly slipping up the dark alley, losing themselves in the river of Broadway; it was still, it would always be exciting, but somehow it was surprisingly simple too.

When Money
Takes Wings

MONEY takes wings today faster than ever before. True . . . many people are earning more — but the cost of living uses up a much greater proportion. Few indeed can hope to accumulate large sums for future emergencies.

How, then, can you ever hope to lay aside enough money to provide for your family in case of your untimely death — or for the years when your earning capacity will cease?

The only sure way is through Life Insurance. It would take years to build an adequate savings fund for your dependents, but a proportion of your savings put into Life Insurance will immediately guarantee to them a monthly income in case of your death. At the same time it will provide for your declining years should you live to old age.

with CERTO

1. You'll be amazed how QUICK it is . . . how EASY. First you crush 2 quarts fully ripe berries (Yes! RIPE fruit — not under-ripe as in old-fashioned recipes). Measure 4 cups prepared fruit and 6½ cups sugar into large saucepan or kettle. Mix well, bring to full rolling boil over high heat. Stir constantly before and while boiling.

2. Boil hard one minute only. (The boil is so short it cannot dull the natural colour or spoil the lovely fresh-fruit taste. They stay right in your jam.) Remove from heat and stir in half-bottle of Certo. Stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Then ladle into glasses and paraffin quickly.

3. You get 10 glasses instead of 6. Because you don't have to "boil down" your jam to make it set, practically no juice can waste away in steam. So you get about 10 glasses instead of the 6 you'd expect from long-boil recipes (Certo helps ALL fruits to jell perfectly with an average yield of 50% more jam or jelly).

THIS IS YOUR CERTO RECIPE BOOKLET
CERTO

Certo is nothing but fruit pectin — the natural substance in fruit which makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell"—extracted and concentrated for easier, quicker, better jam and jelly making. The name "Certo" is a trade-mark.

Look for book of 78 tested Recipes under the Label

A POUND OF JAM OR JELLY MADE WITH CERTO CONTAINS NO MORE SUGAR THAN A POUND MADE THE OLD, LONG-BOIL WAY.

4. No guesswork — sure results. With Certo Fruit Pectin you get 78 kitchen-tested recipes — a different one for each fruit. While the season lasts why not make several kinds of jam and jelly for those long winter months? But be sure to follow the Certo recipes exactly . . . don't change a thing . . . and your jams and jellies will always turn out right.

WEDDINGS

MACLEOD—MARINOFF

On July 2nd., at the Tabernacle United Church parsonage, Shirley Olga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Marinoff, became the bride of Alistair Kenneth Macleod son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Macleod of Toronto. The Reverend F. R. Harback officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white taffeta afternoon dress with a lace bodice, and a white picture hat, with a corsage of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marie Marinoff, who wore blue taffeta with a corsage of pink roses.

The groom was attended by Robert Dall.

The reception was held at Lanthorn Inn, where the bride's mother received the guests in grey with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother assisting, chose navy with white accessories and pink carnations.

For travelling to Muskoka Lakes, the bride chose a grey suit with navy accessories.

Prior to the wedding on June 24, Miss Shirley Bunnett gave a shower for the bride-elect at her home on Gordon Street. Mrs. Jack Sprague, aunt of the bride-elect, also held a shower at the home of Mrs. W. Baird, Harriet Street.

GAZLEY—PARANUIK

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the parsonage of Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, at 5.15 p.m., on Saturday, July 16, when Elizabeth Joan, daughter of Mr .and Mrs. Thomas Paranuik, of Marmora, was united in marriage by the Rev. Charles A. Perkins, to Charles Edward (Ted) son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gazley, of Marmora Township.

The wedding attendants were Miss Helen Heath, of Belleville, and Michael Paranuik, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at which immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present.

The bridegroom who is a lance-corporal in the R.C.R., stationed at Brockville, will return to duty at the completion of his marriage leave, while the bride will reside temporarily with her parents.

OSBORNE—MUMBY

A quiet, but pretty wedding took place in the chapel of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, at 11 a.m., on Saturday, July 16, when Betty Patricia Gloria, daughter of Mr. Nathan Mumby, and the late Mrs. Mumby, of Marmora, became the bride of David Guy Osborne, son of Mrs. David Osborne and the late Mr. D. Osborne, of Belleville. Ven Archdeacon F. A. Smith officiated.

The bride wore a street length dress of white ruffle souffle. Her headdress was of white taffeta with tulle veil and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Jean Chamberlain was bridesmaid, wearing a two-piece blue dress with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

William Chamberlain, of Belleville, assisted the groom.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Francey, Belleville. Later a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Gordon Phillips, Marmora.

The bride and groom left on a trip to Syracuse, N.Y., and on their return they will reside in Belleville.

IZZARD—McCURDY

Marmora.—The marriage took place at St Andrew's parsonage, Marmora, at 1 p.m. Saturday, July 16, of Ellen Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCurdy of Cordova, and John Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Izzard, of Marmora Township. Rev. G. D. Young, B.A., B.D., performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a blue silk jersey street length dress with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Her sister, Thelma McCurdy, as bridesmaid, was dressed in rose crepe with white accessories and her bouquet was of mixed flowers.

Duties of the best man were discharged by Mr. Donald Flynn.

At the reception held in the home of the bridegroom, the mothers of the newlyweds, received, each wearing a gown of grey figured crepe.

Later, the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to Eastern points and the United States. Upon their return they will reside in Marmora Township.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included, Mrs. John Izzard, Belleville; Miss D. Izzard, Mimico; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips, Bancroft and Mr. and Mrs. David Nixon, New Toronto.

If Forehead Wrinkles Form

A smooth, lovely complexion is a valuable good-looks asset. So keep it free of wrinkles and furrows by using a good cream frequently.

By HELEN FOLLETT

Some young women don't have to be much beyond the voting age to develop little furrows across the forehead. These are definitely expression wrinkles, due to the practice of lifting the eyebrows. Why not express surprise in word, rather than in facial acrobatics?

The forehead plays an important part in the appearance of the face. If there is a pleasing hair line, if the skin is white and velvet-smooth, the brow should be displayed. The short cut has restored the popularity of bangs, but many women prefer the clean, trim look that they carry when tresses are swept back.

Good-Looks Defects

One should have a weather eye on the future, fight good-looks defects before one gets them. Prevention is easy; cure is difficult. That is particularly true of complexion troubles. If the merest shadow of a crease forms across the forehead it is well to nourish and tone the tissues so they will resist further inroads.

To a clean skin surface apply a heavy emollient, one that offers resistance to the manipulations of the fingers. Do rotary movements over the forehead. Group the fingers of each hand, facing each other just between the eyebrows. When one goes up, the other goes down, both groups moving from temple to temple. This is a favorite massage movement of facial operators.

While you are at it, take out insurance against frown lines. Place the thumb between the eyebrows, first finger just above it. Keep the finger stationary, iron upward with the thumb, lifting the flesh.

This season of the year you may see signs of squint lines, due to the strong glare of the sun. There is a special movement for combating them. Place the first finger on the eyelids close to the nose, sweep outward to temple, come back under the eye to starting point.

BROWNING—RAPINO

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Christ Church, Belleville, on Thursday, June 30, at 2.30 p.m., when Elsie Emma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rapino, Belleville, became the bride of Bert Allan Browning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Browning, of Belleville. The Venerable Archdeacon Arthur Smith, of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a street length gown of white taffeta with lace yoke and shoulder length veil. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

Miss Ruth Nevery, of Belleville, was the bride's only attendant, and wore a blue taffeta street length dress with lace yoke, fashioned similar to that of the bride's. She wore a corsage of cream roses.

Mr. Garn Skinkle, Belleville, was the groomsman.

The reception was held at the Sacco Club rooms, where the guests were received by the bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Browning will reside on George Street, Belleville.

LENNOX — SILLS

A lovely wedding was solemnized at the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Cornett, (the bride's sister), Stirling, Ont., on Saturday, July 16, at 3.30 p.m., when Jean Morden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Sills, of Tweed Ont., was united in marriage to John Hall Lennox, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lennox, Toronto. The Reverend M. W. Heslip, of Madoc, performed the ceremony, before a profusion of white hydrangea and blue delphiniums.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. D. W. Wilson, of Belleville, who played before the ceremony 'O Perfect Love" ,and the Wedding March from Wagner's "Lohengrin". During the signing of the register, Shubert's "Serenade" and for the recessional Mendelssohn's "Wedding March".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her bridal gown of blush satin featuring a low-cut bodice with net yoke buttoned up the back, long, tight-fitting sleeves ending in lily points at the wrists, the full skirt being shirred to the bodice. Her full length veil of hand-rolled tulle illusion was fastened to a headdress of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and bouvardia.

Mrs. W. G. Patterson, of Sharbot Lake, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of chartreuse sheer over taffeta, fashioned similar to that of the bride's, and halo hat with matching shoulder length veil. She carried Talisman roses.

Mr. Elwood Wickerson, of Belleville, was groomsman.

The bride's mother wearing a gown of ice-blue sheer over taffeta with orchid flower hat, black accessories, and corsage of pastel tinted sweetpeas, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a gown of blue figured crepe with grey accessories and corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses, received the many guests before the fireplace, which was banked with white hydrangea. The toast to the bride was proposed by Dr. George H. Stobie, to which the bridegroom replied.

Before leaving for the wedding trip to the Laurentians and points east, the wedding cake was passed to the assembled guests in small, white boxes, tied with narrow, white satin ribbon, and decorated with sweetpeas.

For travelling, the bride chose a light beige summer suit, brown shortie coat of corduroy, brown and white accessories, and corsage of red roses. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Lennox will reside at 151 Queen Street, Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were from Toronto, Belleville, Montreal and Tweed.

Prior to her marriage, the bride-to-be was the guest of honor at a tea given by Mrs. George H. Stobie and also at an afternoon tea held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Wilson, Ann St., and later in the evening at a miscellaneous shower at the same home.

Women's Activities

REDNERSVILLE W. A.

The Rednersville W.A., was held at the home of Mrs. Rae Roblin with 30 members present. The meeting was opened in the usual manner. The Scripture lesson was read by Miss Marjorie Roblin. "Lesson Thoughts" were read Mrs. Harry Adams, followed by a silent prayer for Mrs. Albert Phillips. Mrs. Roy Wannamaker lead in the devotions.

Minutes of the June meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Thos. Thompson. Mrs. Dickey read the correspondence and reports from all committees were heard.

New business was then taken care of. It was decided instead of a home-cooking sale on the market, each member donate fifty cents at the August meeting. Roll Call was "A Written Recipe". Several calls were made on the sick and shut-ins.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Morley Rorabeck, convener, who read a very interesting paragraph from the new study book called "Abundant Living".

Proceeds of the evening: dues 70c, fines $1.00 and collecting for parsonage, $33.25.

Delicious refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, and lemonade were served.

The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ross Roblin, in the afternoon it being the W.A. picnic.

CENTENARY W.A.

Mrs. D. Thrasher opened her home to Centenary W.A. last Thursday. Eighteen members and three visitors were present. The W.A. president was in the chair.

A letter was read from Mr. Shortt thanking W.A. for flowers and expression of sympathy shown him and his family during their recent bereavement. A letter was read from overseas relief headquarters thanking W.A. for money and clothing sent overseas.

Several items of business were taken care of after which Mrs. E. Ray had charge of devotional. Mrs. M. Jamieson read the Scripture. Mrs. Ray then read an article on Jesus' home life showing us how we should use this as an example in our own lives.

W.M.S.

Centenary W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. D. Thrasher for the July meeting. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Roy Thrasher had charge of the meeting. The theme for July is "More Missionaries". Mrs. Thrasher, assisted by Mrs. Hart, read several articles from the Missionary Monthly stressing this theme and showing how hard it is for the missionaries on duty to carry on their work with so little help and such large areas to cover. All were asked to pray that more young people may have the desire to give their lives to this cause. Mrs. R. Hart then led in prayer Mrs. D. Thrasher and assistants served refreshments and a social half hour was spent.

Wedding Party Given Surprise Ride On Horse-Drawn Delivery Wagon

A rather unique wedding procession, the counterpart of which possibly had not been seen in the city for at least two score years or longer, was witnessed on Saturday when a complete wedding party all decked out in their finery rode up Front street atop a delivery wagon pulled by a sturdy Percheron horse.

Principals in the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Locke, the happy bride being the former Miss Ilienne M. Palmer, who three weeks ago was chosen "Miss Belleville" at a local beauty contest.

Although in winning the title "Miss Belleville", Miss Palmer was entitled to compete in the "Miss Canada" title contest, she chose instead to be married. Her place at the Miss Canada contest will be taken by the runner-up in the local contest, Miss Mickie Thibaudeau.

The old time mode of conveyance was all a surprise to the wedding party following the ceremony at Holloway Street United Church.

The driver, complete with top hat and gloves, lowered a step-ladder and the bride, still clutching her bouquet, was handed up. Then with the party all aboard, the sturdy horse "clip-clopped" his way through the business section of the city, to the amusement of Saturday afternoon shoppers.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Locke, or "Miss Belleville" worked at the Belleville Creameries.

Baby Reported 'Fair' After Transfusions

Toronto, July 18 (CP)—The 10-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric P. J. Zuerrer of Burford, Ont., is in fair condition in Sick Children's Hospital today after undergoing several transfusions to cure an "Rh positive" blood factor.

Hospital officials said the child is "coming along nicely," but did not know how long he will be confined to hospital.

Baby Zuerrer was brought to hospital here from Brantford, Ont., last Wednesday with police escort to have the toxic blood drained from his body and replaced by normal blood.

Always at home in any wardrobe for all but the formal or very informal occasion, is the well-handled faille suit. If you find one in a really fine specialty shop during the midsummer sales, snap it up. With a variety of accessories it can be dressed up or down beautifully.

Good Eating Habits Aid the Complexion

Health depends upon nutrition and nutrition depends not only upon groceries, but the manner in which the boss of the kitchen prepares them. Food also has much to do with building good looks, what one puts in one's stomach being even more important than what one puts on one's face in the form of cosmetic decorations.

Nutrition is aided by zestful appetite. That is why a woman should be active, get a certain amount of outdoor exercise every day. To eat merely to keep the human motors running is certainly no pleasure; it is a dreary ordeal. Each meal should be a festive occasion. An individual should sit down at the table with a sense of enjoyable anticipation that excites the imagination and the gastric juices.

She would rather shop than eat

The wife and mother is the commissary department. Let her not underrate her responsibilities. It should be a part of her business to learn about the balanced diet—the percentage of proteins, carbohydrates and fats that constitute an energy-creating meal. The common error is to offer too much starchy food, not enough fruits, vegetables and green salads The results of culinary lapses will show up in pale faces, muddy or blemished complexions, sick hair, brittle fingernails.

It is particularly necessary that the career girl take note of her eating habits. She does not always budget her time as she should. Breakfast may be a scrable. She shold have fruit, a cereal, an egg or several slices of bacon, a beverage. She usually has a few nibbles of toast and a cup of coffee, swallowed quickly. She should remember that fourteen hours have elapsed since dinner the night before, that her digestive motors require refueling if she is to feel fit, be efficient on the job, look her best and be cheerful.

Luncheon time arrives. She would rather shop than eat, if she is like some girls whose minds are centred on dry goods. The luncheon hour should be a period of relaxation. A dainty sandwich, a green salad, and a glass of milk compose a balanced meal. It offers sufficient nourishment, yet is light enough not to require much effort on the part of the digestive machinery so she won't feel dull and drowzy till quitting time.

Milk is not just a beverage, it is a food, supplying the calcium so necessary for general health and also to promote the well-being of the teeth. The meat in the sandwich supplies protein, the salad furnishes bulk and mineral salts.

Small children who refuse to eat often do so because what is offered them is not properly cooked or is not appealing to the eye.

Fashion Flashes

The darling of the Summer fabric world this year is undoubtedly silk shantung, in everything from tailored suits through two-piecers to formal and informal daytime, playtime and informal evening fashions. Beautiful colors are used, for a silk shantung daytime dress with wide, pointed collar and self straps to mark the plunging neckline. Moderately full skirt has pockets with pointed flaps to point up same detail on sleeve cuffs.

Fine way to liven up a simple dark frock is with a big, colorful hat. Natural leghorn straw is used for a cartwheel bordered with tiny fushia and purple flowers and bound and banded with black velvet.

Just what to wear for a hotel roof dinner? It might well be black organdie with a deep off-the-shoulder neckline. Tiny cap sleeves and a wide band on the ankle-length skirt are of shadowy black eyelet embroidery.

Never-ending in the procession of new fabrics. One designer on the West coast uses fabric glove cotton—double woven cotton with a suede-like finish. She uses it for a handsome coat, fashioned like a suede coat, with belted, bloused back, wide back-yoke and soft gathers. Coat is fully lined, and a good between-seasons design.

A late starter in the Summer fashion sweepstakes, but the leader is the sundress with a matching jacket that, when buttoned, gives a one-piece dress look. Nice in cottons, rayon or pure silk shantung, with tiered shirt detail.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Neglected for Her Husband's Hobby

It is, of course, a very irritating thing to have a husband who rides a hobby so continuously and so intensely that it takes him away from his family more than seems fair or reasonable.

And yet, if everything else in his relationship with his wife and children is as it should be, perhaps a woman should try and adjust to the situation instead of constantly fighting it.

Take the case described in the following letter for instance:

"I am married, have five children and am expecting another baby soon," the letter begins, and goes on to say, "I have been married before, and three of my children belong to my first husband. My present husband is 25 and seems to love my other children as much as his very own. He provides for us as well as any man can do with a family of seven.

"My problem is that he goes fishing every off hour he has. He works from 8 to 5 and goes to school Monday and Tuesday nights. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons after work he goes fishing and all day Saturday and Sunday, and quite a few weekends his father takes him on fishing trips. This past weekend they went away and left me sick in bed, with no help whatever with the children. At hunting season it is the very same thing.

"When I say anything about it, he says he has to have relaxation but does that mean all his interests have to be outside? And what about me and the chilldren? We never go anywhere.

"Please advise me, as I love my husband very much and don't want to do the wrong thing, but I cannot go through life as we are."

Now, unquestionably, a woman who has five children to look after, and who is expecting another baby shortly, has too much to do alone. Moreover, equally unquestionably, she needs recreation to give her a change of thought and occupation. At the same time, if her husband loves and takes care of the three children of another man as though they were his own, and if he is conscientious about providing for this large family, I think this woman has a very great deal to be thankful for. Hard as it is for her to be left so much of the time, with all the responsibility for looking after the children, she is still much more fortunate than many women who write me, if hunting and fishing are the only things that take her husband away from her.

She says her husband is only 25, and for a man as young as that to have a wife and five children to support, with the prospect of another child being added to the family very soon, is a pretty heavy burden to have to carry. He sounds to me like a person of unusually strong character to be carrying such a burden as cheerfully and efficiently as he appears to be doing. He is even spending two nights a week at school, presumably with the idea of making himself a more valuable worker and thus increase his earning power.

As I said before, it does seem fair and right, particularly with the new baby coming, for this homemaker and mother to have help and if the problem were put up to this husband in the proper way, I think he would probably try to work it out, since he seems so conscientious about everything else.

I suggest that the next time this woman pays a visit to her doctor she talk the whole thing over with him. Then the doctor could make an opportunity to talk to the husband, and explain to him that his wife needs more help at home so that she could get more rest and recreation. Such a suggestion could very naturally come from the medical man who is taking care of her, and he should know how to make it tactfully.

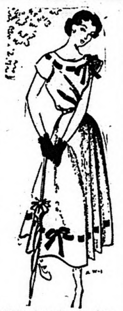
I hope she will try this and see if it doesn't help.

Gray Linen and White Voile

By PRUNELLA WOOD

Elizabeth Taylor, one of Hollywood's prettiest and most talked of luminaries, has chopped her curly dark hair short for the hot months, to be fashionable and cool in one quick operation.

In this photograph she tops her shorn locks with a little cloche of dove gray linen, which is bound and banded with white pique cording, and softened by a bowed veiling swathe which is dotted onto the crown with pearl beads. Her frock is crisp, thin white voile, with a convent tucked yoke.



White pique afternoon dress

By VERA WINSTON

Fabric combinations add interest, originality and charm to this season's fashions. For example, here we have an afternoon dress of white pique that would be just a pretty dress for a summer afternoon, were it not for the touch of black velvet that makes it an outstanding selection. The ribbon, which is run through the scooped out neckline and hemline, terminates in bows for an extra accent.

ALBURY

"Copper Contest" Banquet, Surprise Shower, Enjoyed

Albury—The losers of the "Copper Contest" of the Albury Ladies' Aid put on a banquet for the winners on Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. John Hall. The tables were set with place cards for the winners. Around thirty enjoyed the lovely supper.

Mrs. Allen Weese, on behalf of the winners, presented Mrs. Hall for her kindenss for opening her home for the occasion, with a lovely gift.

The winners were requested to tell some of their most embarrassing moments, and some very good ones were given. After the merriment had subsided, Mrs. Hall asked Miss Ruth Henderson, bride-to-be of the ensuing month, to enter the living room. Ruth complied and was completely taken by surprise, for in full view was an entrancingly decorated umbrella sheltering an array of daintily wrapped gifts.

After the lovely gifts had been opened and admired by all, Ruth graciously thanked each donor, saying that the givers would always be remembered and the gifts treasured.

This completed a most enjoyable evening ,and all thanked Mr. and Mrs. John Hall for their kind hospitality.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Knitting is Discourteous, Unkind to a Lecturer

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To settle a discussion we had recently at our club, will you please tell us: Do you consider it bad form for a woman to knit while she is listening to a lecture?

Margaret S.

Yes! I consider this one of the most discourteous things one human being can do to another human being....crassly inconsiderate, absolutely inexcusable. If you have ever given a talk or speech to a group of women some of whom were knitting, you will know what I mean. If you haven't, I assure you that it isn't a pleasant experience to look down on the tops of thoughtless heads (and I mean 'thoughtless' in both ways) rather than into the faces of the interested and alert listeners. A woman who insists on knitting during a lecture should stay home....and pursue her knitting grimly and alone. No woman is so busy that she has to be so inconsiderate.

Pleasant, Friendly Custom: Bride and Groom Receive in the Church Vestibule

Dear Mrs. Beecknan:

1 Our very informal church wedding is to be next month, and we are not planning to have a regular reception following the ceremony. Is it proper to form a receiving-line in the rear of the church.... or is it necessary.

2 Following the ceremony, we are to have a dinner served at at restaurant, for the members of the wedding party and the members of the immediate families. What is the name for such as this?

3 During the ceremony, what do I do with my gloves, remove both of them or just the left glove?

4 For this kind of informal wedding what is the proper procedure for sending invitations and anouncements? I know that informal invitations should be sent but I would like to know just what the number may be. We would like to invite fifty guests, but we were afraid that it would appear like a bid for gifts, which we would not like to suggest in any way.

5 Also, do we send announcements to everyone, regardless of whether they are invited to the wedding or not?

B. H.

1 It is not necesary for you and your bridegroom to receive your relatives and friends in the vestibule of the church after the ceremony, but it is a very friendly custom, this, and is often the plan when there is to be no reception following the ceremony.

2 This dinner after the ceremony is referred to as "the wedding dinner."

3 It is not necessary for you to wear gloves during the ceremony....vastly more convenient for you not to.

4 There is no stated number of informal invitations that may correctly be sent to an informal wedding. The point is the informality of the wedding, not the number of guests to be invited, and certainly fifty informal invitations are not too many to send, if you wish. Don't hold back' in your plan to invite the relatives and friends you wish to invite....give them the joy of being invited, the happines of coming to your wedding, and give yourselves the happiness of having them with you on this important occasion. Don't think of these invitations as "bids for gifts"..there's no happiness or pleasant truth in this. Think of them as what they are and should be.... "We want so much to have you with us at our wedding."

5 No....announcements are mailed only to those who were not invited to the wedding.

Not Stephens' Fault if Sox Fail to Overtake Those Yanks In American League Race

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

If Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox fail to overtake New York Yankees in the American League pennant struggle, it will not be the fault of Vern Stephens.

The stocky little shortstop is enjoying his greatest year at the plate. Barring injury or a sudden slump he should lead his circuit in the two power departments—home runs and runs batted in. He currently leads in both departments with 23 four-baggers and 93 runs batted in.

He stepped out well in front Sunday when he lashed out two homers and drove in all Boston's runs as the Red Sox divided a doubleheader with Indians in Cleveland before a crowd of 73,599.

With first baseman Mickey Vernon knocking in three runs with a double and single, the tribe won the opener, 4-2. Stephens batted in both Boston runs with a home run and single.

The Bosox came back to win the nightcap 2-1 as young Chuck Stobbs outpitched Veteran Al Benton. Again Stephens fashioned both Boston runs with a single and a homer.

The split prevented the two clubs from making any gain on the pace-setting Yankees, but the Red Sox were able to vault past Philadelphia into third place. The Athletics dropped into fourth place, losing both ends of a doubleheader to the Tigers in Detroit 8-0 and 5-4.

The Yankees retained their 5 1-2 game margin over the Indians by splitting a twin bill with the White Sox in Chicago. Joe DiMaggio's sixth home run in the seventh inning gave the Yankees the opener 2-1 and Vic Raschi his 14th triumph against only two losses. White Sox pounded Fred Sanford and Frank Shea for 14 hits to earn a 7-3 triumph in the nightcap.

Paul Campbell, little used first baseman, shared the hero's role with southpaw Ted Gray as the Tigers mowed down the A's twice to climb within 1 1-2 games of the Mackmen. Campbell slammed a home run with the bases full and added two singles as Gray blanked the A's, 8-0 in the opener on three hits. The Tiger first baseman then won the second game with an 11th-inning single that drove in the winning run in Detroit's second game 5-4 triumph.

Virgil Trucks, in relief, gained his 11th victory. Bobby Shantz joined Joe Coleman in the losing side for the A's.

St. Louis Browns swept their first doubleheader of the season taking two from Washington Senators 15-8 and 7-4. Rookie outfielder Roy Sievers sparked the Brownie attack with five hits in seven times at bat.

Washington pitchers gave up a total of 20 bases on balls in the two games and Montreal's Paul Calvert, the loser in the nightcap, was charged with three wild pitches.

Brooklyn retained its 1 1-2-game lead over runner-up St. Louis, edging out the Chicago Cubs 4-5 while the Cardinals were thrashing the Giants in New York 10-1. The third-place Boston Braves lost ground splitting a twin bill with Cincinnati Reds, while Pittsburgh moved closer to the first division, nosing out fourth-place Philadelphia 2-1. The Braves won the opened 5-4 but the Reds came back to win the nightcap 3-2.

Luis Olmo broke up the Cub-Dodger battle with a ninth-inning homer. The Dodgers, trailing 3-0, squared matters in the eighth with a three-run rally. Johnny Schmitz was the loser, and Jack Banta, in relief, the winner.

Cliff Chambers bested Russ Meyer in a hurling duel as the Pirates gained a five-inning triumph over the Phils. Chambers won his own game with a run-scoring triple. Rain washed out the rest of the contest as well as the scheduled second game.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Its regatta time on sun-lit Canadian and American lakes, bays and rivers, with a couple of oceans thrown in. Speedboat queens of the waterways of Eastern Canada and the United States are cutting up foaming didoes, smashing old records and hanging up new marks for rivals to shoot at. Trim craft, trailer-towed, bearing Canadian and American numbers and markings are now a familiar sight on main highway arteries, en route from one waterways classic to another. Speedboat racing is rapidly closing in on the white-winged sport in the race for popularity and experts say that in a short time it will actually be the "Sport of Water Kings".

That is particularly true of this part of Eastern Canada. A few short years ago speedboat racing fans hereabouts had to be content with reading about Gar Wood, and Sir Malcolm Campbell and their feats on the Detroit river, Lake Maggiori, Switzerland or Lake Coniston in England.

* * *

Then the bug struck, the lesser "millionaires". A small-type regatta was undertaken as an experiment in the district and it proved to be the forerunner of at least a dozen of these nautical classics which now attract thousands of fans each summer. Picton, Ont., was bitten deeply and permanently by the speedboat bug. Fans there produced a handsome $600 Gold Cup and lesser prizes. Before the spray had settled after the first putt-putt race, the Pictonians were attracting the cream of Canadian and American drivers.

* * *

Belleville followed suit. Barrie fell in line. Gravenhurst was well on its way. Gananogue and Brockville are the latest "victims" to be injected with the speedboat virus. Down in Quebec's hinterland as well as in its Montreal metropolis, speedboat regattas are flourishing. Drivers here tell us that the Valleyfield, Que., two-day water classic attracts 20,000 to 30,000 people. Thousands in Ontario "go" for the sport with numbers increasing annually.

* * *

Race-courses in Eastern Canada are said by drivers to be among the finest on the continent insofar as short courses are concerned. They cannot, of course compete with such long straightway courses as the Detroit River and other American waterways, but for 2½ miles stretches with five mile straightways available, they compare with the best in the land.

* * *

Picton's tree-fringed course, a natural racing amphitheatre nestling snugly between sloping shorelines is one of the more-favored waterways with top-flight American and Canadian drivers. Two or three world's records have been established on its sun-drenched wind-rippled surface. A short year ago, Harold Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont., internationally known Canadian driver sent his crack "Miss Canada III" slithering through the placid waters of the Picton course to a world's record for the Gold Cup Class of 119,009 miles per hour. A few years ago the late Jackie "Pops" Cooper who ironically received fatal injuries over the same waterway sent his famous "Tops II" roaring over rippled Bay of Quinte waters at a speed of over 88 miles per hour for a then world record for .225 cubic inch hydroplanes.

Belleville's Massassaga Bay course is another favorite with the drivers of speedboat racing's "Big Berthas despite the fact its lap is bit one and two third miles. This necessitates three laps for the regulation five-mile heats. An unofficial world's record was established on Massassaga's green water last year. It probably would have been recognized, but unfortunately directly after the regatta, and unknown to American Power Boat Association officials on the spot, a few ambitious members of the sponsoring Rotary Club removed the marker buoys and officials were unable to carry out the necessary check-up of the length of the course.

If you're thinking of experimenting in the .224 cubic inch Class, Division 1, be sure the bankbook shows plenty on the side opposite the "red", or check on the family tree and see if you have a brother-in-law the president of a chartered bank; owner of a chain of stores or restaurants or owns a block of real-estate in downtown New York city. For instance the power-plant in one of these flying water-sprites will set you back $1,250 including all component for installation, and that is a United States price. In Division II of the same class, $600 will buy you the required engine. Add a plastic hull and the rest of the gadgets necessary before you can send it hurtling through the water, and you'll find the bank-balance has been set back but plenty.

* * *

However to the "big fellows" of the sport such as the late "Pops" Cooper, Gib. Bradley, Barnesville Oglo, Guy Lombardo, Dave Forman Buffalo and a few others, the cost is mere peanuts. We remember the grand old Jackie "Pops" Cooper saying after he sent his flying "Tops II" to the bottom of Massassaga Bay here a few years ago, "Don't worry about her too much, boys. If you can't bring her up, let her stay there. I've got six more at home."

"Pops" boat at that time was powered with a $4,000 engine.

Canadians, however, up to the present have not bothered too much with the more expensive water playthings. Harold Wilson, has invested but plenty in a new "Miss Canada" and recently returned from England where he purchased a Rolls-Royce Merlin power-plant for the craft. There are few 225 cubic Division boats owned in Canada. One, the "Ariel II" a former-record holder is owned and driven by Bill Braden, Waterdown, Ont.

* * *

Queen of the Class II 225's owned in Canada is the "Maple Leaf" the racing pride of Ed. Pine, of Belleville. A few years ago Ed. thought a hydroplane was a carpenter's tool that worked under water but today, Ed. can exude more knowledge of the mechanical make-up, the whims, and fancies of a .225 Div. II than can the majority of drivers. Pine fell victim to the racing bug, but plenty. He went all out for the sport after he experienced his first surge of racing pleasure at the wheel of the starry "Maple Leaf". He concentrated on the sport and all its angles. Within four short years, he has got himself a champion. The Maple Leaf won the all-high points championship of Canada for the past two years and in 1948 added the United States title in his class. He was honored with the number "U.S.I" by the APBA signifying that his boat is a national United States champion.

* * *

With the present rate of upsurgence of interest in the sport in Canada, it should not be long before Canadians are holding their own in top-flight circles of speedboat racing. As drivers they have shown they compare with the best.

* * *

Four teams of the Belleville District Baseball League swing into action tonight with the RCAF Flyers the guests of Kiwanis Juniors at the Exhibition Grounds in a floodlight fixture. The other game sees Point Anne trek to Napanee to take on the league-leading Gibbardville crew. Kiwanis and RCAF haven't been doing so well of late and tonight's game means a lot to both squads. Game gets under way at 8.30.

Fair Defeats Kesselring for Seagram Trophy

Sudbury, July 18—(CP)—Slim Bobby Fair, 19-year-old Toronto shotsmith, Saturday turned back the favorite as he carded five-over-par 209 to capture the Seagram trophy in the invitation golf tournament here.

Fair displayed a steady performance over the 54-hole route in both his driving and approach shots as he topped Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener's Ontario Amateur Champion. Bill Morland of North Bay placed second 215 while Kesselring was third with 217.

Northern Ontario entries dominated the remainder of the flights.

First flight honors went to Ron Silver of Sudbury Idylwydle, with 235. Clubmate Mance Robinson carded a 241 to win the second flight.

Sudbury's Bob Duntan retained his seniors flight crown after winning a two-hole playoff from E.C. Lambert. Both were tied at 171.

Lloyd Bentley of Kirkland Lake came through with a 169 to win the third flight and Albert Tomorri of Sudbury was best in the fourth flight with a 194.

Canada's Track Stars Slated For New Zealand

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, July 18— (CP) —It's off on a slow boat to New Zealand for 31 of Canada's best track and field athletes. Then what?

That is the question critical sports-minded Canadians, still mindful of the disappointing performance in the 1948 olympics, posed today following week-end announcement of the men and women who will compete in the fourth British Empire games in 20 years. Six provinces will be represented when the athletes tke to the cricket-grounds grass track in Auckland next Feb. 4-11.

Ontario leads with 14 athletes, British Columbia has nine, Quebec four, Manitoba two and Nova Scotia and Alberta one each.

Percy Humber of Victoria, B.C., 34-year-old former olympic athlete--he competed in the sprints and 400-meter relay in 1936--has been selected to coach the team and Tom Lord of Montreal, is manager.

Better Golf

By Sam Snead

In the address keep the club-head soled flat on the ground. Grip the club with, perhaps only an inch of the handle protruding. Pictured player has carried out these esentials, but he is bending forward too far. He should stand closer to the ball, so that he will be in position to use an upright swing. Notice that his arms are held rather straight down and form a "dog leg" angle with the club-shaft. This is correct. From the front view, the left arm and clubshaft, in the address position, should form virtually a straight though slightly diagonal line. Little or no "dog leg" from this view. If you will sole a club behind the ball, with the club-face squarely across the direction line, you will see that the club is so designed that a straight left arm and club shaft in the address position, necessary for the best mechanical results. Too many players address the ball with their arms and the club-shaft forming a "Y" position instead of having the left arm and club-shaft virtually straight from the front view, but "dog-leg" from the side-view.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Pittsburg, July 18 (AP)—When Bobby Locke won the British open golf title and decided to stay in England, it was another headache for George Schneiter, although some other golf pros may have been releived . . . Schneiter is a round-faced, bespeckled. serious guy from Utah who specializes in handling headaches. He's tournament director for the United States P. G. A. . . . before he went to England, Locke had agreed to appear in the Inverness four-ball matches at Toledo next week, the western open and some exhibitions . . . now the sponsors are complaining and the P. G. A. may have to take action . . . Schneiter's theory is that the people who put up $15,000 or so a week for golf prizes should get their money's worth. And one provision in the standard player contract is that when a golfer puts his name on the list 30 days in advance saying he'll definitely appear in a tournament. he must live up to that agreement.

Legal and Financial Dept.

The workings of the P. G. A. tournament burea aren't very well understood, but the basic theory is to run golf like a big business and to protect the sponsors, according to Schneiter . . . for instance, a few years ago, the big stars were demanding and getting huge sums of "appearance" money . . . the P. G. A. decided that was unfair, so the contracts now provide $250 extra for the appearance of the United States and P. G. A. champions and the leading money winners of the previous year. Nobody else gets an extra cent just for playing. . . . the organization collects an extra fee for the golf "Clinic" and splits it with the players who participate.

Point Anne Takes Electrics 5-3 At Fair Grounds

Sparked by M. Green's two runs Point Anne eked out a 5-3 victory over the local Northern Electric nine at last night's ball game at the Fair Grounds. Point Anne took the lead in the second when J. Green came home after being given a free ticket to first followed by M. Green who reached the initial bag on an error by Carson. Despite seven strike outs and two walks by Barriage as compared to only two strike outs and four walks by Loft, Point Anne held the lead throughout the game.

Northern showed strong signs of recovery in the fifth when Wardhaugh reached third with Goyer holding up at first and only one away. This threat was soon squashed when Fitzpatrick popped out to second followed by Carson who popped out to third to retire the side.

It was almost a three up, three down ball game with rarely more than four hitters reaching the batter's box.

Point Anne came to the fore again in the ninth scoring three times off two hits with Northern throwing in three errors. The visitors went through their line-up in this big inning led by Sero who made first on an error charged to Fitzpatrick. Strahan came up with a single followed by J. Green who went down swinging. M. Green tagged Barriage for a single bringing in Sero. Bennett reached the bag on an error to second scoring Strahan and M. Green for the remaining two runs. Loft struck out while Genereau and Elliott loaded the bases. P. Green was called out at first to retire the side.

Northern staged a belated ninth inning rally to score three runs on two hits and an error with Wardhaugh, Mulvihill and Barriage doing the honors.

Wardhaugh and Goyer led the Northerns with three hits while Genereau and P. Green took the lead for Point Anne with two hits each.

Line-ups:

Point Anne—Genereau cf, Elliott c, P. Green rf, Sero ss, Strahan 3b, J. Green 2b, M. Green lf, Bennett 1b, Loft p.

Northern Electric—Wardhaugh 3b, Goyer cf, Fitzpatrick ss, Carson 1b, Reeves c, Mulvihill 2b, Rutherford rf, Bunton lf, Barriage p.

Lighting System Softball Park Soon Completed

Frankford — The lighting system for Frankford Softball park on the school grounds is rapidly nearing completion, and it is expected that the lights will be in use approximately a week ahead of schedule.

On Friday night, approximately thirty men and boys, mostly members of the Frankford Lions Club, which is sponsoring the lighting project, gathered at the school grounds for a working bee. The grounds are being thouroughly raked to remove stones and rough spots. It is expected that Frankford Merchants will be able to play at least a few of their remaining games in Frankford.

The Canadian Legion is sponsoring something new in the way of entertainment for Frankford. On Saturday night, July 23, a game of donkey baseball will be played at the school grounds, with the old rivals, the Married Men and the Single Men tangling. All players will be mounted on donkeys for the game, and it should provide plenty of laughs.

Frankford Juvenile Softball team has been practising quite a bit lately, and look as if they will be a strong entry this year. They have obtained the services of two promising pitchers from Johnstown and Centenary, which will in itself assure them of a big help. Last year's Juveniles went into the Eastern Ontario finals, and the players have had considerable experience since then.

Frankford Sport

Frankford — In a sudden-death game for first place in the Sidney League, Johnstown softball club edged Frankford 11-9 in a real thriller in Johnstown Wednesday evening. Frankford lead going into the last of the seventh, but just couldn't hold down a Johnstown rally in the final frame. The game was tops from a spectator's standpoint, with Johnstown having an edge on Frankford defensively. Both centre fielders, Vandervoort of Johnstown and Phillips of Frankford, came up with grandstand catches of hard hit balls.

Frankford Merchants won their third straight game Thursday night as they handed Campbellford their second defeat this week on the latter's home diamond. Don Boyle went the route for the winners, and received good support behind him. The team played a good defensive game, and found their batting eye. The final score was 15-8. Preston Chase suffered a twisted knee as he went into third base, and will be out for the balance of the season. This comes as a big blow to the Merchants, for Chase has been one of the strongest batters on the team, as well as a good outfielder and relief pitcher. Chase will likely be replaced by either Cole or Appleby.

Galt Terriers Swamp London Under 21-4 Score

(By The Canadian Press)

Manager Tommy Paddea is developing his heavy-hiting Galt Terriers into a potent scoring machine in the intercounty Baseball Senior League.

He turned Terriers loose Saturday night and they combined for a 2-1 victory over the fourth-place London Majors. They also fattened their batting averages with 22 safeties, including home runs by Tex Kaiser and Goody Rosen. The win left the Terriers in second place of the eight-team loop.

In three other intercounty games, the seventh-place Guelph Maple Leafs defeated the fifth-place Brantford Red Sox 3-1, Waterloo Tigers downed St. Thomas Legion 6-0 to regain the league leadership and Kitchener Legionnaires gained a 10-6 victory over Stratford Nationals.

In the Central Ontario League, Peterborough Petes came within half a game of the leading Oshawa Merchants when they defeated Batawa Shoemen 8-5 at Peterborough and in the Temiskaming Senior League, Porcupine Combines took over first place with a 7-3 win over Hollinger Bombers.

In a Nickel Belt game, the last-place Copper Cliff Redmen surprised the second-place Creighton Cubs by defeating them 9-5. It was Copper Cliff's fifth victory of the season.

Playing-manager Clare Van Horne used three London pitchers in an attempt to stem the Terriers' drive at Galt and finally went to the mound in the ninth inning. Lew Fisher, starting pitcher, didn't last the first inning, being relived when he gave up six runs—scored on five hits and two bases on balls.

Frank Deluca, who followed him, did no better, yielding 15 runs on 16 hits in 6 1-3 innings.

Southpaw Don Perkins made his home debut and registered his second win of the week for Galt.

At Guelph, the Maple Leafs administered the sixth straight loss to Brantford Red Sox. They were backed by the steady pitching of Marty Philp who gave up five hits. George Fisher went the route for the Red Sox and was tagged for seven hits.

Right-hander Gordy Ariss gave up only two hits as the Tigers blanked St. Thomas Legionnaires at Waterloo. The Tigers opened with a two-run lead in the second inning on four straight hits, including a triple by third-baseman Bobby Fisher. They added another in the fourth when Fisher scored from second on a wild pitch.

At Stratford, five pitchers were pressed into service. Bob Keegan started for Kitchener but didn't last past the first inning. He was replaced by Roy Tradgett who held Nationals until the eighth when he was relieved by Pat Boehmer. Vern Richardson and Jerry Hamm shared the hurling duties for Stratford.

In the C.O.B.L., Peterborough garnered 20 hits from Batawa's Max Smith, while Ed Whitehill scattered five hits for the Petes. Pat Wilson led the attack with a double and four singles in five appearances at bat. Joe Lowrey got four for five.

At Timmins, the Combines drove Hollinger starting Pitcher Cliff Varin from the mound in the third inning after collecting two runs in the first and two in the third innings. John Brandreth took over and he was replaced by Bill Barrett.

Alex Kosick went the distance for Combines, giving up nine scattered hits.

In Nickel Belt action, Copper Cliff went ahead 3-0 in the first three innings at Sudbury and were never headed. Lefty Stelmakowitch, third pitcher on the Redmen's mound, was credited with the win. He replaced Ovis in the seventh inning. Clare Didone started off and lasted until the fifth.

ROPE WALKERS KILLED

Vienna, July 18 (AP) — Tight rope walker Joseph Eisemann, 38, and his 16-year-old daughter, Rosa, were killed Sunday night when they fell from a cable over the Danube River Canal. They were just a few feet short of safety when they lost their balance.

Montreal, July 18 (CP)—Blue Bonnets race track here, poorly regarded by horsemen and bettors in recent years, has been making a big effort to regain its one-time glory.

The perfectly-located track, which gives racing fans a fine view of Mount Royal from the stands, has not been on the main Canadian racing circuit for many years.

This year, the management made a big effort to increase Bonnets' prestige, introducing the saliva test to detect hopped-up horses and employing Pinkerton detectives to identify all horses racing there and prevent "ringers" from competing.

With the July meet almost over, Baz (Montreal Star) assesses the gains made.

Extra Meeting

"It is so much better in the way of attendance and handle than last year that it is probable there will be an extra meeting," Baz writes. "....prices, in the main, have been a lot better...Montreal...could be made into a racing city just behind Toronto...."

Blue Bonnets, unlike the larger race tracks does not have the totalisator—that ingenious machine which automatically works out the racing odds as bets are made at the pari-mutuel windows. So far, Bonnets has depended on more human means of estimating odds as they fluctuate, but Baz says he feels the "tote" is only about three years away.

"Montreal will have to produce $100,000 average days with consistency before (the management) can make that plunge," Baz remarks.

Aussie Net Stars

Ever wonder why a country like Australia, with a population of only 8,000,000 produces so many great tennis stars? So did Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll. He asked Australian Davis Cupper Billy Sidwell about it and Billy had the secret: In the city of Sydney alone, there are 500 courts...that makes tennis the Australian equivalent of Canadian hockey with its corner-lot rinks.

Lawn Bowling Club Plays Host To Y's Men

Eighteen members of the Y's Men's Club of Belleville availed themselves of the invitation of the Jitney Committee of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club to participate in an evening of bowling at the local greens on Friday evening last. With 28 members of the bowling club also in attendance for their regular Friday evening jitney, the entire lower green of the club was put to use for the evening. The members of the Y's Men's Club, only three of whom had ever bowled before, were worked into the lineup of each team on as even a basis of distribution as was possible with the result that play was very spirited and interesting to all. Prior to the start of the two games the guests were welcomed by the bowling club president, A. E. Wonnacott after which the rules governing the play were outlined by Jitney Committee chairman, Jerry Hyde.

Ross Booth, vice president of the Y's Men's Club, expressed the appreciation of the club members present for the very fine evening of entertainment provided by the lawn bowlers at the conclusion of the distribution of prizes.

The entire evening was arranged by Jerry Hyde who holds the position of jitney games chairman in the local lawn bowling club and who also holds the office of president of the local Y's Men's Club and much credit must go to him and his committee for the fine evening's outing provided.

It was announced that invitations would be sent to the other service clubs of Belleville to visit in a group the local greens for an evening's tryout at this national summertime outdoor pastime.

Optimist Club Baseball Midgets Practice Tonight

Word was received in the city over the weekend that the Optimist Club entry in the Ontario Baseball Association Midget Series had been accepted and been granted a bye into the playdowns. Coach Dick Fitzpatrick has called a practice for Monday evening at the East Hill Playgrounds and all boys under 17 May 1st are asked to report to him. Coach Fitzpatrick reported today that all positions on the team will be open and a good turnout is anticipated for the first practice.

The Optimist Club hope to arrange a series of exhibition games for the team before play-off time rolls around. One of the most capable coaches in the person of Dick Fitzpatrick has been secured and Club officials feel that the team will go a long way along the playoff trail.

Monster Jitney Planned by Club On Local Greens

Jerry Hyde, chairman of the Jitney Committee of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club announced today that the club is going to hold a monster mixed rinks jitney on the local greens this Friday evening at 8.00 P.M. sharp.

Sixty four members of the local club will be hosts to forty bowlers from Kingston, twelve from Stirling and twelve from Madoc for the evening. This will provide a 128 players meaning every green will be in use with a full complements of teams.

A .50c fee will be charged every player and at the conclusion of the evening's sport a prize will be awarded every participant and a light lunch will be served by the ladies section of the club of whom Mrs. Wm. Gilbert is president and Mrs. J.T. Legault house committee chairman.

Citizens of Belleville who are interested in watching or participating in this grand outdoor summer pastime will be welcomed at the local greens any weekday evening and are especially invited to witness this colorful evening being planned for Friday of this week. In the event of rain the game will be played the following Monday night.

Mr. H.D. Row, membership committee chairman, Ab Wonnacott, club president, or any club member will be glad to give you any information you may desire regarding admission into the club at any time.

MAYOR RESCUES NEIGHBOUR TRAPPED IN BLAZE

WINS DOW AWARD
MAYOR "EDDIE" SARGENT
of Owen Sound, Ont.
smashes his way into burning house

Realizing that his neighbour was trapped in the blazing house, Mayor Sargent, 33, climbed onto a porch roof and smashed a window with his fist. The blast of heat was so terrific that he was knocked to the ground. Entering the back door he saw his neighbour on the floor. He tried to drag him out but twice the heat drove him back. On his third try he was successful in getting the man out.

We salute the courage of Mayor Sargent, of Owen Sound, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

1. An all-round athlete, Mayor Sargent was determined to rescue his trapped neighbour. Climbing to the porch roof, he smashed the window with his fist.

2. The blast from the broken window was so terrific that it knocked the young Mayor off the porch roof. Picking himself up, he decided to try the back entrance.

3. After being driven back twice by the intense heat and smoke, the courageous Mayor finally managed to drag the victim from the burning house.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

You may never get the same cards again. But get the general idea. When playing a contract, watch your entries. And if there is only one hope of making it, plan as if it will work.

Planning helped plenty of luck in this deal.

South was declarer at six heart. Opening lead from west was the jack of diamonds. Declarer did not know it was a singleton. But he made allowance for this and other things.

It looks almost certain that three tricks must be lost. Clubs can be developed for sluffs only after the ace is pushed out. Then the opponents will also grab two diamonds.

Remote hope of making the slam is to find several lucky breaks. Such as club ace in west with no more diamonds; a club split of three and three instead of the expected four-two.

If all these happen to be so, entries must be provided for both hands. West may duck the first club round. If dummy has not enough entries, west may duck a second club round.

So, south took trick one with diamond ace and pulled only one round of trumps. A club toward dummy was ducked by west and queen got it. A return trump was overtaken by south.

The last south club was led and captured by west with the ace. His spade return was taken with south ace and a trump from south was won in dummy. After which the rest was easy.

Dummy led the club king and sluffed a south diamond. On the next two dummy clubs were sluffed two more south diamonds. Thus, all the opponents got was their ace of clubs.

Of course there was plenty of luck attached to this. But planning for entries helped cash in on the luck.

Do the most in any hand with the tools at your command.

ABBOTT COMMENTS

The 25 per cent slash in Britain's dollar imports announced recently "will have no immediate adverse effect upon Canada," Finance Minister Douglas Abbott declared in London. "We will certainly feel it," he said. "There can be no question about that, but I don't see a serious fall in employment. Mr. Abbott is in London for the Commonwealth finance ministers' talk. — Central Press Canadian.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, July 18 — (AP)— Here are some luscious lassies who claim Shirley Temple's tirade against cheesecake is strictly a bust.

Last week the former tot star told me she thought leg-art pictures ase unnecessary. "If I had a choice between having ser appeal and being an actress, I'd rather be an actress," she declared.

Universal-International Studio, fast becoming Hollywood's cheesecake haven, now has a clause in its starlet contracts, pressing them to cheesecake duty for their first five years of service (what happens then—are they too old for it, or have they risen above it?)

De Carlo Speaks

At any rate, the cleavage between the studio's beauties and Miss Temple is marked. Egged on by her press agents, curvy Yvonne De Carlo took a deep breath and expounded:

"Rita Hayworth parlayed a $3 sweater into stardom and a multi-million-dollar marriage — what's wrong with that?" asked the Vancouver beauty.

"Lane Turner has done all right for a one-time soda jerk," she added. "She's jerking champagne now."

Shelley Winters chimed in with: "Marlene Dietrich can be a grandmother and still hit page one—just because she's got good legs and shows them."

And Other Comment

Added Ida Lupino:

"Betty Grable was the highest paid woman in America, the last time the income tax boys released their figures. And they were really releasing a figure that time."

AT THE BELLE — Linda Darnell, Ann Sothern and Jeanne Crain aren't happy with the letter they've just received in the new 20th-Century-Fox comedy drama, "A Letter to Three Wives," playing for last times at the Belle Theatre. The letter informs the "three wives" that one of their husbands, enacted by Paul Douglas, Kirk Douglas and Jeffrey Lynn, respectively, has run off with the town's most attractive, unattached female.

Foreman Killed When Dynamite In Boat Explodes

Maniwaki, Que., July 18 (CP) — A boatload of dynamite exploded in Cougar Lake, 130 miles north of here yesterday, killing 40-year old R. Blais, a foreman of the Canadian International Paper Company.

Maniwaki is 70 miles north of Ottawa.

Bais had gone across the lake to get supplies and equipment after a log drive. The supplies included dynamite and detonation caps.

Egypt's Movie Industry Has Huge Potential Market

Claro, July 18—(AP)— Egypt's movie industry has come of age.

Just 21 years ago, in 1928, the first Egyptian film was produced. Called "A Miss in the Desert," it was an awkward imitation of "The Sheik," which starred Rudolph Valentino.

Today there's a booming Hollywood-on-the-Nile. Egypt's filmdom employs 10,000 people. Its films are shown as far away as Singapore and, on occasion, Paris. Naturally, the land of Cleopatra also has produced its own film beauties.

It's a far cry back to the two enthusiastic pioneers, Ibrahim and Badr Lama, who made "A Miss in the Desert."

Were Not Discouraged

"A Miss in the Desert" had a sphinx-like reception. Undiscouraged, the Lamas produced three more films and then set up Egypt's first official film company—Condor Films.

Others became interested. Capital poured in and the Egyptian cinema was in business to stay.

During the Second World War, when foreign films were hard to get, Egypt produced an average of 110 films annually. After the war, United States, British, French and Italian movies fought to regain the market. Egyptian production last year dropped to 41 pictures.

Now Egyptian producers are optimistic again. The reconversion to normal has been completed and they are confident the swing is back to Egyptian films.

Egypt has nine big studios.

Total investment in the film industry is about $8,000,000. Studios have modern United States and European equipment. Films cost about $200,000 and usually make substantial profits.

No Long-Term Contracts

Egyptian movie stars are not under long-term contracts like those in the United States or Britain. They work by the film. Sometimes they share in the profits. Contracts run up to $56,000 a film for the top names.

Sound tracks are in Arabic with English or French captions. Films are shown in Egypt's 250 theatres and then travel through the Arab and Moslem world. With 221,000,000 Moslems in the world the potential market is whopping.

AT THE CAPITOL — Ida Lupino, who co-stars with Monte Wooley and Cornel Wilde in the comedy drama "Life Begins at Eight-Thirty," showing today and Tuesday only at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program the unforgettable drama "Prisoner of Shark Island," starring Warner Baxter. Matinee daily at 2.00 p.m.

POTATO PLAN FAILS

Truro, England — (CP) — In some Cornish districts, a scheme by which new potatoes, delivered by farmers to the railhead, are bought by the food ministry, proved a failure. Farmers could not get enough sacks for their large crops and British railways cannot handle all the traffic because of freight car shortage.

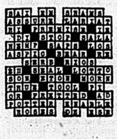
Answer to Saturday's Puzzle:



Little Benny's Note Book

Me and pop started to help ma do the dishes, and then we went in the living room while ma got through with the finishing touches, and I said, Hay, pop, I know some fellow and he told me that any time a lady comes in the room his father stands up and sits down again, and his father makes him do it, too. I mean any lady, even his mother, I said.

That's a very nice thing, and that boy's parents must be very nice people, pop said, and I said, Well G, pop, I bet they're no nicer than we are, so why don't you and me do it, pop.

By gollie why don't we? pop said.

Meening we would. Which we did when ma started to walk in the living room, both of us jumping up, pop out of his chair and me off the floor, and ma said, Just a minute, William, I want to speek to you about something. Where are you going? she said.

I'm going back into my comfortable chair, pop said.

Which he did, and just then the fone rang and ma quick went to answer it, and I said, Jimminies, pop, we wasted it. Let's give her one more chance, I said.

I'm willing if you are, pop said.

And when ma came back we both jumped up, and ma said, William, I told you I wanted to talk to you. Do you have to start to leave like a Jack in the box every time I come in the room? she said, and pop sat down again? saying, Think nothing of it, my dear ,maybee things had better just go on as they were.

What things for land's sakes? ma said, and pop said, Oh, just things.

Being the end of the subject and making me feel partly lucky on acount of probably saving me from a whole lifetime of jumping up and down.

Looking Ahead in Ottawa:

P. C. Leader Expected to Return To the Capital in Near Future

By The Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, July 17 — (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader is expected to return to Ottawa early this week to deal with some of the work which has accumulated since the federal election June 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew left the capital shortly after the election for a holiday to rest up from the campaign which saw them cover more than 18,000 miles of Canadian territory. They choose an island on Georgian Bay as their holiday resort.

It is not known how long Mr. Drew will remain in the capital. He recently moved out of his Toronto home and his family will spend the summer in Guelph, pending selection of a home here.

Some political observers are predicting that the leader's arrival here will be followed by some changes in the party's headquarters staff. R.A. (Dick) Bell, National Director of the party, C.V. Charters, Public Relation Director, and Geoff Hewelcke, editor of the party's monthly publication, "Public Opinion," are all reported as considering new positions.

May Return to Private Practice

It is reported Mr. Bell would like to return to private law practice as soon as it is convenient for the party. Mr. Charters who joined headquarters about 2½ years ago is said to be planning to return to his publishing company at Brampton, Ont. Mr. Hewelcke is said to be considering several offers.

However, some sources close to the party say they doubt if any extensive changes in the headquarters staff will be made. They say Mr. Drew is reluctant to see any of his helpers leave despite the outcome in the election in which Progressive Conservative Representation in the Commons from 69 to 41.

China

There is a feeling in some informed quarters in Ottawa that some diplomatic move will have to come in the fairly near future to clarify and re-establish Canada's official position in China.

At present, Canada recognizes the Nationalist Government but her Ambassador, Hon. T.C. Davis is in Nanking, the Communist-held capital.

Official diplomatic business with the Nationalists is carried on through the British at Nationalist capital at Canton. Mr. Davis meanwhile, is cut off physically to a large extent from the outside world.

His one link with Ottawa is by telegraph. Blockade has shut off other means of communication He and his five or six aides live quietly and unmolested in their embassy. The communists apparently treat them as privite foreign individuals. There are no formal negotiations because neither side officially recognizes the status of the other.

Hitler's Scorn of Nuclear Physicists May Have Cost Reich Atom Bomb

By AIAN DREYFUSS

Haigerloch, French Zone, Germany. July 18 — (Reuters) — Hitler's fixed idea that nuclear physics was nothing more than a "plaything" of scientists may have cost Germany the atomic bomb and possible victory in the Second World War, according to the physicist who was in charge of Germany's largest uranium pile.

The scientist, Dr. Hermann Schuele, who now is head of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Physics at Hechingen, declared:

Certain of Blitzkrieg

'Hitler was so certain of the success of his blitzkrieg (lightning war) that he had no interest in long-term research in nuclear physics which he regarded as little more than a plaything".

Hitler's first antagonism toward nuclear physicists, Dr. Schuele explained, rose from an interview with the German Nobel prize scientist, Max Planck, in 1937, during which Planck declared emphatically that he was a follower of Einstein's theories.

Hitler's attitude made it virtually impossible to initiate work on a scale large enough for producing atom bombs even if the principle of their composition had been discovered in Germany, he said.

In 1943 he was ordered to move Germany's only uranium pile from the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in the Dahlem district of Berlin to the cellars of a Haigerloch Inn.

A number of hand-picked German scientists began work on the secret research project.

The exact degree of success which the scientists achieved in their quest for the secret of the bomb" is still classified as "secret" by allied military authorities.

Had Uranium Supply

Some measure of the intensity with which the project was pursued may be obtained, however, from the fact that at the end of the war, according to Dr. Schuele, the wine cellar laboratory had 680 cubes of uranium totaling 1 1-2 metric tons at its disposal, together with 3,000 pounds of "heavy water."

Haigerloch turned up in the news recently when an American physicist gave evidence at the Frankfurt trial of eight Germans charged with illegal possession of a five-pound bar of uranium that the radio-active brick had come originally from the secret German laboratory beneath the sleepy German inn.

Dental Authorities Fear Public Over-Stressing Decay Prevention

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

New York, July 17—(AP)—Now come pills and chewing gum against dental decay.

They are the latest in a variety of new dental products aimed at cutting down toothaches.

And some dental experts are worried that people are expecting too much. They feel there hasn't been time yet for really thorough tests of how effective the new things are.

Many Agents Used

Take a look at the line-up:

1 Ammoniated tooth powders and pastes. These are based on the idea that decay is caused by acids formed by the lactobacilli acidophilus bacteria, or L. A. bacteria for short. They do reduce the number of L. A. bacteria. As for protection against actual decay, researchers who developed one formula said use of the ammoniated powder reduce decay rates by 35 per cent on the average.

2 The pills and chewing gum with the same general ingredients have just come along. The pills are white wafers to be dissolved in the mouth after meals, like after dinner mints. The are said to help reduce the number of L. A. bacteria, and not to be harmful from swallowing the ammonium and urea.

3 A toothpaste containing chlorophyll, the green stuff that gives plants their color. University researchers report it was extremely effective in lowering the L. A. Bacteria, even to eliminating them in most people after a time, and in preventing formation of acids.

4 Chemical roadblocks, Some dentists are testing a method based on the idea that decay is caused by bacteria invading tiny channels of living matter between the rods of tooth enamel. Two chemicals are applied to the teeth to form a barrier at the opening of these channels. Initial studies report up to 90 per cent reductions in decay. This treatment must be given by a dentist.

5 Fluorine. This chemical element is being added to drinking water, and dentists are applying weak solutions of sodium fluoride directly to children's teeth. After several years of studies, it is credited with reducing decay by up to 40 per cent when applied directly. It appears to help children only.

Gum Disease Prevalent

Meanwhile, some dental leaders are worried about what they call exaggerated stress on preventing tooth decay. Gum diseases and other troubles, not decay, are responsible for most teeth lost today, said Dr. George A. Bruns of Boston, president of the American Academy of Dental Medicine.

Tooth decay usually becomes much less common after people reach the age of 35. But gum disorders then start causing much more trouble.

Cramer's Pinch Single Gives Bisons Victory

By The Associated Press

Old Doc Cramer still knows how to hit.

Cramer, who banged out 2,705 hits during his major league career is serving as player-coach of the International League-leading Buffalo Bisons and doing a bang-up job in both departments.

The 42 year-old outfielder is serving principally in pinch-hitting roles and has come through often in the clutch.

Sunday Cramer delivered a pinch-hit single that scored Ray Coleman from second base in the 13th inning with the run that gave the Bisons a 7-6 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs. Cramer has banged out 14 hits for the Bisons and driven home 14 runs.

The game, first of doubleheader twice was held up by rain. The second game was postponed.

Saul Rogovin went all the way for Buffalo and gained his ninth victory.

The triumph jacked Buffalo's lead over Montreal Royals and Rochester Red Wings to six games. The Royals and Wings split a doubleheader, Rochester taking the first game 12-11 in 12 innings and the Royals the nightcap 9-0. The Wings are two percentage points back of the second-place Royals.

Russ Derry, who slammed his 23rd home run of the season with one on in the seventh, singled home Don Thompson with Rochester's winning run in the opener.

Pat McGlothin blanked the Wings on four hits in the second game.

Scheduled doubleheaders between Syracuse and Baltimore and Newark and Jersey City were rained out.

Stampeder Grid Star Seeks Berth With Alouettes

(By The Canadian Press)

Announcement of the signing of two more American imports came from Edmonton Sunday night from an official of the Edmonton Eskimos Football Club who also said that one eastern gridiron star may try to leave the club although he also is under contract.

Joe Schoctor, secretary of the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union Club, said that Bill Radovich, a guard, and Andy Marefos, both formerly of Los Angeles Dons, have signed Eskimo contracts and expect to arrive here for fall training Aug. 1.

The club secretary said he was aware of reports that former Hamilton Tiger Ralph Bartolini, a halfback, may try to leave the Edmonton Club. He signed with Eskimos about four months ago.

Schoctor said he did know what would be done if Bartolini does leave. If he skips his contract Eskimos may issue an injunction refusing him permission to play elsewhere.

At Monteral, Coach Lew Hayman of Montreal Alouettes of the football big four said Sunday he had received a telegram from Chuck Anderson, star lineman last year with the Dominion champion Calgary Stampeders, seeking a berth on the 1940 Alouette lineup.

The Telegram came from Santa Barbara, Cadif.

The veteran Negro lineman, rated one of the best snapbacks in the west last season, said he had an argument with Coach Les Lear of the Stampeders and is not allowed to play in the western conference because of Lear's alleged refusal to let him report to another club in that circuit.

It will be impossible to have an Ontario team ready for the Mann Cup Dominion play-offs beginning in Vancouver Sept. 16, the Ontario Lacrosse Association Emergency Committee discovered at a meeting in Toronto Sunday.

Officials said that because of the short notice given by the Canadian Lacrosse Association and the length of the O.L.A. schedule, the necessary adjustments could not be made satisfactorily. The earliest date by which an Ontario senior representative could be declared would be Sept. 25.

Canada's Rifle Team Establishes Fine Reputation

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Bisley Camp, Surrey, England, July 18 (CP)—Canada's official team of 18 riflemen quit Bisley's famed ranges with a high reputation for consistent straight shooting at the 804th annual Commonwealth rifle shoot, even if they failed to place close to the top in the King's prize event.

Although many coveted awards eluded the Canadians during the meet which ended Saturday, there was hardly a senior event in which one or more of the Canadian sharp - shooters were not placed well up.

Of the 17 primary events in which the Dominion competed, three went to Canada. All were won by officer cadet Gilmour Boa of Toronto in nerve-testing shootoffs. These were the Southern Railway, the Donegall Qualifer and the Stock Exchange.

The imperturbable Boa, a 24-year-old Toronto civil engineer, was in the prize lists more than 40 times. His father, Lieut. James (Jim) Boa of Toronto, a veteran of 50 years at the ranges, was next with more than 30 prizes.

Maj. William Strachan of Ottawa; Capt. Richard Hampton of Ottawa; WO. Jacob Young of Victoria; Cpl. Geoffrey Coleman of Toronto and S. Sgt. Martin Ostergaard of Calgary also figured prominently in honorable mentions.

Fond hopes of winning the King's prize after a 20-year lapse went glimmering Saturday when Capt. E. W. H. Brookes, a former member of the Royal Army Service corps, captured the award with a score of 278.

Nine Canadians reached the final stage of the King's prize, topped by the tall, 27-year-old Sgt. William Hall of Ottawa, who was 19th with 268.

Bob Bogie Wins .225 Feature At Brockville

Brockville, July 18 (CP)—Bob Bogie of Saranac Lake, N. Y., won the Brockville Centennial Cup as the high-point winner in the 225 class, feature speedboat race here Saturday.

Some 20,000 spectators, including Governor-General Alexander, Lady Alexander and their son, Brian, watched as Bogie drove his Blitz 111 over the course at an average speed of 53.3 miles an hour in the first heat.

In the second he placed third, but his total of 625 points was enough to beat Al Brinkman of Buffalo, N. Y., who registered 600 points in the two-heat event for second place.

One spill marred the event. Walter (Doc) Robinson of Alexandria Bay, Ont., piloting Mr. Dockit, took a turn too fast in the second heat and turned over. He suffered minor injuries.

In other events in the afternoon, Bernard Daoust of Lachine, Que., won the Caroline Graham Memorial trophy by scoring a first in each heat of the 225 class, division two. His Canada Maid attained an average speed of 40.9 miles an hour.

The Comstock Trophy went to Al Bingham of Buffalo, N.Y., two registered two first in the 135 open with his Bingo 11. His speed averaged 50.9 miles an hour.

Other results were:

D. and E. Service Runabout — Mike and Marion Steffen of Grand Island, N.Y., two first, average speed 35,3 M.P.H.

135 Restricted — Bill Belfie of Gananoque, Ont., fourth and first, average speed 39.5 M.P.H.

D. and E. Racing Runabout — Joseph F. Less, of Tonawanda, N. Y., two first. Average speed 40 M.P.H.

Pointers Regain First Place In Tennis Loop

The Point Anne Tennis Club regained first place in the Bay of Quinte Tennis League Friday evening when it swept a five match tournament from Section Two of the Quinte Tennis Club on the Point Anne courts.

The homesters had difficulty with the visitors only in the second match of men's doubles when they were forced to come from behind a first set lacing to win. The other matches went to the Point Anne neters with little trouble.

Results of the tournament are as follows:

Men's doubles: First, Gordon Huck and Jack Hart, Point Anne, defeated Dan Cowley and Bob Cetanovitch, Quinte, 2 6-2, 6-3.

VACATIONING GIRLS BREAK UP ARMY MARCH

Around Stroud, a town in Southern Ontario, army worms are on the march. Grain crops that survived the drought are menaced by the crawling horde. Here vacationing girls, Irene Kelly, Ruth Thompson and Eileen Goodacre, help to spread the most effective killer of the pests, a poison mixture of bran, Paris green, molasses and water. Worms climb the grain stalks and cut off the all-important heads.—Central Press Canadian.

Refugees Wait On Escape Ship To Enter Canada

By ARNOLD AGNEW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, July 18—(CP)—Twenty-three political refugees from Estonia are waiting aboard their tiny escape ship here today for the go-ahead signal to start a new life.

"It is good to be here in Canada," said Capt. Theodore Vompa. He skippered the 32-ton schooner W. E. Gladstone through stormy seas that kept the decks awash for eight consecutive days.

The tiny, two-masted vessel left Sweden June 23, called at Sligo, Ireland, for fuel and food, then headed for Canada.

"The people are so friendly here," said Capt. Vompa's blonde young wife. "Everybody is so nice to us. Our impression of Canada is good."

The few persons in the group who could understand English nodded vigorous approval. The four children chewed happily on candy given them by onlookers who crowded onto the pier.

The refugees lived in the same district in Estonia. When the Russians took over their homeland in 1944, they fled to Sweden along with 25,000 of their countrymen.

"When we first came to Sweden, we thought eventually we could go back to Estonia," said Capt. Vompa. About two years ago, however, they gave up hope and began to lay plans for emigrating to Canada.

The Estonians had "nothing bad to say" about Sweden, but "we could not own land there, or run a business—we would always be foreigners." And it was "too close to Russia."

"But in Canada we hope to become citizens," Mrs. Vompa added.

Cooling Air Cuts Fire Danger To B.C. Forests

Vancouver, July 18 — (CP) — A cooling mass of air, dotted with showers, clung over the Vancouver forest area today and cut fire potentials to some extent.

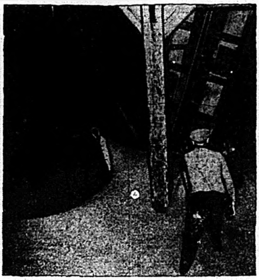
There wasn't any indication of a drenching rain to come but neither is there any uncontrolled blaze reported so far.

The relative coolness is subnormal in temperatures of the last week, which saw dry forests a potential powder keg, are expected to return.

Damage and expense continued to run heavy today from villigence required for the more-than-120 fires burning. But at the latest action spot — were Saturday flames whipped out of control—forest service officials said they hoped to be able to salvage much of the burned over standing timber and some of the bucked and piled logs of fir and hemlock.

The fire at Lake Cowichan on south-central Vancouver Island ran over 700 acres but mopping up operations started last night in some places and is being carried on today by the 250 men who battled the running fire earlier. Some 5,000,000 or more of the partially-dressed timber was run over.

Elsewhere in the province the hazard continues high. In the Nelson forest area rain has slightly aided the northern Prince George area. The forest service reported that last week 188 fires were quenched.



EMERGENCY STORAGE FOR SURPLUS GRAIN

Coping with the shortage of grain storage facilities, the United States has decided to use a fleet of 12 ships anchored in the Hudson River for storing grain from the crop now being harvested. Here, workers at the Claremont Terminal in Jersey City, N.J., pour surplus wheat into the Benjamin Hawkins. The government has also offered long-term, low-income loans to farmers as an inducement in helping them build their own storage bins.—Central Press Canadian.

Ex-Policeman Sent to Trial On Murder Count

Edmonton, July 18 — (CP) — Michael Joseph Hayes, former Edmonton city policeman, was committed for Supreme Court trial on a charge of murder at conclusion of a preliminary hearing in police court here Saturday.

Medical evidence given at the preliminary indicated that the murder victim, William Wallace McKay, 59, formerly of Brandon, Man., was still breathing when he was buried in a shallow grave by his assailant.

Dr. Samuel Hanson, a pathologist, testified he found large amounts of moist, black earth in McKay's mouth, throat and lower air passages.

Police allege Hayes attacked McKay at a drinking party in the former's suburban boxcar home. They believe McKay was struck on the head with a beer bottle and an iron bar before being draged out into a potato patch and buried. Blows from a double-headed axe allegedly ended McKay's death struggle as he squirmed under the earth covering him.

In previous testimony, it was revealed that police found McKay's wallet and other effects in Hayes' possession.

Nice-Sized Sturgeon Jumps into Boat

Montreal, July 18—(CP)—Tom Rollins of suburban Verdun was surprised Friday night when a 55-pound blue sturgeon jumped into the boat from which he was fishing with a friend in the St. Lawrence River off near-by Lachine.

After he recovered from his surprise, Rollins gaffed the fish. It was five feet long, had a girth of 35 inches and its head was about the size of a basketball. Rollins figures there are about 35 pounds of dressed meat in it.

BUILD AIRPLANE IN APARTMENT

Living in a Paris apartment hasn't dampened the flair for craftsmanship and interest in aviation felt by Mr. and Mrs. Viel. The couple spend their free time working on a monoplane in their dining-room and, after 800-hours of labor, they're almost ready to attempt a test flight. The plywood plane has a wing spread of 35 feet and the Viel's expect to put a motor in their plane in the near future. BOAT BLAST SPEWS 16 INTO WATER, COOL COURAGE SAVES ALL LIVES

A sudden, violent, flaming explosion on the Sarah Maude, a 35-foot cabin cruiser, spewed 16 persons into Lake Muskoka on Saturday. The 10 adults, some of whom were badly burned and injured, thought only of the six children as other boats came to the rescue. Here the wreckage of Sarah Maude lies close to shore waiting to be salvaged.—Central Press Canadian.

Roger Coles, three, was one of the six children saved by the heroism and quick thinking of the adults on board the Sarah Maude. Roger suffered a broken arm and leg. Eight persons were hospitalized, two in condition described as serious.—Central Press Canadian Photos.

Harold Wilson, son of the owner of the Sarah Maude, was driving $5,000 Canadian Harmsworth trophy entry, Miss Canada IV, when the explosion occurred. He dived into the water immediately after the blast to aid the 16 struggling in the lake. Injured were rushed to hospital.—Central Press Canadian.

Abbott Expects Big Reduction In Commonwealth Buying

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, July 19 — (CP) — Finance Minister Douglas Abbott of Canada indicated today he considers a long-term solution of the dollar dilemma depends on "translating into action" the general trading principles endorsed at the Commonwealth finance talks just concluded.

He left no doubt that he personally considers these principles should lead in an expansionist rather than an restrictionist direction.

"I don't think dollar cuts are a sure cure for anything," he told Canadian correspondents at a press conference.

Agreed on Principles

Everyone at the Commonwealth talks, he said, agreed on the main principles of what the long-term solution should be. It remains to be seen to what extent these principles could be put into effect.

The press conference came on the heels of Monday night's announcement by Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, that the sterling area countries in the Commonwealth have decided upon a share-the-austerity plan to help reduce the drain on sterling area reserves. This means that all Commonwealth countries, except Canada and South Africa, will follow Britain's lead in reducing dollar imports by 25 per cent.

Abbott did not disguise the fact that Canada will feel the effect of these cuts.

"There's no use trying to fool ourselves," he said, "there will be very real curtailment of their (sterling area) purchases from Canada."

He indicated that timber, non-ferrous metals and pulp and paper would be among Canadian commodities most sharply affected.

Russians Now Claiming Credit For Inventions of All Sorts

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

Moscow, July 19 (AP). — Why are the Russians just beginning to assume credit for inventing everything from the steam engine to the airplane?

Because the Czars concealed the facts to please foreign capitalists, says the Soviet newspaper Trud, organ of the trade unions.

Recent Russian announcements that great discoveries and inventions previously credited to westerners were actually made by Russians will encourage Soviet patriotism and discredit the regime that concealed them, the paper said.

Further, said Trud, they will combat the "repulsive disease" of "sycophancy before Bourgeois culture."

("Sycophancy" is defined to Funk and Wagnall's dictionary as "base flattery".)

Trud charged that Russian land owners and capitalists wanted to help western capitalists encourage the view that Russia was a backward country which must remain dependent on western Europe. Therefore, says the paper, they suppressed news of scientific advances in Russia.

Now, Trud declared, a list of these inventions has become an effective means of combatting "cosmopolitanism" and theories of "Anglo-Saxon" superiority", which the paper called dangerous weapons of Anglo-American warmongers.

It gave its explanation of the recent rash of Russian claims to scientific "first" in response to a question from a reader. At the same time, Trud listed a great many achievements in fields not hitherto covered by previously published claims.

These included priority in discovery of the basic theories of electrolysis, electro-magnetism, photo-electrics, electro-dynamics,

EXCHANGE BD. EASES RULINGS ON CURRENCY

Canadian Importers Are Given Assistance

Ottawa, July 19 (CP) — The Foreign Exchange Control Board has eased currency regulations to help Canadian importers meet competition from Americans who don't have to pay as much for sterling.

The Board will allow American funds to certain classes of importers to buy forward sterling—contracts for delivery of sterling at some specified date in the future—on the New York market, an official said Monday night.

By buying forward sterling for as much as 20 cents less than Canadian importers had to pay, American importers were able to sell goods from the sterling area in Canada at lower prices than Canadian merchants could.

Sells at Fixed Price

The pound sterling sells in Canada at a fixed price of $4.04. Sterling for delivery in six months has been selling at less than $3.85.

There was no indication of how many importers will be affected by the change. The Board official said probably only a few who deal in some raw materials, such as sisal.

(Reports of the new regulation strengthened both the pound sterling and the Canadian dollar on the New York market. The dollar rose 1/16 of a cent to a discount of 5¼ per cent in terms of American funds and the pound rose ⅜ cents to $4.03¾.)

Forward contracts enable importers who don't have to pay for their goods immediately to protect themselves from any rise in exchange rates which might wipe out their profit margins. Recent speculation about possible devaluation of the pound has led to increased sales of forward sterling in New York. This has made it more difficult for Canadians competing with Americans for the Canadian market.

The ruling won't affect the majority of items entering Canada from the sterling area.

A Canadian importer of British automobiles, for example, still must buy his sterling in Canada at the official rate of $4.04. American importers can't compete in the Canadian market, even by getting sterling at a lower price, because of the tariff and 25 per cent excise tax on imported automobiles.

Seven New Polio Cases in Toronto Isolation Cases

Toronto, July 19 (CP).—Seven new poliomyelitis cases were reported in isolation hospital here today by the City Health Department, bringing to 47 the number of confirmed cases this year.

Majority of the cases are non-residents of the city. There have been two deaths from polio so far this year in Toronto and both cases were non-resident.

Haigh is Condemned to Death 'Vampire' Slayer of Nine Fails in Plea of Insanity

Lewes, Sussex, England, July 19 — (CP) — John George Haigh, self-confessed "vampire" slayer of nine, was condemned tonight to die on the gallows.

A jury of 11 men and a woman deliberated only 15 minutes before convicting the handsome, 39-year-old businessman of killing wealthy Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon, 69, last Feb. 18, drinking a glass of her blood and destroying her body in a barrel of acid.

Haigh had pleaded for "a special verdict in the form of guilty of the acts charged but insane at the time they were committed."

No Date Set

No date was set immediately for Haigh's hanging.

The jury quickly rejected one of the most sensational pleas in British criminal history. The defence had contended the accused was guided by a dream spirit to act along a divinely-appointed course.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, Britain's Attorney-General, who prosecuted, called the entire defence a "nauseating story of premeditated murder for gain." Sir Hartley maintained that Haigh not only was sane at the time Mrs. Durand-Deacon was murdered, but that he was able to distinguish right from wrong.

Called as a defence witness, Dr. Henry Yellowlees, noted London and Glasgow psychiatrist, testified that Haigh was suffering from paranoic insanity.

Yellowlees described a paranoiac as a mentally ill person whose "system of mystical ideas are ever less related to the morals of ordinary society and ever more associated with references to some vague force of principle under whose guidance he is among.

Yellowlees testified that the defendant was an only child in "a fanatically religious" home.

In two statements read in court Monday Haigh was quoted as telling police he had killed eight others besides Mrs. Durand-Deacon in the last five years, had drunk a glass of the blood of each and then destroyed their bodies in cauldrons of acid.

Defence counsel read the statements in detail to support a plea for "a special verdict in the form of guilty of the acts charged, but insane at the time they were committed." The prosecution contents Mrs. Durand-Deacon's death was a "premeditated murder for gain."

Defence counsel Sir David Maxwell Fyfe asked Yellowlees whether he believed Haigh drank his victim's blood. The psychiatrist replied:

"I think it is pretty certain that he did."

The psychiatrist told the court of a "dream of the bleeding Christ" which Haigh had told him constantly recurred between the ages of 10 and 16. In it Haigh saw either the head or sometimes the whole body of Christ on the Cross with blood pouring from his wounds.

Yellowlees said Haigh's first conscious "revelation" was at 16 or 17 when he interpreted a verse in the old testament as an instruction to drink his own water—a practice which he understood Haigh had told him, he said.

"I am awaiting trial with complete equanimity I am in the position of Jesus Christ before Pontius Pilate."

The accused told him that in a dream he seemed to go out into an entire forest of crucifixes, which turned into trees dripping blood. One tree gradually assumes the shape of a man, holding a bowl below one of the trees and catching the blood coming from it.

"Then when the cup is full the man in the dream offers it to him and invites him to drink it. He says he is unable to move and the man recedes."

Meaford's Former Mayor, Council In Battle Before Vice-Regal Visit

Meaford, Ont., July 19 — (CP) —Canada's Governor - General, Viscount Alexander, paid an official visit today to this town, 15 miles east of Owen Sound, and stepped right into a battle between former mayor F. Stanley Knight and town council.

The ex-mayor, who resigned his post Monday, did not appear at the welcoming ceremonies. Instead, the Governor-General was welcomed by Rev. A. L. Howard, member of the town council which Mr. Knight today accused of "dirty work at the crossroads."

Earlier it was reported that the trouble which resulted in the mayor's resignation arose from a difference of opinion between him and the Canadian Legion branch here on who should greet the Governor-General.

But today, the former mayor said he bore no ill-feeling toward the Legion branch.

Mr. Knight said he did not intend trying to regain his post. He accused the council of a "double-cross" because Reeve William Riley Monday invited him, on behalf of council, to officiate today and then, a few hours later, withdrew the invitation.

"I was only invited because they thought I would not accept," said Mr. Knight.

Soldier's Diary Of 1760 Campaign In Canada Sold

London, July 19. (CP)—A soldier's diary of the British expedition against the French in Canada in 1760 was sold today at Sotheby's Auction Rooms for £34 ($136).

After a brief session of brisk bidding it was brought by M. Pinto, 41-year-old London collector who specializes in historical documents. There was an American bid of £25 for the work before it was knocked down to Pinto.

The diary is unusual in that it is written in the margins of a small, leather-bound book of sermons published in Cheapside, London, in 1719. The diarist was David Holdin, who on Feb. 20, 1760, enlisted as a private in the expedition, described as "for the total reduction of Canada from the French."

Three years later, by the Treaty of Paris, France ceded to Britain her New World possessions in what now is Canada.

Columbia Studies Canadian Method In Elections

Ottawa, July 19 — (CP)—Impressed with the general absence of scandals in Canadian elections, officials from Colombia met with Dominion Electoral Officers today to find out how it's done.

Dr. Eduarda Zuleta Angel, Foreign Minister of the South American Republic, accompanied by Jose Camacho Lorenzana, Counsellor of the Colombian Embassy in Washington, met with Jules Castonguay, Canada's Chief Electoral Officer.

Mr. Lorenzana said Colombia wants to close up any loopholes in its election machinery. Specifically the Republic wants to remove the possibility of election frauds and to prevent machines from taking power.

He said elections in Colombia are usually "rather good" and free of scandals. Occasionally, however, one party accuses another of skullduggery.

Dr. Zuleta hopes to arrange for Canadian electoral experts to go south to help revise the Colombian system.

Mr. Castonguay, with whom he conferred, is the man who is in charge of all arrrangements for Canadian elections.

LARGE NUMBERS AUSSIE MINERS RETURN TO PITS

First Major Break In 22-Day Walkout

Sydney, Australia, July 19 (Reuters). — All coal miners in Western Australia and many in Queensland went back to work today in the first major break in the country-wide strike involving 23,000 miners.

The miners at Collie, Western Australia's chief mine, resumed work Monday.

Miners' lodges in the Singleton district of New South Wales voted against a general strike.

But W. Cook, president of the Northern New South Wales branch of the Miners' Federation, said, "It is much too early to talk of an end of the strike."

Not End of Strike

He said meetings of striking coal diggers at several New South Wales fields, Schedulizjer Wednesday and Thursday, "will certainly not mean the end of the coal strike."

The walkout began June 27 over the demands of the miners for higher wages and shorter hours. They refused to await the decision of an arbitration tribunal considering their claims.

Cook said the miners' meetings in New South Wales, the chief coal-producing state, could make recommendations to the combined mining unions' council. He predicted they would recommend continuation of the strike, which has tied up industry and left more than 500,000 persons unemployed.

Meanwhile the right of Judge Alfred William Foster of the Federal Arbitration Court to deal with charges of attempt of court was challenged.

Will Ask For Order

Simon Isaacs, counsel for officials of the Waterside Workers' Federation, said in Arbitration Court he will apply to the High Court, equivalent to the Supreme Court of Canada, for an order preventing Judge Foster from dealing with the question of penalties for contempt of court.

Judge Foster has sentenced several union leaders to imprisonment for contempt under the National Emergency Coal Strike Act, passed by the Federal Government since the strike began. It makes it illegal for unions to use funds to support the miners' strike.

Drews Go House Hunting in Ottawa

Ottawa, July 19—(CP) — The George Drews fell in with a common pursuit today.

The Progressive Conservative leader and his wife went house-hunting in Ottawa that officials consider one of the three Canadian cities with the worst housing problem.

Party officials had a number of prospective homes lined up for their inspection but one complicating factor was their desire to live in the Carleton riding Mr. Drew represents in Parliament. Only a relatively small section of the capital lies inside the constituency.

Mrs. H. McGuire 'Can't Believe' Good Fortune

Inherits One - Quarter Of Her Uncle's Estate

Five weeks after she learned of the legacy, a 28-year-old local mother of four children is still almost afraid to believe that she has inherited a million and a quarter dollars from the estate of an uncle who lived in New York City.

She is Mrs. Grace McGuire, wife of 33-year-old Harry McGuire, order clerk with the Stephens Adamson Manufacturing Company here. The couple live at 216 Pine Street, in the veterans rental homes area in Churchill Heights.

Mrs. McGuire stated Monday night that she had been informed by the executors of her uncle's estate that she will receive about one-quarter of a $5 million estate. She declined to name the uncle but intimated he was her mother's brother.

Uncle Killed Near Sudbury

Mrs. McGuire's uncle, a Mr. Mulligan, of New York City, left his wife approximately three quarters of his estate with charitable organizations also benefiting in the will which has not yet been probated.

It is understood that Mr. Mulligan was killed in an accident some time ago in the Sudbury district where he was visiting Mrs. McGuire's father. Mrs. McGuire's family name was Lalonde.

The uncle met death in an accident in the Sudbury area some time ago while he was visiting her father.

"I still can hardly believe it," stated Mrs. McGuire last night as she told reporters of her good fortune. "It will mean education and security for our four children, but I haven't got the money yet."

Names of the McGuire's four children are Harry, Jr., age 7; Johnny, 6. Carol Ann, 5, and Sandra, age 4, who since she was six months old has been in the Queen Mary Sanitarium at Weston, outside Toronto.

"The very first thing I am going to do is to bring little Sandra home from the sanitarium," went on the happy mother who herself came out of a sanitarium less than a year ago. "She has never known what home life was."

She said the legacy would enable her and her husband to hire competent help to look after the young girl.

Kept Her Secret

Although Mrs. McGuire first became aware of the legacy about five weeks ago she had kept it quiet even from her husband until last week. Then the news came out and over the weekend spread rapidly around Churchill Heights where being a veteran with children is the first requirement to secure housing accommodation.

"I am glad they got the money," stated a near neighbor and close friend of the McGuire's. They certainly needed it."

And this was borne out by the misfortunes which had befallen the family. Their youngest child, four-year-old Sandra had been in a sanitarium since she was six month old. The mother was in a sanitarium for several years and only a year ago the father was forced to go to the hospital. During the past year the mother went to work as a stenographer to help pay hospital bills.

Will Live Here

Asked what they expected to do, and whether they would continue living in Belleville the couple replied they had no desire to live anywhere else. They said the people in Churchill Heights were their friends and they wanted it to continue so.

Mrs. McGuire was reticent to give details of the legacy and pointed out the will of her uncle had not been yet probated. She said, however, that she had received some money from the estate.

"We keep reminding ourselves that we haven't got the money yet," Mrs. McGuire said. "We'd feel awful flat if something turned up and we didn't get the money."

"What we intend to do is to set up a trust fund for each of the children. Then they will be assured they will not have to scrape and work like we have," the father said.

Born Near Sudbury

Mrs. McGuire's maiden name was Lalonde and her mother died when the heiress was still a young girl. She was born in the Sudbury area, where her father is still living. Mrs. McGuire was brought up by a Mr. and Mrs. Howard Belanger. She attended St. Joseph's Convent in Toronto and spent most of her early life there.

Back in 1940 she was working at Eaton's in Toronto and met her future husband when her girl friend was unable to keep a date. They were married a few months later.

In 1941 Mr. McGuire enlisted in the air force with which service he remained for nine months when he was discharged. Since then he has had jobs in Toronto and other centres in Western Ontario. He has been at Stephens Adamson for more than a year.

"I have taken an awful kidding down there since my wife's legacy became known," he said. Already several get-rich-quick schemes have been suggested.

Husband to Keep Job

Two of the children, Harry Jr and Carol Ann, have been living with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGuire, 42 Bridge Street, West. Six-year-old John is staying at home.

John is still much too young to grasp exactly how much money a million and a quarter is but he knows it will be sufficient to buy a new bike. He speaks of the legacy amount as a "minnion," meaning million.

Regardless of the legacy Mr. McGuire says he will continue working for a while, stating that he will "feel better" by retaining his job. Later possibly if jobs get scarce he may give his position up to some worker less fortunate.

Comfortable in the Central Mortgage and Housing veterans' rental home in Churchill Heights, the McGuires think it is "heaven" compared to the third-floor Front Street walk-up apartment in which they had previously lived.

They moved to Churchill Heights two months ago when the housing unit area was opened to veterans.

Dennis, Society Burglar, Sentenced To 18 Years on Seven Charges

White Plains, N.Y., July 19—(CP) — Gerard Dennis, 29-year-old St. Catharines-born society burglar, today was sentenced to 18 years to life in prison.

The handsome native of Ontario was accused of a $600,000 chain of burglaries reaching from New York to Hollywood and into Canada. He pleaded guilty to seven counts.

Judge Elbert T. Gallagher of Westchester County gave him a sentence of 18 years to life on each count. However, the sentences are to run concurrently.

Dennis was arrested last Feb. 16 in Chicago. He was brought for trial to Westchester County, site of many of his alleged burglaries.

awaiting trial, he was interviewed several times by Canadian police officers from Montreal and its suburbs.

Chief Robert Byford of Westmount, Que., who led the questioning of Dennis, said the handsome thief admitted 12 burglaries in the Montreal area during 1944 and 1945.

Dennis' arrest brought to an end not only a long trail on jewel thefts but also a series of romantic entanglements in Canada and the United States. The arrest itself was largely brought about through information given police by an attractive, 22-year-old model whom Dennis had used to dispose of stolen gems.

FAILURE-TO-STOP CHARGE LAID

Failure of John Pejak, R. R. 1, Holloway, to come to a stop before entering onto Bleecker Ave., as he was driving west on Victoria Ave., was blamed for a collision between two vehicles at that intersection early yesterday afternoon.

Police stated Pejak failed to bring his vehicle to a stop and crashed into the side of a vehicle driven by Raymond Boyd, 12 Emily Street, who was driving south on Bleecker. The Boyd car was damaged to the extent of about $150 while front end damage resulted to the other vehicle. Police said Pejak was charged with failure to observe the "stop" sign.

Third Community Playground To be Opened

On Wednesday evening at 6.45 p.m., the third community—project park will be opened on the King George School Grounds when Harry Rollins, chairman of the Parks Board, officially opens the North Belleville Recreation Park.

The park is a community project, organized, financed and built by public-spirited citizens of the area with the assistance of local merchants.

Heading the committee which has developed the park is N. Maldrum. He is assisted by Mr. H. Hall, treasurer, and Mrs. J. Irvine, secretary. A hard working group of fathers has done the work of putting the ground in shape and building some of the equipment. There is one slide, three sand boxes, teeter-totters, and a swing in the park, which is enclosed by a picket fence along one side and wire screening along the other three sides.

Children using the park will be looked after by the mothers in the area who are donating their time in relays so as to provide careful and conscientious supervision at all times.

The land for the park was donated by the Board of Education and some of the equipment was supplied by the Parks Board.

$600 in Currency Left in Shirt Saved from Wash in Laundry

This is the tale of a shirt.

Not an ordinary shirt, for as events proved, "thar was gold in them thar frills".

The dramatis personae include the shirt, an employee of a Coleman Street laundry and a hurried, slightly excited American tourist.

Enter the tourist slightly flustered and in a terrific hurry.

"Can you launder a shirt for me," he gasped.

The young lady employee smiled shook her head and said "Sorry not at present, but if you care to leave it, we can have it for you the first thing in the morning."

"That's fine" puffed the American tossing a soiled shirt on the counter.

The young lady picked up the garment and from force of habit searched the pockets.

Her hand clutched a roll of something. She extracted it and her eyes widened when she saw $690 in currency.

She acted quickly. She asked a fellow employee to stop the rapidly departing American. He did. The flustered one dashed into the laundry office, hastily apologised for his oversight, and tossed a one dollar bill on the counter.

The next morning, calmed down a bit, he returned for his shirt, asked for the young lady who found his money and presented her with a ten dollar bill.

Mother Rescues Unconscious Son

Bolton, Ont., July 19 — (CP)—Plunging fully-clothed into the Humber River, Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly of nearby Wilfield pulled her unconscious two-year-old son to safety Monday after he fell into eight feet of water.

Mrs. O'Reilly, a non-swimmer ran a quarter-mile to the river and saw her son floating face-down in the water. She jumped fully-clothed into the river, grabbed her son and struggled to safety. Neighbors came to her aid and a doctor administered artificial respiration to the mother and child.

Neither suffered any ill effects.

MADOC

St. Catharines Boy Drowns at Moira L.

Madoc—A drowning accident occurred at Pitts Point, Moira Lake, on Friday night when Bertram (Buddy) Cooke, aged 11 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Cooke, of St. Catharines, was found drowned a short distance from the shore.

Relatives and friends thought the boy was down at the shore playing with other campers' children and wasn't missed until late in the evening. The body was found about 10 p.m. and brought to the Duffin Funeral Home, Madoc, and later taken by motor to St. Catharines.

ALLAN'S MILLS

Newly-Purchased Home Destroyed

Allan's Mills.—Fire completely destroyed a two-storey frame dwelling known as the Clarke farm, last Thursday. The dwelling which is located not far from Healey Falls had recently been purchased by Mr. Ross Mumby, who had been making repairs to the property. The blaze had made considerable headway before it was spotted. Bucket brigades saved the barn and other buildings. A wagon near the house was damaged and the team of horses attached to some were scorched before they could be led to safety. Mr. Mumby had not moved into the place yet.

Swimming Pool Project Estimates Given Kinsmen

A community swimming pool such as is planned as a club project by the Kinsmen Club of Belleville, complete with bathhouse and necessary filter beds and pumps would cost between $45,000 and $50,000, members of the club were told Monday evening by H. White, representative of the A. S. Leitch Company, manufacturers of swimming pool equipment.

This was the cost estimate providing construction of the pool was let to a contractor, but if club members "pitched in" to contribute much of the labor and if materials were obtained at the right figure, the cost could be reduced to around $30,000, according to Mr. White. Mr. White said his firm had supplied the filtering equipment and pumps for approximately 65 per cent of the swimming pools in Canada.

Large Accommodation

Size of the pool for which the above figures were quoted would be 120 feet by 60 feet with a wading pool of 60 by 40 feet. Such a pool would accommodate approximately 650 persons over a seven-hour period.

Cost of the filtering beds and pumps, according to the installation, would cost in the neighborhood of $7,000 to $8,000.

Site for the proposed swimming pool was discussed by members following the statement by Committee Chairman Cleo Colling, that the East Belleville Playground site previously decided on was not available. No decision was made as to the probable site.

Discuss Projects

Ernie Colbourne outlined club projects suggested as being undertaken to raise funds for the pool, while the carnival scheduled for August 1-2-3 was also discussed.

In the absence of Kin President Frank Lang, Past President Arthur Cruji occupied the chair.

61 Cases Polio Reported in Ont.

Toronto, July 19—(CP)—Dr. J. T. Phair, Deputy Minister of Health for Ontario, announced today that 61 cases of poliomyelitis had been reported in the province to date this year. This compares with 63 cases admitted to hospital in the same period in 1948.

Two deaths have been attributed to the disease this year, Dr. Phair said. Three persons died from it in a comparable period last year.

He said that of the cases diagnosed since Jan. 1, 37 were non-paralyzed, 24 paralyzed. This is "roughly the same" numbers affected in 1948.

Egg Prices Hit 84-Cent Mark

Toronto, July 19 — (CP) —For the first time this year, retail egg prices in Toronto jumped over the 80-cent mark with some merchants receiving 84 cents a dozen for Grade A large, a survey of dealers revealed today.

Highest price received by retailers in recent years was in July 1948, when eggs sold as high as 85 cents a dozen. Dealers predicted the price will probably reach an all-time high this year if the present consumer demand continues to rise.

Work on Behalf of Crippled Children Should be Redoubled, Rotary Told

Speaking on behalf of crippled children, N. H. Banfield, guest speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Belleville Rotary Club on Monday, pointed out that the work done by Rotary in this field was most commendable. He told the club that they should never relax their efforts; better still to redouble their efforts.

He went on to say that affliction is brought about chiefly through the fault of the parents either before or after birth. Mr. Banfield pointed out that such cases often had to be dug out because parents keep them behind closed doors, fearing that these children are a disgrace to society.

The speaker stated that money spent on behalf of crippled children was never wasted. He said that it was seldom seen how much good was accomplished through these contributions.

Mr. Banfield further stated, "I cannot get out of my mind a thought that is forever present—'Our Hope Is Constant In Thee'."

"These little tots cannot speak on their own behalf," he continued, "and they rely on people such as myself to sell you on the idea that they do need and that they are worthy of your help and support."

Mr. Banfield, an accountant at the Trenton Air Station and secretary of the Trenton Rotary Club, illustrated his contentions by relating his own life story. Afflicted with 'Infantile Paralysis' in infancy, he became a ward of society. Through the financial aid of service clubs and the fellowship of the Boy Scouts he eventually reached his present position.

In closing Mr. Banfield said, "If I were financially capable, I would have a framed enlargement of the Crippled Child's Pledge hung on the wall of every Rotary meeting room in the Dominion of Canada. Please let me repeat that pledge once more for you—'Suffer The Crippled Child To Come Unto Us and We Will Make Him Well If So Be It The Will Of God'."

President Deacon announced that Morley Duff had been given an honorary membership.

Boy Scouts at Ottawa Jamboree Learn Much by Living Together

Connaught Rifle Ranges, South March, Ont., July 19 — (CP) — Nearly 3,000 Boy Scouts are learning more about Canada by living together on these sprawling rifle ranges just up the Ottawa River from the Dominion's capital.

They're also learning something about the United States and Cuba from 89 Boy Scouts of America—representing nearly every state in the U.S. and 15 Cuban Scouts at the First Canadian Scout Jamboree.

And they're advertising their home provinces.

The New Brunswick contingent to the week-long jamboree brought along some cream of fish soup—not yet on the market—which they intend serving to the first 1,200 in camp to come and get it. They brought crackers to go with the soup. Both items on the menu are made in New Brunswick.

Most of the boys — all First Class or King's Scouts between 14 and 17 who paid their own expenses to come to the Jamboree—arrived with supplies of tourist literature which they are distributing to everyone who will accept it.

In addition to learning about the Dominion by meeting one another, the Scouts will learn about Canada by watching pageants that Scouts from each province will stage.

Special trains from all parts of the country brought the boys to Ottawa but in some cases it wasn't so easy to get here.

For example, Bill Lynch of Port Arthur was only 30 miles on the way when he fell and broke his leg while visiting the Alberta contingent in another coach on the special train. Determined to get to the Jamboree, Bill started out again after being removed from the train and taken to hospital in Port Arthur.

His leg in a cast, he arrived Monday just in time to exchange a few words with Viscount Alexander, Governor-General and Chief Scout for Canada, at the official opening of the Jamboree.

Two Local Youths Held for Car Theft

Cornwall, July 19 — (CP) — Provincial Police said today they are holding three youths for Quebec authorities on car-theft charges. One of the three, all juveniles, is from Montreal and the other two are from Belleville.

They are charged with stealing a light truck from a used-car lot at Dorion, Que.

OBITUARY

ANSON BROOKS (Formerly of Belleville)

Anson Brooks, brother of Mr. W. H. Brooks, 26 Murney Street, in this city, died in Rochester, N.Y., on Monday. He was in failing health for some time.

The late Mr. Brooks lived here some years ago and old friends will regret to learn of his death.

LATE MISS LILLIE WHITE (Corbyville)

The funeral of Miss Lillie White, late residence, Corbyville, was held Monday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street. The service in the chapel and at Elmwood Cemetery was conducted by Archdeacon the Ven. Arthur Smith Rector of St. Thomas' Church.

The bearers were J. H. Brenton, D. Dafoe, G. Watkin, G. Sinfield, S. B. Smith and A. E. Thornton.

MISS CLARA R. ARNOTT

Miss Clara R. Arnott, 255 John Street, this city, died suddenly as the result of a heart seizure in the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital in Orillia, on Monday afternoon. She was spending a vacation with her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) W. T. Pocock, at Elmsdale when taken ill.

The late Miss Arnott was born in this city and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Arnott. All her life was passed here and for many years she was an efficient secretary to her brother, Mr. Richard D. Arnott, K.C. Many friends in this city will regret to learn of her sudden death.

Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. (Dr.) W. T. Pocock, Elmsdale, and Mrs. John E. Grabb, Toronto; two brothers, Mr. G. E. Arnott, Elmsdale, Ontario, and Mr. Richard D. Arnott, K.C., of this city.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street; the funeral announcement is made in this edition.

MRS. CATHARINE MURRAY

Marmora, July 19 (Special).—Highly respected by the many to whom she was known, Mrs. Catharine Murray, widow of John Murray, died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, Monday, July 18 in her seventy-eighth year. In 1935 she was afflicted with a heart ailment of which there had been some recurrences from which she rallied. She became worse on Friday and was admitted to hospital the following day.

The deceased came of one of the old established families of the district being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGrath. She was born in the house by the shore of Crowe Lake which later was enlarged and known as Tipperary Hotel.

Following her marriage she resided for many years on their farm in Marmora Township just beyond Deloro where she was highly esteemed for her neighborly and sympathetic nature. Later upon retirement in Marmora, her circle of friends was extended. She was a devout member of Sacred Heart Church and her membership in the Catholic Women's League, the Altar Society and League of the Sacred Heart was much valued. Incidentally she died exactly seven years after her husband.

Surviving are three children, Mrs. Solomon Horowitz (Rita) of New York; Joseph at home, and Mary of New York City. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. John O'Neill, Marmora Township. The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning. Requiem Mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father H. J. Farrell at the Sacred Heart Church at 9.30 a.m. and interment will follow in the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Oil Storage Depot Destroyed in Spectacular Fire

Montreal, July 19 —(CP) — A spectacular fire at the storage depot of McColl Frontenac Oil Company at suburban Montreal East was brought under control today.

The fire followed an explosion in one of the buildings housing pumping equipment at the company's tank farm.

No casualties were reported as a result of the blast but columns of thick, black smoke rose high in the air. The small fire-fighting force of Montreal East and the plant's own protection force were reinforced by apparatus from the city of Montreal.

Firemen fought for more than an hour to prevent the flames from spreading to a neighboring tank farm where large quantities of gasoline are stored.

The actual cause of the fire could not immediately be ascertained and there was no early

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, July 19 (CP).—Produce prices on the spot market here this morning were quoted as follows:

Churning cream, unchanged. No. 1, 58 cents FOB; 62 delivered.

The egg market is firm and demand is keen. Grade A have advanced. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: Grade A large 69; grade A medium 67; grade A pullet 56; grade B 46-47; grade C 38. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large 71; grade A medium 69; grade A pullet 60; grade B 50; grade C 42.

Butter solids are unchanged. Renderable solids 58; other first grades 57.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, July 19 (CP).—Good to choice cattle were in demand on the local livestock market up to noon today, but plain kinds were hard to move. Other animals were steady and hogs gained $1 for the week. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were:

Cattle 900, calves 300, hogs 400, sheep and lambs 220. Left from yesterday's trading were 1,500 head.

Good light steers sold at $21-$21.50 with good heifers at $20.50-$21. A few plain steers and heifers were $17-$19. Some medium to good cows sold at $14.50-$16 and good bulls were $18.25-$19 with plain bulls at $15-$17. A few stockers sold at $16.50-$18.

Calves were steady at $21-$23 for good to choice with plain to medium kinds at $16-$20. Grass calves sold for slaughter at $12-$15.

Hogs were up at $24 for grade A and $33.60 for grade B1. Sows were steady at $22.

Lambs were steady at $28.50 for good ewes and wethers with $1 discount on bucks. Good light sheep were steady at $11-$13 with culls selling downward to $6.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, July 19 (CP)—Prices turned firmer from early weakness here today. Industrials recovered morning losses and climbed into the gain column while base metals showed a handful of small advances. Golds steadied.

Selected industrial issues came into slight demand in mid-session after moving at lower levels for the first two hours. Utilities, steels and liquors showed moderate fractional advances. Activity was even slower than Monday when turnover was the lowest since late June.

Steep Rock iron mines featured base metals, climbing 12 cents $1.54 in a firming base metal list. Senior golds were slightly higher and junior producers showed signs of strengthening.

Activity in a few smaller issues were strong with a few new highs being touched. Companies with uranium prospects attracted considerable attention.

Central Porcupine was brisk for a slight gain following assay results from the property.

HOGS

Toronto, July 19 (CP). — Hog prices at Stratford this morning were unsettled. At Hull, Que., grade A were up $1.25 at $35, delivered.

Good Rain Brings Untold Relief

Toronto, July 19 (CP)—Heavy rains that accompanied severe electrical storms in most sections of Ontario "brought untold relief" to the province's parched pasture and crop fields, agriculture officials reported.

"There is no doubt about it," they said. "The heavy downpour was a million-dollar rain and will bring untold relief and aid immeasurably the second-growth hay crops."

Hay crops cut several weeks ago in many sections of the province yielded generally about 50 per cent normal.

The welcome rains will also probably aid in curbing the destructive activities of aphids and army worms which have invaded many lush farm areas of Ontario.

Undertakers And Clergy Criticize Slow Funerals

Toronto, July 19—(CP)—Toronto Funeral Directors and Clergy united today in criticizing lengthy and slow-moving funeral processions on the open highway.

The officials said the processions constitute a menace. They approved the practice of dispensing with long lines of cars behind the hearse and suggested relatives should regroup near the cemetery.

Provincial police, in charge of Ontario highway traffic, said they preferred not to comment but noted that the Highway Traffic Act, while not specifying funerals, says all traffic must move sufficiently fast to be safe.

RUSSIANS

hydrodynamics and aniline dye processes.

Moscow radio said today Russia is a great naval power and was the originator of armored cruisers, submarines, icebreakers and trawlers.

Rear Admiral Niolai Alexeyevich Bitovsky made these claims, some of them old, in an interview with the Moscow radio correspondent. His words were carried on a broadcast connected with Soviet Navy Day next Sunday.

He said armored cruisers appeared in Russia in 1873, three years earlier than in Britain.

The Soviet people were the first in the world to lay the foundations for long-distance maritime and river shipping, he added.

Atomic Energy Committee Called Into Session

Washington, July 19 — (CP) — The Atomic Energy Committee of Congress has been summoned to meet Wednesday to discuss relations with Britain and Canada in the field of atomic energy.

Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.), chairman of the joint Senate - House of Representatives committee, announced the meeting.

At the same time he confirmed that the hush-hush meeting called by President Truman last Thursday dealt with that subject.

Would Like Know-How

Although McMahon did not say so, the principal problem is reported to be Britain's view that she should be given American secrets of how to produce the atomic bomb.

McMahon said in a statement that the committee will meet in a closed session Wednesday afternoon "to explore with the Department of State, the National Military Establishment and the Atomic Energy Commission the continuing problem of our relations with the United Kingdom and Canada in the field of atomic energy."

Much Speculation

In the absence of any details about the 2½-hour mystery conference last Thursday night there are suggestions that a new atomic partnership is being arranged. Other informants indicate the changes might be minor, a mere "tidying-up" of existing points of friction.

Congress would have to act if this country were to share its atomic secrets with either Britain or Canada.

Actress Denies Backstage Brawl At Festival

Princeton, N.J., July 19. (CP)—Actress Joan Blondell emphatically denied Monday night reports of a violent backstage brawl, complete with head-banging, choking and hair-pulling, at Princeton's drama festival.

Ddeld J. Kennedy, producer of the festival, said he has asked the Actors Equity Association to suspend Miss Blondell because of the alleged brawl.

"All I did was to throw some face tissue," said Miss Blondell. "I was putting on lipstick at the time the argument started between my husband and Kennedy. I had the tissue in one hand and an antique mirror in the other. And I sure wasn't going to throw a valuable mirror at him. So I let the tissue fly."

She claimed the argument started because she objected to Kennedy pulling a 'very good actor" out of the show and replacing him with another man on less than 24 hours' notice. She could not recall their names.

"I am not worried over what action Equity will take," she added. "I have been in the show business too long to worry over what a man evidently seeking a little publicity can do to me."

Kennedy claimed he was the object of the attack because he had asked the visiting movie star to "quit using foul and abusive language against the case."

Blind Truck Driver Questioned by Police

Barry was pinned under the truck in the accident. Six other members of the family sustained minor injuries.

Police said Nelson E. Schultz, 26, a veteran blinded during the Second World War, operated the truck with the aid of another brother, Merle, 11.

Police said the veteran sat behind the steering wheel and operated the pedals, and that Merle sat in his brother's lap, steering the truck.

The blind man was a truck driver before the war.

BOYS REPORTED SEEN CLINGING TO OVERTURNED BOAT

St. Catharines, July 19 — (CP)—Police said they have launched a search of the Lake Ontario area off nearby Port Dalhousie for two unidentified boys reported today to have been seen clinging to an overturned boat.

Two planes and a power boat are patrolling the area. A Port Dalhousie cottager told police he saw the boys.

Car Passenger Makes Reckless Attack on Skunks

Smiths Falls, July 19 —(CP)—William Fowlie — and everyone within smiffing distance, realized Monday that there's no such thing as a slight odor where skunks are concerned.

A car in which he was a passenger suddenly came on three big skunks Saturday night. Fowlie jumped to the attack and finished one by landing on it with both feet. He killed the other with a bottle, letting it fly and catching the skunk behind the ear.

Tow out of 3 wasn't an effective average, however, and the other little stinker gave Fowlie the full treatment.

Bill managed to survive and was driven home, sitting out on the front fender of the car as far as possible from offended nostrils.

Nude Man Caught Sitting on Limb Forty Feet High

Hamilton, July 19 (CP).—Nude "John Doe" is languishing in a cool jail cell here today, where he was taken late Monday after being remanded until Monday on a vagrancy charge.

Clad only in sandals, the mysterious nudist eluded police and nearby residents over a 20-mile area for four days.

Refusing to reveal his name or any information except that he is French-Canadian, the man described as 23 or 24-years-old, was booked as "John Doe". And, Len Dixon, chief constable of nearby Stoney Creek, said "he can run like a deer".

He was nabbed late Sunday after a Stoney Creek woman turned in an alarm that she had seen a nude man in the bush.

For several hours police combed the area until a citizen spotted a movement in a tree.

Sitting on a limb nearly 40 feet off the ground and wearing only his sandals, the man spied on his pursuers as they beat down brush.

Persuaded to come down, he was dirty and muddy from the weekend rains.

He was first spotted near Guelph, last week.

2,000 Additional Troops Assist at Unloading Ships

London, July 19 (CP)—Another 2,000 troops were put on the alert today for duty on the strike-bound London waterfront.

The troops, due in the docks tomorrow, will increase to nearly 9,000 the number of servicemen unloading and loading ships tied up for 22 days by a work stoppage of stevedores and dockers.

The Labor Ministry gave this picture of the waterfront today: 70 ships are idle and seven are being unloaded with inadeuate crews; 15,441 dockers are idle, 8,936 still are at work on 22 ships, troops are at work on 70 ships.

Urge Dockers Return

Forty-two crew members still on duty on the Canadian ship Beaverbrae, involved in the Canadian Seamen's Union dispute which led to the dock stoppage, urged the dockers to go back to work today.

As Transport Minister Alfred Barnes and Home Secretary James Chuter Ede this morning toured the docks another 100 men—mostly lightermen, stopped work.

It is estimated that so far the men have lost £355,000 ($1,420,000) in wages.

The executives of the Stevedores and Lightermen's Unions, to which the bulk of the dockers belong, held a joint meeting this morning to discuss latest moves to end the stoppage.

Consider Letter

'They had before them a letter from some of the crew of the Beaverbrae. The letter claims that 42 of the Beaverbrae's crew—more than 60 per cent—have returned to the ship, and calls on Dick Barrett, secretary of the Stevedores Union, to "keep his word." The letter says Barrett promised that if a majority of the crew returned, he would order the dockers to resume normal working on the vessel.

Many of the crew of the Beaverbrae and the Argomont — the other Canadian ship—went on strike as a result of the dispute between the Canadian Seamen's Union and the Seafarer's International Union (A.F.L.) which recently signed an agreement with Canadian ship owners.
